PRESIDENT FEARS BOLSHEVISM FROM TREATY DELAY.

Carranza Masses His Troops Along the Border.

THREAT IS APPARENT.

Mexico's Action is Significant.

First Chief Evidently Seeking to Back up His Anti-American Message.

Forces Near the International Line Equal America's in Number.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—Lieut.-Gen. Hunter Liggett, who led the Second Army Corps in France and who commands the Western Department of the United States Army, responded today to a hurried call to the Mexican border. The general gave no intimation of the nature of the business which requires his immediate attention on the southern boundary. He will spend a few hours in Los Angeles tomorrow en route.

EL PASO, Sept. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Concentration of 20,000 additional Carranza troops in the States of Vera Cruz, Coahuila and Tamaulipas, under Gen. Francisco Murguia, is accepted by border men as a tactical move on the part of Carranza to back up his anti-American message to the Mexican Congress and his failure to co-operate with American troops in the chase after Renteria and his kidnaping bandits.

News of the transfer of the large body of Carranza troops to the northern states of Mexico was received from Mexican sources late yesterday. The reason made public was that the troops were being sent in to protect the oil wells and chase bandits.

Simultaneously it was said that Gen. Dieguez, commander of all Mexican forces in Northern Mexico, has officially "cleaned out the bandit gangs in Southern Chihuahua and Durango led by Pancho Villa, Martin Lopez and Felipe Angeles," and that he will, therefore, send approximately 2000 troops of his forces, 1000 cavalry and 1000 infantry, to "guard the border line against raids" along the Chihuahua front.

TROOPS IN CHIHUAHUA.

There are already between 5000 and 6000 Carranza troops in Chihuahua.

Gen. P. Elias Calles, in Sonora, has [illegible] troops under his command. Gen. Cantu in Lower California has approximately 6000 men within twenty-four hours of the border. It makes a total of approximately [illegible] Carranza troops either on the

STRIKE IS BIG FEAR.

Industrial Eruption Threatened.

Steel Union Leaders Declare Averting of Tie-up is Almost Impossible.

Belief is that President is Urging Change of Attitude by Steel Officials.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Executive officers of the iron and steel unions who are in Washington awaiting the conference of international union officials next Tuesday declared today that a strike of workers against the United States Steel Corporation will be almost impossible to avert unless officials of the corporation agree to negotiations for recognition of the unions next week.

Whether President Wilson, who was appealed to by the American Federation of Labor to bring about a conference, has accomplished anything in that direction is not known here, as no announcement has been made. Responding to Mr. Gompers's telegram of Friday urging him to get some reply from the steel corporation by Tuesday, the President sent a telegram to the American Federation president which was received today but its contents were not made public.

"I cannot make the message public nor comment on it," said Mr. Gompers, "inasmuch as the President did not make it public."

ERUPTION IS FEARED.

In some quarters here the belief was expressed that the President has made strong overtures to E. H. Gary, chairman of the board of the Steel Corporation, who refused to meet a committee of the union men, to change his attitude, and that a reply from Mr. Gary is being awaited. But unless something affirmative is done by Tuesday, labor leaders say, the industrial volcano is likely to erupt with a bang.

Union officials fear if strikes of such a nature get started in this critical time that it will be humanly impossible to restrain other dissatisfied workers and that industrial conditions will be deplorable within a few weeks.

Such a consummation, it is admitted here, would make the proposed economic conference to be held at the White House October 6 of greater importance than ever and probably would force the calling of such a conference at an earlier day.

JAPAN WORLD'S TROUBLE CENTER.

Korean Predicts War as Part of Asiatic Domination Programme.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—If Japan can perfect her supposed programme of Asiatic domination the appeals she is making now to America and the world will harden into demands and it will take more than 4,000,000 American troops to meet the issue, Dr. Henry Chung, accredited envoy from Korea to the Paris Peace Conference, told a gathering of Commonwealth Club members here today. Dr. Chung was unable to get to Paris, having been denied passports by the Washington government.

Dr. Chung said that the "trouble center of the world had shifted from the Balkans to the Orient and that the great powers are preparing for a settlement."

EUROPE GETS FREIGHT THROUGH LOS ANGELES

CARGO OF SUGAR FROM SOUTH AMERICA OPENS UP THE ALL-WATER SHIPMENTS.

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, Sept. 6.—The steamer San Antonio is due here with four hundred tons of sugar, the first freight from South America for trans-shipment through this port to Europe. John Settle, manager of the Pan-American Pacific line, which operates the San Antonio, stated today that this initial shipment is the forerunner of a big business in the trans-shipment of freight to Europe over established lines.

The sugar will be taken here next week along with Southern California products to complete the cargo of the new steamer Eel Back, of the new line of Shipping Board vessels operated between Pacific Coast ports and Europe by Williams Diamond and Company.

Southern California export ships are increasing fast since the new line offered a direct outlet, according to J. E. Marshall, traffic manager for the Outer Harbor Dock and Wharf Company. The steamer Cansumet was ready to sail today for London and Liverpool after completing her cargo here with seventeen hundred tons of Southern California canned goods, beans and other products.

Formerly all shipments to Europe were either made through Atlantic ports or direct to Europe on British ships that brought English manufactured products on the outbound trips.

Reconstruction following the war and the development of the American Merchant Marine now threatens to revolutionize trade routes and English ships are losing the trade because they are unable to get cargoes outbound. The result is that they cannot meet the competition of the American ships taking American products eastward.

FRANCE AND AMERICA JOIN

Anniversary of La Fayette and the First Battle of the Marne is Celebrated.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Ambassador Jusserand of France was the principal speaker at Franco-American exercises held here today in New York's historic City Hall in commemoration of the 162nd anniversary of the birth of La Fayette and the fifth anniversary of the first battle of the Marne. Amid the impressive services messages of felicitation and congratulation upon the victory of Allied arms were read from President Poincare of France, Gen. Pershing, Maj.-Gen. Wood and Secretary of State Lansing.

Representatives of a number of foreign governments were present. Other speakers were Myron T. Herrick, former Governor of Ohio and ex-United States Ambassador to France, and Dr. John H. Finley, State commissioner of education. In the afternoon, services were held at the La Fayette monument in Union Square, which were participated in by the Society of the Cincinnati, Sons of the Revolution, G.A.R., Society of the Colonial Wars, and the Society of Founders and Patriots of America.

Similar exercises were held at the same time in San Francisco, Milwaukee, Philadiphia, Fayetteville, N. C., and Louisville, Ky., the same messages being read to the assemblages in these cities.

In Philadelphia, in addition, a cable message also was read from the president of the Paris Municipal Council.

GOVERNOR IS DEFIED.

Armed Miners are on March.

Declare Intention to Enforce Unionization on West Virginia Mines.

Secretary of War Baker is Officially Notified and may Send Troops.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

HUNTINGTON (W. Va.) Sept. 6.—At 6:30 o'clock tonight the advance guard of Kanawha coal miners marching on the Guyan Valley operations, had reached Danville, Boone county, a mile and a half from Madison.

Twenty-five automobiles, loaded with deputy sheriffs armed with rifles, left Logan, with the intention of stopping the invaders before they cross the Logan county line. The deputies are led by Sheriff Don Chafin of Logan county.

CHARLESTON (W. Va.) Sept. 6.—Five hundred miners who left Oak Grove this morning to march across the mountains to Coal River where they said they intended to enforce unionization in mines were joined at Racine on the Little Coal river by 3000 more men, according to word received by Gov. John J. Cornwell shortly before noon.

All of the men are said to be armed.

According to information received from a local coal operator, coal operators of the Guyan field yesterday unloaded a carload of machine guns at different places in Logan county as a means of preparation to meet the miners from Kanawha and Coal River fields.

W. M. Petry, vice-president of district 17, United Mine Workers of America, said 4000 armed miners were on the march. Petry predicted trouble at Coal River "unless the miners' demands are granted."

He estimated the marchers would be joined by a force of 25,000 men when they reach Logan county.

The march toward the Logan fields followed a big demonstration at Oak Grove, near Marmet, on Cabin Creek, last night.

The march went forward today despite the efforts of Gov. Cornwell in a personal visit last night to the scene of the demonstration and of the mine workers officials, who ordered the men back.

C. F. Keeney, president of the United Mine Workers of America, of District No. 17, in a telephone conversation with Gov. Cornwell tonight, said the 1500 miners encamped at Danville would call off the invasion of Logan county and would return to their homes tomorrow. Keeney left Charleston at noon in an automobile in an effort to deter the miners from proceeding farther, after a conference with Gov. Cornwell.

Following this information from Keeny, Gov. Cornwell said he would not ask that Federal troops be called out. At a conference today the Governor informed Keeny he had been in communication with Secretary of War Baker and Maj.-Gen. Leonard Wood, commander of the Central Department; that he could get Federal troops to Logan before the arrival of the miners and that the marchers would proceed at their own peril.

It was learned tonight another party of men has been proceeding into Logan county by way of Cabin Creek and now is said to be about twelve miles southeast of Madison. Efforts are being made by the mine workers officials to stop this crowd.

READY TO QUIT.

At the end of their day's march, which covered about twenty-five miles, the miners, unaccustomed to hiking, were weary and footsore. Many were carrying their shoes and trudging along barefooted. They carried their rifles on their shoulders. Provisions were transported in wagons.

After the passage of the men through Peytonia, Gov. Cornwell said that when they passed Madison he would ask for two regiments of Federal troops.

The original force was estimated at 500 men, but recruits were enlisted all along the route and tonight President Keeny estimated the "army" to number about 1500.

A force of miners was gathered at Montgomery, but dispersed when told of the Governor's promise to see that armed guards were removed

WORLD WAITS UNEASILY AS SENATE SQUABBLES.

Labor and Capital Restless, Great Problems Held Suspended, Says Wilson, Urging Quick Ratification.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DES MOINES, Sept. 6.—A possibility that Bolshevism may spread in threatening proportions to the United States unless the peace treaty is ratified promptly was suggested by President Wilson in an address here tonight.

The whole world was waiting uneasily, he said, while the poison which had wrecked Russia was spreading among peoples who did not yet know what guarantees there were to be for liberty in the new world order. Labor and capital in the United States, he asserted, could not proceed intelligently with their settlements nor could great problems like the railroad situation be solved while the suspense continued.

Mr. Wilson defended the Shantung provision of the treaty and said the league covenant section referring to the Monroe Doctrine had been inserted to "give the Monroe Doctrine right of way in the Western Hemisphere." He declared his conviction it would do so.

The treaty with its League of Nations covenant was explained by the President as a purely American document extending democracy over the world and shifting foreign relations from a basis of force and war to one of arbitration and peace.

Making his second address of the day, the President spoke in the Des Moines Coliseum, said to seat 7500. Every chair was taken and many persons were standing. Earlier in the day he had spoken at Kansas City, more than 200 miles away.

An escort of airplanes dropped flowers on the President's special train as it approached the city and he was cheered during an automobile ride through crowds that packed the downtown streets. When he entered the Coliseum he was cheered again.

The meeting was opened with an invocation and Mr. Wilson was introduced by J. B. Weaver, president of the Des Moines Chamber of Commerce, who spoke on the "Outstanding Figure in the Life of the World Today."

Mrs. Wilson sat on the platform.

"DESPERATELY NEED PEACE."

Describing the world as "desperately in need of the settled condition of peace," the President said the United States, the last nation which the world expected to have to wait upon, was delaying the coming of peace.

The treaty, he said, not only would establish peace, but it would end forever the rule of a few men over the destinies of the many.

Citing what had happened in Europe with the rise of Bolshevism, Mr. Wilson said the move of radicalism and disorder was spreading on a reaction.

"Do you honestly think that none of that poison has got into the veins of this free people?" he asked. "Men look you calmly in the face in America and tell you they are for that sort of revolution."

So long as the question is open of what kind of peace the world was to have and what guarantees were to be behind it remained open, the poison would continue to spread, he declared.

"WORLD WAITS ON US."

"How long shall we be kept waiting for the answer whether the world will trust us or despise us?" he continued. "The world stands annoyed because an authority in America hesitates whether it will indorse an American doctrine."

Labor "all over the world is waiting," the President asserted, "to see whether the United States accepts the treaty's provision for an international labor organization.

The United States, said the President, could not participate in the world labor conference to be held in Washington soon under the treaty, unless the treaty was accepted by this country. Such a condition would be "inconceivable," he added, and would lead to the greatest "mortification."

"The world is waiting," said the President, "to see, not whether we will take part, but whether we will take the lead."

STANDPAT STATESMANSHIP.

Mr. Wilson said he had been "annoyed to see that the statesmanship of some gentlemen consists in the very interesting proposition of doing nothing at all. I have heard of standing pat before, but I never have heard of standpatism going to that length.", Opponents of the league, the President asserted, were saying, "Yes, we made a great promise to the world, but it'll cost too much to redeem it." If by deliberate choice the United States became a rival and antagonist of her neighbors instead of their friend, said the President, then it would reap the same reward as a business man who proceeded on that basis. If the United States tried to get all it could selfishly, he continued, then the world would see that it got nothing at all.

Just as American soldiers restored the morale of the fighting peoples of the Allies, said the President, so the United States could restore the peace morale of the world. It was the people themselves, he said, who would in the end determine what course the United States would take.

"They are bosses," he said. "I have come out on this journey not to fight anybody out to report to you."

AMERICAN SPECIFICATIONS.

The peace, Mr. Wilson asserted, had been on "American specifications." Among the specifications, he said, was the establishment of Poland, and the other new mid-European nations which now separate Germany from the pathway of empire she expected to establish to the southeast.

"Are you going to institute a move against France and England and Japan to get Shantung back for China?" asked the President.

On the contrary, he added, establishing the league would be a

Sept. 6.—A forest fire in the Mono National Forest, California, which is being driven by a sixty-mile wind, is approaching the town of Woodfords, Alpine county, and that place faces destruction, the United States forest service reported here today. Twenty thousand acres have been burned over and all available men in the county are being rushed to the fire.

One ranch has been burned and others are in danger. The fire also is near Markleville, county seat of Alpine county, but that place was not believed to be in danger. More than 200 men are on the fire line.

AUSTRIA WILL ACCEPT TREATY.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BERNE, Sept. 6.—The Austrian Cabinet, after fully discussing the treaty, has unanimously decided to recommend to the National Assembly its acceptance. This information is conveyed in a dispatch received from Prague this morning.

VIENNA (via London) Sept. 6.—Dr. Karl Renner, head of the Austrian peace delegation, has informed the newspaper correspondents here that he would return to St. Germain Sunday and sign the peace treaty handed Austria this week.

[The foregoing dispatch reporting Dr. Renner, who also is the Austrian Chancellor, as having decided to sign the Austrian peace treaty, comes in the face of numerous protests of the Austrian press against the treaty's terms. The signing of the Austrian treaty will leave of the treaties dealing with the former Central Powers only those with Bulgaria, Hungary and Turkey to be disposed of.]

FORMAL ACTION SOON.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, Sept. 6.—Dispatches which reached the Peace Conference today from Vienna indicated that the Austrians probably would formally decide tomorrow to accept the peace treaty. Chancellor Renner is expected to return to Paris immediately, in which case the treaty will be signed Wednesday morning, September 10, at St. Germain.

CALLS IT "OUTRAGE."

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

VIENNA, Sept. 6.—The peace terms handed Austria by the Allies at St. Germain were printed in this morning's newspapers accompanied by editorial expressions of protest and despair. The Arbeiter Zeitung characterized the terms as "bitter, spiteful and unjust." It added: "The Entente is using its power in the most shameful manner to ill-treat and outrage a defenseless people with a peace based on might."

The Neue Freie Presse says:

"All of the people are to be put on the rack, prompted by the policy of bleeding us white. It is the most wicked feat of the twentieth century."

Der Tag says: "Might and ignorance have dictated this peace. It has nothing to do with right and justice."

Attacks on the treaty by the newspapers are levelled principally against the financial and economic clauses.

HUNGARY IS HOSTILE.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Sept. 6.—A Berlin wireless dispatch today reports that Count Sigray, the commissary for Western Hungary, has informed the commissionary for Oldenburg, near the border of Lower Austria, that the Hungarian government does not recognize the treaty presented Austria by the Entente as having any validity with regard to Hungary, and that the government will meet with armed force any attempt to occupy Western Hungary.

The strict closing of the frontier has been ordered, the dispatch adds, to prevent the Austrians entering Western Hungary.

PARIS, Sept. 6.—None of the small powers interested in the settlement of the Balkan question has yet seen the draft of the treaty with Bulgaria and much speculation is rife in Paris as to their attitude. The Greek delegation has been represented as likely to refuse to sign the treaty because the question of Thrace is not disposed of in the document, but this is denied at the headquarters of the Greek delegation.

BRATIANO TO STAY.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

VIENNA, Friday, Sept. 5.—J. J. C. Bratiano, Rumanian Premier, declares that, in spite of his desire to retire before the coming elections, he has decided to retain office in order to take personal responsibility for not signing the treaty of peace for Rumania, according to special telegrams from Bucharest. He says that, following this action in regard to the treaty with Austria, he will resign from office.

ANGELENOS IN ROBBERIES.

Confession Exposes Coast-Wide Series of Daring Daylight Hold-ups.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN JOSE, Sept. 6.—A statement that he assisted two men known as "Shorty" Thornton and "Whitey" or "Swede" La Reeves in holding up the Garden City Bank at Santa Clara September 3, and in many other robberies through the State, was made by Raymond Osborn, a chauffeur, according to the Sheriff's office here today.

Osborn was arrested here a few hours after the Santa Clara bank robbery, in which the bandits secured $4540.

Thornton and La Reeves, who use two automobiles in their operations, travel constantly with two women, Mrs. Viola Jeffries, 23, and Clara Thornton, 20, and Mrs. Jeffries's 3-year-old daughter, Viola, according to the alleged statement. Osborn said that since joining them on July 22 in Vallejo he knows of $18,000 they have taken in robberies extending from San Diego to San Francisco.

Likelihood that they are the men who held up the Morgen Jewelry Company in San Francisco, escaping with $50,000 in gems, was expressed by Osborn, the authorities said. Other robberies laid at their door by Osborn were that of Suhr's restaurant in San Francisco, a stage office in Stockton, a Fresno restaurant, a Bakersfield shoe store, a Santa Monica butcher shop and a San Pedro drug store, where they secured $2500.

The men now are in San Francisco, Los Angeles or some point in Nevada, Osborn said. They are well armed and would put up a fight, he said. Both were said by Osborn to be ex-convicts.

Thornton was described as being 27 years old, five feet six inches, with brown hair and smooth shaven, and La Reeves, 25, five feet eight, 150 pounds with light hair worn pompadour. Both were well dressed at all times, worked in the daylight and wore no masks, Osborn said.

Because Clara Thornton threatened to make trouble for the others, she was being kept constantly under the influence of drugs, Osborn said. Both women were said by Osborn to be "good looking and fond of dancing."

Thornton was said to come from New York and La Reeves from San Francisco. Mrs. Jeffries's husband was said to be living in Los Angeles and her mother in Sacramento. Miss Thornton was said to have come from Los Angeles. Osborn did not know if she was related to Thornton.

Advices to the Sheriff's office from San Francisco today indicated that the men had been located in that city and their speedy arrest could be expected.

Osborn made his statement after he had been questioned constantly for thirty-six hours by Sheriff George Lyle and Chief of Police J. N. Black of San Jose. There was no time off for sleep and little for meals during the questioning, Sheriff Lyle said.

Thornton and La Reeves are drug addicts and first came to his attention while engaged in the alleged sale of heroin and morphine in Vallejo, Osborne said.

Officials here said that the men were in the vicinity of San Diego when the East San Diego State Bank was held up and robbed of $16,000, early in June. The women who accompanied them joined the party in Los Angeles about the time of this robbery, the officials said.

power to which China could appeal for justice.

Mr. Wilson also discussed Article X and the league covenant. Of the ultimate outcome regarding the treaty, Mr. Wilson said he had no doubt.

"The only thing that can be accomplished," he said, "is delay. The ultimate outcome would be the triumphant acceptance of the treaty and the league."

LANGUAGE IS PLAIN.

Only a "handful of men," the President said, were opposing the treaty and they either hadn't read it or did not understand the English language The Monroe Doctrine provision, he said, had been objected to as vague because it referred to "such regional understandings as the Monroe Doctrine." This language was written, the President said, "in perfect innocence," and was intended to give right-of-way to the Monroe Doctrine in the Western Hemisphere.

The language was put in, he continued, because the other delegates thought it unwise to make a speific reference to a policy of one country without leaving the way open for other nations to develop similar policies.

Turning to the economic boycott provided against covenant breakers, Mr. Wilson said no nation in Europe could stand under such a boycott for six months.

COVENANT OF PEACE.

"Yet we are told this is a covenant of war," he continued, "It is the most drastic covenant of peace ever conceived."

"The processes of discussion are the processes of peace."

"The world is desperately in need of the settled conditions of peace," said the President, "and it cannot wait much longer. It is waiting upon us. That is the thought, that is the burdensome thought, upon my heart tonight, that the world is waiting for the verdict of the nation to which it looked for leadership and which it thought would be the last would ask the world to wait.

"The world is not at peace. I suppose that it is difficult for one who has not had some touch of the hot passion of the other side of the sea to realize how all the passions that have been slumbering for ages have been uncovered and released by the tragedy of this war.

"And now all of this is released and uncovered and men glare at one another and say 'Now, we are free, and what shall we do with our freedom.'

WHAT HAPPENED IN RUSSIA.

"What happened in Rusia was not a sudden and accidental thing. The people of Rusia were maddened with the suppression of Czarism. When at last the chance came to throw off those chains they threw them off, at first with hearts full of confidence and hope, and then they found out that they had been again deceived. There was no assembly chosen to frame a constitution for them, or rather there was an assembly chosen to choose a constitution for them and it was suppressed and dispersed, and a little group of men just as selfish, just as ruthless, just as pitiless, as, the Czar himself, assumed control and exercised their power by terror and not by right.

"And in other parts of Europe the poison spread. The poison of disorder, the poison of revolt, the poison of chaos. And do you honestly think, my fellow citizens, that none of that poison has got in the veins of this free people? Do you not know that the world is all now one single whispering gallery? Those antennas of the wireless telegraph are the symbols of our age.

DELAY SPREADS POISON.

"All the impulses of mankind are thrown out upon the air and reach to the ends of the earth, and quietly, upon steamships, silently under the cover of the postal service, with the tongue of the wireless and the tongue of the telegraph, all the suggestions of disorder are spread through the world. And money coming from nobody knows where is deposited by the millions in capitals like Stockholm, to be used for the propaganda of disorder and discontent, and dissolution throughout the world, and men look you calmly in the face in America and say they are for that sort of revolution, when that sort of revolution means government by terror, government by force, not government by vote.

"It is the negation of everything that is American, but it is spreading and so long as disorder continues, so long as the world is kept waiting for the answer to the question of the kind of peace we are going to have and what kind of guarantees are there to be behind that peace, that poison will steadily spread more and more rapidly, spread until it may be that even this beloved land of ours will be distracted and distorted by it.

AMERICA IS MAKEWEIGHT.

"That is what is concerning me, my fellow countrymen. I know the splendid steadiness of the American people, but, my fellow citizens, the whole world needs that steadiness and the American people are the makeweight in the fortunes of mankind. How long are we going to debate into which scale we will throw that magnificent equipoise that belongs to us. How long shall we be kept waiting for the answer whether the world may trust us or despise us? They have looked to us for leadership.

"They have looked to us for example. They have built their peace upon the basis of our suggestions. That great volume that contains the treaty of peace is drawn along the specifications laid down by the American government, and now the world stands at amaze because an authority in America hesitates whether it will indorse an American document or not.

"You know what the necessity of peace is. Why, my fellow countrymen, political liberty can exist only when there is peace. Social reform can take place only when there is peace. The settlement of every question that concerns our daily life waits for peace. I have been receiving delegations in Washington of men engaged in the service of the government temporarily in the administration of the railways, and I have had to say to them, 'My friends, I cannot tell what the railways can earn until commerce is restored to its normal courses. Until I can tell what the railroads can earn, I cannot tell what the wages that the railroads can pay will be. I cannot suggest what the increase of freight and passenger rates will be to meet these increases in wages, if the rates must be increased. I cannot tell yet whether it will be necessary to increase the rates or not, and I must ask you to wait.'

GREAT LABOR CONFERENCE.

"But they are not the only people that have come to see me. There are all sorts of adjustments necessary in this country. I have asked representatives of capital and labor to come to Washington next month and confer, confer about the fundamental thing of our life of present. That is to say, the conditions of labor.

"Do you realize, my fellow citizens, that all through the world the one central question of civilization is, what shall be the condition of labor? The profoundest unrest in Europe is due to the doubt what shall be the conditions of labor; and I need not tell you that that unrest in spreading to America, and in the midst of the treaty of peace is a Magna Charta, a great guarantee for labor. That labor shall have the counsel of the world devoted to the discussion of its conditions and of its betterment; and labor all over the world is wanting to know whether America is going to take part in those conferences or not.

WILL ISSUE INVITATION.

"The confidence of the men who sat at Paris was such that they put it in the document that the first meeting of the labor conference under that part of the treaty should take place in Washington upon the invitation of the President of the United States. I am going to issue that invitation, whether we can attend the conference or not.

"But think of the mortification. Think of standing by in Washington itself and seeing the world take counsel upon the fundamental matter of civilization without us. The thing is inconceivable, but it is true. The world is waiting, waiting to see, not whether we will take part, but whether we will serve and lead, for it has expected us to lead.

"In Paris, delegations from all over the world came to me to solicit the friendship of America. They frankly told us that they were not sure of anybody else that they could trust; but that they did absolutely trust us to do them justice and to see that justice was done them.

"That was the attitude of the world, and reflect upon the reaction, the reaction of despair, that would come if America said, 'we do not want to lead you. You must do without our advice. You must shift without us.'

"How are we going to bring about a peace for which everything waits? I have been very much amazed, and very much amused, if I could be amused in such critical circumstances, to see that the statesmanship of some gentlemen consists in the very interesting proposition that we do nothing at all. I had heard of standing pat before, but I never had before heard of standpatism going to the length of saying it is none of our business and we do not care what happens to the rest of the world.

"PROMISE COSTS TOO MUCH."

"Some gentlemen are saying, 'Yes, we made a great promise to mankind, but it will cost too much to redeem it.' My fellow citizens, that is not the spirit of America, and you cannot have peace, you cannot have even your legitimate part in the business of the world, unless you are partners with the rest. If you are going to say to the world, 'We will stand off and see what we can get out of this,' the world will see to it that you do not get anything out of it. If it is your deliberate choice that, instead of being friends, you will be rivals and antagonists, then you will get just exactly what rivals and antagonists always get—just as little as can be grudgingly vouchsafed you.

"Is there any business man here who would be willing to see the world go bankrupt and the business of the world stopped? I do not like to argue this thing on this basis, but if you want to talk business, I am ready to talk business. It is a matter of how much you are going to get for your money; you will not get half as much as antagonists as you will get as partners.

HARVEST FROM IDEALS.

"So think that over, if you have none of that thing that is so lightly spoken of as altruism. And believe me, my fellow countrymen, the only people in the world who are going to reap the harvest of the future are the people who can entertain ideals, who can follow ideals to the death.

"So, my fellow citizens, you have got to make up your minds, because, after all, it is you who are going to make up the minds of this country. I do not owe a report or the slightest responsibility to any body but you. I mean you and the millions besides you, thoughtful, responsible men and women all over this country. They are my bosses, and I am mighty glad to be their servant.

Whose counsel has determined Republican reservationists in the Senate to oppose adoption of Senator Lodge's amendment to Article X of the peace treaty as one destined to "scuttle" the entire document.

FIGHT IS ON ARTICLE TEN.

Mild Reservations Oppose Resolution as "Scuttling of Whole League."

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—With the return today of Senator Kellogg, Minnesota, Republican Senators favoring "mild" reservations to the peace treaty conferred and, it was said, decided to oppose the committee resolution of ratification.

Senators attending the conference said opposition would be based principally against the reservation on Article X of the League of Nations covenant. This committee reservation, one of the conferees said, is regarded as involving "scuttling of the whole league."

Senators attending the conference expressed confidence that with anticipated support of the Democrats they would secure adoption at least of a modified reservation to Article X.

On the other hand, Republican Senators leading the fight for the committee reservations said after numerous cloakroom conferences that prospects for adoption of the committee resolution were brighter. Among the private conferences were meetings between Republican Leader Lodge and Senators Smith, Georgia, and Smith, South Carolina, Democrats.

Republicans favoring the committed reservations said considerable Democratic support was regarded as assured. One Republican Senator declared at least eight Democratic votes were counted upon.

Leaders on both sides in the reservation controversy said privately that virtually the sole decisive question was over the reservation to Article X.

Republican leaders opposed to unreserved ratification of the treaty will begin a campaign of speechmaking in reply to the President Wednesday. Senators Johnson, Borah and McCormick will address a mass meeting in Chicago on that date and Senator Johnson plans to speak at Indianapolis Thursday, St. Louis Friday and Kansas City Saturday.

TEXT OF KANSAS CITY ADDRESS.

President Says He Is Fighting With Spirit of His Ancestors for Mankind's Greatest Cause.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 6.—In his address here today, President Wilson said:

I came back from Paris, bringing one of the greatest documents of human history. One of the things that made it great was that it was penetrated throughout with the principles to which America has devoted her life. Let me hasten to say that one of the most delightful circumstances of the work on the other side of the water was that I discovered that what we called American principles had penetrated to the heart and to the understanding not only of the great peoples of Europe, but to the hearts and understandings of the great men who were representing the peoples of Europe.

I think that I can say that one of the things that America has had most at heart throughout her existence has been that there should be substituted for the brutal processes of war the friendly processes of consultation and arbitration, and that is done in the covenant of the League of Nations. I am very anxious that my fellow citizens should realize that that is the chief topic of the covenant of the League of Nations, the greater part of its provisions.

TIME FOR ARBITRATION.

The whole intent and purpose of the document are expressed in provisions by which all member states agree that they will never go to war without first having done one or the other of two things, either submitted the matter in controversy to arbitration, in which case they agree to abide by the verdict, or submitting it to discussion in the council of the League of Nations, and for that purpose they consent to allow six months for the discussion, and whether they like the opinion expressed or not, that they will not go to war for three months after that opinion has been expressed, so that you have, whether you get arbitration or not, nine months discussion and I want to remind you that that is the central principle of some thirty treaties entered into between the United States of America and some thirty other sovereign nations, all of which are confirmed by the Senate of the United States.

We have such an agreement with France; we have such an agreement with Great Britain, we have such an agreement with practically every great nation except Germany, which refused to enter into such an arrangement because, my fellow citizens, Germany knew that she intended something that didn't bear discussion and that if she had submitted the purpose which led to this war to so much as one month's discussion, she never would have dared go into the enterprise against mankind which she finally did go into [applause] and therefore I say that this principle of discussion is the principle already adopted by America.

BOYCOTT COMPULSION.

And what is the compulsion to do this? The compulsion is this, that if any member state violates that promise to submit either to arbitration or discussion, it is thereby ipso facto deemed to have committed an act of war against all the rest. Then you will ask, do we at once take arms and fight them? No. We do something very much more terrible than that. We absolutely boycott them.

Let any merchant put up to himself, that if he enters into a covenant and then breaks it and the people all around absolutely desert his establishment and will have nothing to do with him, ask him after that if it will be necessary to send the police. The most terrible thing that can happen to any individual and the most conclusive thing that can happen to a nation is to be out of decent society. (Applause.)

There was another thing that we needed to accomplish, that is accomplished in this document. We wanted disarmament, and this document provides in the only possible way for disarmament by common agreement. Observe, my fellow-citizens, that just now every great fighting nation in the world is a member of this partnership except Germany, and inasmuch as Germany has accepted a limitation of her army to 100,000 men, I don't think for the time being she may be regarded as a great fighting nation.

And you know, my fellow-citizens that armaments mean great standing armies and great stores of war material. They do not mean burdensome taxation merely, they do not mean merely compulsory military service which saps the economic strength of the nation, but they mean the building up of a military class. Again and again, my fellow-citizens, in the conference at Paris we were face to face with this situation: That in dealing with a particular civil government we found that they would not dare to promise what their General Staff was not willing that they should promise; and that they were dominated by the military machine which they had created, nominally for their own defense, but really—whether they willed it or not—for the provocation of war. And so, as long as you have a military class, it does not make any difference what your form of government is. If you are determined to be armed to the teeth, you must obey the orders and directions of the only men who can control the great machinery of war. It is not merely the cost of it (armament,) although that is overwhelming, but it is the spirit of it, and America has never had, and I hope in the providence of God never will have, that spirit. (Great applause.)

DESTROYS AUTOCRACY.

And there is no other way to dispense with great armaments except by the common agreement of the fighting nations of the world. And here is the agreement. They promise disarmament, and promise to agree upon a plan. But there was something else we wanted that is accomplished by this treaty. We wanted to destroy autocratic authority everywhere in the world. We wanted to see to it that there was no place in the world where a small group of men could use their fellow citizens as pawns in a game; that there was no place in the world where a small group of men, without consulting their fellow citizens, could sent their fellow citizens to the battlefield, and to death in accomplishing something dynastic, some political plan that had been conveived in private, some object that had been prepared for by universal, world-wide intrigue. That is what we wanted to accomplish. The most startling thing that developed itself at the opening of our participation in this war was not the military preparation of Germany; we were familiar with that, though we had been dreaming that she would not use it—but her political preparation; to find that every community in the civilized world was penetrated by her intrigue. The German people did not know that, but it was known in Wilhelmstrasse, where the central offices of the German government were, and Wilhelmstrasse was the master of the German people; and this war, my fellow citizens, has emancipated the German people as well as the rest of the world.

END OF INTRIGUE.

We don't want to see anything like that done again, because we know that democracy will only have to destroy that form of government; and if we don't destroy it now, the job is still to be done and by a combination of all great fighting peoples of the world to see to it that the aggressive purposes of such government cannot be realized, you make it no longer worth while for little groups of men to contrive the downfall of civilization in private conference.

My fellow citizens, it does not make any difference what kind of a minority governs you, if it is a minority. And the thing we must see to is that no minority anywhere masters the majority. That is at the heart, my fellow citizens, of the tragical things that are happening in that great country which we long to help and can find no way that is effective to help—I mean the great realm of Russia. The men who are now measurably in control of the affairs of Russia represent nobody but themselves. They have again and again been challenged to call a constitutional convention. They have again and again been challenged to prove that they had some kind of a mandate even from a single class of their fellow citizens.

And they dared not attempt it; they have no mandate from anybody. They are only thirty-four, I am told, and there were hardly more than thirty-four men who used to control the destinies of Europe from Wilhelmstrasse. There is a closer monopoly of power in Petrograd and Moscow than there ever was in Berlin, and the thing that is intolerable is not that the Russian people are having their way, but that another group of men more cruel than the Czar himself is controlling the destinies of that great people. And I want to say here and now that I am against the control of any minority anywhere.

MINORITY RULE.

Search your own economic history and what have you been uneasy about? Now and again you have said there were small groups of capitalists who were controlling the industry and therefore the development of the United States. Seriously, my fellow-citizens, if that were so and (sometimes I have feared that it was) we must break up that monopoly. I am not now saying that there is any group of our fellow-citizens who are consciously doing anything of that kind, and I am saying that these allegations must be proved But if it is proved that any class and any group anywhere is without the suffrage of their fellow-citizens in control of our affairs then I am with you to destroy the power of that group. We have got to be frank with ourselves, however. If we do not want minority government in Germany, we must see that we do not have it in the United States. If you do not want little groups of selfish men to plot the future of Europe, we must not allow little groups of selfish men to plot the future of America. Any man that speaks for a class must prove that he also speaks for all his fellow-citizens for mankind; and then we will listen to him.

RESCUE THE HELPLESS.

Then there was another thing we wanted to do, my fellow-citizens, that is done in this document. We wanted to see that helpless people were nowhere in the world put at the mercy of unscrupulous enemies and masters. There is one pitiful example which is in the hearts of all of us. I mean the example of Armenia. There was a Christian people, helpless, at the mercy of a Turkish government which thought it the service of God to destroy them. And at this moment, my fellow-citizens, it is an open question whether the Armenian people will not, while we sit here and debate, be absolutely destroyed. When I think of words piled on words, of debate following debate, when these unspeakable things that can not be handled until the debate is over, are happening in these pitiful parts of the world, I wonder that men do not wake up to the moral responsibility of what they are doing. Great peoples are driven upon a desert where there is no food and can be none, and they are compelled to die and then men, women and children thrown into a common grave, so imperfectly covered up that here and there is a pitiful arm stretched out to heaven; and there is no pity in the world. When shall we wake to the moral responsibility of this great occasion?

GLORY OF FREEDOM.

And so, my fellow-citizens, there are other aspects to that matter. Not all the populations that are having something that is not a square deal lived in Armenia. There are others. And one of the glories of the great document which I brought back with me is this: That everywhere within the area of settlement covered by the political questions involved in that treaty, people of that sort have been given their freedom and guaranteed their freedom. But the thing does not end there because the treaty includes the covenant of the League of Nations. And what does that say?

That says that it is the privilege of any member state to call attention to anything anywhere that is likely to distrub the peace of the world or the good understanding between nations upon which the peace of the world depends, and every people in the world that have not got what they think they ought to have is thereby given a world forum in which to bring the thing to the bar of mankind. There never before has been provided a world forum in which the legitimate grievances of peoples entitled to consideration can be brought to the common judgment of mankind. And if I were the advocate of any suppressed or oppressed people, I surely could not ask any better forum than to stand up before the world and challenge the other party to make good its excuses for not acting in that capacity.

"PRIVATE PASSION."

To reject that treaty, to alter that treaty, is to impair one of the first charters of mankind. And yet there are men who approach the question with passion, with private passion and party passion, who think only of some immediate advantage to themselves or to a group of their fellow-countrymen and who look at the thing with the jaundiced eyes of those who have some private purpose of their own.

When at last in the annals of mankind they are gibbeted they will regret that the gibbet is so high.

I would not have you think that I am trying to characterize those who conscientiously object to anything in this great document. I take off my hat in the presence of any man's genuine conscience, and there are men who are conscientiously opposed to it, though they will pardon me if I say ignorantly opposed. I have no quarrel with them. It has been a great pleasure to confer with some of them—and to tell them as frankly as I would have told my most intimate friend the whole inside of my mind and every other mind that I knew anything about that had been concerned with the conduct of affairs at Paris in order that they might understand this thing and go with the rest of us in the confirmation of what is necessary for the peace of the world.

I have no intolerant spirit in the matter; but I also assure you that from the bottom of my feet to the top of my head I have got a fighting spirit about it.

"PUT UP OR SHUT UP."

And if anybody dares to defeat this great experiment, then they must gather together the counsellors of the world and do something better.

If there is a better scheme, I for one will subscribe to it, but I want to say now, as I said the other night, it is a case of put up or shut up. Negation will not save the world. Opposition constructs nothing. Opposition is the specialty of those who are Bolshevistically inclined.

Again I assure you I am not comparing any of my respected colleagues to Bolshevists; but I am merely pointing out that the Bolshevistic spirit lacks every element of constructive opposition. They have destroyed everything and they have proposed nothing. (Applause and cheers.)

And while there is a common abhorrence for political Bolshevism, I hope there will not be any such thing grow up in our country as international Bolshevism, the Bolshevism that destroys the constructive work of men who have conscientiously striven to cement the good feeling of the great peoples of the world.

A GREAT VISION.

Is it not a great vision, my fellow citizens, this of the thoughtful world combined for peace, and this of all the great peoples of the world associated to see that justice is done, that the strong who intend wrong are restrained and that the weak who can not defend themselves are made secure. We have a problem ahead of us that ought to interest us in this connection. We have promised the people of the Philippine Islands that we will set them free. It has been one of our perplexities how we should make them safe after we set them free. Under this arrangement they will be safe from the outset. They will become members of the League of Nations and every great nation in the world will be obliged to respect and preserve against external aggression from any quarter the territorial integrity and political independence of the Philippines. It simplifies one of the most perplexing problems that has faced the American public.

TRIUMPH OF AMERICANISM.

But it does not simplify our problems merely, gentlemen. It illustrates the triumph of the American spirit. I do not want to attempt any flight of fancy, but I can fancy those men of the first generation that so thoughtfully set this government up, the generation of Washington, Hamilton, Jefferson and the Adamses—I can fancy their looking on with a sort of enraptured amazement that the American spirit should have made conquest of the world.

NOT A FIGHTING TOUR.

If anything that I have said has left the impression on your mind that I have the least doubt of the result, please dismiss the impression. And if you think I have come out on this errand to fight body please dismiss that from your mind. I have not come to fight or antagonize any individual or body of individuals. I have, let me say, without the slightest affectation, the greatest respect for the Senate of the United States, but my fellow citizens, I have come out to fight for a cause. That cause is greater than the Senate; it is greater than the government. It's as great as the cause of mankind and I intend, in office to out to fight that battle as long as I live. My ancestors were troublesome Scotchmen and among them were some of that famous group that were known as the Covenanters. Very well, there is the covenant of the League of N

Independence, noted as the birthplace of Jesse James, th

WILSON'S IRISH ATTITUDE FIRM

Effort to Misrepresent Pres dent is Failure.

Took Stand that Decision wa not up to Him.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Presi dent Wilson's views on the Iris question were set forth today in memorandum submitted to the For eign Relations Committee by Fran
P. Walsh and ex-Gov. Dunne of Il linois, purporting to give the sub stance of an interview they had wit
Mr. Wilson in Paris on June 11.

The memorandum claims to show that when Mr. Walsh urged the President to go personally into Ire land in an effort to get a better understanding of the Irish situation, the President showed signs of ir ritation. According to the memoran dum he replied:

"Now, Walsh, if it is your inten tion to go back to America and try to put me in bad, I am going to say when I go back that we were well on the way of getting Mr. De Valera and his associates over here; we were well on the way when you made it so difficult by your speeches in Ireland that we could not do it, that it was you gentlemen who kicked over the apple cart."

Mr. Walsh and Mr. Dunne, accord ing to the memorandum, told the President they wanted him to secure a hearing for Ireland before the "Big Four." They said they had made a formal request to Secretary
Lansing for safe conducts for De Valera, Griffith and Plunkett, and had received a reply from him to the effect that it would be futile to make the request.

The President is said to have in terrupted Mr. Walsh and said:

"That is an official request Mr.
Walsh."

CALLS IT "TANGLE."

Mr. Walsh stated that he had not been able to disentangle official and unofficial business. He said: "What I am talking about is the denial of our request that the Americans should intervene to get the safe con ducts for these men."

The President said: "Well of course since that time, gentlemen, you know the Senate has passed a resolution upon the subject."

Mr. Walsh said: "Well, the point of our request today is that if we are to assume these men are not going to be allowed to come here, then we want to advise you that the people of Ireland are in actual physical captivity; that those who would speak for them are not al lowed to come here and are restrained by the force of an army of occupation which is now occupy ing the country."

SOVIET THREAT.

Mr. Walsh informed the President that Ireland was "the most law abid ing country on the face of the earth," and that "unless some relief was given the workers have in self-de fense to set up soviet governments."

The President said, "Of course you would understand that no small na tion of any kind has yet appeared before the committee of four and there is an agreemnt among the committee of four that non shall come unless unanimous consent is given by the whole committee."

Gov. Dunn addressed the President and said:

"Has there been no small nation complaining of injustice on the part of any of the victor nations ever appeared as yet?"

The President is alleged to have said: "There is no nation that has had its right considered by the Peace Conference except those that were actually concerned in the war. We have not attempted to inquire into ancient wrongs."

CLAIM "STATE OF WAR."

Mr. Walsh then said: "Mr.
President, it is the present injustice and the guerrilla warfare that now is that we think should receive consideration. Suppose we present a case of this kind, a country in which a state of war actually ex ists, do you mean to say, Mr. Presi dent, that you would just close the matter and let the war go on?"

The President is said to have re plied: "I am only one of this con ference, why should this whole thing be left to me?"

Mr. Walsh said: "We are leav you are the commanding figure in the Peace Conference and because it was you who raised the hopes in the hearts of these people that they

Suppose we present a case of this kind, a country in which a state of war actually exists, do you mean to say, Mr. President, that you would just close the door and let the war go on?"

The President is said to have replied: "I am only one of this conference, why should this whole thing be left to me?"

Mr. Walsh said: "We are leaving it to you, Mr. President, because you are the commanding figure in the Peace Conference and because it was you who raised the hopes in the hearts of these people that they would come to you. We come to you because we are asking you to use your powerful influence with the other members to get us a hearing."

Mr. Walsh further said: "In my conversations with the representatives of the Irish republic here De Valera asked me to ask you a question. I will read from your statements at the time we entered the war."

Here Mr. Walsh quoted various statements by President Wilson asserting the principle of self-determination.

The President said: "Mr. Walsh, do you think that any considerable number of people, when they read my declarations, thought that those settlements were to be made at some particular place, automatically?"

Mr. Walsh replied: "Mr. President, I can speak first for myself. When I read it I believed you meant Ireland, I believe that practically all the people in Ireland believed that and all that I have met of our own people believed it."

Mr. Walsh continued: "Mr. President, I am afraid you do not understand the Irish situation."

WHY THE ERRAND?

The President replied: "If you think I do not understand the Irish question what did you come to me about it for?"

Mr. Walsh said: "I do not mean, Mr. President, that you do not understand the general history of Ireland, but I do say that you do not know what is going on in Ireland today, that is, its exploitation by England, the shooting down of its people in the streets, the head blockade that England has in force against it—in short, all of the atrocities that are being practiced upon its citizens at this very moment."

The President said: "Of course I do not claim to know the local and specific matters referred to."

Mr. Walsh said: "I believe you received an invitation to go to Ireland. I think it would be a fine thing for yourself and for the peace of the world if you accepted that invitation. The people would be delighted if you went to Ireland. and got an understanding of the situation at first hand."

OFFENSE TO BRITAIN.

The President told Mr. Walsh and Gov. Dunne that their speeches in Ireland had offended the whole British government.

The President continued: "I want you gentlemen to understand that our position is this: That we are dealing officially with these governments. You would not want us to make representations or engage in an effort that might involve the sending of troops into Europe and I know that our people would not want that. What I am saying to you is that we cannot, nor under the circumstances could we have at any time since we have been here, do anything in this matter of an official nature, but I want to say to you that I have the deepest sympathy for Ireland and her people and her cause. I know I speak for the others when I say all we could do unofficially we have been doing and will do."

SHUT IRISH REDS FROM CITY'S HALL.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Sept. 6.—Use of the municipal auditorium for a debate on the Irish republic, to have been held last night under auspices of the Central Labor Council, was denied by the unanimous vote of the City Council at a special meeting late today. The denial was on the ground that the principals proposed for the debate, Kathleen O'Briggan and James Robertson, are radical agitators.

SAYS LICENSING OF PACKERS SOCIALISM.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Federal license regulation of the packing industry was classed as a "long step towards State socialism" by Arthur Malling, representative of a Cleveland butchers' supply house, today before the Senate Agriculture Committee. Long familiarity with the industry made him sure, he said, that there was no tendency towards its monopolization or combination by the five largest concerns in it.

NEGRO TAKEN FROM A SHERIFF AND KILLED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MONROE (La.) Sept. 6.—A negro, charged with an attack on the wife of a farmer near Mer Rouge, La., was taken from the Sheriff of Morehouse Parish today by a mob of forty men and shot to death.

The Sheriff was taking his prisoner to jail when intercepted by the crowd.

POISON OAK AND POISON IVY HAVE LOST THEIR TERRORS

Have you ever, during your Sunday walks in the hills, admired and perhaps, some beautiful shrub, with its bright, glossy leaves, only to wake up the next morning with hands and face swollen and on fire with pain and itching? Such has been the experience of many with poison oak and poison ivy. Such experience need not be, provided you use Santiseptic, which time and time again has proved a specific in cases of oak or ivy poisoning. Its application to the affected parts almost instantly allays the pain and the itching, after which the swelling and the fever disappear, leaving the skin clear and in its normal condition. If you have been exposed to poison oak or poison ivy, immediate use of Santiseptic will even prevent the poisoning. Santiseptic is infallible in such cases, not only, but as well in cases of poisoning or irritation caused by the bites or stings of mosquitoes or other insects. We cannot recommend too highly that you take along a bottle of Santiseptic on all your outing trips; it will prevent much annoyance and inconvenience. It also is invaluable in cases of sunburn and windburn; it is remarkable in its cooling, healing properties. Santiseptic is easily procured at most Los Angeles drug stores. If your druggist cannot supply it, send 50 cents, with his name, to the Esbencott Laboratories, Portland, Or., for a full-size bottle, postpaid. —[Advertisement.

Deposed Civil Service Commissioner Places Blame.

Unwilling to be Adjunct to Postoffice Department.

Says Nominations Held up Anticipating Law Change.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Upon his retirement today from the Civil Service Commission, Charles M. Galloway issued a statement declaring that he and Herman W. Craven, the Republican member of the commission, were "ousted" because they "were not willing that the commission should be a mere adjunct to the Postoffice Department and subservient to it, especially with reference to examinations for Presidential postmasters."

Galloway and Craven were asked to resign just before President Wilson returned to the Peace Conference early in March. The letters were said to have contained no reason for the request, but it was said at the White House that it was the President's purpose to reorganize the commission. Martin A. Morrison of Indianapolis and George R. Wales of Vermont were appointed new members of the commission.

ISSUES STATEMENT.

Mr. Galloway's statement today follows:

"My resignation was forced because I would not co-operate with Postmaster-General Burleson in debauching the civil service and making a sham of the merit system. Herman W. Craven, the Republican member, and I, a Democrat, were ousted from the commission because we were not willing that the commission should be a mere adjunct to the Postoffice Department, and subservient to it, especially with reference to examinations for Presidential postmasters under the executive order of March 31, 1917.

"A very recent example of Mr. Burleson's conduct is furnished by his proposed amendment to this order, which now awaits the signature of the President. The existing order provides that the eligible with the highest standing shall be nominated.

NOMINATIONS HELD UP.

"A large number of nominations have been held up, many of them for a long time, evidently in anticipation of this amendment, which will enable Mr. Burleson, in many cases, to deprive those standing highest in these examinations of the nominations to which they are already entitled. Among the postoffices affected by the amendment are those in Boston, Mass., and Newark, N. J.

"Furthermore, a short time ago, the commission recommended that the President appoint as chief examiner an employee of the commission who is far better qualified for this position than any other person of whom the commission has knowledge. But the Postmaster-General desires that the position be filled by another person of his own selection."

PRINTER STRIKE TIES UP PAPERS IN TACOMA.

MEN ARE DEMANDING $10 FOR A WORKING DAY OF SIX AND HALF HOURS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

TACOMA, Sept. 6.—No attempt was made by the Tacoma newspapers to publish today following the walkout of the printers yesterday afternoon, when their demands for an increase in wages were refused by the publishers.

Word is being awaited from the International Typographical officers.

The printers walked out Friday afternoon after a special meeting at which they refused to consider an arbitration offer. The Tacoma printers' scale has been $7 for day and $7.50 for night work for a seven-hour day. They demanded $9.25 and $10 for a working day of six and one-half hours.

The Daily Ledger did not publish this morning. The News-Tribune and the Tacoma Times, afternoon papers, are the other papers affected. Publishers announced the strike was not authorized by the printers' international organization.

MANY AMENDMENTS IN EXPORT FINANCE BILL.

BANKING CORPORATIONS FOR STABILIZING FOREIGN EXCHANGE ARE CREATED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Necessity for stabilizing foreign exchange and extending credits abroad as a means of furthering American commercial interests was emphasized in the Senate today when the export finance bill, introduced by Senator Edge, Republican, New Jersey, was taken up and a number of amendments adopted.

The bill provides for formation of banking corporations and for their financing to enable them to do business abroad.

Opposition to the measure was expressed by Senators Smoot, Gronna, Lenroot and others, who objected to what they said were the almost unlimited powers granted by the bill to the proposed financial corporations.

The Senate went on record as opposing foreign interests participating in the control of the corporations. By unanimous vote it adopted an amendment by Senator Smoot requiring all members of the board of directors instead of a "majority," as proposed, to be American citizens.

The Senate adopted amendments by Senator Gronna prohibiting corporations formed under the act from engaging in commerce or trade, or interfering in the freedom of competition in the sale of commodities.

FRANCE JOINS WITH AMERICA.

first great action of the war, in which the French and British armies, side by side, imposed their will upon the enemy."

Field Marshal Haig, Admiral Beatty, Premier Clemenceau of France, Andre Tardieu and A. J. Balfour sent greetings. Other messages were as follows:

FROM FRENCH PRESIDENT.

From President Poincare of the French Republic—"In the hours of trial and of the needed common efforts, the American people and the French people united their thoughts in order to commemorate at once the birth of La Fayette and the battle of the Marne. How could our two nations not seize, in this year of internal peace, the occasion to celebrate together the same anniversaries?

"The brotherhood of America and France was born in the war of independence. It has never been obscured since. It has found its final consecration in the great fight we have just fought shoulder to shoulder for the liberty of the world. It will keep all its strength in the future and contribute to consolidate in the interest of humanity, the peace which has been established at the cost of so many sacrifices by the defenders of right.

"To the people of the United States I send the greetings of the French republic, to the Amreican soldiers the cordial remembrance of their brothers in arms, to the American mothers who have lost their sons on the battlefields of Europe 'the homage of my profound sympathy."

FROM GEN. PERSHING.

Gen. Pershing (Paris) sent: "I sincerely regret that I shall not be present in New York for the exercises in the City Hall celebrating the La Fayette-Marne anniversary. The first celebration of this joint anniversary since the signing of peace should be fraught with new significance to all Americans. La Fayette's services directly influenced our course of action in the war. The first battle of the Marne saved the world from an overwhelming disaster. The memory of La Fayette and of the Marne must be kept fresh in the minds of every generation of our people."

FROM MAJ.-GEN. WOOD.

Maj.-Gen. Wood (Chicago) sent: "Had it been possible to be present I should have been glad to be with you to pay my tribute of respect and affection to France and express my hope for the continuance of the warmest friendship and relations between the two countries, each of which has responded to the call of the other at a moment of great national peril."

FROM SECRETARY LANSING.

Secretary Lansing (Washington) sent: "I deeply regret that my engagements prevent my presence at the celebration of two anniversaries which are so worthy of commemoration as those of La Fayette and the first battle of the Marne. Both stir our minds with the thought of the struggle and triumph of Liberty, of sacrifice and glorious achievement. High among the heroes of America's war for independence is inscribed the name of La Fayette; and no name will find a higher place in the annals of the great war for democracy than that of Joffre, the victor of the Marne. Both fought that men might be free from autocracy. Both saw the cause of humanity triumphant. To these two great sons of France the new world and the old world owe a debt of gratitude which can never be forgotten while patriotism burns in the hearts of men."

Ambassador Jusserand in his address said that "the war has now ended as it should" and that the peace which has been signed was not a peace of "vengeance," but a peace of reparation and safety. He paid a touching tribute to the memory of Theodore Roosevelt, said the nation mourned the absence of one man and "hearing no more a voice which, on momentous occasions reached from one end of the world to the other, teaching men how to attain better days through courage, sense of duty and good citizenship, a voice now hushed forever."

Referring to the horrors of German warfare and the devastation wrought throughout Northern France, M. Jusserand painted a picture of French courage and indomitable will in the following words: "In spite of mistakes and imperfections future France is being built. Do not think that those sturdy men who in company with you stopped the onrush of the Germans, now stand aghast and disheartened at the sight of their ruins and the undeserved hardships in store for them, peace or no peace. They are busy clearing the wreckage, filling the shell holes and the trenches and removing the barbed wire and the unexploded shells (several millions at Lens alone,) preparing future crops."

Touching upon La Fayette's devotion to the American cause and America's later response, he said: "When La Fayette heard of American independence his heart enlisted. When you heard of the danger of France your hearts enlisted the severest claims on you; the widening of the limits of military age for your population and the increase of war taxes passed by a unanimous vote in the two houses. Your descendants to the end of time will be proud of those ancestors of theirs who acted thus and fought so well in the great crisis."

KANSAS CITY GREETS WILSON WITH FLAGS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

When the President, accompanied by Mrs. Wilson, appeared on the platform of the vast auditorium the crowd, each of whom had a small American flag, arose and cheered for more than two minutes.

President Wilson had been cheered as the Presidential party paraded through four miles of the city's streets to Convention Hall.

Mr. Wilson was introduced by B. A. Parsons, president of the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce.

CARRIZAL IS AMERICA'S SHAME.

Bullets Used in Mexican Massacre Made in This Country and Smuggled to Villa's Troops by a Renegade in Texas, Says Military Intelligence Man.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—A certain Mexican gentleman residing in San Antonio, Texas, one of the numerous agents of Villa, the bandit, will learn from these lines that the thirty thousand dollars worth of ammunition which he hoped to secure from Dr. P. Amagany and smuggle across the border to his chief is not likely to be delivered. The fact is that "Dr. P. Amagany" was none other than Dr. P. B. Altendorf, who was in the service of the United States Military Intelligence Department, and who was spoofing the Mexican gentleman as a means of obtaining information about smuggling. Dr. Altendorf told the story, with many additional facts about a certain form of activity which is enriching many enterprising citizens of the United States and Mexico, to newspaper men at the offices of the National Association for the Protection of American Rights in Mexico today.

"No one outside of the government departments whose duty it is to deal with border conditions can have any idea of the extent of smuggling going on between the United States and Mexico," said Dr. Altendorf. "Obviously it is impossible to give exact figures; but according to the best available information it must amount from seventeen to twenty million dollars a year. Of this amount the value of goods smuggled into Mexico from the United States is estimated at twelve to fourteen million dollars, of which from four to six million dollars represents arms and ammunition going to Carranza, Villa, other bandits and the Yaqui Indians.

VILLA'S SMUGGLED ARMS.

"Villa, in common with other so-called revolutionists, gets about 60 per cent. of his arms and ammunition by smuggling from the United States; the other 40 per cent. he purchases from the Carranzistas. I know it seems incredible that the troops of any government should sell arms and ammunition to the rebels with which they are supposed to be at war; but this practice is so common and so well known throughout Mexico that it no longer excites comment. Occasionally the Mexican papers contain a brief announcement that a few officers have been arrested for this offense, but I never heard of one being punished for it.

"But the point of interest in this connection is that Villa smuggles only 60 per cent. of his munitions of war—I mean of banditry. If that part of his supplies were cut off he would be forced out of business; for he could hardly keep going on the 40 per cent. he buys from Carranzistas. Doesn't it look as if responsibility for Villa's deviltries came pretty close home on the American manufacturers and dealers who supply the 60 per cent.? And as the Carranzistas are worse, if that be possible than the Villistas, and as they in common with other banditti down there must now also depend entirely upon smuggling for their supplies, doesn't the whole Mexican situation create a somewhat embarrassing question of ethics for these same manufacturers and dealers?

UP TO GOVERNMENT.

"As for the government's responsibility, it is undoubtedly true that to maintain an effective patrol along eighteen hundred miles of frontier would be a most difficult matter; but analogous service has been prformer in Europe in certain specific instances which could be mentioned. It is also true that the smugglers are up to an infinite variety of tricks and also that the law contains little loopholes through which contraband may trickle. These difficulties might also be overcome.

"Some interesting details about smuggling came to my attention. For instance, there is a renegade American who was an agent of Mexican Consul Garza, at Brownsville, Tex., and also the confidential agent of Von Eckhardt, the German Ambassador to Mexico. In the latter capacity he bought $86,000 worth of nickel on August 22, 1917, to prevent it from getting into the hands of Americans. On December 14 1918, this man was in Brownsville bidding against Col. Chapa, a revolutionist for a lot of ammunition and rifles worth about $4000.

CARRIZAL RESPONSIBILITY.

"The same individual was responsible for the Carrizal massacre on June 21, 1916, in which two American officers and thirteen troops were killed and twenty-three wounded. The Carranzistas were short of ammunition at that time and could not have made the attack if this American had not purchased and shipped into Mexico $165,000 worth of ammunition. He is a particularly dangerous man, because, being in the Mexicon consular service he is allowed to come and go as he pleases.

"The Yaqui Indians purchase in the United States and smuggle across the border ammunition to the value of $80,000 to $100,000 a year. They are allowed to buy only one hundred rounds at a time; but there is no limit to the number of times an individual may buy a hundred rounds. All the large general stores along the border carry heavy stocks of arms and ammunition, so it is a very simple matter to pick up a supply, if one has a little patience. The Yaquis are well armed with the latest type Winchesters and always have plenty of ammunition. In 1918 eleven Yaquis were caught smuggling ammunition. They were given brief jail terms; but usually nothing happens.

CARRANZA'S PURCHASE.

"Carranza has one agent in Brownsville, Tex., who sent 290,000 rounds of ammunition to his employer at one time. Villa must be rather hard pressed just now; for in March of the present year his wife pawned her jewelry in San Antonio for $4800 and used the proceeds to pick up a bargain in ammunition. I am afriad I may have caused Mr. Villa some embarrassment in obtaining supplies of ammunition, for I reported a good many schemes of his to the proper authorities. One particular report, made in November, 1918, concerned Villa's plan to smuggle $500,000 in silver bullion across the border near Candelaria, Tex., about December 11, and deliver it to an American agent to pay for a consignment of ammunition. A watch was set and Villa did not succeed in getting the bullion across until late in January, 1919.

"There is a big drug store in Brownsville which receives shipments of ammunition in boxes marked 'drugs.' One dodge resorted to sometimes is to conceal ammunition in watermelons to get it past the customs authorities. Usually it doesn't seem worth while to take so much trouble; for there are such long stretches of unguarded territory that nothing much but laziness need drive a smuggler to take risks.

STOLEN CARS SMUGGLED.

"Munitions of war are not the only articles smuggled south. For one thing a good many stolen automobiles reach Mexico without paying customs dues. One can pick up a car worth $2000 on the Mexican side of the border for about $600. Maria Haas, a notorious German female spy, and her accomplice, Maria Wilkinson, in May, 1918, took between $8000 and $9000 worth of dutiable goods across the Mexican border without paying cent of dues and delivered them to blacklisted German firms in Mexico. In January, 1918, she smuggled more than $4900 worth of dutiable goods across the border.

A Mexican who runs a little store in Caborca, Sonora, smuggles an average of $20,000 a month across the border. He uses a four-ton truck, crossing the line in the vicinity of Nogales, Ariz., apparently at will. He has been reported many times, but seems to be immune. Fernandez's truck generally carries loads both ways, for the smuggling is by no means confined to south bound traffic. As already indicated, the value of goods smuggled from Mexico into the United States is estimated at $6,000,000 to $8,000,000. This formerly included about one hundred thousand head of cattle, which are sold to receivers of stolen goods on this side for about $8 a head. Mexican cattle are of very inferior quality, but their market value is about $35 a head; so there is a handsome profit in it for the patriots who are engaged in receiving stolen goods. Now, however, Mexico is stripped pretty clean of cattle. For that matter, Mexico has been looted bare of everything portable.

PLUNDER WAREHOUSES.

"To illustrate, there was the case of a Mexican lawyer whose library in Mexico City, valued at $50,000, was stolen. As it included a historical paper of great value he obtained a search warrant and examined several warehouses on this side of the border, all of which were filled with stolen goods from Mexico. The plunder included such things as hundreds of thousands of telegraph blanks and blank tax receipts, taken because the ignorant thieves did not know their value. But the plunder also included great numbers of typewriters, sewing machines, and about everything else used in the household or in business.

"Great quantities of opium are smuggled across the border. It comes to west coast ports of Mexico in Japanese vessels, is brought up the coast in small Mexican sailing craft and thence finds its way across the border. I reported one Mexican opium smuggler, who was caught outside Nogales with 4500 pounds of the stuff in an automobile truck. Morphine and cocaine are also smuggled extensively. The Germans paid special attention to smuggling drugs into Kelly Field, the aviation field near San Antonio, during the war, the idea being to break down the American flying force; but it didn't work. But there is big money in opium smuggling, any way. Silks came by the same route from China and Japan.

TEQUILA SMUGGLED.

"There is also a big bootlegging trade across the border. Tequila, which is distilled from pulque, brings $8 a quart and is smuggled with comparative ease.

"Yet another class of goods smuggled into the United States is jewelry looted from the homes of wealthy Mexicans or foreigners living in Mexico, in many cases theft being preceded by murder. In not a few instances the jewelry is received as ransom for kidnaped persons. All of it seems to reach American soil. San Antonio is full of pawn shops and the pawn shops seem to be full of this jewelry. Mexicans peddle valuable jewelry in the barber shops or at railroad stations or even in the streets.

"From all this you can readily see that there is a certain small element along the border which is opposed to any disturbance of our present relations with Mexico. Conditions along the border are disgraceful, and should be rectified. I feel sure they will be as soon as they are really understood. Government representatives, with rare exceptions, are doing their best under the circumstances; but they need help from higher up; and this is not forthcoming apparently because Washington has been too much occupied with other matters to give this attention."

GIVES ROSY PICTURE OF FRANCE'S FUTURE.

MINISTER PLENIPOTENTIARY SAYS SHE IS AT WORK WITH VIRILE COURAGE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 6.—France has "gone back to work with a spirit of virile courage, the spirit that brought recuperation so quickly after the war of 1870 and that paid an enormous debt so quickly as to gain the admiration of the world," according to Maurice Casenave, Minister Plenipotentiary and director-general of the French public services, in an address here today at the celebration of the anniversaries of La Fayette and the first battle of the Marne.

A rosy picture of France especially with increased outputs of metals, textiles, coal, potash and farm products was drawn by the speaker. He also said that France's colonies, often ignored, were larger than the whole of the United States including Alaska, the Philippines, Porto Rico and other possessions, that they were rich in mineral and agricultural wealth and possessed a population of more than fifty million, "nearly all hard workers who have proven their loyalty to the mother country fighting bravely for her in the present war."

SAN FRANCISCO CELEBRATES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—Representatives of the government of France and the city of San Francisco gathered in the San Francisco City Hall today to hear messages from President Poincare, Gen. Pershing, Maj.-Gen. Wood and Secretary of State Lansing in commemoration of the one hundred and sixty-second anniversary of the birth of Gen. Lafayette. The fact that it was the fifth anniversary of the first battle of the Marne was noted also.

Many friends of France gathered in the building to hear the messages.

SACRAMENTO RIVER WASTE TO BE SAVED.

FIRST STEP TAKEN TO BRING WATER TO SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY LANDS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

TULARE, Sept. 6.—The first step toward bringing part of the 21,000,000-acre-feet of water annually running to waste out of the Sacramento River to the San Joaquin Valley lands was taken today by the San Joaquin Valley water conference in the adoption of a resolution urging such action. The resolution urged that the State and national governments investigate the feasibility of utilizing this waste, contending that the lands in question can never be irrigated from any other supply.

The conference completed the organization of the Water Users' Association of the San Joaquin Valley. Its temporary officers will be the same as those of the conference.

In other resolutions the State was asked for appropriations to search for the reservoir sites necessary to the Sacramento diversion project.

THREE MURDERS ADDED TO LIST.

Long Search Places Killings to Account of Mexico.

Victims are Arizona and New Mexico Border Ranchers.

Captured by Villistas, Taken Over the Line and Shot.

BY KENT HUNTER.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

EL PASO (Tex.) Sept. 6.—Three more murders have been chalked up against Mexican banditry as a result of an investigation by the father of one of the victims. It is the story of a detective's trail that led up and down the 1800 miles of border and found its solution more than 100 miles south of the line. On February 14, 1916 the bodies of Andrew C. Peterson, Milton Jensen and Hugh Acord were found two miles south of Machita, N. M.

Peterson and Jensen had owned ranches on the American side where Mexico, New Mexico and Arizona meet. Acord was a bit of a person. An investigator was employed. He followed clew after clew and only a few days ago in Casas Grandes, Chihuahua, found a Mexican, Pedro Soto, who told the following story:

ENCOUNTERS QUEVEDO.

"Peterson, Acord and Jensen were south of their ranch on the American side of the line looking for stray cattle. While at a corral 500 yards north of the line they saw a party of Mexicans approaching. Col. Sylvestro Quevedo, a Villista officer, led the party. He called Peterson and the others to the line and asked them if they had seen any other armed men along the border.

"Peterson told him that two days before a body of thirty or forty Carranzistas had gone toward Sonora. Quevedo said he was looking for that same party that he also was from Sonora.

"Peterson asked if he had heard anything of Salazaar Quevedo or the rest of the gang of thieves. Quevedo smiled and said that he had heard they were about sixty miles south of there. Peterson and his party turned away.

CAPTURED, THEN MURDERED.

"Quevedo gave a signal and the members of his band surrounded the three Americans, herded them across the line and stripped them of their guns. Quevedo put a guard of five over them and told them to shoot if the gringos attempted to escape.

"Then he sent others to round up horses and run them across the line. Seventy-five horses and mules were taken.

"The entire party with the three Americans in the center started south. Two miles south of the line Quevedo gave another signal and the three Americans were shot from their saddles. The bodies were stripped, mutilated and left where they had fallen."

The local branch of the National Association for the Protection of American Rights in Mexico, M. N. Quail, southwestern field secretary, is taking steps to have the story verified.

CONDITIONS IN CHIHUAHUA.

A first hand story of conditions in Chihuahua come to me today from a ranch and mine owner who has decided to come to the border and live in safety with his family until better times come. He said:

"While there is some general farming, the principal industry in Chihuahua is mining and raising cattle. There are some particularly fine tracts of grazing land and some spots that are pure desert. As an average it requires twenty-five acres of land to one head of stock. Water is scarce and the possession of springs or wells often controls a large tract of pasture.

"For the above reason the large tracts of land so often complained of are a necessity. There are some small tracts of irrigated land and much more could be brought under cultivation by the use of reservoirs and power-pumped wells.

"Mining has advanced rapidly, particularly during the last twenty years, employing many men at better wages than the farmers could afford to pay. The result was that the small farmers became hopelessly in debt to the banks and the more wealthy element.

"The Madero revolution furnished them the only relief."

ASKS RULE OF REASON IN MEXICO DEALINGS.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR MAKES PLEA.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—A plea to avert a crisis in the relations of the United States and Mexico possibly involving American intervention and to invoke the machinery of the League of Nations to preserve peace between the two nations was uttered today by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor.

President Gompers of the federation put forth the counsel of moderation in the following statement:

"The executive council of the American Federation of Labor in session assembled is deeply impressed with the critical situation existing in the relations between the governments of Mexico and the United States. Having just passed through a bitter struggle for the overthrow of autocracy and militarism and for the development of justice and democracy; having made tremendous sacrifices in the achievement of these ideals, and the United States being a party in creating the principle of the League of Nations whereby international war may be avoided, the executive council expresses the judgment that the principles involved in the peace treaty just concluded should be applied in the present situation between Mexico and the United States and we strongly urge that the rule of reason, fairness and justice shall prevail in the present negotiations and that the friendly relations between the people and countries be maintained."

The Mexican Foreign Office has advised the American Embassy at Mexico City under date of August 30, that more than 500, Mexican Federal officers and men have been sent in pursuit of the bandit Valentine Reyes to rescue Dr. A. Goenaga, a native of Porto Rico, whose holding for ransom was reported to the Department of State recently. According to the information of the department which immediately made representations to the Mexican Foreign Office, Dr. Goenaga was held in the mountains near Mexico City.

The department has been advised that Mexican Federal forces hastily sent from Chihuahua to Durango prevented an attack by Villista forces on Durango Sunday. All communication between Durango and Torreon either by railroad or by telegraph was cut off Wednesday.

PART OF CEMETERY IS LEASED FOR OIL WELL.

METHODISTS TO USE MONEY TO ERECT HEADSTONES ON UNMARKED GRAVES.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

FORT WORTH, Sept. 6.—Trustees of the Pleasant Grove Methodist Church, west of Ranger, have turned down some big offers from oil men who wished to use their three-acre cemetery for a drilling site. But at last they have succumbed to the blandishments of the operators and a rig will be built in the cemetery within the next few days.

The trustees, however, regard the move not as a desecration of the cemetery, but rather as a practical step to permanently beautify the place.

Under terms of an agreement entered into with Bob Fain of Fort Worth and Cisco, Fain will be allowed to drill on one end of the cemetery lot which contains no graves. The lot is 300x300 feet and the unused part 110x300. This will furnish an ample drilling site, and as the remainder of the plot will not be drilled, it will be as valuable to Fain as though he had secured the entire plot.

But the remarkable feature of the transaction is the purpose to which the money paid for the lease is to be put. There are a number of unmarked graves in the cemetery. A handsome headstone will be placed over each one, and a large monument to the memory of all the dead who sleep in the cemetery will be built.

The site is an offset to the Perkins well, one of the richest in West Texas and it is regarded as certain that a big producer will be secured. Fain had already leased the church lot and is now moving off the church building, which he bought. The well on the church lot will be brought in within the next two weeks.

CARRANZA USING BIG SLUSH FUND

to Have $500,000 for a Propaganda Campaign.

of Activities Given by Him, no One Else.

Recent Robberies Bring Bandits Nearly $60,000.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—In an effort to create public opinion favorable to the government that bears its name and also for the purpose of blocking any movements that might lead to intervention in Mexico the Carranza government is said to have sent a propaganda fund of about $500,000 into the United States.

The declaration was made here today by a man in close touch with the Mexican situation and occupying an important official position in connection with Mexican affairs. He was not in a position, he said, to go into any of the details of the propaganda activities, which the [illegible] are said to be conducting in this country but admitted that he had every reason to believe the report was established on facts.

Subsequently another man in close touch with Mexican affairs was asked about the reported propaganda fund and he replied he had been informed that a sum, the amount of which he did not know, had been set aside for the purpose by Carranza and that it was probably already on deposit in this country.

REPORTS FROM CARRANZA.

"You will have noticed," said the informant, "that within the past two weeks we have been receiving official telegrams from Carranza sources almost daily telling of the defeat of Villista bands, of the capture and execution of bandits and of the pursuit of other lawless elements in Mexico. All of these reports originate with the Mexican government. No confirmation of them in the shape of independent news reports have been forthcoming nor have we heard of any such occurrences by wire or letter from private citizens, Americans or otherwise."

Following announcement today that the bandits who held up American sailors on the Tamesi River July 6 had been captured, came reports of three more robberies in a single week. The capture of the Tamesi River bandits was announced in the following statement:

"Acting Secretary of State Phillips today announced that the Mexican Foreign Office had advised the American Embassy at Mexico City that the men who held up some of the crew of the United States steamship Cheyenne while on a fishing trip on the Tamesi river near Tampico on July 6 have been apprehended and are now held under arrest in Tampico by the Mexican authorities. The arrests were made on August 22 and the personal effects taken from the American sailors have been recovered from the men who robbed them."

In three robberies reported within a week Mexican bandits made hauls aggregating nearly $60,000 Mexican gold, according to advices just received here.

The companies robbed and the sum secured from each follows: Penn. Mexican Fuel Company, $25,00, A. G. Wier Company, $4060; Transcontinental Oil Company, $30,000.

The robbery of the Penn Mexican company, was awakened at one place used as a terminal and twenty-five men directly or indirectly were concerned in the crime. H. M. Kimbrill, cashier of the terminal company was awakened at one o'clock in the morning by two men who entered his room. They compelled him to dress and accompany them to the company safe. There two other armed men stood guard outside while Kimbrill and the first two robbers went inside. After removing the $25,000, the outlaws, keeping Kimbrill with them went to the wharf where were three more Mexicans who had commandeered a company launch. At the wharf the robbers released Kimbrill. The robbery of the A. G. Wier Company was briefly reported by the State Department. Louis Guietterez, paymaster of the company, and Kenneth De Lacy, an American, were taking the pay roll from Tampico to the Tepelate camp. When three miles east of Tepelate they were met by three armed and masked men who robbed them of the pay roll which was only $4060.

To elude robbers the Transcontinental Company planned a device to evade them but were nevertheless robbed of $30,000. A Tampico official made up the pay roll in that amount and placed the money in a wooden box to send to the company camp at Mata Redonda. The box was taken by two employees of the company to the fiscal wharf where it was placed in the captain's cabin on the launch Harstell. There the company man left it in the captain's care. The launch was delayed by the Mexican officials and left a day late. During this time the launch was guarded by the official government watchman. When the launch reached the camp it was discovered another box exactly like the original, with seals similar to those placed on the original by the bank, had been substituted for the box, with the $30,000. The substitute box contained old iron.

MINE OWNER FORCED TO QUIT

Comes to Coast Seeking Health.

Takes Tanlac and Is Going Back Well Man.

Feels Just Like a New Man Now, Says Hart.

"I was forced to give up my mining business in Nevada and come out here seeking health, but thanks to Tanlac I am going back a well man," said William H. Hart, who owns the Great Divide Mine in Tonopah, Nevada. Mr. Hart made this remarkable statement while in one of the Owl Drug Company's stores in Los Angeles, California, recently.

"For five long years I have suffered terribly with indigestion and stomach trouble," he continued. "No treatment or medicine gave me any permanent relief and I got in such a nervous, run-down and emaciated condition that I had to leave my business and come out here and try to find something to help me. My appetite was poor and everything I ate formed gas in my stomach that caused pains which almost drew me double sometimes. I got so weak that I couldn't grasp a pen tight enough to write a letter and at night even the sound of the wind blowing around the house would upset me. I couldn't sleep anyway and this together with my stomach trouble pulled me down until I had lost forty pounds of my weight. Last June I had a more severe attack and couldn't stay on the job another day, so I just gave up and came out here. I didn't get any relief until a friend recommended Tanlac and I started taking it.

"I feel just like a new man since finishing my fourth bottle of Tanlac. I'm eating three square meals every day and enjoying them. My nerves are as steady as a rock again and I lay down at night and sleep as sound as a healthy child and get up feeling like a different man. To make a long story short, I am going back to my mines a well man and will get on the job, and stay there. Tanlac has overcome the troubles that kept me in misery for five years and I am glad to have a chance to tell everybody just how it has helped me. If I had only gotten Tanlac back at home it would have saved me the expense of the trip out here and all that I have paid out for treatments and medicines, and my experience with Tanlac alone has been worth more than that to me."

Tanlac is sold in Los Angeles, Pasadena and San Diego by the Owl Drug Co.—[Advertisement.

MEXICAN RESENTS AMERICAN CHARGE.

SONORA GENERAL SAYS ALLEGATIONS AGAINST SOLDIERS INFLAME PEONS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

AGUA PRIETA (Mex.) Sept. 6.—Col. Jose Dominguez, inspector of barracks and equipment for the Mexican army, and at present in this vicinity on an official mission, protested today against published reports in connection with recent raids by Yaqui Indians in the northern part of the state of Sonora, wherein it was said that Americans contend that many of the outrages against citizens of the United States are committed by Mexican soldiers themselves.

"This is a gross injustice to the military administration of the state of Sonora," Col. Dominguez said here today in a statement to the Associated Press, "and its only result is that it has a tendency to inflame the contented mind of the masses against Americans. Gov. Calles of Sonora has done everything in his power to maintain most cordial relations with the administration at Washington, and I regret very much that such reports are given publication by the American press.

"It has always been the desire of the Sonora state government to co-operate with American capital wherever possible, and if reports of the nature as have appeared in the press of late insinuating that the Mexican soldiers of Sonora are committing outrages against Americans, the ultimate outcome will be the belief that it is the desire of the American press to stir up the Americans against the Mexican people. As a result the soldiers will be hard to control in the isolated regions where American capital is busy with development."

England's most famous prison may be the enforced home of Wilhelm of Germany for many months. The general impression is that the Attorney-General for the prosecution will be the noted barrister, who also is an authority on international law.

TURN IN TIDE IS FOR DISQUE.

Former Head of Spruce Production Testifies.

Explains that Armistice Put End to Toledo Mill.

Evidence of Waste and Incompetency Refuted.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND, Sept. 6.—Under cross-examination by Congressman Magee of New York, Brice P. Disque, formerly head of the army's spruce production division with rank of brigadier-general, testified here today at the Congressional subcommittee's hearing on airplane spruce production, that the Blodgett tract of timber in Lincoln county, Oregon, was acquired after the armistice had been signed in order to give value to a twenty-three-mile railroad built by the Warren Spruce Company to the tract. He stated the government had threatened to commandeer the tract.

With reference to the mill built at Toledo, Or., Disque testified that it was built to manufacture into airplane lumber spruce to be obtained from the Blodgett tract and estimated that the whole amount of spruce available, 350,000,000 feet, would have kept the mill in operation for 600 days. It would have sawed enough lumber to produce from thirty to thirty-five airplanes a day, he estimated. Owing to the early end of the war, the mill was not used.

CHANGED HIS MIND.

In answer to questions Disque said today that the government had assumed control of the railroads when the Siems-Cary-H. S. Kerbaugh Railroad in Washington was constructed. Congressman Magee brought out the statement that the government could have compelled the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad to extend its line via Deep Creek to the same stand of spruce which the logging railroad entered, by another route.

Disque stated he had at first intended to use the Deep Creek route, but changed his mind after conferring with officials of the Milwaukee. Chairman Frear questioned Disque after Magee had finished. He developed the fact that more fir than spruce was manufactured at the Vancouver cut-up plant.

TURN IN THE TIDE.

A turn in the tide of testimony came for Brice P. Disque, former head of the Spruce Production Corporation, when he was cross-examined yesterday by Representative Lea, Democratic member of the Congressional Committee of Inquiry, relative to his administration of affairs in the division and in the widespread activities of spruce logging and milling throughout Washington and Oregon.

There were verbal battles, charges and counter-charges, in the forenoon session, when Chairman Frear left the chamber of the hearing, but the afternoon session flowed smoothly in the development of Gen. Disque's testimony concerning expenditures and decisions made during his tenure of command.

TESTIMONY REFUSED.

These definite statements were made in refutation of the testimony of many other witnesses and of the charges that the spruce administration was one of waste, extravagance and incompetency:

That the Yaquina Bay government spruce railroads, north and south from the entrance, were constructed upon the advice of competent engineers and practical lumberman.

That appeals to have the north line run directly north from Toledo, Or., which were defied, were inspired by the desire of Toledo citizens to advance the interests of their community and that the territory that would have been tapped held little spruce.

The certain Puget Sound lumbermen, who asked for a contract to log in Lincoln county, presented a proposal that would have netted them $270 daily per side (donkey engine unit) or several times the eventual cost under spruce production corporation logging.

That production, under the cost-plus contract system, showed a marked increase, reaching one-third of the total airplane stock output of the entire northwestern industry.

COST ONLY $3,000,000.

That of the total cost of spruce production $50,000,000, the United States would foot but little more than $3,000,000, when all salvage is settled.

Charges by Congressman Frear that Democratic influences were being brought to bear to prevent a full airing of war-time operations in the northwest, and counter charges by Congressman Lea, Democrat, that the "investigation as it is conducted is a reflection on the Congress of the United States," enlivened yesterday's sessions of the committee.

"If the investigation is not conducted fairly and impartially it will be a stench in the nostrils of the American people," Lea declared.

NAMES CROWN CITY WOMAN IN HIS WILL.

PAY DEATH PRICE FOR BAY RUM JAGS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

JAMESTOWN (N. Y.) Sept. 6.—Four men have died in Jamestown within the last twenty-four hours from drinking bay rum, hair tonic and other alcoholic substitutes. In each case the attending physician certified to death as due to "alcoholism."

JUNGLE HORN JAZZES NEGRO OUT OF JAIL.

MORE SYNCOPATION THAN OLD CELL CAN HOLD DEPARTS, ONLY TO COME BACK.

It's out again! Can't you hear it? They just couudn't keep William's jazz band in the City Jail.

There was so much jazz around that the "law" just couldn't keep amovin', nowhow, and they turned William's band out to jazz some more—somewhere else.

And now they wish they hadn't.

William H. P. Wilkins, colored, is about as big as his guitar, black as the ebony on it, and is wedded to his art ,as the parlor novelists would say. He was just a-wandering in the vicinity of Seventh street when the minions of the law discovered him. He had his two guitars, his jungle horn, "onion trombone" and the like, but little else. He couldn't give a satisfactory account of himself. So they locked him up.

Pretty soon William began to put "pep" into the daily routine at the City Jail.

Every time William let loose with "Dixie a la Mode" the trusties in the jail would shimmy instead of sweep. The classic lict-motif of "Beans" caused debonair John Doubner, in charge of the detective window at the station, to write "I'll say she do" instead of the regulation passes. And when William struck up with "I'm a Jazz, Dazz, Razzle, Dazzle Nigger," the puritanic Mr. Walker in Chief Home's office pounded his typewriter and smiled from ear to ear.

So William was taken out ahead of time and told to go.

But yesterday he came back.

His job at a local movie studio had been given to someone else, he told the offices and attaches at the jail.

Armed with the jungle horn and the other aids to syncopation, the one-man band in a short time brought a gathering of officers, policewomen, reporters and drivers and with them a shower of silver coins.

"I'se a jazz-time band and a movie actor," he said. "Just try me out."

BELGIAN GUARANTEE GENERALLY CREDITED.

BELIEVED FRANCE IS ALSO IN AGREEMENT WITH BRITAIN AND UNITED STATES.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON (D. C.) Sept. 6.—The report from abroad that Belgium's security is to be guaranteed against German aggression by the United States and Great Britain, although unconfirmed by the State Department here, is believed in diplomatic quarters to be true.

Knowledge of such an arrangement or projected guarantee is not in the possession of the State Department according to Acting Secretary Phillips. Mr. Phillips, when asked today concerning the report replied:

"I never heard of it."

Diplomatic circles here, however, are understood generally to accept the report at its face value, recalling that some weeks ago a ministerial utterance in the Belgian Parliament carried an intimation to the same practical effect, it being then indicated, however, that France, also, would be a party to the agreement, as the protection of Belgium was tantamount to the protection of France and an attack on Belgium would be regarded by the French government as a forerunner of an attack upon France.

President Wilson so far as is known has not informed the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate of any such prospective pact. It has been intimated that its drafting was a part of the duties of Col. E. M. House in London.

PERSHING DUE HOME MONDAY.

Transport Leviathan Coming Head on Through Gale.

Great Leaders Take Affecting Farewell in France.

Marshal and General Wave Caps Just Like Two Boys.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—A radio message received here today by the naval communication service from the transport Leviathan, which is bringing home Gen. Pershing, stated that the ship was due to reach Ambrose Lightship at 4 a.m. Monday and would dock at 8 o'clock.

Other officers on the Leviathan, the message said, were Maj.-Gens. A. W. Brewster, J. L. Hines and C. E. Hummerall; Brig.-Gens. R. E. Davis, Walter Bethl and F. Connor; Cols. G. C. Marshall, J. G. Quakemeyer, L. C. Griscomb, R. C. Burnett, E. C. McNeil, A. Morene and C. N. Babcock.

FAREWELL TO FOCH.

[BY WIRELESS—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ON BOARD THE STEAMSHIP LEVIATHAN (By radio to Cape Race, N. F.) Sept. 6.—The Leviathan yesterday took a fifty-mile hurricane with the ease of a river steamer with a Sunday picnic. The liner ran all day head on into a stiff gale, which calmed today.

Gen. Pershing is resting and working in his stateroom. There was a sincere and frankly affectionate farewell between Gen. Pershing and Marshal Foch. After the leavetaking aboard the Leviathan Marshal Foch went to the side of the small harbor tug which followed the liner. The gentle leader of the Allies waved a snowy handkerchief. He saluted to the cheers of the gobs and doughboys.

Gen. Pershing had climbed aloft to the range finder station above the bridge as the anchor was weighed. He heard the U. S. S. Chattanooga salute and saw the French naval escort and also several tugs bobbing around the swift-moving Leviathan.

Recognizing the fluttering signal from Marshal Foch, Gen. Pershing, as spontaneously as a schoolboy greets his pal, raised his cap and waved it.

Marshal Foch heartily responded, holding aloft at full arm's length the crimson and gold cap of the Marshal of France.

The tug became a speck. Gen. Pershing, cap in one hand and handkerchief in the other, extended his arms as though to embrace France. The stalwart soldier fondly surveyed the fast receding coast, his tense tanned features then turned a resolute chin toward the bow and home, tears still filling his furrowed eyes.

SCHOONER CASCO IS IN DANGER IN ARCTIC.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NOME (Alaska) Sept. 6.—The schooner Polar Bear arrived here from East Cape, Siberia, and reported the schooner Casco, when last heard of, was in a precarious situation in the Arctic Ocean. Unusually heavy ice in the southern part of the Arctic made the Casco's position dangerous.

The Casco, formerly Robert Louis Stevenson's boat, passed through here this summer carrying a party of gold seekers to some unnamed point on the northern coast of Siberia.

Great masses of ice, the Polar Bear reported, fringe the Siberia coast from East Cape northward.

BAY CITIES ARE FACING STRIKE.

Street Car Platform Men Give Ultimatum for a Rise.

Officials Have Paid no Attention to the Request.

Demand of Men Follows Close Upon Rate Increase.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

OAKLAND, Sept. 6.—An ultimatum has been served by 1100 street-car motormen and conductors of the San Francisco-Oakland and Terminal Railways and the Key Route System for a rise in wages from the present scale to seventy-five cents an hour and an eight-hour day. A refusal of the companies involved to grant these demands, the carmen say, will result in a tie-up of all the passenger service of the Key Rout between Alameda, Berkeley, Oakland and suburban towns and San Francisco and all of the street-car lines connecting fourteen large municipalities on this side of the bay.

Thus far the officials of the Key Route system and the street-car company have not made a reply to the demands that are in their hands, but within the next few days the negotiations that are now proceeding between the members of the Carmen's Union No. 192 and the officials of the traction companies will come to a head.

H. C. OF L. IS THE GROUND.

The demands of the men are based on two things. First, the rise in the cost of living since the street-car companies and the Key Route entered into an agreement a year ago. Demands would have been presented sooner, the carmen say, were it not for the fact that the men were bound by an agreement during the war with the United States government not to strike.

Now that the war-time conditions have ceased to be a reality, the men do not believe there is any longer a necesisty to observe the restraint placed upon them by the exigencies of the war.

FOLLOWS RATE RISE.

Second, the street-car company has been granted an increase in the matter of fares up to six cents and the Key Route, since the first of the present month, has been receiving 15 cents instead of 11 cents for trips between Oakland and San Francisco.

The present scale of wages for street-car motormen and conductors ranges from 43 cents to 48 cents an hour. The new scale provides for 75 cents an hour and also an eight-hour day which will give the men $6 a day. The men are demanding, further, double pay for overtime. The proposed scale for the Key Route system is higher, they demanding 87½ cents an hour for a day of eight hours. A scale on the Key System has always been higher than on the street cars.

AID OF ALLIES RUSSIA'S NEED.

Gen. Richardson Says Only Hope Against Bolshevism.

Without Criticising, Thinks Withdrawal a Mistake.

Suggests Alaska as Place of Refuge for Residents.

BY KENNETH ADAMS.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PARIS, Sept. 5.—Redoubled aid from Allies in North Russia is the only hope of salvation in the struggle against Bolshevism. This is the belief of Brig.-Gen. W. P. Richardson, commander of the Americans at Archangel.

Gen. Richardson arrived in Paris today to lay before Gen. Tasker H. Bliss and members of the American peace commission at the request of the governer-general of North Russia a report on the Archangel front.

FAVORS STAYING IN.

The Americans in North Russia were withdrawn last June and July. Brig.-Gen. Richardson and his aides, Maj. G. E. Hogaboom and Capt. Thomas Benbury, remained to attend to necessary duties. While not criticising the action of the War Department in ordering the Americans from Russia, Brig.-Gen. Richardson personally feels that it was a mistake.

"I believe the American forces should have remained in North Russia to help the disorganized and distressed people combat the Bolshevik menace."

PEOPLE ARE PANICKY.

With the withdrawal of the Americans and rumors that the British are about to leave them, the people of Archangel are panicky, dreading that the Bolsheviks will sweep down on them. The government of North Russia plans to fight through the winter, but needs food and fuel. The population looks to the United States to provide the necessities of life.

Brig.-Gen. Richardson would transport to a safe place the civilians who are the Allies' friends and supporters in North Russia and who wish to flee from the impending peril. Alaska is a possible place of refuge where the climatic conditions are similar to those in North Russia.

DENIES MUTINY.

Concerning accounts of a mutiny last winter among the Americans, Brig.-Gen. Richardson declared there was no overt act of mutiny. Because of widespread unrest from British, French and Russian forces there was disaffection among the Americans, but never mutiny.

Brig.-Gen. Richardson will remain here until the arrival of his aides.

Charge d'Affaires Cole, head of the American Embassy group at Archangel, has left North Russia, sailing August 23.

SENATOR NORRIS SAYS GERMAN POSSESSIONS TAKEN BEFORE AGREEMENT.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Prefacing a prepared address on the League of Nations, Senator Norris, Republican of Nebraska, declared in the Senate today that President Wilson's statement in his St. Louis speech to the effect that Great Britain and the other Allies had promised Japan Germany's rights to China in order to get Japan into the war was "erroneous."

"The President represented our government at the peace conference," said Senator Norris, "and he knows what was presented there and the facts are: It is a matter of history that Great Britain and the other Allies did not make that secret agreement with Japan until 1917. At the time that agreement was made all of Germany's possessions in China had been captured and there was not a German ship on the Pacific so the President has not got his history on straight. I challenge the President to produce evidence to substantiate what he said in St. Louis."

In narrative form that usually begins "once upon a time," Senator Norris told the story of Shantung. Throughout his speech, nations were referred to as individuals, Germany being styled Bill Kaiser, Japan, Mr. Japan, Great Britain, France and Italy as John Bull, Mr. French and Mr. Italiano, respectively, while the United States was named Miss Columbia.

SERGT. DONNELLY IN ALVIN YORK'S CLASS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—One lieutenant-colonel, twelve other officers and 250 snipers of the German Army cried "Kamerad" to Sergt. "Bill" Donnelly, a fighting Irish member of Company B, Eighteenth Infantry, during the second battle of the Marne, and thereby placed Sergt. "Bill" in the class with Sergt. Alvin C. York of Pall Mall, Tenn., champion hero of the world war—it was announced here last night.

Donnelly, according to his official record, with a squad of six men "surrounded" a chateau in which German snipers were at work, drove them to their "bomb proof" and then loudly called for grenades with which to blow them up.

They all surrendered, filed out and marched back to the First Division lines under Donnelly's direction and won Sergt. "Bill" the French military medal and recommendation for the Congressional Medal of Honor.

His Hearing Restored.

The invisible antiseptic ear drum invented by Mr. A. O. Leonard, which is in reality a miniature megaphone, fitting inside the ear and entirely out of sight, is restoring the hearing of literally hundreds of people in New York City. Mr. Leonard invented this remarkable drum to relieve himself of deafness and head noises, and it does this so successfully that no one could tell that he is a deaf man. This ear drum is effective when deafness is caused by catarrh or by perforated, partially or wholly destroyed natural drums. A request for information addressed to A. O. Leonard, Suite 111, 70 Fifth ave., New York City, will be given a prompt reply.—[Advertisement.

SCOTT AGAIN TRIMS TIGERS.

Ex-White Sox Twirler Heaves a Crafty Game.

Borton and Caveney Make Memory Boots.

Dawson Wobbles in Fifth and is Taken Out.

BY ED O'MALLEY.

Jim Scott sipped the cup of revenge clear to the heeltaps at Washington Park yesterday afternoon, when he downed the Tigers 4 to 2 in one of the most interesting games seen here in some time. The defeat was the second within a few days dealt by Jim to the Bengals and made his retaliation a masterpiece of unflinching pluck. "Hell hath no fury like a woman spruned" and the same may be said of a man whose gratuitous offer to give his best under any old terms has been flouted.

But let us leave Jim alone in the glory of his get back, and hasten to the game proper which was featured by several plays that seldom bob up on a diamond. To begin with, we will fling a little homely wisdom to the effect that the measure of success in this world is simply to keep one's mind on one's work at all times. To illustrate our little dictum we will advert to the horses.

A SURE THING.

We got a tip on a sure thing once something like this: "Just play that black horse with the foam all over him coming through the gate." The field boasted ten and we got on across the board something like 15, 6 and 3. The field started in front of the stand. Well, that old black horse just a rared and snorted and bit everything in the line-up except the starter. By the time the flag dropped he had fretted himself into about fifty-seven barber shops. We then turned to our inspired benefactor and purred "Why that black can't win—he can't keep his mind on his work" and he didn't win.

In the eighth inning yesterday Master Caveney was on second, Koerner at first, Hunter resting at third, with one out. Shick hit to Meusel who threw Hunter out at the plate. What does Caveney do but deliberately walk toward his glove in right field while the grand stand went into a convulsion of laughter. Of course, it was the easiest thing in the world for Mitchell to step over and touch Caveney for the third out. This is what is called having a slat loose in one's memory.

THERE WITH BELLS.

But hold a bit—Babe Borton was also there in the same line, with bells. In the seventh inning with Kamm on third and one out, Fitzgerald fouled a high one near the Tiger dugout which Babe glommed. Kamm dashed toward the plate after the catch but when about half way down came to a sudden stop. There he was, caught redhanded between th Continental and the Lankershim. Of course he expected Babe to peg the ball, but the Tiger first sacker let his hands drop in innocuous desuetude at his sides and Kamm shimmied home.

With Borton it was not a case of fluster, rattle or anything at sixes and sevens in his top piece but just a little indulgence in his first and early love. It seems that when the ball plocked into Borton's leather shop the Seal coach at first base fell into a reminiscent strain and burbled "Say, Babe—do you remember the time we had ten bucks down on that fifteen to one bird?" "You know it boy" shot back the initial sacker "and it sure was a life saver." What was one run to Babe as compared with a delicious thrill for a few moments of a killing on the ponies, and those fans that blame him for his little siesta yesterday, just let them feel the clutch of a broad reading "150-10" that has rolled home on the chin strap and they'll forget that a diamond ever existed.

WITH HIS NOODLE.

But let's back to home and mother. Scott pitched craftily in the pinches and balked every rally that the Vernons started. It looked pretty blue for him in the last canto with two on, two out, Chadbourne at the bat and two kids carrying Bobby Meusel's wagon tongue toward the plate. Both Chad and Scott were in the 3-2 hole. A single, and Bobby up next, boded a potential Tiger victory, but the best Chet could do was to carrom Scott's final twister into a high foul to Koerner and the fell deed was accomplished.

Dawson who mounded for Essick had a wobbly spell in the second inning, but cunningly pulled himself out. In the fourth and fifth, however, he fell foul of another wobbly fit and this time he blew the works, the Seals landing on him for a quartette of hits flowering into three runs. Ross relieved Rex in the seventh when the visitors added another run to their score. This was enough and sufficient and the harrowing details follow:

DOUBLE-HEADER ON FOR TODAY.

What ho, ye fans—today is bargain day at Washington Park. The San Franciscos and Vernons will meet in a double-header. The first contest will begin at 1:30 o'clock p.m. and the second ten minutes after the finish of the opening game. Both games can be witnessed for one admission. The series this week now stands: Tigers, three; Seals, two. The visitors must win both games this afternoon to annex the series.

Seaton will be on the mound for the northerners in the first game and Couch in the second. For Vernon, Houck will sling 'em over in the first and either Dell or Mitchell in the second. The Tigers will try their best to win both games. A capacity crowd is expected and special arrangements have been made to accommodate every spectator with a seat.

SOME NIFTY PLAY IS SHOWN IN TOURNEY.

TOM BUNDY IS ELIMINATED FROM SINGLES PLAY BY EUGENE WARREN.

Some mighty nifty tennis was played yesterday in the city tennis tournament now in its final stages on the Y.M.C.A. courts. Of especial interest to the fans was the men's doubles match betwixt Tom Bundy and Cliff Herd vs. Bill Hawks and Jim Davies. The first set went to Bundy and Hawks, but the second was contested to the limit of limits.

Finally, the set, after many, many deuces and hard work on both sides, went to Hawks and Davies, 8-10. Then Bundy and Herd having rather tired out their opponents by running them around the court, grabbed the next set, 6-2. Another hardly-contested match was that of Browne and Barber vs. Warren and Ketchum. After much labor on both sides, and a trifle more poor playing than seemed necessary, the Browne-Barber combination triumphed.

THE RESULTS.

Men's singles—Snodgrass defeated Sinsabaugh, 6-3, 7-5; Warren defeated Mace, 6-2, 6-3; Snodgrass defeated Davies, 7-5, 6-2; Warren defeated Bundy, 6-2, 2-6, 6-3.

Men's doubles—Bundy and Herd defeated Hawks and Davis, 6-2, 8-10, 6-2; Nat Browne and Allan Barber defeated Warren and Ketchum, 2-6, 6-3, 9-7; Snodgrass and R. Reinke defeated Mace and M. Reinke, 6-2, 6-4.

Women's singles—Miss Bryant defeated Mrs. Williamson, 6-2, 6-3; Miss Tennant defeated Miss Lang, 6-1, 6-0; Miss Grieve defeated Miss Upton, 6-4, 6-1; Mrs. Leonard defeated Miss Allen, 8-6, 6-3; Miss Upton defeated Miss Sischo, 7-5, 6-2; Miss Blatz defeated Miss Cattrell, 6-2, 9-7.

Mixed doubles—Mrs. Leonard and Nat Browne defeated Miss Blatz and Tussing, 6-3, 6-2; Mrs. Papke and Reinke defeated Ruth Brown and Bowers, 6-3, 6-0; Miss Tennant and Harvey Snodgrass defeated Turvey and Miss Bird, 6-2, 6-1; Mrs. Papke and M. Reinke defeated Mrs. Williamson and R. Stillwell, 4-6, 6-3, 6-2.

Miss Grieve and Ketchum defeated Nisto and partner by default.

HIGH-CLASS RUNNERS TO RACE AT ASCOT.

The big horse race meeting and stampede booked for Ascot Park in early October is fast assuming definite proportions. Word comes from Sacramento, where a representative of Promoter Bentel is busily engaged in garnering running horses, that he has already gotten together a string of from 100 to 125 bangtails many of which are of high class. Among the thoroughbreds are Snowy Mane, Ethel, July Fly, Afternight, Dickey W., Forum, Von Dillon, Hyndla, Ruthland Arms, Onota, Delaney, Antrim, D. C. Girl and other runners at Sacramento.

Tom Mix has entered a fast mare from the East named Fleet, which will be a starter in one of the stake races on the opening day.

Several strings of horses are already quartered at Ascot Park and the rail birds with their timers can be seen early in the morning keeping tab on the workouts. Preparations are being made to stable at least 150 running horses besides 300 or more that will be used in the stampede.

GEORGE ESTELL IS BANTAM CHAMPION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—George Estell, U.S.S. Arkansas, won the bantamweight championship of the Pacific Fleet in a spirited four-round bout here tonight with Tommy Chappell, U.S.S. New Mexico. Chappell took the count a few minutes before the final gong in the last round. It was conceded to have been the feature bout of the evening.

Fred Burrows, U.S.S. New Mexico, lightweight champion of the Allied Fleet, won by default from Jack Brooks, U.S.S. Idaho. Joe Kelly, U.S.S. New Mexico, a welterweight, won by default from "Slugger" Moss, U.S.S. Wyoming.

"Battling" Renshaw, U.S.S. Wyoming, won a decision over Bob Gardner, U.S.S. New York. Both men are middleweights.

The heavy and light-heavyweight bout was won by Bob Grant, U.S.S. New Mexico, Allied Fleet champion, who got the decision over "Fresco" Jimmy Neesen, U.S.S. New York.

Joe Meyers, U.S.S. New Mexico, a featherweight, won the decision by a shade over Stevan Connelly, U.S.S. Mississippi.

ANGELS BIFF BEES TWICE.

Killefer's Pets Bat Hard in Mormon City.

Fittery and Crandall Heave Horsehide Well.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SALT LAKE, Sept. 6.—The Angels took another step pennantward and by the same token, took a lot of pennant hope out of the Bees this afternoon, when they not only grabbed two games from Salt Lake, but outplayed it at every turn. Both were regulation nine-inning games and Killefer's men took the first, 5 to 2, and the second, 9 to 4.

The first contest was a pitcher's battle between Paul Fittery and Al Gould, except for one bad inning which the latter experienced. Gould lost his game right in that frame, the sixth. The next one was a knock down, drag out affair in which the visitors outhit the locals. One inning here also practically decided the contest for a dropped fly ball that should have meant the third out so upset Walter Leverenz's left-hand equilibrium that he was the bunk from then on and the Angels scored three runs before they could be retired in this spasm alone.

UP IN THE AIR.

After that Lefty went sky high and never returned. The Angels with their three victories, need but one more tomorrow to win the series, although they stand a good show to win two as Herr spilled his two best pitching bets this afternoon. It looks like Baum and Markle for the Bees and Schultz and Pertica for the visitors.

After being hit by a pitched ball, Killefer scored in the opening inning of the first game on a walk and a couple of outs. In the sixth Gould lost his hole-card completely. He argued with Guthrie until he had walked Karl Crandall. Neihoff teased a single through Mulvey and Hosp sacrificed. Gould then walked Fittery and loaded the bases. Next he hit Killefer for the second time and forced in a run. Fabrique's sacrifice fly scored another and a single by Fournier rang up two more, before Crawford retired the side by flying to left.

BEES HELPLESS.

The Bees were helpless before Fittery until the last inning and then they scored two. Johnson walked and Mulligan doubled. Smith, batting for Mulvey, scored Johnson with a single and put Mulligan on third, from where he scored on an out.

Salt Lake drew first blood in the second game. In the second inning Rumler walked and Johnson singled. Johnson stole second. Mulligan's single scored Rumler and put Johnson on third from which Mulvey sent him in with a one-base swat. Byler hit into a double play, Mulligan scoring.

There were two out for the Angels when Mulvey dropped Otis Crandall's fly in the fifth. Leverenz lost his control. He also permitted Killefer to walk in front of a pitched ball and then passed Fabrique to give Fournier a set-up, which Jack promptly took advantage of by singling to right and scoring two. Crawford also singled and brought in Fabrique.

KARL IS THERE.

Salt Lake scored its other run in the fourth on singles by Johnson and Mulligan, an out and a double steal. Three more came Los Angele's way in the eighth. Fournier hit for two bases and drew up with a sprained ankle, Bates taking his place on the paths. The next two men were outs but Karl Crandall beat out an infield grounder and Bert Niehoff then lost one over the left field fence.

Another trio was chalked up for the Killefer men in the ninth. With one out Killefer beat out an infield hit to Mulligan and took third when the latter heaved it into the bleachers. Fabrique singled, scoring Killefer and Sam Crawford hit one a mile over the right field fence. The scores:

R. ARLETT WINS TWO GAMES FOR OAKLETS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6. — R. Arlett, in the box for Oakland, was good for two victories today, the Oaks beating Seattle 10 to 2 and 8 to 4. Six bases on balls, three singles, one triple and an error, all in the sixth inning, gave the Oaks their tallies in the first game. Arlett cinched his own game in the fourth inning of the second contest by knocking a home run into the left-field bleachers with two men on. Scores:

ARMY CONVOY HITS COAST.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

OAKLAND, Sept. 5. — An army transport train composed of seventy-two motor trucks and automobiles arrived here today after completing a transcontinental journey of approximately 3000 miles in about fifty-five days.

The train was commanded by Lieut.-Col. McClure. It was met at Stockton, southeast of here, by Oakland and Alameda county officials and officials of the Lincoln Highway Association.

The men of the train camped for the night near the municipal auditorium and later attended a dance at the auditorium.

Col. McClure said the trip had demonstrated the practicability of the motor truck for war purposes and had shown the need of paving the transcontinental highway.

Practically all of the trouble encountered, he said, had been caused by imperfect roads.

EIGHT GOLFERS LEFT FOR THE MID-FINALS.

GRANT AND NEVILLE BOTH WIN THEIR MATCHES AND MEET TODAY.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

DEL MONTE, Sept. 6.—The eight golfers, all worthy of the name, left to contest the mid-finals of the California amateur championship tomorrow are Douglas Grant, Jack Neville, Frank Kales and Gus Schwartz in the upper bracket, and F. M. Lewis, Dr. C. H. Walter, Arthur Vincent and Frank Tatum, in the lower half. The last named is the only representative from Southern California left in the major contest.

Grant and Neville both won their matches today by comfortable large margins, Grant scoring a fine 69 in the morning, though this was not the best of the day, as Frank Kales brought in a 68 in his first round. The Claremont crack also went out in 32 on his second round, phenomenal golf. Grant and Neville meet tomorrow which should provide the spectacular match of the meeting.

SCOTTY BEATEN.

The disappointment of the day was the defeat of "Scotty" Armstrong, twice State champion, who succumbed to another Angeleno, Frank Tatum of San Gabriel. The latter has been around the links since the start of the game in California and is still steadily showing improvement.

Sam Conlan, the star of San Francisco's municipal links, fell to the club of F. M. Lewis, the experienced Texan. The lanky youth found himself confronted with a most resourceful golfer and the strain of his first big tournament was beginning to tell. He did not play today the golf that is in him. Lewis seemed to take the heart out of the youngster at the thirtieth hole of the match—the twelfth, which is perhaps the most crucial hole on the links, for the second shot demands a perfectly pitched approach shot onto a well-guarded green. Lewis, tomorrow meets Dr. Walter, the champion of two years ago, and an interesting match between the two well seasoned golfers is assured.

CLOSE MATCH.

The closest match in the second round of the championship flight today was between Arthur Vincent and Cecil Putnam, the Sequoyah youngster. The latter stuck well to his guns and it took thirty-three holes to put him out.

E. K. Johnson, the survivor of yesterday's historic struggle with Frank O'Keefe, was beaten by Gus Schwartz, the promising young player from Beresford. Schwartz hits a smashing ball from the tee and is one of the discoveries of this tournament.

There were a number of capital contests in the Del Monte flight at handicap and only one default; that of E. H. Seaver of Los Angeles, who was stricken with tonsilitis. Bobby Eyre had another of his exciting finishes, defeating "Pim" Palmer, the tremendous hitter from the south, at the twentieth hole. Here was the strongest point of contrast between golfers, the long and short of it, but the match once went to prove that few matches are won from the tee. Eyre's short game brought him into the semi-finals of the flight, and, as he has a three handicap, stands a very good chance to win.

Another ding-dong fight was between Dr. Sellery of Long Beach and J. O. Tobin, the latter only giving up the ghost at the twentieth hole.

TO GIVE DINNER.

The annual meeting of the California Golf Association will be held tomorrow evening and will be followed by a golfer's dinner. The women held down the first tee from 10 o'clock in the morning till after lunch, and there were sixty-eight of them, the best and biggest field of petticoated golfers ever seen in the State, and, of course, the loveliest.

Mrs. Hubert Law and Miss Edith Chesebrough tied for the medal with fine scores of 87, and Mrs. T. S. Haker, of Menlo, was only one stroke worse. Miss Margaret Cameron, the leading lady of the links of the South, followed with 90, the card also returned by Miss Kathleen Wright, former State champion. There was a tie between Mrs. Swinnerton, Mrs. Chauncey Martyn, Mrs. Milton Bernard and Miss Frances for the last place in the championship flight and it was a thoroughly sporting event. Mrs. Swinnerton got out of a very tight place from her second shot as did Miss Parsons, but the latter fell down on an approach putt and was eliminated. Mrs. Frank Kales of Claremont won the handicap trophy among the first fighters and Mrs. Jack Neville was similarly successful in the second division.

CLEAN SWEEP BY AMERICANS.

Win Both Singles and the One Doubles Event.

Tilden Proves Too Clever for Anzac Patterson.

Sensational Tennis is Feature of Day's Play.

By Fred Hawthorne.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

FOREST HILLS (L. I.) Sept. 6.—The series of international lawn tennis matches between America and Australasia on the championship courts of the West Side Tennis Club of Forest Hills, closed this afternoon with the Americans again making a clean sweep by winning both singles and the one doubles events. Thus the United States defeated Australia's best by a total of six matches to nothing in the two days of play.

The feature meeting of the day came in the clashing of William T. Tilden, II, of Philadelphia, runner-up to William M. Johnston of California, for the national singles championship, and Gerald L. Patterson of Australia, winner of the all-England title. Tilden won in four furious sets, by a score of 3-6, 6-3, 6-4, 9-7, in a match that aroused tremendous enthusiasm in the final set from a gallery of about 2500 persons.

WAN AND TIRED.

Johnston took the measure of the veteran Brookes with less effort, winning at 6-4, 7-9, 6-2, 6-2; but this match never brought forth the great flights of tennis that abounded in the Tilden-Patterson meeting. Brookes looked wan and tired all the way through and in the last set after more than an hour and a half in a burning sun, he actually seemed ready to drop on the court.

Johnston, too, was not the same wonderful bundle of steel wires and tremendous hitting power that he had shown himself against Tilden last Thursday although he gradually worked himself up to the point where his terrific forehand drive was regaining its sting. The first match of the day resulted in the victory of Wallace F. Johnson of Philadelphia and Richard Norris Williams, II, of Boston, former national champion, over Randolph Lycett and Ronald V. Thomas of Australia, by a score of 6-2, 6-4, 2-6, 2-6, 6-0.

SUN IN EYES.

Patterson began the service in the final match of the day with a glaring sun shining in his eyes and he won the opening game without great trouble. The big Anzac made it 3-0 on games by winning the third on his own service following up to the net with a rush and volleying with greater accuracy than usual.

Tilden's attempts to lob his opponent into back court met with small success, for Patterson was hitting very well and with great power, overhead, and the American was not very successful in getting the range of the court correctly on these shots, often tossing the ball a foot back of the base line.

CROSS VOLLEYS.

Just when it looked as though Patterson was going to walk straight through the set without opposition Tilden began to stage some of his spectacular shots, racing into the net for brilliant cross-court volleys and crafty shots that took the Australian's powerful drives and dropped the ball just over the net. Tilden ran off the fourth, fifth and sixth games, breaking through Patterson's service in the fifth and squaring the match on the next.

But the Philadelphian could not hold control for any sustained period and the Australian won the next three games, closing in at the net with wonderful strides and smothering Tilden's returns with low volleys to all parts of the court. It was Tilden's service at the start of the second set, but after the points had gone to "deuce" twice, Patterson won, twice smashing with tremendous force as Tilden sent up back-hand lobs that did not have sufficient depth. They were "sitlers" and Patterson knows how to treat a "sitler" as well as on the courts today.

GROW NERVOUS

When the Australian second game on his own Tilden began looking gallery was plainly disturbed, though America already overwhelming lead in the match. The American struck one of his streaks of tennis, however, and ran next three games, giving lead once more. He was a wicked underspin on the he drove it low over the diving for the corners, when Patterson could get into position in time, he trouble in "digging" the and Tilden was making from one side to the other a moment's breathing spell.

The Australian won the game on his own service, points had reached "deuce" though he put up a tremendous tie the last three games, bringing off shots that unreturnable at times and second set at 6-3, match.

BROKE THROUGH.

Patterson began the the third set, winning the Tilden came back in the then broke through in aided by two wonderful volleys across Patterson's

The Anzac squared however, by retaliating American in the fourth ing in at the net and Tilden's attempts at grand volleying. There other "break" until the game, which Tilden took as Patterson experienced tremely wild streak on hand. Common-Sense for Corns, "Gets-It"

The Great Painless Corn Loosener. Simple as A. B. C. Never Fails.

If you have ever tried to get rid of a corn by bundling up your toe with bandages, or by using salve that made your toe red and almost raw, or tried to dig your corn out with a knife, there will be a surprise waiting for you when you use "Gets-It." Imagine peeling your corn off gloriously, easily and painlessly, just like peeling off a banana skin. Well, that is what happens when you use "Gets-It." There is nothing that will give you this same result. Millions of folks have had the same blessed experience. Cocoanut Oil Makes A Splendid Shampoo

"Gets-It" Takes Out the "Ouch" and the Corn.

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless,) is much better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.—[Advertisement.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of Orchard White for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands and see how quickly the freckles, sunburn, windburn and tan disappear and how clear, soft and white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless.—[Advertisement.

IN HONOR OF SERVICE MEN.

Orange County Arranges Full Day of Celebration.

Governor to Lay Corner Stone of Memorial Arch.

Returned Heroes to Receive Honor Medal.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA ANA, Sept. 6.—The greatest gala day in the history of Orange county is set for next Tuesday, when the county-wide welcome-home reception to returned service men will be held at the 160-acre county park in Santiago Canyon, above Orange. The affair is one of immense proportions, an attendance which will reach 20,000 people is anticipated, and many scores of men and women were busy today completing final arrangements for the celebration.

Gov. W. D. Stephens will be present, and with a gold trowel will lay and dedicate the corner-stone of a permanent memorial arch to be erected by the county in honor of her fallen heroes. The Governor will deliver an address, and on behalf of the Orange County War Recognition Association will present a county service medal to Lieut. Clyde Slater of Orange, acting on behalf of the county Service Men's Association.

HANDSOME MEDALS.

A duplicate of the medal which will be presented to Slater will be given to each Orange county man or woman who served in the military or naval forces during the war, including Red Cross nurses. Medals will be given to the nearest relatives of Orange county's sons and daughters who gave their lives in the service.

The medals are of handsome government bronze, and are three inches in diameter, inclosed in a substantial plush case. On one side appears the American eagle, starry shield, a soldier and sailor with rifles, and the words: "World War Heroes, 1917-1918, Victory, U. S. In appreciation to those who served freedom's cause from Orange County, California." On the reverse side is a large orange, with the sun rising over the top of Old Baldy and looking down upon the oil derricks and the orchards of Orange county, and the words: "Presented by Orange County War Service Recognition Association," with scroll where the name of the recipient of the medal can be engraved.

The medals cost $3 each and more than 2000 of them will be distributed, either at the park celebration or later as the service men who have not yet returned, arrive home. The medals are paid for by the War Service Recognition Association, which derives its funds from the sale of membership buttons at $1 each. The entire cost of the welcome-home reception will approximate $20,000, and it is expected this amount will have been raised through the sale of buttons by Tuesday. R. L. Bisby of Santa Ana is chairman of the association and in executive charge of all the arrangements for the big doings.

EVERYTHING CLOSED.

Tuesday is a legal holiday and all bank and public offices will be closed. In addition, practically all stores and business houses in the county will be closed that day so that all may attend the celebration, and all ex-service men will be released from the duties of their occupations so they may attend the celebration in their honor.

The celebration programme begins at 10 o'clock with concert by the Huntington Beach Band. Exercises of laying the memorial corner-stone will be from 11 to 12, with gold trowel being presented to Gov. Stephens by T. R. Talbert, chairman of the Board of Supervisors. The Anaheim band will play during the basket luncheon hour, and from 1:30 to 2:15 there will be a concert by the massed Santa Ana, Anaheim and Huntington Beach bands. From 2:30 to 4 the medal presentation exercises will be held, closing with song, "California," led by Prof. C. A. Gustlin of Santa Ana. The day will close with a band concert from 4 to 6 p.m., and dancing and social time from 4 to 10.

The Knights of Columbus will maintain a hut at the park and will provide a bounteous supply of "smokes" for the service men, and the Salvation Army will serve doughnuts and coffee, just as it did on the battlefields of France.

THIRSTY PATRONS DRINK QUANTITY OF EVIDENCE

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

EL CENTRO, Sept. 6.—Sheriff Byers of San Diego, who conducted a raid on an establishment conducted by Robert Davis at Jacumba Thursday evening, is wondering where three barrels of 2.75 per cent. beer have disappeared. Sheriff Byers, who charges that a gaming institution was being conducted, and states he played at the tables for some time before making the raid, found five barrels of alleged booze.

Two barrels were removed to San Diego as evidence and the remaining three were placed in charge of a custodian.

The supposition is that during the night thirsty guests at Jacumba made away with the three barrels, for when morning arrived the beer was gone.

FURNISHES BOND.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

TULARE, Sept. 6.—V. Kikilikian, a vineyard owner of the Hanford district, who was held in jail here following a fight in a local hotel in which David Bentley, a New York architect, was severely injured, is at liberty on $500 bonds to await a trial on a charge of disorderly conduct. Bentley left a hospital here several days ago and the officers have been unable to locate him. Kikilikian declared that Bentley entered the former's rooms and attempted to rob him, while Bentley told an exactly opposite story.

GERMAN U-BOAT LEAVES SAN PEDRO.

SUNDAY LAST DAY OF VISIT OF SURRENDERED HUN CRAFT.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, Sept. 6.—Sunday will be the last day the citizens of Los Angeles and vicinity will have an opportunity to visit the German undersea boat now tied up at the dock at the Submarine Base at San Pedro. The surrendered craft will proceed on its last voyage to Seattle Monday. If the fast deteriorating craft is able to make the round trip it will probably return to this port and go out of commission. Officers on the U-boat yesterday, however, expressed some doubt as to whether the submarine will be able to withstand the voyage.

The U-88 was built during 1918 by the Germans when copper and brass were not to be had in the land of the Huns. Steel, iron and tin were therefore used where copper and brass were most needed and the craft is therefore necessarily short lived. But the Germans made the most of poor metal and the U-88 was rated as one of the most efficient types ever built. Now the mass of pipes, guages and tanks that fill the hull and excited the curiosity of sightseers during the past week are rusting out and little is left in complete working order except the engines and the periscope. No attempt was ever made to submerge the boat since it started on its 12,000-mile voyage from England after the surrender of the German fleet.

Because of the railroad strike and interruption of car service the attendance of visitors at this port has been the poorest of any port visited.

ESCAPE INJURY.

Los Angeles Men Meet with Auto Accident at Pomona.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

POMONA, Sept. 6.—Thrown from the machine in which they were riding when it turned turtle after colliding with an auto belonging to John A. Naftel and driven by Mrs. Naftel today, two men had a narrow escape from injury. The accident happened at the corner of Second and Eleanor streets. The other machine was owned by J. A. Carter, who has offices in the San Fernando Building in Los Angeles. It was being driven by his foreman, T. O. Huff, also of Los Angeles. Another man employed by Mr. Carter was also in the machine. They were coming onto Second street from Eleanor street and the Naftel machine was approaching the intersection of Second street.

In some manner the two machines came together, the Naftel machine striking the other car with sufficient force to overturn it and dislodge the occupants.

EAST HIGHLANDS, Sept. 6.—Where is Lloyd Tibbett? The War Department is making diligent inquiry for him, wishing to confer on the young man a distinguished service medal for his work in France.

Tibbett was here for a short time after he returned from France, but not finding just the work he wanted he left, telling friends that he would go to Fresno. No trace can be secured from him there. He was for several years a valued employee of a local packing-house. He returned from service in France with an enviable record.

TO ENFORCE LAW.

All Redlands Youths Under Sixteen Must Attend School.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, Sept. 6.—H. G. Clement, superintendent of the city schools, has announced that the new law requiring all children to go to school until they are sixteen years old whether they have graduated from the grammar schools or not will be strictly enforced by the school authorities in Redlands.

It is suspected that the law will result in an increase in enrollment over what was expected. The law was designed primarily to keep children in school and out of shops until they are old enough not to be permanently injured by such work. This year there will be twenty-one instructors in the high school.

AIR SNAP-SHOOTING LATEST IN PICTURES.

LOCAL AVIATION COMPANY ADDS NEW EQUIPMENT AND MORE PLANES.

In order to supply the demand for aerial photographs of Los Angeles and vicinity, Cecil B. de Mille, president of the Mercury Aviation Company, announced yesterday that his company has installed an equipment of aerial cameras and is ready to photograph events and places from the air.

Many real estate and other firms have taken advantage of aerial photography to show the topography of their holdings or interests better than mere maps could depict the same. Recently the Mercury company photographed the tracts of the Angeles Mesa Land Company and the property of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, as well as the buildings and the locations of motion-picture companies.

The Mercury company has bought two new planes from the government, giving it a fleet of ten airplanes in constant service. The two new planes will be used, one for the Bakersfield, Fresno, San Francisco route, and the other at the Pasadena municipal field. The Mercury company now has two planes at each of its Hollywood fields, two at Riverside and two for emergency purposes.

VENICE TO SELL ARMY FOODSTUFF.

CITY BY THE SEA ARRANGES BIG CELEBRATION OF ADMISSION DAY.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VENICE, Sept. 6.—Venice will begin her sale of 5000 pounds of bacon and 10,000 cans of tomatoes next Wednesday. The sale will be at the City Hall. The bacon will be sold at 37 cents a pound and the tomatoes at 15 cents a can. Venice citizens have been clamoring for government foodstuffs since it was first offered and it is expected that the sale will be of short duration. The grocers of Venice declare that both bacon and tomatoes are of the best quality and that the price is far below current market quotations.

ADMISSION DAY.

Several years ago Venice declared that Admission Day is one of the biggest on the calendar, and its celebration has been one of the joys of that city ever since. Mayor Coles has ordered next Tuesday a holiday, and all city offices will be closed.

Venice will stage a grand all-day party for the State of California generally on that day, every person who is in the State at the present time is invited to attend. There will be parades, special indoor and outdoor entertainments, dances, confetti battles and a grand ball in the evening. Although Californians are accorded a special invitation the whole world will be welcome on that day of joy and "jazz."

SCHOOLS TO OPEN.

Venice grammar schools will begin the registration of their prospective pupils Monday. Regular work will begin Tuesday. High School will not begin sessions until September 15. Venice High School boys will, this year, be compelled to wear the High School military uniforms until other plans are made.

DOSE OF BROMO FRIGHTENS COOK.

HEADACHE REMEDY IS NOT POPULAR IN THE BELGIAN CONGO.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PORTERVILLE, Sept. 6.—Mrs. Douglass McMillen of this place, who sailed from San Francisco five months ago, has arrived at her destination, 500 miles in the interior of the Belgian Congo, where she accompanied Mr. McMillen, who is chief engineer, of a Belgian diamond mining company.

Mrs. McMillen writes entertainingly of the superstitions of her native servants. She lost her best cook after he had seen her husband take a dose of bromo-seltzer. When Mr. McMillen took the foaming drink the native disappeared with a howl in the brush. He sent back word he would work no longer for a man who could make water boil without heat and who could drink the steaming stuff.

YOUNG LION HUNTER.

Fifteen-year-old Boy Breaks All Former Records.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PORTERVILLE, Sept. 6.—"Jimmy" Barber, 15, son of Dr. S. A. Barber of this place, claims the record of this portion of the State as a lion hunter. In six days in the foothills, near Hot Springs east of here, young Barber and a companion, John Guthrie of the foothill country, killed three of the animals, after the beasts had killed and eaten a number of head of live stock from the McFarland ranges. The last one killed, a huge lioness, was shot by the local boy after having been trailed for three days. In addition to the sport of the hunting trip the two will collect $70 in State bounties for the pelts.

DEFRAUD RANCHERS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

TULARE, Sept. 6.—Several Tulare district Portuguese have been defrauded by two Los Angeles stock buyers for whom warrants have been issued and for whom the local officers are searching. These two men, it is stated, visited several ranches of this district and made offers for calves and other live stock. After familiarizing themselves with the persons about these properties, they waited until the owners were gone and then driving off stock from the place left with others on the ranches' checks for smaller amounts than the agreed price. Before the officers could be notified the two men had driven off the stock and left the country.

TRAFFIC BLOCKING GIVES MUCH CONCERN.

SOLUTION OFFERED, TO STOP DAY PARKING IN BUSY DOWNTOWN SECTION.

The Board of Public Works will send to the City Council tomorrow morning a recommendation that parking of automobiles be prohibited in the congested area of the business district between First and Ninth streets, between 6 a.m. and 7 p.m., as a help towards solving traffic problems. The board's communication says:

"The congestion of traffic, and its consequent annoyance and loss to the general public, on the downtown streets, in that general section from First street to Ninth street, on Spring street, Broadway and Hill street, compels the Board of Public Works to call the attention of the honorable City Council to the necessity of immediate relief.

"Whatsoever may be the permanent solution of this problem, it will be some years before put in operation, and some temporary arrangement should be made, pending the final solution, to meet this exigency. Therefore, this board recommends that no cars be allowed to park for any length of time, whatever, in the area mentioned above, between the hours of 6 o'clock a.m. and 7 o'clock p.m."

The agreed purchase price for the property is $33,000. This will be paid immediately upon the collection of the county taxes.

The board also authorized the purchase of three lots in the city of Dinuba to be used for handling machinery and other equipment of road-making crews in the Alta district.

TO TEST DRY LAW.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

BRAWLEY, Sept. 6.—Is beer, containing 2.75 per cent. alcohol, legal in Brawley?

Minor Blythe, attorney, will find out for the thirsty ones, so he announced today. A client of his, carrying a dozen bottles of 2.75 per cent. stuff, is to enter the city some time early next week, but not until after the marshal has been notified of his whereabouts and time of arrival.

A test case will result if an arrest is made.

HIGHER VALUATION INCREASES REVENUE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

HOLTVILLE, Sept. 6.—This city's rate of taxation for the coming fiscal year was this week set at $2.10 by the Board of Trustees, divided as follows: general fund, $1.00; water bond fund, 65c; and municipal fund, 45c. While this is the same rate as prevailed last year, the city's revenue will be considerably increased by reason of an increase in the assessed valuations. The increase in the total valuation is believed to be sufficient to take care of the city's indebtedness during the next year, even though commodities have advanced in price.

DELANO RANCHER SAYS GIRL TRIFLED WITH HIS AFFECTIONS.

VISALIA, Sept. 6.—Clark E. Willard, a rancher of the Delano district south of here, has filed two suits in the Superior Court against Miss Florence Mary Longland, also of that district, seeking to recover real and personal property which he declares he transferred to her when she promised to marry him.

Now, he says in his complaint, she refused to carry out the agreement. He asks in one suit for the return of a quarter section of land, which he says he deeded to her, and in the other for an order from the court to compel her to return to him personal property to the value of $1157, which he says he gave to her at various times, the latter consisting of 150 sacks of wheat, 30 railroad ties, 2 straw hats, 1 cow, 2 straw stacks, 8 swarms of bees and 2 dozen chickens.

SETTLES SCHOOL MUDDLE.

Decision of Appellate Court Accepted as Final in Pasadena Row.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PASADENA, Sept. 6.—In all probability there will be no appeal by the school board from the decision of the District Court of Appeals upholding the appointment of Dr. John Franklin West, as superintendent of Pasadena schools for a four-year term.

Clayton R. Taylor, school board member, who took his seat in July and took an active part when the new board refused to recognize the election of Dr. West, which was accomplished by the outgoing board in June, stated this afternoon that the board probably would not appeal the decision, adding that it was merely his opinion and that he did not assume to speak for other members of the board.

George R. Bickley, president of the board and one of those who opposed the election of Dr. West by the old board, made similar comment. However, they both declared that they desired to consult with other members and with City Attorney J. H. Howard and to have an opportunity to go over the complete text of the decision before making extended comment. City Attorney Howard was out of the city this afternoon. It is understood that the board and Dr. West agreed that if the decision of the Court of Appeals was clear-cut there would be no appeal by either side.

Board members today stated that there was no personal animus against Dr. West and that the board was willing to co-operate with him in the school work.

MEXICO MASSES MEN ON BORDER

border en route for posts within twelve hours of the international line.

This figure approaches the American total, although, of course, there is a great balance of equipment of all kinds on the American side. As conditions now stand, half of the American army within the territorial boundaries of the country is stationed on the border and exclusive of air service personnel, is around 40,000 men.

STRENGTHEN AIR SERVICE.

Word was received here Friday that 123 men were being sent from Southern Field, Americus, Ga., to Kelly Field at San Antonio to strengthen the border airplane patrol. Sixty-eight men were expected at Fort Bliss tonight on the Texas Pacific. The men are mostly casuals from the Second Division.

Forty recruits were sent to Marfa, Tex., Friday to strengthen the garrison there. Men also were sent to Tucson.

PLOT TO KILL FIRST CHIEF.

A plot to assassinate President Carranza has been discovered by Gen. Juan Barragan, Chief of Staff, according to articles on the front page of the semiofficial Mexico City daily received here this afternoon. It is claimed that the plot was made in a secret society and that it had been worked out in many important details. Mexican officials here and at Juarez deny having any official reports of such a plot.

MURDER CATTLE MAN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NOGALES (Ariz.) Sept. 6.—Jose Maria Sito, one of the wealthiest Mexican ranchers in the State of Sonora, and Attorney Santiago Cota, prominent Hermosillo barrister, were murdered last night at Imuris, forty miles south of the border. Sito, who was a land baron, was said to have had many enemies among the poorer class of Mexicans in his home district.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—The State Department received a dispatch from the Embassy at Mexico City today, announcing that the Mexicans who held up and robbed American sailors from the monitor Cheyenne in the Tampico district, some weeks ago, had been caught and are being held at Tampico. Some of the personal belongings of the sailors were recovered.

REFUSED ENTRANCE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

LAREDO (Tex.) Sept. 6.—Many citizens of the United States were refused permits to enter the Tampico section of Mexico today when they declined to waive responsibility of the Mexican government for any bodily harm that might befall them.

The Mexican Consul here just received instructions from Mexico City regarding this waiver proviso, which is to be attached to all applications for permits to enter the Tampico section, where a number of Americans and other foreigners recently have been attacked by the bandits. Several oil men were among those refused permits today.

FRANCE PAYS TRIBUTE TO AMERICANS IN WAR.

LAYS CORNER STONE TO MONUMENT TO STAND WHERE MEN FIRST LANDED.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

POINTE DE GRAVE (France) Sept. 6.—France paid lasting tribute today to America's active entry into the great war by laying the corner stone of a monument here commemorating the landing on the spot of the first contingent of American troops in 1917. Appropriate speeches by President Poincare and Hugh C. Wallace, the American Ambassador, were the chief features of the exercises, appropriately held on the birthday of Lafayette, who sailed for America from this same spot in 1777.

The addresses of President Poincare and Ambassador Wallace were delivered during a slight rain.

In addition to Premier Clemenceau, Marshal Foch and other distinguished Frenchmen, numbers of prominent Americans assisted in the ceremony, among them Frank L. Polk, Undersecretary of State; Gen. Tasker H. Bliss and Brig.-Gen. W. D. Connor, now commander of the American forces in France.

SEVEN DE HAVILANDS KEPT ON THE SEARCH.

NO DEVELOPMENTS REPORTED IN HUNT FOR FLYERS LOST IN LOWER CALIFORNIA.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 6.—Lieuts. Waterhouse and Connelly, Rockwell Field aviators who have been missing since August 20, when they were last seen flying across the Lower California border, have not been heard from further since the reports of yesterday that mentioned their trail being picked up at San Juan de Dios, a Lower California settlement nearly 200 miles south of San Diego.

Col. H. L. Watson, commanding at North Island, announces that seven De Haviland airplanes are being kept on the search, working from an advance base at San Quintin. A new advance base, still farther south, will be located today or tomorrow at Santa Catarina. The Santa Catarina landing is situated down the coast from San Diego, about fifty miles south of San Quintin.

Mooney, brother of Tom Mooney, who has just returned to the United States after an extended tour of England, Ireland and Scotland as a representative of the International Workers' Defense League has been elected by the Municipal Street Carmen's Union of San Francisco to represent that union at the annual convention of the Amalgamated Asociation of Street and Electric Railway Employees of America, which convenes in Chicago September 8.

During his tour abroad, John Mooney has addressed hundreds of meetings on the Mooney case.

John Mooney is a conductor on the Municipal Street Railways and is now on leave of absence. Following the street car men's convention in Chicago he will return to San Francisco and address a mass meeting on the results of his speaking tour abroad.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Representatives of capital and labor were among 300 guests at the country home of Mrs. Henry P. Davison, Locust Valley, today to discuss the industrial relations and plan remedies for existing conditions. The public was represented by delegates from the eighty-two community councils of national defense.

The conference today is patterned on much the same lines as that to which President Wilson announced a few days ago he will invite representatives of all classes of society.

from the Logan fields if they existed there, and of his promise to see that the men were granted their constitutional rights. The Governor tonight issued a statement saying:

"It has been said there is no radical, Bolshevik element in this State, but I have evidence that there is and I am going to sift this matter through and learn the real status of the case. The war isn't over and there are several statutes which deal severely with agitators and perpetrators of such outrages."

GERMANY REPLIES TO NOTE OF THE COUNCIL.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, Sept. 6.—The German reply to the supreme council's note informing Germany that she must alter Article LXI of her constitution, giving Austria representation in the German Parliament, because such a proviso was contrary to the stipulations of the Versailles treaty, was handed to Paul Dutasta, general secretary of the Peace Conference this morning.

The German note was signed by Ernest Schmidt of the German mission at Versailles in the absence of Baron Kurt von Lersner, head of the German delegation, who is in Berlin.

Clifford Mundy, twenty-two years old, the moving-picture actor who disappeared two days ago with Irene Smith, seventeen years old, was arrested with the young girl last night at El Centro, according to telegraphic information received at Central Police Station last night.

The girl's disappearance was first reported to the local detectives last Friday night by E. Smith, her father, living at 128 Seventh street, Santa Monica. Police departments throughout Southern California were notified and the arrest of the couple at El Centro followed.

DRAMATIC HUNT FOR BABY ENDS.

"Million-Dollar" Boy Taken from Father by Mother.

Both will Fight for Him in Open Court Tomorrow.

Country-Wide Search Leads to Camp in the Hills.

A country-wide search for her "million-dollar baby" son ended at San Bernardino yesterday with dramatic tenseness, when Mrs. Ophelia Wilbert Hickman, daughter of a Louisiana millionaire, John Wilbert, clasped her 4-year-old son, John Ashton Hickman, in her arms and sobbed, "My baby, my baby boy!" The boy was taken to that city from Bear Valley, where he and the father, Ashton M. Hickman, were found late Friday night by detectives who had followed him from State to State during the past six months. Mr. Hickman told officers that his wife had once said she would give a million dollars to get the boy.

Mrs. Hickman charges that the husband secretly took the boy March 4 at Marshall, Tex., and disappeared. She had been awarded custody of the children in divorce proceedings and it is on this award that she expects to be restored custody of the child when the case is heard before Judge Goodcell at San Bernardino tomorrow. She alleges "illegal custody, confinement and restraint." The lad was kept in detention yesterday at the County Hospital and there the meeting between mother and son occurred in the afternoon, in the presence of attorneys and detectives. She had spent thousands of dollars in search for the lad.

Mrs. Hickman's home is at Plaquemine, parish of Iberville, La., where in August she was granted her divorce decree and the custody of the boy, who was born in November, 1915, and the girl, Mary Susan Hickman, born in September, 1914.

Mr. Hickman was traced to the Hotel Clark in this city by Pinkerton detectives and from here he went to Bear Valley. He stopped at Pine Knot a short time and then crossed to the other side of the lake and lived with the boy in a camp at Fawnskin. The officers found them there.

Mr. Hickman, at San Bernardino yesterday, was said to be anxious to have an interview with his former wife, while she registered at another hotel and avoided a meeting. Both will be in court tomorrow and it is understood Mr. Hickman will attempt to retain custody of the child.

The "Millionaire Baby" Greeted by His Mother.

John Ashton Hickman (above) and the scene at the San Bernardino County Hospital when his mother, Mrs. Ophelia Wilbert Hickman of Louisiana, recovered him yesterday after a country-wide search. The lad was with his father, and tomorrow the divorced parents will battle for his custody in court.

WILSON COMPARED TO PRESIDENT JOHNSON.

FESS OF OHIO SAYS "SWINGS AROUND CIRCLE" NOT UNLIKE IN PURPOSE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—President Wilson's speaking tour was compared with one made by Andrew Johnson by Representative Fess of Ohio, chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee today.

"President Wilson's swing around the circle is not the first of its kind," said Mr. Fess. "Andrew Johnson's contest with Congress was the first instance where the Executive undertook to compel legislative subordination to Executive decree.

"After a contest which was marked by some bitterness as displayed in public utterances on both sides and the exercise of the veto power quite freely, President Johnson in the city of Washington publicly declared he would carry the contest to the country. In September, 1867, just 52 years ago, he started on his famous trip making speeches to great crowds on the way.

"Since President Wilson left Washington I have reread the reported utterances of President Johnson. He referred to Congress as actuated by personal pique, sectional bitterness and ignorant prejudice. His language was caustic and his statement dogmatic. He spoke with the air of assurance of his ground that at times approached egotism if not arrogance. He assured the country that his position must win because he was right. At Chicago he minimized the opposition and referred to opponents, some as ignorant of the real issue and others disloyal to the best interests of their country.

"Everywhere he traveled he was greeted by great crowds which at places were wildly demonstrative. His utterances increased in acrimony with the progress of the tour. The friends of the President, convinced of the popular justification of his position, anxiously pressed him forward as the standard bearer of their views.

"Thus far the two famous 'swings around the circle' are not unlike except Johnson's contest was with the House of Representatives on the question of that body's authority over the qualifications over elections of its own members which the House claimed belonged to it.

"On the other hand President Wilson's contest is with the Senate over the part to be played by that body in the making of treaties.

"Both were constitutional in character and admitted of wide discussion upon fundamentals."

CRICKET CLUB TO TACKLE FOOTBALL.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA MONICA, Sept. 6.—At a recent meeting of the Santa Monica Cricket Club, it was unanimously decided to organize a soccer football club. Dr. Bowers, of the Los Angeles British Red Cross, was asked to present plans for the organization of the team. There are several members of the club who are expert soccer players. Pat Higgins, Archie Mitchell, and John Cory are recognized throughout the State as unusually fine players.

Declaring that the club is now probably the best in the State, Pat Higgins set forth a proposition at the meeting that a sports headquarters be established here, whereby, under the name of the Santa Monica Cricket Club, all other sports could be carried on. He mentioned swimming specifically stating that conditions are in every way favorable to the organization of an expert swimming squad.

QUAKERS DEFEAT REDLANDS SQUAD.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, Sept. 6.—The Redlands indoor baseball team was defeated last night by the Whittier Y.M.C.A. team at Whittier by a score of 16 to 4. The locals had one bad inning when errors lost them the game and cost them a total of nine runs. Dye and Wattenberger were pitching for Redlands and would have had a good chance to win but for errors. The local team will play the Whittier State school team here on Tuesday and this is expected to be a good game.

RAMCO SETS UP A NEW WORLD RECORD.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 5.—A new world's record for four-year-old trotting geldings was established at the Indiana State fair today when Ramco, owner by Wilbur J. Myers, Springfield, O., and driven by Harry Stokes, won the first heat of the 2:09 trot in 2:06 1-4. The former record of 2:07 1-4 was made by Uhlan (1:58) in 1908 and equalled at Kalmazoo this year by Echo Direct. Ramco stepped the last half mile in 1:01 1-2.

THEY ALL LIKE THE CANDY TASTE

Grownups as well as children prefer PURLETTS when a laxative is necessary—and in these days of rather careless eating and living some bowel eliminant is frequently needed.

The reason for PURLETTS being favored are many and logical. They taste like candy; they are pleasant in their action and after effect; they are completely efficient as a laxative.

PURLETTS relieve constipation and the many ailments due to torpidity of the liver and bowels. They contain no drastic purgatives and therefore restore the natural tone to the bowels and help to re-establish normal functions.

25-cent boxes of PURLETTS contain 36 tablets. Sold in all stores of The Owl Drug Company.—[Advertisement.

A Home Recipe for Wrinkled, Saggy Skin

The famous saxolite lotion recommended by beauty specialists for removing wrinkles and for reducing distended pores, can easily be made at home. Ask your druggist for saxolite in powdered form, one ounce, and a half pint of witch hazel. Dissolve the powder in the witch hazel and bathe the face, neck and hands in the solution. Results are remarkable and instantaneous. The skin tightens, and this naturally reduces the wrinkles, as well as creases or folds about the neck, cheeks or hands. The tissue beneath the skin also becomes firmer and more solid. One feels much refreshed and exhilarated after using this truly wonderful preparation. Many women look five to ten years younger after using this only a short time.

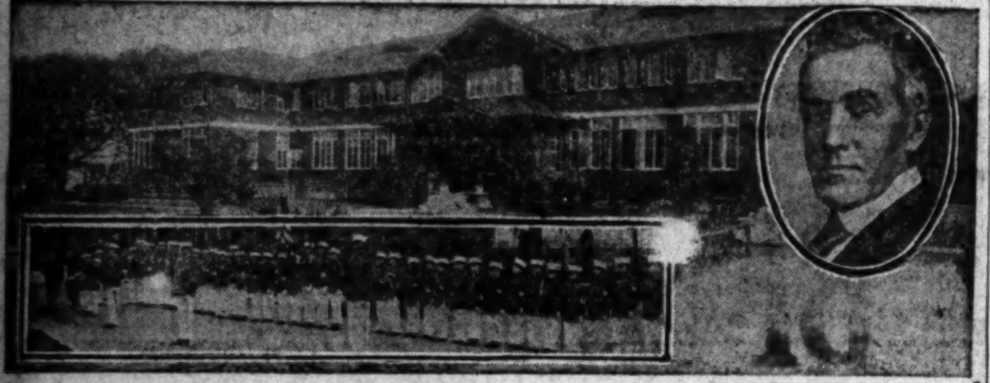
ROBERT A. GIBBS, Headmaster, R-F.D. No. 7, Box 952, Los-Angeles, Phone 74216



The home school for young boys only. Everything specially designed for young boys. Our highest aim is character building. Bad or habitually troublesome boys will not be admitted or retained. We teach boys how to study. To learn how to study is of far greater value than storing the mind with facts. Our classes are small and pupils receive much individual attention. While promotions are held regularly three times a year, pupils are advanced whenever capable of taking up the work of the next higher grade. Systematic physical training is of the highest importance. Upon it depends in a great measure the intellectual and moral welfare of the child. Our well-equipped gymnasium and large athletic field, under the guidance of a trained instructor, contribute greatly to this end. A good gymnasium is a prime necessity to a school.

Constant supervision. Day pupils may remain till 5:30 p.m. Army officer in charge of military drill. In session all year. Catalog on request.

NATIVES TO BE HOSTS TUESDAY.

Admission Day Celebration Open to the Public.

Students Specially Invited to Attend Exercises.

Instructive Programme will be Followed by Dance.

The Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West in this city will entertain the general public at the Knights of Columbus Auditorium Tuesday evening with a programme of literary and musical numbers, to be followed by dancing. The occasion is Admission Day, the sixty-ninth anniversary of the admission of California as a State of the American nation, and a legal holiday. Everyone, whether an adopted or native son or daughter of the State, is invited to join in the celebration. Admission will be free.

California came under American rule when, following the raising of the "California Republic" flag by a band of pioneers known as the Bear Flag Party, at Sonoma, June 14, 1846, Commodore John Drake Sloat of the United States Navy raised the Stars and Stripes at Monterey, July 7 of the same year. Two days later the American flag also floated over San Francisco. In 1849 elected delegates met at Monterey and framed a State Constitution, which was later approved by the people, when they also elected officers, including two Congressmen. December 15, 1849, the first State Legislature met at San Jose and elected two United States Senators.

Although these representatives in the National Congress were regularly elected, California had not been granted statehood rights. Not until February 22, 1850, was the matter presented to the national Congress. There, on account of the slavery question, the bill was bitterly debated, for California wanted to enter the Union as a free State. August 13 the bill passed the Senate, it was passed by the House September 7, and with its approval by the President September 9, California became one of the United States of America, on an equal footing with the other States in all respects.

The programme to be presented by the Native Sons and Native Daughters Tuesday evening will not only be entertaining, but instructive as well, and for that reason students of the local universities and high schools have been extended a special invitation to attend. William I. [illegible], Grand Second Vice-President of the Order of Native Sons, will preside and an orchestra will furnish the music for community singing as well as for the informal dancing which will follow the literary and musical numbers.

The story of "California and Her Flag," based upon historic facts, will be told by Joseph Ford, former District Attorney of Los Angeles county, who will be the orator of the occasion. Miss Anna I. Dempsey will read an original poem, "Two Flags," Grove Vail will sing, "I Love You, California," and a fancy dance, "California," will be given by Miss Letha Brown. Preceding the programme, views of some of California's scenic wonders will be shown.

OLD FOLKS DEFY TIME AT PICNIC.

Praise Southland as Best Aid for Long Life.

Bishop, Near Century, Still is Good Pedestrian.

Simple Life and Hard Work Best, He Asserts.

The people who gathered in Sycamore Grove yesterday were 75,000 years old. That is, all of them together have lived that long, for the eighth annual picnic of the Jolly Old Folks' Society was attended by one thousand enthusiastic men and women, averaging seventy-five years each. The celebrants, who came from all over Southern California, represented every State in the Union and every country in the world and a goodly number of them had found their way over the plains to the Golden State in '49.

Of course, everyone was ready to dispense, free of charge, his or her particular panacea for warding off old age, and all of them frankly confessed that the Southland climate has been an aid to longevity. The Old Folks' Society has had no president since the death of Rev. S. H. Taft in 1918, and, in the absence of the honorary president, Dr. J. N. Peebles, C. H. Parsons, secretary of the Federated States Societies, was elected chairman of the day. Upon the speaker's platform were twenty-five old-timers" whose combined ages made 2300 years, and in the audience were at least fifty persons more than eighty years old. Among the entertainers were J. H. Witmer, Mrs. Julia Francis, Col. Frank H. True and Col. F. W. Hart, secretary of the Old Folks' Society.

The speaker of the day was Bishop Andrew Morrison, who is ninety-nine years old and who laughs at street-car strikes, walking nearly everywhere he goes.

"Sometimes," said Bishop Morrison, "I think I know what time is, but of old age I know nothing. Age means decrepitude, senility, second childhood, evaporation of mentality, and of these things I am ignorant. I have been asked how I account for my wrinkleless countenance. I account for it in this way: I have kept the wrinkles out of my soul. In the first place, I had sense enough to choose the race through which I would make my advent into this world. I was born in the family of an Irish peasant. My grandfather died at the age of one hundred and five years and a few days preceding his death he would have been a match, physically and mentally, for the best of you here. What was the reason for the health and long life of those old Irish peasants? It was that they ate simply, worked hard, believed in God and had no time for debauchery. Why, in my time there wasn't a doctor to every 3000 persons in Ireland. When I came to America I found a physician to every 300 persons, I found the American man sick and his wife poorly."

Among the other old-timers present was C. G. Curtis, "the oldest baseball fan in Los Angeles," and Judge H. L. Bradford, who told anecdotes of Bret Harte and Mark Twain, both of whom he knew personally, and described a trip which he had made from San Francisco to Los Angeles with Pio Pico, the last Mexican Governor of California, in 1862.

Other organizations celebrating in the Grove yesterday were the Michigan Society of Los Angeles, the Springdale (Iowa) Society and the Bethany Sunday school.

MORE CAR MEN ASK FOR JOBS.

Rush for Positions on Both Local Lines Continues.

Yellow Railroad Service is Increased Once More.

No Answer from Company Yet on Mediation Plans.

A rush for positions on both the Los Angeles Railway and the Pacific Electric occurred again yesterday. Many of the applicants were former employees who went out on strike. They brought with them their old equipment and stated they were willing to return to work as new men, without their seniority.

As a result of the addition of these experienced men to the company's pay roll, the Los Angeles Railway Company was able to place several extra cars on the more important car lines. Service was not extended on any more yellow-car lines yesterday, but the increased number of cars was noticeable on the ten lines which maintained service up to midnight. This service, George Baker Anderson, chief of the bureau of public relations, stated last night will be extended to several other lines early in the week, enabling patrons of the company to ride on the cars as late as midnight.

No answer has yet been received by the Mayor's Mediation Committee from General Manager Kuhrts of the Los Angeles Railway Company, in regard to the committee's recent communication which embodied a plan for settlement of the controversy between the men who when on strike and the officials of the company. Mr. Kuhrts, it was stated last night, was called out of the city late Friday night and will probably not return until tomorrow morning. If he does file an answer to the proposals it will probably be made public upon his return to the city.

As Mr. Kuhrts has repeatedly stated he would make no further concessions to the men who walked out, and that if they wish to return to work, they must begin as new men, losing their seniority, this answer tomorrow is expected to be a reiteration of his former statements to the mediation board.

Early this morning, persons residing in the outlying cities and who remained in Los Angeles until late last evening, were able to reach their homes on late owl trains on the Pacific Electric lines. Though these trains were run principally to carry the Sunday newspapers to the outlying districts, passengers were also permitted to take travel on them.

At 4:15 a.m., a well-crowded train left the Pacific Electric station for Venice, Ocean Park, Santa Monica and Playa del Rey. Other trains, all crowded, conveyed patrons to all the other larger towns on the northern, eastern and southern divisions, between 3 and 5 a.m.

All the beaches will receive special attention today and service will be maintained later this evening than any Sunday since the carmen struck.

FLAG-RAISING MARKS MARQUIS'S BIRTHDAY.

LAFAYETTE SOCIETY HOLDS PATRIOTIC OBERVANCE, NOTABLE FEATURES.

A double celebration in honor of the birthday of Lafayette, and of the Allied Victory at the Battle of the Marne was held at Lafayette Park, Wilshire boulevard and Commonwealth avenue, yesterday morning under the auspices of the Lafayette Society of California. Preceding the programme, a concert was given by the Royal Marine Band, under direction of Frank Gregory. An address was to have been given by Mayor Snyder, but owing to the fact that he was unable to attend, the address was given by W. A. Anderson. The invocation was offered by Rev. Hugh Kelso Walker, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. Addresses were delivered by William A. Spalding, president of the society, and Col. George J. Denis.

A special feature of the programme was the flag-raising by a detachment of the Grand Army of the Republic, under command of Capt. James S. France. Senorita Elenita Sepulveda, well-known as a soloist in Southern California, and called "the Gallicurci of America," sang "La Marseillaise." During the programme appropriate bugle calls were sounded by Thomas Toolan, formerly Chief Musician in the United States Army, now retired.

During the programme Col. Arthur Williams, secretary of the society, announced that Ambassador Jusserand of France had become a member of the Los Angeles chapter of the society. Throughout the United States celebrations commemorating the birthday of Lafayette were held yesterday, under the auspices of chapters of the Lafayette Society. The Los Angeles chapter, which started with a membership of thirty, has grown until now its membership reaches almost 100.

CONTRACT FOR FLAT.

JAIL TO HOSPITAL, PLAN FOR CAILLAUX

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, Sept. 6.—(Havas.) Counsel for Joseph Caillaux, the former Premier, who has been in prison mor than a year and a half, charged with having had treasonable dealings with the enemy, has requested that he be removed from prison to a private hospital. The lawyer declared that his client's health has been so weakened as to cause anxiety.

BAKER ACTS TO GUARD UNIFORM

Urges that its Use to Aid "Panhandling" Cease.

Assistant Asks that Public Shun Peddler in Khaki.

And that ex-Soldiers Stop Commercializing Garb.

"Improper commercialization of the army and navy uniform has become so widespread and serious a problem that Secretary of War Baker has officially requested Col. Woods to take all possible steps to deter ex-soldiers from selling and to induce the public to refrain from buying articles sold by discharged service men on the strength of their uniform." This was officially announced in Washington yesterday, by Col. Arthur Woods, assistant to the Secretary of War, who is in charge of the re-employment of discharged service men.

In his letter to Col. Woods, Secretary Baker wrote as follows:

"Ex-soldiers are, in many instances, employed to peddle more or less worthless devices and articles, and sometimes, indeed, very shabby paper and mementoes of a pseudo-patriotic character, with the plain expectation that their uniform and their recent military service will appeal to the charity of passers-by. This brings the whole question of the uniform and of the splendid service which our soldiers have rendered the country into disrepute, and seems to imply that the country is failing to provide suitable and proper places of employment for discharged men. The work which you are doing has co-operated in placing agencies throughout the country in such fashion that discharged soldiers can find profitable and useful employment, and I heartily wish that the people of the country could be induced to advise the young men they find peddling upon the streets to abandon such a dead-end employment and seek a more productive job, as well as one which has in it for them the opportunity of growth and progress."

"It is not necessary," says Col. Woods, "for any man to wear his uniform in order to gain a decent living. It is not that we want the soldier to get into trouble, but we ask that every agency try to convey to him that there is a better job waiting where he can work without degrading his uniform from a badge of honor to a means for panhandling. If the public will bear in mind that there is a job for everyone at better pay than peddling can yield and refuse to patronize these few huncooties, the sordid commercialization of the uniform will die a natural death."

Some cities have passed ordinances to stop this practice. Police chiefs throughout the country have, at the instance of Col. Woods, taken up the matter and are quick to arrest persons guilty of any infringement of the law, but there seems to be a need for extensions and changes in the present legal provisions in order that the practice may be entirely forbidden.

BLOODSTAINS ON CAR POINT TO A MYSTERY.

DETECTIVES SEEK TO TRACE MOVEMENTS OF SOLEN, RECOVERED AUTO.

Numerous bloodstains on the front of an automobile stolen in this city several days ago and recovered through the efforts of Detectives Hickok and Erven of the theft Bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California, yesterday started an investigation to disclose the movements of the car after it left here. The detectives believe the automobile figured in a serious accident which has not been reported to the authorities.

The car was brought here from Santa Maria by Detective Harry Raymond, after the Automobile Club detectives traced it to that city, where Chief of Police Ramsey arrested John Marion, 18 years old, said to have been in possession of the car. The prisoner said he knew nothing about the blood spots, but the officers say the condition of the car indicates it may have figured in something worthy of investigation.

The automobile belongs to John I. McNamara, 1137 South Grand avenue.

LAND VALUATION.

At the request of the Los Angeles County Civil Service Commission, Alexander Mackeigan of Mines & Mackeigan, local realtors, has prepared a list of questions to be used in connection with the examination for land valuation deputy. There are nineteen applicants in the field for the position, which is one of considerable importance to the Los Angeles realty field. The test arranged by Mr. Mackeigan contains fourteen questions covering various phases of real estate valuations. The position pays at the outset $135 a month, with a maximum salary of $150 after two years' service. Mr. Mackeigan prepared a similar test a year ago. He is regarded by the Los Angeles Realty Board as one of the best property appraisers in the local field.

"OFFICER" ARRESTED.

Charged with impersonating an officer, a man giving his name as Charles H. Mellon of East Fourteenth street was taken into custody at Gardner Junction late yesterday afternoon by Detective Sergts. Wood and Murphy. According to Detective Wood, Mellon represented himself as a Pinkerton detective. Mellon, who is 40 years old, has been in the employ of the Pacific Electric Company several years.

POMONA VALLEY HAD WONDERFUL AUGUST.

BANK AND BUILDING LOAN ASSOCIATIONS TELL OF BIG PROSPERITY.

The twenty-six business days of August, 1919, the days which are generally conceded to be the dullest of the entire year, when people have let their minds turn to vacations rather than to business—these twenty-six days have eclipsed any month of August in the history of Pomona. Especially is this true of the financial institutions, where the gain over former years is indeed remarkable. Every bank in the city, as well as the building and loan associations, has enjoyed a measure of prosperity for the month of August that is unprecedented.

The First National Bank shows that the total resources for August will be $800,000 higher than for the same month a year ago. C. M. Stone, president of the bank, attributes the big gain to the general prosperity of the country and the Pomona Valley included with the rest. Prices of all products have been very high, especially of fruits, citrus and deciduous. Coupled with this are the immense crops of grain, and all is to be combined with the high prices of all commodities and labor, which make the money end of all transactions run into big figures. Mr. Stone says the business outlook is fine.

Lynn S. Birdsall of the State Bank of Pomona also notes a big increase in the loans as well as the deposits. Many customers are securing loans for the erection of new homes, while there is a strong buying tendency in homes and ranches. Mr. Birdsall stated that the month of August shows an increase in deposits over twelve months ago of over $350,000.

Probably the most cheering note comes from the building and loan associations. W. D. Frederick, secretary and manager of the Mutual Building and Loan Association, states that the past month was the biggest the institution ever enjoyed, either in summer or winter. The Mutual has done about $80,000 more business than any month of its history, and in the last thirty days has loaned $130,000, against only one-third of that amount August a year ago. Mr. Frederick says Pomona Valley is sure to see immense strides in a business way in the next few months.

C. E. Greaser, secretary and manager of the Home Builders' Building and Loan Association, is also very optimistic. Mr. Greaser said: "Our business is easily 200 per cent. greater than it was twelve months ago. And this is a matter of several consecutive months, and not confined to August alone. Our loans in the last five months have increased over $150,000. The outlook is A-1, for both Pomona and the entire West Coast."

The American National Bank is also sharing largely in the prosperity of the valley, and its deposits and loans have grown remarkably over the same period of 1918.

RANSOMED BY DINNER.

Friends of Pierson M. Hall, secretary of the Young Men's Democratic League, and a young attorney of this city, discovered Friday that Mr. Hall on August 1 was married to Miss Helen Mullen at San Francisco, and that the couple have been in Los Angeles for nearly a month, although the fact of their marriage had not been made known generally. The result was that members of the club kidnaped the young bridegroom and held him until the ransom of a dinner for all of them was forthcoming.

DOWNTOWN GARAGE.

A one-story brick garage building will be erected at the southeast corner of Sixteenth and Georgia streets from plans prepared by Architect C. F. Skilling. Fred C. Coryell has the building contract at $10,800. The building will be

STEPFATHER JAILED ON MANN-ACT CHARGE.

AND SIXTEEN-YEAR-OLD GIRL IS DETAINED AT FRANCIS E. WILLARD HOME.

Daniel Steele, 45 years of age, a former pool-hall proprietor of Kansas City, is held in the City Jail for prosecution under the Mann White Slave Act and his 16-year-old step-daughter, Miss Helen McCabe, is in custody of the authorities at the Frances E. Willard Home, following the arrest of the two yesterday at the Ruth Hotel, 719 East Fifth street. The case will be placed before the Federal grand jury to be reported on next Thurday.

Steele is a widower, whose wife died in June, 1918. Miss McCabe was a member of his household at allege the step-father mistreated her. He is the father of seven children. Miss McCabe is small for her age and looks like a child.

It is also alleged that the two traveled together to Denver and San Francisco and arrived here August 31.

Federal officers propose to prosecute Steele under section 4 of the Mann act, which provides a fine of $10,000 or ten years imprisonment or both. Assistant United States District Attorney Lawson has charge of the case.

NEW MANSIONS FOR PASADENA.

Detroit Man Builds Home to Cost $225,000.

Mother Unable to Locate 17-Year-Old Daughter.

Quiz of Firemen Fails to Satisfy City Commissioners.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PASADENA, Sept. 6.—Permits were issued in Pasadena today for two new mansions. J. A. Wigmore, new owner of the beautiful Fred E. Wilcox home property on South Orange Grove avenue, is to replace the old Wilcox home with a new residence costing $70,000. Col. J. H. Poole of Detroit, for whom a temporary $10,000 bungalow was being erected on Linda Vista boulevard in the Arroyo Seco, has decided to erect his $225,000 mansion on the property at once. A permit was issued by the city building department. Col. and Mrs. Poole will make their permanent home here. These new homes for recent residents, together with the new bungalows being built in a local hotel colony for other Easterners who have decided to live in Pasadena permanently, are indications of the growth Pasadena is enjoying at the present time.

MISSING GIRL.

Seventeen-year-old Lillian Wallace of Altadena has disappeared. She left home last Wednesday to work in a fruit dried, but never arrived at her destination. Today her mother, alarmed at her absence, appealed to the city mother, Mrs. Emma Sheer and the Pasadena police to help find the girl.

The missing girl is the daughter of Mrs. L. E. Wallace of Ventura street, Altadena. The latter has had no clue to the girl's whereabouts since Wednesday morning, when she started for the fruit drier, situated on Lincoln avenue, Altadena. She is described by her mother as "a sandy blonde with a poor complexion, having a cast in both eyes and is 5 feet 5 inches in height." She wore among other articles of clothing, a plaid skirt. She disappeared for a day once before, but returned, her mother reported.

LONG WEDDED LIFE.

Mr. and Mrs. John Williams, 611 North Marengo avenue, have been married sixty-four years and in all that time have never been separated more than two weeks. Today is their wedding anniversary. They were married in Pittsburgh in 1855. After spending their winters here for twenty years they moved to Pasadena permanently eight years ago. Two daughters, Mrs. George W. Randle and Mrs. J. K. Huston, reside here.

CONTINUE INVESTIGATION.

All but three members of the Pasadena fire department had been quizzed this noon when the City Commission adjourned its investigation of the now celebrated "firemen's letter" case, until next Wednesday. The Commission has not been able to ascertain the identity of the firemen who advised W. A. Spill, as attorney, to write a public letter insinuating that the firemen were offered a $20 raise of pay if recall petitions against Commissioners J. J. Hamilton and M. H. Salisbury were withdrawn.

The three remaining firemen will be quizzed Wednesday and if the information is not forthcoming at that time, the City Commission will probably sentence Attorney Spill to a day in jail for contempt for refusing to divulge the names of his informants. Judge Spill has declined on the ground that it would be a violation of a lawyer's duty to his clients.

DENIES GUILT.

Thomas Dowd, who claims to be a sailor from the U.S.S. Wyoming, was given a preliminary hearing in Judge Raymond Thompson's justice court on a charge of complicity in the theft of an automobile. He told the court he did not know the auto was stolen and that he was invited to ride as a guest. The hearing was continued to Monday. Dowd was wearing civilian clothes when arrested.

NEW INDUSTRY FOR LONG BEACH

Packing Company to Develop New Business.

Vacancy on City Commission Filled by Appointment.

Cargo of Tuna Just Arrived Biggest on Record.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONG BEACH, Sept. 6.—Officials of the Trident Packing Company, Long Beach Harbor's newest industry, recently incorporated with a capital stock of $300,000, this afternoon decided to take over the plant of the Pacific Packing Company of this city and to make extensive additions and improvements to that property.

One of the first improvements to be made by the new concern which has the support of Long Beach and Los Angeles capitalists, will be the erection of a modern refrigerating and cold storage plant at a cost of $50,000. The new plant will start the packing of fish within the next two weeks and it is hoped to have the refrigerating department in operation by December, when certain kinds of fish are exceptionally plentiful.

According to officials of the Trident Packing Company more than a million pounds of fish caught in Southern California waters have either been thrown overboard into the sea because of price disputes, or turned into fertilizer already this year. The new industry will support the representatives of food conservation organizations who are scheduled to appear before the next session of the Legislature to have laws passed to prohibit the use of food fishes for fish meal or fertilizer.

The Trident Packing Company will salt and smoke fish on an extensive scale, officials of the concern announce.

ACCEPTS APPOINTMENT.

Herbert N. Haskell, attorney, banker and director of the Chamber of Commerce, was today unanimously elected a member of the Civil Service Commission, to fill the unexpired term of Alexander Beck, dropped from the board because of his absence from the city when an important hearing was pending.

Attorney Haskell consented to accept the post before a motion was made for his appointment by the legislative body this morning. He qualified today and will meet with the board Monday for the purpose of at once setting a date for the hearing of the charges filed against Charles C. Cole, suspended Chief of Police.

BREAKS ALL RECORDS.

All records for a single catch of fish for canning purposes in Southern California were broken late this afternoon, when the tender Albion of the Curtis corporation arrived here with 107 tons of tuna, more than twice the amount of fish ever brought into Long Beach Harbor on a single craft.

The Albion came down with the catch from Santa Cruz, where the tuna are said to be "running wild." The fish are bringing $100 a ton. and are running very large, many exceeding the 100-pound mark. The fish are bringing $100 a ton.

SPORT AT REDONDO.

Large Run of Mackerel Keeps Anglers Busy.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDONDO BEACH, Sept. 6.—Fishing excitement ran high this morning when a most unusual run of large mackerel came in close to shore. A thousand pounds of fish is the estimated haul made by anglers on pier No. 2 alone. The fish averaged four pounds each and as these are as gamey as any caught with small tackle in these waters a great deal of sport resulted. Poles and lines were broken and some of the women anglers had to be assisted in landing their catch.

Schools of tuna only a short ways seaward were noticed from shore and it is thought that this fact accounts for the quantities of fish around the piers. The fishing boats are also bringing in big hauls.

NO LIVES LOST.

Redondo Beach Gives Credit to Efficient Life Guards.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDONDO BEACH, Sept. 6.—Two months summer season successfully passed without a drowning is the record which Redondo Beach has made this year. There have been several narrow escapes and a number of persons owe their lives to the speedy work of the life guard crews, but no fatalities have resulted. This has been a very busy season and thousands of visitors have enjoyed the surf. A crew has been maintained on both north and south beach during these summer weeks. Among the efficient swimmers who have been on duty are W. Veno, Wayne Salmon, Clyde Kegeris, Louis Pauly, Paul Nelson Fred Walters and Charles Burrell.

BUILDING BOOM.

Permits Issued at Santa Ana Total Big Sum.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA ANA, Sept. 5.—September, 1919, promises to be one of the greatest building months in Santa Ana's history, permits aggregating $38,255 having been issued during the last four days. Seven permits were issued in one day, aggregating $35,350. Included in the permits already issued this month are the following:

J. M. Donley of Long Beach, with J. S. Fluor as the contractor, is starting a $19,000 fireproof garage building at Sixth and Broadway, which is to be occupied by Charles L. Davis, local auto dealer. H. N. Buck is to build two double apartments of four rooms each at 202-204 Cypress, costing $9600; J. G. Spencer is to build two residences costing $4000 at 807-809 East Pine, and Roy Russell is to add another $2000 bungalow to the row of seven which he has already built on Cypress.

HIP POCKETS BULGE.

Police Say Two Men Had Full Flasks and Whisky Bills.

Whisky "on-the-hip" yesterday sent two men to the City Jail, where they are to be held pending the outcome of a tentative appointment with the Federal authorities. The police say the prisoners violated the Federal liquor law by having the now officially-extinct beverage in their possession and for no good purpose.

J. Schoonover and N. A. Yancy, said by the arresting officers to be proprietor and employee of a club at 346 South Spring street, were the two men taken into custody. Sergt. Gifford, head of the Metropolitan Squad, and Officer Conduffer say they found two half-pints of whisky in the hip pockets of Mr. Yancy's trousers, said trousers being worn by Mr. Yancy in the club, designated by the officers as a public place, and said to be in violation of the law. Schoonover, the officers say, is the owner of the place.

In the rooms occupied by Schoonover at a downtown hotel, the police found a score of empty whisky cases, but no liquor. Bills showing large purchases of the whisky also were found in the room, the officers say.

ALL SPIRITUALISTS' OFFICERS RETAINED.

STATE CONVENTION ADJOURNS BUT SERVICES ARE TO BE CONDUCTED TODAY.

All the present officers were reelected yesterday at the closing business session of the Twenty-fourth Annual Convention of the California State Spiritualists' Association.

According to Inez Wagner, one of the national officers, the officers elected yesterday are all scientists and are opposed to the "mercenary fakers who, sitting in a small tent in the street, with red handkerchiefs tied around their necks, graft silver from the public in exchange for having their fortune told."

The officers who will guide the California association for the next twelve months are: President, H. C. W. Johnson; vice-president, Florence Heckman; secretary, Samuel B. Lacy; treasurer, H. P. Courtney. The directors are: Dr. Ada Patterson, Los Angeles; Mrs. Dell Herrick, San Diego; Frank Brown and F. Quackenbush, San Francisco, and William B. Shelby, San Diego. Dr. H. C. W. Johnson was chosen the delegate to the national convention of the Spiritualistic Society of the United States, which is to be held at Philadelphia in April. San Francisco was chosen as the next meeting place of the State society.

A special programme has been arranged for today at Walker's Auditorium. While the convention officially closed last night with the conclusion of the business session, all the delegates are expected to remain in the city until tomorrow, to enable them to attend the meeting today. It will start at 9:45 o'clock this morning. There will be singing, an invocation by Dr. Hutchinson and a symposium on spiritualism led by Jennie R. Francis. There will be another service at 11 a.m. and one at 2 p.m., but the treat of the day, it is said, will come at the evening services, which will start at 7:45 p.m. and among other things will include an address on the "Technique of Psychic Phenomena as Explained by Occultism," by Dr. Finch Strong, a noted psychophysicist. Several interesting musical numbers are also scheduled.

The public will be admitted to all services.

STORY OF KLONDIKE AT THE SUPERBA.

A photodrama that swings rapidly from the snow-surpliced steppes of the frozen north to the luxurious mansions of the super-rich in the great city, is "The Trap," the new Universal melodrama which opens today at the Superba Theater. Olive Tell has the starring role.

Briefly, the story is that of a New York school teacher who goes to the Klondike with her father. She returns to New York, marries the man she really loves and settles a score with a blackmailer in a manner that is highly pleasing to the spectators.

Supporting the star are Sidney Mason, Jere Austin, Rod La Rocque, Talulah Bankhead, Joseph Burke and Earl Schenck.

"The Trap" was written as a stage play by Richard Harding Davis and Jules Eckert Goodman. It was screened under the direction of Frank Reicher. The locale is the gold fields of the Klondike and then New York.

FOR JAPANESE LITTLE ONES.

Children's Home Society will Build in Hollywood.

Colonial Structure with Many Attractive Features.

American Board of Trustees Aiding the Project.

A new home for the Japanese Children's Home Society is to be erected in Hollywood, plans for which have been drawn by Architect Robert Orr, in the Van Nuys Building, and accepted by the society. Building operations will be under way shortly and it is expected the home will be ready for occupancy the latter part of the year. The building will be U-shaped, 90x124 feet, including a court, 60x40 feet. In one wing will be a kitchen, pantries, laundry and dining-room, and in the other the administration quarters, 28x90, containing class room, reception room, office and attendants' room, etc. A girls' dormitory will be 24x28 feet. The connecting link of the wings contains the boys' dormitory, 30x96, bath rooms, lavatories, etc., a nursery and kitchenette. There is attic space for the help and a full basement. The style of the building is colonial and the estimated cost $17,000. The Gauder Construction Company of this city has the building contract.

The Japanese Children's Home Society is practically a new organization, the present home being at 1111 Santee street. The home has now fifteen children and the new home will take care of sixty or more. It cares for children during their mothers' illness, for orphans and little ones needing temporary shelter, and has a kindergarten department, which feature will be on a much larger scale in the new home. There are five lots in the new site, which afford ample playground room. The grounds will be landscaped and probably the children will have a garden plot. The location is in Redcliff street above Effie street. The head of the home is Mrs. Ozawa of 1664 West Thirty-sixth street. There is an American board of trustees, of which Dr. C. C. Pease is the chairman, and also an American advisory board of thirty-one members. The president of the Japanese board of officers is Mrs. Toyama, and the honorary president is Mrs. S. Ayama. There are also two vice-presidents, a secretary and treasurer.

The Japanese Children's Home Society is maintained through membership fees, donations, money received through board and care of the little ones and other sources.

LESS THAN 40,000 YANKS IN EUROPE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Less than 40,000 American soldiers remained in Europe on September 2, according to the weekly demobilization figures today of the War Department. The exact total was 38,794. The strength of the army on that date was 421,988 officers and men, of whom 323,798 were in this country.

GROWS TWENTY-FOLD WITHIN SIX MONTHS.

ASSOCIATION OF ACTORS IS DOING MUCH GOOD WORK FOR ITS MEMBERS.

So rapidly has membership of the Actors' Association of Los Angeles grown since its organization with ten members last March, that it has been obliged to secure larger quarters for accommodation of the popular weekly assemblies and business transactions. The headquarters, which have been at 6403 Hollywood boulevard, were transferred the first of the month to Toberman Hall, where a suite of five offices in the same building, 6412 Hollywood boulevard, are utilized.

The headquarters are nicely furnished and the first formal event will be a house-warming buffet supper and dance next Thursday in which only movie and stage folk will participate. The house-warming committee is comprised of Vera Lewis, Margaret Cullington, Daisy Robinson, Carl Miller, W. J. Dyer and Henry Myers. Many prominent stars are expected to be present and the evening will be full of surprises.

Officers of the Actors' Association, which is a booking medium together with other things cinematic, are: President, Ralph Lewis, of the Clara Kimball Young Company; first vice-president, Thomas Jefferson, who is with Frank Keenan; second vice-president, Sidney de Grey, of the Goldwyn studios; secretary, Edward McWade; treasurer, Frank Newburg; business manager, John Lancaster. The present membership is 200.

On Saturday, August 30, the association sent three of its members to Portland for the American Lifeograph Company. The story to be produced is "The Golden Trail," in which Jane Novak is to be starred. Jack Livingston is to play male lead and Bert Sprotte the heavy. The director, Jean Hersholt, is also a member of the Actors' Association. The movie organization announces that Miss Carol Halloway is to play the lead in the forthcoming production of the Cinema Arts Productions, Inc. "The Lincoln Highwayman." Also, that William Courtleigh, both stage and screen star, is to be in the cast to play with Mary Pickford in her new production, "Pollyanna."

FEDERAL STRIKE BOARD FAVORED

Moreland Says Nation Can Solve Work Problems.

Commerce President Looks for Normal Conditions.

Predicts Freight will Have Five-Day Service to East.

The many difficulties now involving the people of the United States would be satisfactorily adjusted within another year, asserted Watt L. Moreland, president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, in his address to the Pomona Chamber of Commerce at a noon-day luncheon at the Hotel Avis. Mr. Moreland gave a sound, business talk that was heard with interest by the many business men present.

"Strike conditions have been prevalent throughout the East," said Mr. Moreland, "and finally reached the West. However, the West has shown that the people will not stand for a disturbance caused by a few radicals. Los Angeles business men and the public in general expect to see a measure adopted whereby by strike on a public utility shall be classed as criminal, and a lockout by the employers conducting a public utility shall also be classed as criminal.

"Such questions as wages and working conditions should be settled by a national arbitration board. The time is past when nine-tenths of the people should be made to suffer for the disagreements of the other tenth. The people should have something to say about the things which directly concern them, and every public utility is vital to the welfare and reasonable existence of the people in general. Reasonable and proper adjustment of the difficulties between employers and employees should be made so that all shall have justice.

EMPLOYERS MUST HELP.

"All the difficulties do not lie on the labor side of the question, although all the difficulties are brought up by the labor side. There are some employers, unfortunately, who would never make conditions better for their employees unless forced to do so. This has resulted in a fighting machine in the labor organizations. We must remove this fighting machine by removing the cause for its existence.

"Probably the biggest problem before us is that of transportation. Civilization has always traveled on wheels. The measure of a country's development is that of its advance in transportation facilities. The mineral resources of the great West have been held up for many years by private interests, principally the transportation interests. It has been well suggested that if some of the iron and other metal industries now in the East were brought West, the matter of transportation would not be so vital, for the raw material is already here.

"One of the most noteworthy instances of the result of private interests interfering with the West is the fact that about ninety per cent. of the exports of the Orient are taken East to New Orleans and other Gulf ports and from there shipped by water. All this should be shipped from Western ports, Seattle, San Francisco, Los Angeles, and others. It is now known that forty per cent of the fruit of this section, a commodity generally called perishable, can be shipped by water at a great saving.

"The time is soon coming when we must have five day freight service to the Eastern markets. The matter is being investigated, and it appears that it can be done. This means that the development of the agricultural interests of the State must be hastened. There are thousands of acres in California which can be made productive if developed, and this will prove our second big job. As an immense help to this development I call your attention to the tremendous amount of motor hauling that is now in process. Some day the railroads will be restricted to long hauls, while the motor trucks will be used throughout the entire country."

KICK-BACK IN STRIKES.

Cutting Public Utilities' Gross Earnings May Mean ad Valorem Tax on People.

The abortive strikes of the telephone operatives, the street railway employees and the railroad men in Los Angeles, in combination with labor troubles in other parts of the State, may have an unpleasant aftermath that the people of California have not been reckoning upon. This is made evident in a statement issued by State Controller Chambers, in which he sounds the warning that the State reserve fund is practically exhausted and that the taxpayers of California are facing an ad valorem tax to make up a possible deficit.

Under Amendment No. 1, which became a law a number of years ago, the public utility corporations of California and other concerns operating under a State franchise, such as banks and trust companies, are taxed on the basis of their gross earnings to pay the cost of the State government. They pay no municipal, county or school taxes. Other property, such as real estate, pay nothing directly to the support of the State. Under the provisions of the amendment, however, the State Board of Equalization has the power, in the event the taxes derived from the gross receipts of the utility and other corporations are insufficient to meet the cost of the State government, to levy a tax on all the other property of the State to make up the difference.

The revenues from the different corporations this year will have to go toward next year's State taxes. These have been hard hit by the strikes directed against the railways especially and in the present State of California's reserve fund, it is predicted by legislators familiar with the situation that already the corporation earnings in the aggregate may have been reduced to such an extent that the taxes from their gross earnings will not meet the cost of State government. The only other remedy open save that of direct taxation of the people by the State would be the raising by the Legislature of the tax rate on corporation returns and this, even if considered, could not be done until the Legislature meets again.

It is also pointed out by careful observers and students of tax questions in California that the acquisition of public utilities by municipalities, now so freely and recklessly discussed by the strikers and their sympathizers, would have exactly the same tendency as the epidemic of strikes to throw the burden of State taxation on the already over-burdened property owners of the cities, towns and country. Every street railway, lighting system or gas system taken over by a municipality would at once cease to pay State taxes from its gross earnings, causing that much extra tax to be placed upon the taxpayers who are now carrying city and county governments.

MAY LOWER RAIL RATES.

Two Companies Announce Steamer Service from Atlantic, as Before War.

Re-establishment of terminal rail rates to the port of Los Angeles is forecast with announcement of resumption of freight service by steamer from the Atlantic Coast. The [illegible] and Rahler Company, traffic agents, have just issued a bulletin stating that the Los Angeles Pacific Navigation Company and the Pacific Mail Steamship Company will resume service between the eastern seaboard and this coast.

Steamers of both lines will make the trip one way in twenty days, by the Panama Canal.

The Los Angeles Pacific company states the steamer Alvarado will leave New York for this coast [illegible].

The Pacific Mail announces the sailing of a steel steamer October [illegible] from Baltimore for Pacific Coast and Latin-American points, and will be booking freight for the first sailing from Los Angeles Harbor for the east on or about November 9. On the initial voyages there will be sailings at intervals of three weeks, and steamers will call en route at Puerto, Colombia, Corinto, [illegible] Acajutla, Salvador, and San José de Guatemala. Havana, Cuba, will be a port of call on eastbound voyages.

The service will be maintained with a fleet of four new steel steamers—the Point Adams, Point Bonita, Point Judith and Point Lobos.

The company already has a direct monthly freight and passenger service from this harbor to the west coast of Mexico and Central America, connecting at the Panama Canal for South America.

It is believed that enough through freight between this coast and Baltimore will soon be found to warrant the inauguration of a nonstop service between here and the Cresapeake by the Pacific Mail. In that case, not all steamers will call at the Latin-American ports now included in the itinerary.

This is the first announcement of steamer service between this harbor and the Atlantic seaboard since the beginning of the war. At that time Los Angeles enjoyed low rail rates due to water competition. These terminal rates were rescinded when the water competition ceased. It is thought probable that they will be put into effect again as the result of the new service. The old rail rates were cancelled March 15, 1918. It is said that should sufficient traffic be supplied to maintain regular sailings of these vessels the saving to local business men will be enormous.

NEW BUILDINGS FOR OPEN GATE SCHOOL.

CHAPEL, ASSEMBLY HALL AND DORMITORY NEEDED TO HANDLE NEW COURSES.

To enlarge the activities and scope of the Open Gate School, an adjunct of Krotona Institute in Hollywood, work has begun on a new group of buildings for the school, which was established last year. The new buildings are on property adjoining Krotona. The plans were drawn by Harold B. Dunn of 6665 Hollywood boulevard. The location is on Vienna drive, near Beachwood drive, toward the foothills. One of the special features is an octagonal-shaped chapel, thirty-two feet in diameter, constructed of eucalyptus logs with redwood shingle roof and white tile floor. An open-air assembly hall, 40 by 60 feet, follows in the main similar construction. It has a concrete base and buttresses, but the rest is entirely of redwood. A pergola, 150 feet long, will connect the present school building with the new hall. Along its course is to be a rustic tea house designed as an open-air dining-room.

A laboratory building and two other buildings for special purposes are included in the units. In addition a dormitory is planned to take care of boarding pupils, a new feature in the school work. The present dormitory accommodates girls only. The new buildings will present a more or less rustic appearance on the exterior.

There are about a dozen departments in the school. An entirely new feature in the curriculum this year is the high school department in charge of Dr. Frederick Finch Strong, dean at Krotona, and a noted scientist and lecturer who discovered the Violet ray. The school principal is Miss Rena Conklin, former Los Angeles teacher.

There are special teachers for the kindergarten, for music, manual training, nature study, and other branches. The school was founded by the aid of Mrs. Roland Grey of Boston.

How Boresome Housekeeping Would Be
Were It Not for Modern Appliances

It would be like going back to the days before the railroad, the telephone and telegraph, to have to give up the modern household appliances.

Just the thought of having to get along without their aid is enough to stir up within one a "depth bomb of appreciation."

What a joy not to have to lean over an old galvanized tub rubbing one's knuckles bare and straining one's back! What a delight to cook on a modern range that isn't at all fussy about what kind of fuel you feed it, to say nothing of the wonderful help of the fireless cooker!

Sweeping and cleaning time, too, has its contribution of good cheer for today's housewife. OHIO-TUEC has given the broom a decisive setback. It stirs up no dust to provoke mistress or maid. There is no aftermath of cleaning. Even the dinnerware nowadays is a helpful adjunct to housekeeping for it is less liable to breakage.

And for all these helpfuls to congenial home-making Barker Bros. (for forty years caterers to the discriminating trade of Los Angeles) are headquarters.

15c a Month Will Do the Average Family Washing —and right in your own home
Electrically

Any day or any hour of the day. You have the privilege of dictating the time your washing shall be done. You know just how it is done. You know absolutely that your clothes are washed with no one else's clothes—when you wash them at home in your own electric washing machine.

No matter what the make of washing machine you buy, provided you purchase it here, you can be assured that your time on wash day will be your own to do with as your please, when you set your washer working for you.

15c a month as a total cost of electricity consumed by an electric washer is a very conservative estimate considering that an average family washing is done once a week.

Any of the famous makes of electric washing machines we sell, the Eden, Western Electric, Woodrow, "1900" and the like, will do as much for you.

To have a laundress call at your home each week is an unnecessary expense and a nuisance. Save this cost (approximating $2.00) fifty-two times a year by washing your clothes in your own electric washer at home. $75.00 to $250.00. Convenient terms of payment.

When Biscuits Replace Bridal Bouquets

When the bewildering happiness of the home nest has dawned and delicious dinners are more practical than Lohengrin—how delightful to know there is a UNIVERSAL Combination Range in the kitchen!

Compact—fits small spaces. Keeps kitchen cool in summer and warm in winter. Service of two ranges for the price of one.

A Child Could Clean House with An Electric OHIO-TUEC Vacuum Cleaner

OHIO-TUEC electric cleaners are so pleasingly light in weight that to wield them is child's play. This, with their many other good features accounts for their preference when chosen in comparison.

No dust can leak thru the double thickness bag though bag is easily removed by a half turn of the collar. The bent handle affords a natural grip for the hand. An automatic switch that starts and stops the motor is controlled by merely tilting the handle forward and backward. No bending over.

As to power, OHIO-TUEC has unusual stored-up energy. May we demonstrate its effectiveness in your presence?

HAIL STATE'S NATAL DAY.

Next Tuesday, September 9, is Admission Day. Being the anniversary of California's admission to Statehood, September 9, 1850, the day has been declared a legal holiday by the State Legislature. All State and county officers, public schools, banks, etc., affected by holidays created by statute will close on Admission Day, next Tuesday, as will also many places of business, and Mayor M. P. Snyder has declared himself in favor of having all city offices closed on the State's birthday anniversary and will issue a proclamation requesting all citizens to observe the day as a holiday.

To commemorate the sixty-ninth birthday of California, a short, but interesting and instructive programme of literary and musical numbers will be presented by the Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West at Knights of Columbus Auditorium, the evening of Admission Day.

The general public is invited to participate in honoring California on this occasion, and the committee in charge has sent special invitations to the faculty and students of all the local high schools and universities, as well as to members of the several State societies. No admission fee will be charged, either for the exercises or the dance which will follow the programme.

A competent speaker will present, in an interesting way, the story of the unique method adopted by the pioneers of 1849 to get California into the Union as a full-fledged State, without having her serve the Territorial apprenticeship all the other States, except the original thirteen colonies, served before they got in. It is a most interesting story—one that always entertains and enthuses all lovers of California.

Admission Day is similar to Independence Day, July 4, the one being the anniversary of the nation's birth and the other the anniversary of the State's birth. And the observance of Admission Day by Californians, native or adopted, is inspired solely by loyalty to the State, just as loyalty to the nation inspires the annual observance of the Fourth of July.

GUARDS ACCUSED OF ATTACKING CARMAN.

EASTERNER WHO CAME FROM CHICAGO TO WORK HERE LANDS IN HOSPITAL.

Charging that he was assaulted and beaten with blackjacks by two Pacific Electric guards, George Keeler, a motorman who said he was employed by that railroad and lives at the Pacific Electric Terminal, yesterday swore to a complaint against John Doe Webber and Richard Roe Gilmore, who are employed by the Jerome Detective Agency, according to the police.

Keeler was taken to the Receiving Hospital yesterday morning. He told Detectives Oaks and Hickok that he was hired at Chicago to work here as a motorman, but was not told of any strike conditions. He was promised $5 a day and expenses, he said. On the way here, he and others were held a week at Salt Lake. When he found there was a strike on the Pacific Electric lines, Keeler said, he went to ask for his money and was told the expenses of the trip were to be deducted.

He was in room 483, Pacific Electric Building, according to the police report, when the two men threatened him with guns and later beat him up with blackjacks. The officers interviewed the Jerome Detective Agency [illegible] get any inform[illegible] case, they say.

Beautifully Curly, Fluffy Hair—in Three Hours!

Girls, have you tried the silmerine method of curling your hair? It's simply grand! Gives you the most beautiful, natural-looking curls and waves—makes the hair soft, fluffy and glossy—and nothing harmful or bothersome about it. The curls will last the longest time—in spite of heat, wind or dampness. You won't have to be continually fixing and fussing with your hair. It's foolish to singe and blister and deaden your tresses with a hot curling iron—and altogether unnecessary now.

Liquid silmerine is pleasant to use, being neither sticky nor greasy. Get a bottle from your druggist today, follow the simple directions—the first trial will make it your steadfast friend. The wavy effect appears within three hours after the application, though many prefer applying the liquid just before retiring. You will appreciate silmerine equally as a dressing and hair preservative.—[Advertisement.]

the government so keenly the man with a voca disability? Why is Uncle to re-educate such a man and pay him from $80 to $150 a month while the training is in progress? Why is the work being advertised at enormous expense?

Because the man with a vocational disability is a liability and, on the contrary, it is figured that the average rehabilitated man has a life earning capacity of an averagez of $25,000 and is worth $100,000 to the community. Quite an asset, that.

Rehabilitation of men is one of the most keenly practical means yet found of minimizing lasting economic evils growing from the war.

It costs on an average some $1000 to rehabilitate a vocationally unfitted man. But it is worth ten times that much to the community to enable him to keep the old wolf somewhere on the other side of the "Welcome" on the door mat.

WHAT'S A DISABILITY?

Until the law under which the rehabilitation division operates was amended last July 11, any man with a 10 per cent. disability that cut his earning capacity was admitted to vocational training in Los Angeles. The rules are somewhat stricter now. But the invitation to come in and get help is sufficiently wide and liberal. The opportunity is such that every man whose earning power has been lowered through the physical effects of war should at least investigate.

Whether Uncle Sam will educate you for some new work and pay you while you study all depends on whether your disability is vocational.

The actor's broken nose affects his vocation because it frightens cameras. If he had happened to be a boiler maker he would not have any disability his Uncle Sam could recognize, whatever the girls might think about it.

If you are a book-keeper, your wooden leg may serve as a fine souvenir of the Argonne and get you money compensation but it may not get you vocational training unless you can prove it has been your habit to write with your toes. But if you had the flu and the pesky thing weakened your lungs so that the doctors advise you quit office work, then the government will fit you to be a farmer or a civil engineer or a landscape artist or about anything else you are fitted to become.

VARIED WOUNDS.

Disabilities disclosed in the work here are about 60 per cent. due to disease and 40 per cent. to wounds in action or to accidents.

The most common form of wound in this war, the local records indicate, was injury to the wrist. This one cause leads all others, even aftereffects of the flu, among the men in training here.

Among the wounds disclosed are hurts of strangely varied sort.

One man, Lieut. Daly of Long Beach, fell several thousand feet in an airplane. When he was a few feet from th ground, it is related, the gasoline tank exploded and blew him upward with enough force to almost counteract the pull of gravity. So the fall hurt him no more than if he had tumbled five or six feet. He is, on the contrary being helped because of disabilities rising from very mild and common causes.

Another protege of the board has a classic nose that is about 80 per cent. silver. Another has a lung full of sharpnel balls. Bayonet wounds are common. A husky student was punctured in eighteen places by machine gun bullets and is still on the job.

At the Los Angeles offices of the division, 625 Merchants Trust building, many applicants are being interviewed and strenuous efforts are being made to find every deserving case in Southern California and Arizona.

Here is what the government stands ready to do for a man.

If first inquiries indicate he is eligible to vocational training, his transportation is paid to Los Angeles and his hotel bills here provided for, so that he may be personally examined.

If his application has merit, he is put in school or at work, as his choice dictates, and unless his disability is minor, is paid $80 to $150 a month for living expenses during the training pediod. A single man

MAY BE SAVANT OR A JUNK MAN.

Vocational Ward of Uncle Sam has Many and Odd Job Preferences.

Interesting sidelights are thrown by the local work of the rehabilitation division of the Federal Board of Vocational Training on men's strange preferences when they are offered all callings to choose from. The vocational training wards of Uncle Sam in this city want to be everything from motormen to ministers, from musicians to menders of shoes. And one actually is asking to be trained as a junk dealer.

The needs of many are best met by training "on the job," with the co-operation of public-spirited employers. The business institutions now employing vocationally disabled ex-service men to help rehabilitation work here are:

Southern Pacific Railroad Company, Southern California Edison Company, Otis Elevetor Company, the L. and W. Garage, the White Garage, Long Beach; the Feagans & Co., jewelry; Molloy's Shoe Repairing Shop, Venice; Molloy's Shoe Repairing Shop, Ocean Park.

The number is not larger partly because training asked by most men calls for work in schools.

SUITS TANGLE GLAMOROUS COLONY

Romantically-Inclined Angelenos Who Invested Fifty Thousand in Island Paradise Owned by Ponce de Leon Family Accuse Promoter O'Bryan of Fraud.

Conjuring up visions of the fabled "fountain of youth" by bringing in the Ponce de Leon family, giving an exotic touch by introducing an alleged "vampire," and disclosing another of many enticing schemes to interest the romantically-inclined in an island colony in semi-tropic seas, investigation into the affairs of the colony planned to be established by 300 Southern California people on Palmito del Verde Island, off the west coast of Mexico, has brought to light the fact that the District Attorney's office here has issued a complaint against William H. O'Bryan, promoter of the colony, charging him with obtaining money under false pretenses. Mr. O'Bryan has just replied with a suit for $100,000 damages, naming as defendants ten of the most prominent among the colonists, charging that they conspired to oust him from control of the island property.

Other results of the troubles over the affairs of the proposed island colony include a divorce suit filed by O'Bryan against his wife, a counter suit filed by her, and a suit for $50,000 damages alleging slander filed by Mrs. Ena M. Harper of San Francisco against Mrs. Stacia Penn of Los Angeles. In the meantime Fred G. Smith of Los Angeles has, on application of Mrs. O'Bryan, been appointed receiver of the "O'Bryan y Compania," which was the holding company name under which the land was sold to American colonists.

PROTECTIVE COMMITTEE.

Before the United States entered the war, a number of those who had purchased land went to the island, but all have returned to the United States, and after a mass meeting held recently in the Walker Auditorium building, appointed a committee consisting of A. A. Sturges, Daniel Stone and W. E. Wilsie to handle the interests of the colonists. They are anxious to protect their equities in the island, for which they have paid a total of $50,000 at from $20 to $30 an acre, especially in view of the rumors that attempts are being made in San Francisco to sell the island for the establishment of a Monte Carlo where Americans may sojourn after national prohibition becomes a law.

At the office of Chief County Constable C. R. Thomas, the records of the case show that on complaint of the District Attorney, with Daniel Stone as complaining witness, Justice J. Walter Hanby on July 10 issued a warrant for the arrest of Mr. O'Bryan, charging him with a felony in obtaining money under false pretenses from the Palmito del Verde Island colonists. Mr. Thomas said that though it is evident that Mr. O'Bryan knows of the existance of the warrant, efforts to locate him in San Francisco have failed. Mr. Thomas has sent broadcast descriptions of Mr. O'Bryan, asking that he be arrested on sight as a fugitive from justice. He is described as a heavy-set man, about fifty years old, and of the most magnetic and persuasive personality.

ROSY PICTURE.

The California people who invested from $2000 to $10,000 each in the island project were charmed by the stories told by the promoters, of the life that was to be on the island. The colonists paying in their money looked forward to the day when they could lie in hammocks on the tropical isle listening to the nightingales while out in their fields and plantations they could almost see the fast growing cocoanuts and mangoes growing, with ever and anon a native postman bringing perfectly good checks on American banks for large sums for plantation products. It was a rosy picture.

In November, last, Mr. O'Bryan and a party of eight of the colonists left Los Angeles Harbor and visited the island. Mr. O'Bryan took the party over the 30,000 acres for which he was sponsor and which occupies the southern half of the island. The climate was there and the rolling fields, and under the spell of the eloquence of the enthusiastic Mr. O'Bryan the colonists even then could see in their mind's eye a future filled with dollars and ease, with no bandits, or insects, or tropical fevers. And the colonists returned to Los Angeles. The European war came along and since then no colonists have visited the island, though they believe that if Mr. O'Bryan will build roads and undertake other development work, the island colony will have a prosperous future.

CALLED A VAMPIRE?

O'Bryan's suit for damages was filed on August 4, and at the same receives $80; a married man without children, $115; married man with one child, $125; married man with six children, $150. Moreover, all fees and cost of tuition are met by the government.

The period over which training may extend is limited by the man's capacity and the nature of the work he is undertaking. It may cover a university course. In each case, the training is given approval for only one year, but renewals may be made up to four years, if the man's studies demand it.

In fact, everything possible is done to smooth the deserving man's way to increased earning power and happiness.

The work of the rehabilitation division is not only to fit men for jobs, but also to help them connect with lucrative employment. So far, this function is not in conspicuous operation here, as the first students were started on their studies only last January, and, so far, only one has finished. But this function will become increasingly important, in connection with the governmental agencies for employment. It is contemplated that each man aided is to be under helpful supervision, even during the period of his probationary employment and until such a time as he can sustain himself independently.

SCOPE OF WORK HERE.

Since the division opened offices here about eight months ago, 675 men have been interviewed, about half as many applications received and about 200 granted. The average time required for decision on a case is two months. There is no way of telling how many men may be helped through the Los Angeles office, but the city is exceeding its estimated percentage.

Just now, efforts in this city, directed by G. Vernon Bennett, representing Ralph T. Fisher of San Francisco, who is in charge of the Twelfth Rehabilitation District, are centered on handling all cases of major disabilities first—such disabilities as that of a rag-time piano player with only one arm, for instance.

All disabilities, for the purpose of the work, are divided into three classes—major, minor and negligible.

Men with major disabilities will receive vocational training and subsistence pay, as well, in most cases.

Very many of the men with minor disabilities, according to Dr. B. F. Gowen, medical examiner for the board here, will receive only Class C training, which means their tuition and fees for schooling or apprentice work will be paid by the government, but they will receive no subsistence money.

WHO ARE ELIGIBLE.

It is immaterial where a disabled soldier, sailor or marine resided before the war or where he enlisted. If he was discharged from the service in California, Arizona or Nevada, his case will be handled here. If he resides outside of Los Angeles, he is allowed transportation to and from the city and his hotel expenses while he is here will be paid by the government.

A man receiving vocational training is called a "federal."

When a "federal" makes application for training, he is required to give his pre-war history, his preference as to future occupation, his tastes as to reading and recreation, his personal like or dislike for tobacco and the demon rum, and a lot of other things. His application also includes a report as to the nature and degree of his disability, made out by a physician of the United States public health service. One is in attendance at the rehabilitation division office for making examinations.

The application goes to Washington for final action by the central board. If it is approved and returned, the training to be given the man is determined here, with the help of expert advisers drawn from the University of California and other sources. Efficiency is aimed at chiefly and a man is trained, as far as possible, in lines that will utilize his previous knowledge and training. When the disability is such as to require a complete change of occupation, the inclinations, aptitudes and desires of the applicant are taken into account. Efforts are made to steer him away from overcrowded occupations and in every way to safeguard the probabilities of future success.

WHAT THEY STUDY.

However, the range of occupations open to an applicant is enormous.

The 175 vocationally disabled men now being trained here are studying the following subjects in the numbers indicated:

INDIVIDUAL CASES.

MONEY WAITING FOR CANADIANS.

Law on War Gratuities Now Extends to ex-Soldiers Formerly Excluded.

Advices from the general secretary of the British Columbia Returned-Soldier Commission, Victoria, B. C., state that many former Dominion soldiers who are entitled to war-service gratuities have so far failed to apply for them.

The former Order in Council covering the subject was that men who did not see service in France and men discharged previous to the signing of the armistice were not entitled to the gratuities. This order has now been changed and men who come under these two classifications are entitled to the money.

The address of the Returned-Soldier Commission is Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B. C.

One of the first applicants for vocational training here was an Italian, born in California, who lost a leg at Chateau Thierry. No longer able to labor with his hands as a farmer, he was sent to the University of California agricutural school at Davis, and will henceforth work as a farmer with his brains. Altogether, more than 100 disabled service men have been put in school there.

A Los Angeles physician's hearing was so impaired by an explosion in France that he is unable to resume his practice. The government has started him on a course in bacteriology and when he has finished, he will be given a position in a laboratory.

The young laborers appeared one day with disabilities that would prevent their return to manual work. They seemed of university caliber and today one is studying in the law department of the University of Southern California and the other at a Los Angeles medical college.

About thirty men in trades formerly requiring physical strength, which they cannot now give, are in commercial schools.

AMBITION REALIZED.

One day a bright youth, wounded in the Argonne so that he limps, hobbled into the office of the board and exhibited a very lame leg. It developed he is a cigarmaker.

"Then your leg does not disable you," he was told.

"I know," he answered, "but I was forced to that occupation by circumstances and have always wished to better my condition." It developed that he wants to fit himself to be the secretary of a large corporation. So impressed were the local members of the board with his personality and apparent ability that his education for the big job has already begun.

Another interesting case is that of a young artist who has displayed ability as an illustrator. That he may get the special training the advisers here believe he merits he will be transferred to a school in New York.

David Smith of San Diego, formerly an automobile machinist, was wounded in the Argonne by a shell fragment that shattered his right foot. He is now specializing in applied electricity.

Corp. Harry Taylor of Prescott, Ariz., had an attack of the flu at Camp Bowie, Tex., followed by pneumonia. Now he is studying the electric battery and ignition, preparatory to further work at an aviation field. If his health does not prevent, he will later be employed permanently by the government in the electrical department of aviation mechanics.

William A. Vogler of San Francisco, a sailor whose back was crushed when the Aquitania sheared the bow from the destroyer Shaw, is being trained as a mechanic.

EMPLOYERS HELP.

An important feature of the work is the help employers—farmers and others—are giving in helping disabled service men through the probationary or apprentice period in new vocations. One man is being taught piano repair in a Los Angeles establishment. A sailor, who was dug from under a pile of coal that fell on him, is learning telegraphy in a commercial wire office here. A second sailor, with a crippled leg, is learning shoe repair work at Venice and two "federals" are learning the same trade in Los Angeles shops.

Tuberculosis cases are the most difficult to handle. They are sent first to sanatoria and treated until the disease is arrested. Then they are tried out at light work, under close surveillance. Several former soldiers in this category are being trained in this State to be beekeepers and others are on poultry ranches.

The mechanic arts department of the Los Angeles State Normal School is a testing station for disabled "federals." Machine shops, a foundry, woodworking rooms and an auto repair shop are included. Several "federals" have worked at auto mechanics during the summer session and more than fifty have been enrolled for the winter term, to follow various lines of mechanical work.

PLAN REFORESTATION OF ANGELES RESERVE.

TO TRADE GOVERNMENT OWNED TIMBER FOR CUT OVER LANDS.

During the recent official visit of Supervisor Charlton, of the Angeles National Reserve, in San Francisco, the details of a reforestation scheme to be submitted to Congress were prepared with District Forester Coert DuBois.

Under the proposed arrangement there is a provision for the trading of government owned timber lands in the Northwest for cut-over lands in the Angeles Reserve, the government reserving the right to supervise the cutting of timber. By the arrangement the available timber on the government land would be utilized without denudation resulting.

It is proposed to restore to government ownership thousands of acres now bare and unsightly in the local reserve, that would immediately be made the subject of reforestation.

It is asserted that the owners of these cut-over lands have no particular use for them, while they are eager to secure stumpage rights to government owned timber land. It is understood that the timber companies and others holding cut-over lands would gladly trade with the government for timber lands and consent to cut only such timber and in such manner as the government officials may indicate.

So far the reforestation scheme is confined to the Angeles National Reserve, but if successfully carried out the arrangement will no doubt be utilized in other national reserves in California.

SUGAR HOARDING.

Last of Federal War Cases is Set for Trial in October.

The trial of the charge against Edward G. Dunnavant, a Venice restaurant proprietor, the last of the so-called Federal war cases, was set for trial this week, but it will be continued to the first Monday in October. Federal officials allege that he violated the Food Conservation Act in hoarding a large quantity of sugar at the Venice establishment.

The appeal of Hulett C. Merritt, Pasadena millionaire, who was convicted by a jury in Judge Trippet's court, and fined $5000, with a jail sentence of five months will also come up for hearing in October, the bill of exceptions having been completed and forwarded to San Francisco yesterday. Lyndol L. Young, assistant United States District Attorney at the hearing before Judge Trippet on the bill of exceptions, was successful in eliminating fifty-five of the exceptions, on the ground that the record did not show that they had been noted during the trial.

Doctor Tells How to Detect Harmful Effects of Tobacco

Try These SIMPLE TESTS

New York: Doctor Connor, formerly of Johns Hopkins Hospital, says: Many men who smoke, chew or snuff incessantly and who are seemingly healthy are suffering from progressive organic ailments. Thousands of them would never have been afflicted had it not been for the use of tobacco, and thousands would soon get well if they would only stop the use of tobacco. The chief habit forming principle of tobacco is nicotine, a deadly poison which, when absorbed by the system slowly affects the nerves, membranes, tissues and vital organs of the body. The harmful effect of tobacco varies and depends on circumstances. One will be afflicted with general debility, others with catarrh of the throat, indigestion, constipation, extreme nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of memory, lack of will power, mental confusion, etc. Others may suffer from heart disease, bronchial trouble, hardening of the arteries, tuberculosis, blindness or even cancer or the common affliction known as tobacco heart. If you use tobacco in any form you can easily detect the harmful effects by making the following simple tests. Read aloud one full page from a book. If, in the course of reading your voice becomes muffled, hoarse and indistinct, and you must frequently clear your throat, the chances are that your throat is affected by catarrh and it may be the beginning of more serious trouble. Next, in the morning before taking your usual smoke, walk up three flights of stairs at a regular pace then stop. If you find that you are out of breath, your heart beat is forced, trembling or irregular, you may be a victim of functional or organic heart trouble. If you feel that you must smoke, chew or snuff to quiet your nerves, you are a slave to the tobacco habit, and are positively poisoning yourself with the deadly drug, nicotine. In either case you have just two alternatives—keep on with the self-poisoning process irrespective of the dangers and suffer the consequences, or give up the habit and escape the dangers. You can overcome the craving and stop the habit in a very short time by using the following inexpensive formula: Go to any drug store and ask for Nicotol tablets, take one tablet after each meal, and in a comparatively short time you will have no desire for tobacco, the craving will have left you. With the nicotine poison out of your system your general health will quickly improve.

Note—When asked about Nicotol tablets, one of our leading druggists said: "It is truly a wonderful remedy for the tobacco habit; away ahead of anything we have ever sold before. We are authorized by the manufacturers to refund the money to every dissatisfied customer, and we would not permit the use of our name unless the remedy possessed unusual merit." Nicotol tablets are sold in this city under an ironclad money-back guarantee by all up-to-date druggists, including all the Sun, the Logan and the Chambers Drug Stores.—[Advertisement.

As long as women are so eager to pay $18 a pair for spool-heeled shoes so long will the complaisant merchant have the $18 shoes at hand—even if he has to mark up the $8 ones to do it. He will not falter in his duty.

A MATTER OF MILLIONS.
The national debt increased nearly $800,000,000 during the month of August and the war has been over nearly a year. Seems as if Uncle Sam should begin to worry over the cost of high living.

THE CAGED BIRD.
The idea of some of these obstructionists is to safeguard the American eagle by locking him up in an airtight and burglar-proof cage. They do not seem to realize that an eagle must have a place in the sun and will die of a broken heart if denied room to spread its wings.

THE SOOTHING SINGER.
Caruso has a contract which calls for $84,000 for twelve appearances in Mexico, but because of troubled conditions does not care to fulfill it. On the theory that music soothes the savage breast he should go to it. Perhaps his voice might have a definite part in restoring order to a racked country. The mere fact that he fears being kidnaped by bandits and held for $85,000 ransom should not stand in the way. And besides, a contract is a contract. A man with a voice like his ought to be able to sing the bandits over the border and deliver them to the American authorities.

LURE OF THE CITY.
An effort was made to induce two thousand or more of the colored residents of Chicago to work on the farms and plantations of Alabama and Mississippi. They were offered transportation and good wages, coupled with desirable working conditions, but few of them could be persuaded to accept the offer. They would not take good pay for that which their grandfathers did as slaves. The colored brother is really fonder of the lights of the city than is the average white, and once he is town-broke it will take more than a halter to pull him away. Even the race riots in Chicago and the threat of some of the incendiary whites to hound the colored race into perdition did not influence many of the blacks to accept a proposition which would take them many miles away from the city's turmoil. A certain class of labor is needed in the South. The blacks can furnish it, but they, too, have the white man's itch of unrest. They would go to the cities.

LIKE FATHER LIKE SON.
Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., has definitely abandoned banking for a career in politics and has made an announcement to that effect. In England this is no unusual programme in landed families where there are several sons, but in America it is somewhat unique. A blunt announcement of an intention to embark in politics as a livelihood is not as likely to carry a man as far on the journey as if he had waited to hear the call of his fellows. But the fact that young Roosevelt has been nominated for the Assembly in his State was probably interpreted as a call and therefore he goes to it with the cheery optimism of his race. It is not to his discredit that he is advancing on the name and prestige of his father. He has done some things in his own right and the father won a position so unique and commanding as to furnish a worthy inspiration for a son. Before his thirtieth year he is Theodore Roosevelt and a colonel. That is enough capital for a career in politics or anything else.

NATIONAL SONG HOUR.
As a part of the celebration of Peace Day on November 11 it is proposed to have a nation-wide Hour of Song. The impetus given to community singing during the war inspires the suggestion and in a great many towns a proper organization already exists to direct the movement. The hour chosen to start the thing off is at 11 in the morning and from thence until noon the land will be one burst of patriotic song. In parks and public places the people will gather and under suitable leadership raise their voices to high heaven. In the moving picture theater the songs will be thrown on the screen and the audiences will sing them to the accompaniment of the orchestra. It will help a lot of people to learn to voice the "Star Spangled Banner," which has long been a stumbling block to amateur singers with patriotic hearts. The idea is a suitable one to be accepted as a feature of Peace Day celebrations for all time. It is a finer thing to link patriotism with peace rather than with war, and with the League of Nations in working order songs of strife and conflict may lose their uses. That, however, will not impair the glory of the human voice. Most of our songs of war can be made by a deft twist into anthems of peace. All our patriotic airs can be preserved to the last day of reckoning and it is fit and proper that the whole nation should rehearse them in its Hour of Song on the Great Anniversary.

IT IS A MERRY WORLD.

THE "Reds" have held their regular annual convention in Chicago and report that they have a mere 42,000-odd members on their rolls, all signed up by each man and woman writing his or her name or putting his or her thumb-mark on the muster book.

Labor Day has come and gone and here in Los Angeles less than one-tenth of the population that works—and the whole population works—was in the parade, with the same ratio prevailing all over the country.

A straw vote of the United States Senate shows that a minority of that august body stands ready if able to put any kind of a kink whatever in the League of Nations, with said minority nervously looking around for a tree to climb when the cheering starts.

Grapevine reports from forty-three of the forty-eight States of the Union are to the effect that the penitentiaries and jails are being leased out for warehouses as a result of the elimination of booze.

Underground messages from China state that there are 297,000,000 people in that country who have been so busy planting rutabagas and hoeing rice with sieves that they haven't had time to read the papers for the past 5000 years, with the consequences that they don't know yet that there has been a world war.

A careful tabulation made of Hollywood by expert and eminent statisticians shows that there are less than seven out of the 100,000 movies actors there receiving salaries of less than $962 per week, each.

The latest and most reliable information that can be secured from accredited sources from one end of the United States to the other concerning the high cost of living informs us that there are fewer inmates of poor houses now than ever before in our history and that, as far as can be ascertained, every human being within our borders is eating at least three meals a day.

There are many additional facts of this nature and character that could be set down, but space forbids. But even this sparse information will enable anyone to make an intelligent survey of the world's activities at this hour.

It is, apparently, a merry world, and filled with laughter.

II.

THE truth is that the malcontents, the glooms and the grouches of the country have been making so much noise lately that we got the idea into our heads there were millions more of them than there really are.

We have been misled as completely as the boy who once set out to make his fortune from the frogs that he believed were in the mill pond near his home.

There was a hotel in that neighborhood, and the boy approached the proprietor thereof with a proposition to sell him frogs' legs for the delectation of the palates of his guests. When asked how many frogs he could deliver the boy replied that he could deliver a million. But the hotel man said he could use only four dozen just then and for the boy to bring them along.

Next day the boy appeared with six frogs only. "I thought you could bring me a million," sarcastically observed the hotel man. And the boy replied sadly: "Well, mister, they sounded like a million."

And so it has been in this matter of the "Reds" ripping the gizzard out of America and causing the towns and cities of our fair land to run in rivers of blood. But, when they were all gathered together in their favorite town, Chicago, there were not enough of them to make a good crowd at a baseball game.

Along the same lines, a walking delegate gets up on a soap box and informs the American people that unless the railroads, the canals, the shops and factories do so and so, and do it quick, there won't be a wheel turning or a smokestack smoking anywhere. He makes so much noise that we think he represents every man and woman at work, but when noses are counted we find that he doesn't represent anything of the kind, and then some.

So we see that every now and then the world gets foolish. But if it didn't do that it wouldn't be a merry world.

III.

NOT only is the world a merry world now, but it bids fair to remain so for a long time to come. Indeed, there is no real reason why it should ever be otherwise.

There are plenty of things in pickle and boiling in the pot to keep man laughing until the cows come home and long after that.

Just now, for instance, the President has started a "swing around the circle," ostensibly to talk to the people on the League of Nations business, and also, as some say, to incidentally lay a few wires for next year's election.

Now, any man with the merest suspicion of a sense of humor can extract a great deal of entertainment out of this. While the President is "swinging" and "circling" it will be worth the price of a ticket to a circus to look back across the country and watch Senator Lodge chewing on his highbrow, intellectual whiskers, and to see Borah do war dances and Fall claw the air.

That, however, is just a little thing that will be going on now for awhile. Next year is really when the gaiety of at least this nation will be fully aroused.

Next year a man will see in this country the largest and most unique string of "favorite sons" running for the office of President of the United States since Gen. Washington quit and the bars were all down for the first time.

The real laugh will not come, however, until Hiram Johnson heaves along in the running. To see Hiram puffing and blowing and making his legs go in that race will be well worth living to see. It is even too funny for anything right now to hear him trying to make a noise like a man running for President.

IV.

THERE are always two sides to everything. To life there is the bright side and the dark side. Both are always there. The only trouble is that there are usually too many people who never can see the bright side.

The root of the disease lies in our impatience. We are not willing to wait for the disc to turn.

For instance, there was a man in San Francisco a few years ago who jumped into the bay and drowned himself because he couldn't buy a copy of the "Odes of Horace," when all he had to do was to swim over to Berkeley, where any of the college professors would have given him a copy gladly.

It may be, however, that he drowned himself just because he was in San Francisco. But, anyway, the papers up there blamed it on Horace, which was a safe thing to do in view of the fact that he was dead fully 2000 years at the time.

Then there was a man somewhere up around Oxnard who owned a lemon grove when lemons could not be even given away. He traded the grove for a mule that kicked him in the stomach so hard that he had to have an operation performed. And the very next year lemons sold at $10 a box, with the market unable to supply the demand.

In another way a man might get a divorce from his wife and maybe he would read in the papers three weeks afterward that her uncle died in Africa and left her a fortune of a million dollars in his will.

Take it here in Los Angeles, right under our own noses. It is only a few years ago that people who owned lots on Broadway used to meet the trains and try to wish those lots on tenderfoot tourists at about $600 for a choice corner.

Impatience—it is the bane of life. People are so restless, so eager to see tomorrow; always standing at the postoffice window waiting for the mail to be distributed.

And all the time the world in which they live is merry as a marriage bell, if they would only stop to listen.

V.

WHEREFORE, from all that can be adduced and deduced, it seems that if we would all make up our minds never to bid the devil good-morning till we meet him, there wouldn't be a grouch left to tell the tale.

And if we would only learn by experience we would discover that while most of the troubles we look for never put in an appearance we can gaze forward with certainty to the fun that's ahead of us, for it is sure to be there.

Every circus that comes to town next summer is certain to have a new clown or two. There are bound to be new jokes in the vaudeville shows, no matter how hard the actors may, and do, try to evade them.

Of course, life is not all beer and skittles, but there are still lots of skittles, even though the beer isn't what it used to be.

Remember this, that the world wants to be merry, and what it wants it will have, in spite of you or anybody else. It is bound to be a merry world, so be merry with it. And if someone finds fault with you because you laugh so much, hold a looking glass up to him and let him see himself. Then sing him the song about the young lady from Wilts:

"There was a young lady from Wilts,
Who walked up to Scotland on stilts.
When they said it was shocking
To show so much stocking.
She answered: 'Then what about kilts?'"

CONFISCATION NOT SO POPULAR.
Portents in the industrial and political heavens indicate that an unmitigated policy of confiscation of everything has ceased to be popular. There was a time in the not very remote past when demagogues were carried into popular favor on a wave of denunciation; they were always for the dear people and opposed to that abstract thing, "the interests." Their ultimate object was to have the government own everything and everybody hold some office in the government. Any industry that proved successful was immediately under suspicion. No demagogic platform was complete until it had indorsed a plan to confiscate something. The old Proudhon theory that "all property is theft" was resurrected for a striking political success.

But the fever of confiscation is apparently wearing itself out, and there are many indications of a healthy reaction. The world war awakened in the public mind a realization that signed contracts are not to be broken with impunity, and that even minorities have certain rights which majorities are bound to respect. Only a month ago the Plumb plan for confiscation of the railroads by the government to be turned over later to the railroad brotherhoods was introduced in Congress in the midst of salvos of radical rejoicing. Every labor union in the country was declared to be back of it and its proponents claimed that it was supported by 5,000,000 voters.

In fact, the chief argument in its favor was the voting strength of its proponents and the power they possessed to tie up the country by a general strike if it were not adopted. But the Plumb plan did not meet with the popular favor it was expected to command. There is a deep significance in the fact that its most outspoken opponent, Senator Pomerene of Ohio, has attracted so much attention by his opposition that he is now favorably mentioned in the Democratic press, including the New York Times, as a Presidential possibility.

Senator Pomerene has served eight years in the upper house; but he never attracted attention until he replied to a labor-union committee that solicited his support for the Plumb bill:

> "My friends, permit me to say the Plumb plan has nothing akin to it outside Bolshevist Russia. It is worse than socialism. . . . If it is in the interest of the masses for the government to purchase the railroads and present them to the railroad employees why not have all the industrial plants of the country purchased by the issuance of government bonds and turned over to the operatives? Why not all the banks acquired by the government and turned over to the operatives? Why do you not advise that all the stores be purchased by the government and turned over in the same way? Why do you not ask in the interest of the masses that the government purchase all the farms and turn them over to the farm hands? If one man should happen to own two houses, one of which he rents, why do you not ask that the second house shall be purchased by the government and turned over to the renter?"

That reply, after the method of Socrates, has already made a hit with the very "masses" about which the railroad brotherhoods are prating; and Senator Pomerene's popularity has suddenly risen to a point where influential Democratic papers are soberly asking whether Canton, O., Senator Pomerene's residence, is to be the home of a second President within a generation.

Senator Pomerene probably owes his election to the Senate to his courageous reply to an attempt of the pro-German element in Ohio to influence his vote on measures having to do with the great war and the national defense. He received a telegram purporting to be from German-American representatives in Ohio, warning him not to vote for the armed ship bill. Within an hour he had sent back the following reply:

> "You go to hell. I had far rather be a plain American citizen than a German Senator."

That telegram lost him pro-German support; but it brought enough loyal Americans to his banner to make up for the alien defection and elect him by a handsome majority.

But it is a far cry from September until the national conventions next July. Many budding Presidential aspirations will be nipped by the freezes of January and the frosts of March. Senator Pomerene's chief claims to recognition at the present time are his war record in the Senate and his sound position on the railroad question. Both are important; but it is doubtful if they are enough.

For the Senator has a number of obstacles to overcome. It is the consensus of opinion among politicians that President Wilson will not seek the Presidency again next year and that other Democrats cannot get it unless certain Republican leaders crucify their own party by continued opposition to the League of Nations. The Ohio Senator's name will in itself be a handicap. It suggests a variety of grapefruit rather than an American citizen eligible to the Presidency. This may seem a trivial thing; but cast your mind's eye over the roster of the Presidents and observe how many of them have homely, simple American names. His surname, "Atlee," simply increases the handicap. Crowds do not enthuse readily over names like that. There are many curious things about representative governments, and one of these is the fact that a man's name, for which he is not in the least responsible, often mitigates against his success in politics.

This much may be said for Senator Pomerene, even by a Republican newspaper: he represents the solid, thinking element of the Democratic party; he has never sacrificed principle to political exigencies; in short, he seems composed of the stuff of which Presidents are made. Too bad that he carries the double handicap of a fantastic family name and a party name that goes backward in defeat much oftener than forward in victory. If for naught but the enemies he has made The Times wishes him well.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

THE BOARDERS.

"What ho," exclaim the boarders, "bring forth the measly lot of profiteers and hoarders and let them all be shot." The boarders' grub is scanty, it's slim and punk indeed, in hostelry or shanty, wherever they may feed. Their eyes become a river when they look around and see a sickly slice of liver, a string bean and a pea. The boarders' cheeks are sallow, their eyes are full of woe, their waistlines show no tallow, they totter as they go. Their lean ribs clank together and ever, as they reel, they wonder, wonder whether they'll ever have a meal. "Bring forth," exclaim the boarders, bent up with stomach ache, "the profiteers and hoarders, and burn them at the stake." The landlord says he's giving the utmost for the cash; and boarders still are living on air and onion hash. In vain the boarders forage for fodder they can eat; and there are tons in storage of eggs and pies and meat. The nation's bins are busting with everything we need; and it is most disgusting that men for grub must plead, and pay unholy prices for everything they get; oh, let us in three trices make some blamed lummix sweat. "Produce," exclaim the boarders, bowed down by pain and toil, "the profiteers and hoarders, and let them boil in oil."

THE LANCER.

No doubt we are supposed to rise and cheer at the news from England that the servant-girl situation is becoming "easier" — whatever that means.

I never have been able to get properly excited over the domestic servant situation. In most cases the servant-girl problem consists of a slovenly incompetent quarreling with the necessity of taking orders from an unreasonable fool.

It strikes me as funny every time I hear two society janes whining because their servants are not more respectful. It would require a peculiar fixity of purpose as well as an extraordinary concentration of ideas to develop any real respect for the half-educated, fuzzy-minded woman who presides over many a household as mistress.

Between the blundering bonehead in the kitchen and the bonehead in the drawing-room there is very little choice. One is shirking her job as cook and the other is shirking her job as domestic administrator. Neither of them is deserving of the slightest consideration.

The way I figure the servant problem is thus:

I write his newspaper for the man who waits on me at dinner. I am his servant; he is my servant. There is just as much reason for me to be respectful to him as there is for him to be respectful to me.

But damn him; I hate his guts, for he is a swindler and a thief.

I put my whole soul into the work I do for him; he gives me short weight.

I never play. Every thought of my brain, sleeping or waking, is put into my job. His isn't. He takes the result of my whole effort and doesn't give me his. He cheats. He gives me about one-eighth of his brain and a fourth of his possible effort, holding back the balance for various enterprises and pleasures of his own. I am on the job; he is only half.

Therefore he is a lying skunk and a thief. I don't demand from him servility; but I do demand a square deal. And I don't get it. Wherefore I hate him.

Dr. Wilson, now touring the country in behalf of the League of Nations, has accomplished an abrupt change of thought.

He doesn't tell us any more about breaking the heart of the world because he has discovered that we are not in the least concerned about the heart of the world, whether it is broken or not. He has come down to earth with something sane and sensible, explaining to us that it will keep our sons out of war and spare us from any more big government loans—which is much more convincing than any possible fractures of the heart of Europe.

In the mind of the average American there has come about a complete disillusionment as to Europe. We don't care what happens to them if it doesn't also happen to us. But it is also borne in upon us that every epidemic of suffering that sweeps Europe must also sweep us; wherefore we are for saving Europe.

One of the Congressmen who summoned Gen. Pershing to appear and explain his blunders was a former lieutenant in the army—which may have been the reason for Pershing's refusal.

There was nothing much to explain about Pershing. He proved to be a commonplace, routine army officer who did the best he could in a job much too big for him—and did no worse than generals of the other armies in jobs too big for them.

No American military genius developed in this war. It was a struggle of dull, brute strength. Pershing was strong.

For ideas that stagger and amaze Dr. Pomeroy, the county health officer, seems to stand in the lead this week. The doctor's plan, as stated in one of the evening papers, is to offset Japan's gains upon the white race by offering a bounty, something similar to the coyote bounty, for motherhood and babies. His further suggestion for the advance of the white race is to put a special tax upon houses from which children are barred as tenants. The inference is that, upon the bounties being posted, the women of the country will respond with a sort of hurricane of twins, triplets and singles.

The search for the vagrant flu germ would seem to be a bully thing for the doctor to stick to. Sociology seems not exactly in his best line.

Queen Marie of Rumania may have been a little shy upon certain essential points of conduct, but the breathless tidings have come across the sea that she has at least cleared up one point that has been distressing the world: she has shown a public banquet how to eat cherries. It seems that you are to grab the thing in your fist and take four bites out of it. The next cable will doubtless explain how to eat celery without making a noise like a horse. Then there will not be anything to worry about at all.

Nothing but moral suasion is needed in the world; but at the same time it is to be observed that since Admiral Rodman and his fleet came through the canal Japan has suddenly resolved to fix a date for giving Shantung back to China and has made a frantic announcement to the Associated Press that no more brutalities will be permitted in Korea.

• • •

The best moral persuaders are those mounting triple-imposed gun turrets fore and aft.

SEA TERROR'S UGLY WAR EXHIBIT.

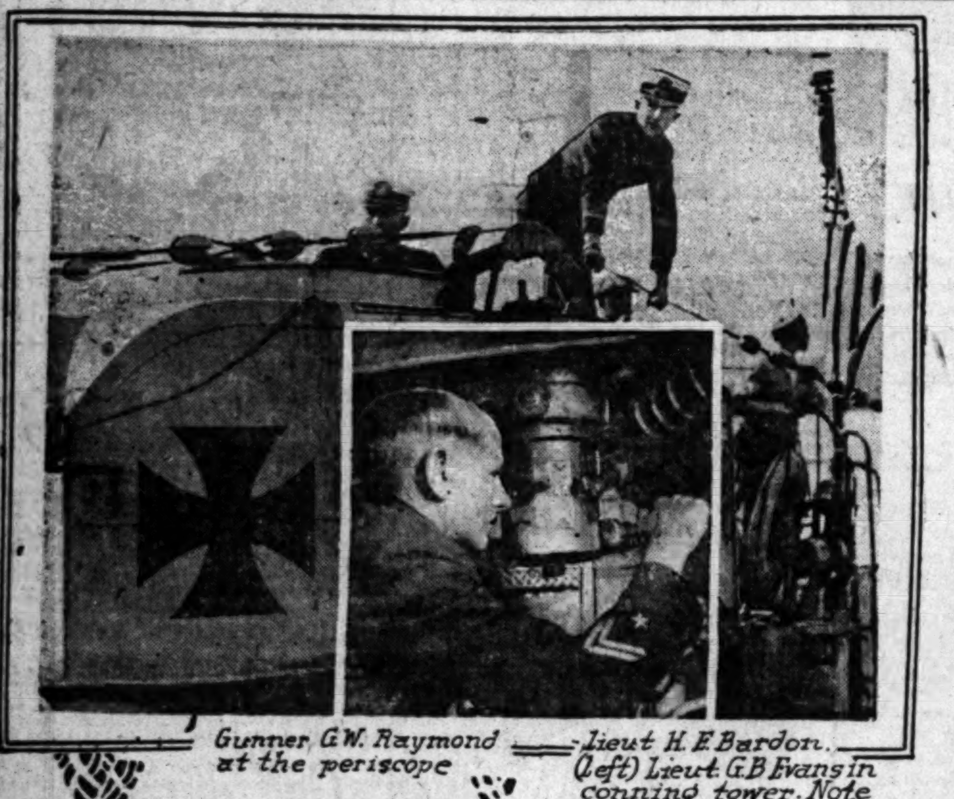
Black Eyes and Battered Nose Make U-Boat Now at Los Angeles Harbor Grisly Trophy of Hun Defeat; Once Dreaded Craft Open to Public.

The Unterseeboot 88, which, a few months ago, was a terror of the seas of which old mariners spoke in awed whispers, today lies lashed to the municipal dock at Los Angeles Harbor. The U-88 is the first German submarine to enter the Pacific and made its debut off the western coast of America as a captive of the United States Navy with the American flag flying from its conning tower.



Gunner G.W. Raymond at the periscope — Lieut. H.E. Bardon. (left) Lieut. G.B. Evans in conning tower. Note the iron cross.

The U-88 is the most impressive souvenir of the war that has yet come to the Pacific Coast. Its upper structure still retains its camouflaged cloak, though its bulky sides are streaked with rust and coated with barnacles. On each side of the conning tower still remain two big iron crosses, painted in black—the same insignia with which the Huns tried in vain to throw terror into the hearts of the American doughboys and gobs. On the prow are painted two big black eyes which give the submarine the appearance of a giant sea serpent as it glides through the water. But the eyes are black, and the nose of the vessel is battered severely—true symbols of defeat.

MURDERERS OF INFANTS.

The U-88 was one of the most daring and stubborn submarines in the German navy, refusing to admit defeat until the terms of the armistice made it the property of the United States. It sank sixteen Allied vessels during its terrorizing career, including merchant ships and unarmed passenger steamers. It destroyed millions of dollars in ship tonnage and merchandise, and sent scores of women and children to their death.

The submarine had a very short life during the war, having been in operation from June to November, 1918. It was commanded by Capt.-Lieut. Von Rabenau. Its first outrages were committed in June, 1918, when it sank two steamers off Flamborough Head. Then, from June 20 to June 29, it sank six more steamers off the east coast of England, returning to Zeebrugge. On July 29 it left the Flanders coast and entered the English Channel via the Straits of Dover and sent two steamers to the bottom off Brest.

This submarine was the last German vessel to run the gauntlet of the English and American navies and the Allied mine fields through the Straits of Dover. After sinking four Allied ships it returned to Zeebrugge, but found that the Germans had deserted that port. Then it turned toward the Kiel Canal and successfully reached it, but on November 26 was surrendered to the Allies.

The U-88 is one of the five German submarines taken over by the American navy. After it was received by the American sailors at Harwich, England, on November 27, an American crew replaced the German crew and the gobs brought it safely to the United States to place it on exhibition. It has travelled 11,600 miles under its own power since it was surrendered. The boat is 185 feet long, has a 22 feet beam and weighs 800 tons, being one of the smaller types of German submarines.

On the outside the U-88 has not an inviting appearance. It lacks the graceful shape of the American submarines. It is ugly, and squats low in the water. But it is one of the most marvelous death-dealing implements ever devised for warfare. Beneath its deck are four torpedo tubes, and on the cap of each tube is inscribed the Hun motto "Gott Mit Uns." It has a storage room large enough to accommodate thirty torpedoes. In the central operating compartment is housed the great gyro compass by which the course is steered, no matter how deep beneath the surface of the water the vessel is cruising. The sounding machine for measuring depths and the levers which control the diving rudders, or "flippers," are also in this compartment. Beneath the floor are sixty-two storage batteries which furnish the power by which the ship is driven. On the deck is mounted an 8.8 centimetre gun. The submarine can travel at a speed of about thirteen and one-half knots per hour on the surface but in its trip from San Diego it loafed along at eleven knots.

The vessel is now at the harbor on a ten-day visit. From here it will be taken to Seattle where it will probably be dismantled for naval experimental purposes.

The officers of the ship, all of whom are California men, are Capt. J. L. Nielson, Lieut. H. E. Barden, Lieut. Evans and Gunner Raymond. It also has a crew of twenty-seven men.

The vessel is open to visitors.

ANTELOPE VALLEY'S FAIR.

Crowds from every part of the State are expected to flock to Lancaster on September 17 to be on hand for the opening of the second annual Antelope Valley fair. Each year the people of the valley hold a monster celebration, and there is always a large attendance, but this year, on account of the many new features and more extensive advertising, it will tax the capacity of the hotels and lodging-houses to accommodate all the people. For that reason the association has arranged for a fine auto camping ground where there is plenty of shade and good flowing artesian wells. These grounds are on the north town limits of Lancaster, and near the fair grounds. All who can are urged to bring their camping outfits and enjoy a four-day outing.

In the agricultural building will be a display of all the products of the valley, including showing of live stock of all kinds. In addition to the main building, there will be erected an "alfalfa palace," built of baled alfalfa hay raised in the valley, of course. The size will be 50x 100 feet, and the interior will be used as a regular 49'er dance hall, with a dance every night and a real jazz band agoing all the time. Friday night will be "Wild West" night, and prizes will be awarded for the best costumes.

Two De Mille planes will be at the fair each day and will operate a regular passenger service. Horse racing, broncho busting, football, baseball, and all the amusements on the "trail" will afford entertainment every minute.

SAID HE BADE HER GO.

Wife, Saying She was Turned Out of Her Home, Gets Divorce.

After telling Mrs. Della A. Moon many times to leave, he finally said to her:

"You got to go."

Insisting that he meant it, she replied:

"Then I suppose I have got to go."

Mrs. Moon was granted a divorce by Judge Crail yesterday. She introduced a letter written to her by her husband, Herbert E. Moon, which said there was no possible chance of their living together as man and wife.

"I have concluded not to stand in the way of your obtaining your heart's desire, so I have notified my attorney not to appear in my behalf," the letter stated. Mr. Moon was formerly a merchant at Hermosa Beach.

FEAR NO WATER SHORTAGE

Colorado River is Low, but the Imperial Valley will not Suffer.

BY WILLIAM J. BURTSCHER.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

IMPERIAL, Sept. 6.—Although Imperial Valley's canal system is using every drop of water discharged by the Colorado River at Yuma, as has been the case almost yearly during the past decade, and the river has fallen from 4500 to 3400 second feet since last Sunday, there is at present no water shortage, nor is there a shortage impending, according to men thoroughly familiar with the situation.

The low stage of the river is attributed to the light snowfall in the Rockies. The Weather Bureau at Sacramento reports 1919 to be the driest year since 1877. Hitherto heavy rains in Arizona and Lower Utah have kept the Colorado from 7500 feet up, but the rainy season appears to have come to an end.

MINIMUM OF WATER USED.

A rain in Arizona would change the situation in twenty-four hours, but even if there should be no rain and the river should go as low as 1500 feet, which it is not likely to do, the valley would still be in no danger, since this is the season of the year when the minimum of water is used for irrigation purposes. According to reports from Lower California the Mexican cotton raisers have practically finished their irrigation, and for some weeks yet the demand for barley irrigation in Imperial county will be light. One-fourth of the corn crop will require no further water, and the remainder will take only from one to two more irrigations. About half of the cotton acreage will require slight irrigations from now until frost. The only crops that would materially suffer, should there be a shortage, would be alfalfa and early barley.

STORAGE SYSTEM NEEDED.

With an annual water shortage threatening the valley at this season of the year, and the productive agricultural area annually increasing, more study than ever is being given to a permanent solution of the water problem.

"All of Southern California," a prominent water official said today, "should strike now for a storage basin, in which the high waters of spring can be stored away for release when needed during the low-water months in fall. Such a project would protect us alike from floods and shortages, and would benefit the whole Colorado basin as much as Imperial Valley.

"The all-American canal provided for in the Kettner bill, now before Congress, would increase the valley's capacity for water consumption, but would not put more water into the Colorado River at this season. The Lane bill, providing for the impounding of the surplus water, is more vital to the welfare of the valley, and should by all means receive first attention."

HIGH STAGE NEXT YEAR.

A pertinent suggestion was received this week at a meeting of the Imperial irrigation district board of directors from Supt. F. N. Cronholm, that plans should be made at once to prepare for a weir in the Colorado River in 1920. Mr. Cronholm has estimated, after studying the records for many years, that the Colorado will reach an extremely high stage in 1920, probably 130,000 feet, and he believes that, with so great a flood great difficulty will be encountered in building a weir to divert water through Rockwood gate.

Mr. Cronheim's letter advised the board that after the flood of next year little or none of the former weirs will remain in the channel on which to begin construction in 1920. He also expects that the trestle and dolphins will be taken out. Under such circumstances—and he advises the board to be prepared for the worst possible eventuality, great and extensive preparations will be required to reconstruct the weir.

TWO EXTREMES.

Thus the Imperial Valley's problem swings from high extreme to low. When she can lay away on a "rainy day" for the needs of her "dry" ones, her water troubles will be over.

At present she is using all the water she can get out of the river, and while not actually getting all she wants, she is getting all she actually needs.

SHOW DRAWS FINE STOCK.

More than a score of the most important blooded-animal exhibitors at the California State Fair have engaged reservations at the Los Angeles Livestock Show, which will be held at Exposition Park from October 18 to 26, according to an announcement by Secretary C. R. Thomas, who returned yesterday from Sacramento.

Mr. Thomas spent more than a week among the Northern exhibitors and brought back applications for pens and stables at Exposition Park, which, added to the Eastern, Southern and Middlewestern displays, make certain the success of the Los Angeles event, so far as exhibits are concerned. He said the State Fair is the finest ever seen at the capital nd the live-stock parade, especially, reflects the wonderful prosperity and immense resources of the State.

Mr. Thomas stated that the great problem now confronting stockmen and breeders is to secure farm help and experienced attendants for their prize animals. A number of State Fair exhibitors, in addition to the ones who signed reservation contracts, promised they will be on hand at the local event if they can obtain help.

Those who reserved pens and stables at Expostion Park are:

Draft horses—Merritt-Bowers Company, Black Hawk Ranch (Easton and Ward), N. W. Thompson, O. H. Brandt, H. G. Learned.

SEELEY CALLS TO CAMPERS.

The city playground department announced yeserday that Camp Seeley, where a large number of people from Los Angeles have spent their summer vacation, was still open for reservations and will be available for vacationists for about three weeks more. The camp will close about September 27 and reopen June 1, next year.

Because of the insufficient registration for the remainder of the season it was announced that Camp Radford would be closed to vacationists from yesterday. A number of persons who wanted to go to Radford have been given reservations at Camp Seeley instead. All reseravtions for Camp Radford from September 8 to September 20 have been transferred to Seeley and efforts are being made to make that camp a lively place for the remaining three weeks of the season.

The playground department announces that reservations for Camp Seeley may be made still at room 205 Normal Hill Center. It was stated that there were a number of small groups at the camp who were thoroughly enjoying their vacations and that it was expected a large number of persons from the city would take advantage of the last three weeks for which Camp Seeley is to remain open.

LIGHT-POWER WAR REVIVED.

City Parallels Lines it was Authorized to Buy.

Three Separate Services; Yet One is Ample.

May Ask State Board to Check Economic Waste.

Readopting the policy which the Federal fuel officials condemned some months ago the Public Service Commission has again started to parallel the distributing lines of the private electric companies. Through the refusal of a number of concerns on East Twelfth street and Central avenue to take municipal power it became known yesterday that the expensive paralleling "war" is on again in earnest.

The latest paralleling on the part of the city is occuring on Fourteenth and Naomi street, three blocks west of Central, and from Fourteenth and Central to Sixteenth and Central. In this district both the Southern California Edison and the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Company now have lines. With the city lines in that section there will be three distributing lines where one could serve the demand.

The fact that the city recently voted $13,500,000 in power bonds to buy the Edison distributing system and claims to practically own this private company and is now in the act of paralleling a line which it claims to own, created much comment among Central-avenue property-owners yesterday.

"Isn't the city in the awkward position of paralleling its own line?" said one of the small property owners on East Twelfth street yesterday. "When their extensions are now completed they will have a complete duplication of systems in this locality. If the city takes over the Edison company the paralleling will be a complete loss."

Investigation in the theater of the paralleling "war" revealed yesterday that the following companies have notified the bureau of light and power that they will remain with the private companies: Flexo Manufacturing Company, 1320 East Twelfth street, Coca-Cola Bottling Works, 1468 South Central avenue, and the Standard Auto Body Works, 1501 Central avenue.

During the war the Federal fuel officers directed the city to stop paralleling upon the ground that it was a flagrant economic waste. Since the election of Mayor Snyder there has been practically no paralleling. It is predicted that his policy on this matter will be defined, especially in view of the fact that the bureau of light and power company is now paralleling the Edison lines, which are supposedly the property of the city.

A number of City Hall officials predicted yesterday that the State Railroad Commission may be requested to take some friendly action in the dispute in view of the recent decision in the Pasadena case wherein it was held that a municipality operating public utilities was subject to the same requirements as a private company.

POLITICS.

THE WATCHMAN.

TREND OF POLITICAL THOUGHT AND ACTION.

By the Sentry on His Beat.

A review of the Congressional situation in the eleven districts of California discloses the fact that the liveliest activities in regard to candidates, so far, are in Southern California—particularly noticeable in the Ninth and Eleventh districts.

In the First District Congressman Clarence F. Lee of Santa Rosa, Democrat, has no opposition. The same is true in the Second District, represented by Congressman John E. Raker, Democrat, of Alturas; the Third District, represented by Congressman John E. Curry, Republican, of Sacramento, and the Fourth District, with Congressman John I. Nolan, Republican, of San Francisco.

Julius Kahn, Republican Congressman for the Fifth District, and whose home town is San Francisco, is not likely to have opposition, say those who have been studying the situation, and the Republican Congressman from the Sixth District, Charles Elston, of Oakland, seems to be in the same happy position.

It is said that Congressman Henry Barbour, Republican, of Fresno, will have to meet opposition in the Seventh District, but no definite candidates are mentioned. The same is also true of Congressman Hugh S. Hersman, Democrat, of Gilroy, in the Eighth District.

That brings us down to Southern California, and the particular interest centers on the situation in the Ninth District, now represented by Charles H. Randall—Prohib-Repub-Democrat.

Randall, of course, will try for re-election; but leading Democrats of the Ninth District say they've had enough of Randallism. His particular political friends are trying to encourage the entry of various Republicans and Democrats as candidates, with the hope of splitting up the Randall opposition at the primaries, so that Randall may again land the nomination. They evidently would like to create such a situation as existed when Flowers, Regan, Odell and Mushet were all in the field against Randall, and no compromise could be reached

So far, it seems that Randall, Ralph L. Criswell, Jonathan S. Dodge and Henry S. Wright may be in the field, with others to hear from. Mattison B. Jones has been in the list of possible candidates discussed recently.

In the Tenth District no opposition has developed to the return of Congressman H. Z. Osborne; there has been some desultory talk of Martin Mekins as a Democratic candidate, but that's as far as it has gone.

The Eleventh District is the largest in California. It includes the counties of San Diego, Imperial, Riverside, San Bernardino, Orange, Inyo and Mono. Congressman Kettner has announced that he will not be a candidate for re-election. Those "mentioned" are G. Aubrey Davison of San Diego, who was director-general of the San Diego Exposition and is now chairman of the State War Savings Committee, a close personal friend of Congressman Kettner and of McAdoo; Hugh L. Dickson, an attorney of San Bernardino, and Lou Barrows, postmaster of San Diego and former newspaper man. In all probability, a San Diegan will win the nomination, as the preponderance of voting strength lies in that end of the district.

Where the Clans Meet.

Los Angeles has its district meeting places for the war horses of politics. Down at the Hoffman Cafe there's almost a daily luncheon session of rock-ribbed Democrats, who fix up the affairs of State, elect Congressmen and such, just like that. Over at the City Club the Progressive wing of Republicans sighs over the name of Hi Johnson, holds lovefeasts and engages in bouquet-tossing contests, and in the dining-room at Al Levy's the old-time Republicans hold forth.

Absolutely Nonpartisan.

Especial pains have been taken to impress upon all concerned that the forthcoming visit of President Wilson and his party has absolutely no party significance. With the hope of winning a still stronger support of Republicans, Democrats, Prohibitionists, Socialists and all other classes of citizens to the plan for a League of Nations, President Wilson has undertaken the present speaking tour. From the initial steps, State and local committees have been impressed with the nonpartisan aspect that is to be given the President's visit at each stopping place. On the Los Angeles reception committee appear side by side the names of Joe Crail, Republican committeeman, and F. Ray Groves, Democratic State secretary. All other political elements are represented in the committee's personnel.

Supervisoral Material.

Contingent upon Supervisor Jonathan S. Dodge becoming a candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress in the Ninth District, there'll be a lively scramble for the nomination for County Supervisor from the Fifth Supervisoral District.

Edward ("Teddy") Zehner of Pasadena, for the past two years under-Sheriff and former manager of Mr. Dodge's campaign, is likely to be a candidate. William Osterholt, a deputy sheriff, may also be in the running, and there are numerous others who could be prevailed upon without great effort to place themselves in the hands of their friends.

Democrats Make Plans.

Announcement is made by F. Ray Groves, secretary of the Democratic State Central Committee, that Democratic candidates will appear in every Assembly and Senatorial district in California at the next primary election. Mr. Groves will start soon after the beginning of the new year, on a visit to every one of the ninety Assembly districts and forty Senatorial districts, to line up the Democratic contingents for support of their party candidates.

They Saw the Light.

An incident that has not appeared in the public prints occurred the other day at the county capitol, and brought about an "understanding" between the Board of Supervisors and the County Civil Service Commission.

The board decided that there should be a change in salary of a county employee and took action accordingly. The Civil Service Commission informed the board that changes in salaries could not be made without their approval, and that they didn't approve.

The result was that four members of the board began to ask "Why a Board of Supervisors?" and agreed, it is said, that they were about ready to declare a general vacancy in the Civil Service Commission membership and select a new commission—and the Civil Service Commission decided that, after all, it really did approve of the change in the salary in question.

Will Aid San Francisco.

I. B. Dockweiler, Democratic National Committeeman for California, will represent this State at the meeting of the Democratic National Committee at Atlantic City on the 26th and 27th insts. At that time decision will be made as to the meeting place of the next national Democratic convention, and Mr. Dockweiler will urge the claims of San Francisco. He will be backed by the party adherents in ten Western States, it is said, and Southern California Bourbons will warmly support those of the Bay City territory in their efforts to get the convention.

An offer of $100,000 will be made, it is said, and local Democrats have agreed to help their northern brethren raise this amount if the plum goes to San Francisco. Los Angeles would realize almost as much benefit from the convention being held in California as would the northern city, for the major part of the visitors would include this city in their itinerary.

The cities contending for the convention are San Francisco, Columbus, Chicago, Detroit, Baltimore and Boston. Los Angeles might have thrown its hat in the ring had it owned a convention hall of suitable proportions,' but—. Well, it's time to get busy on the convention hall idea.

Extends Its Jurisdiction.

Three public hearings and more or less valuable time of members of the City Council have been taken up during the past week on the subject of the all-American Canal for Imperial Valley. The Council has finally decided that it favors the project. That settles it. Now the Council may find time to direct its attention to straightening up the mixed affairs of the Yolo Basin Canal, or it may take a fling at providing a stable government for Mexico. Meanwhile, the Carillo-street mixup, which really is located in Los Angeles, is unsettled, as are other local affairs within its jurisdiction. Huh!

Now Comes Canned Politics.

Both Republican and Democratic parties will use canned political speeches during the next national campaign. It is proposed to secure thousands of phonographic records of speeches of leaders on political questions and to turn these loose on isolated communities off the track of the professional spellbinders. Even the "May I not" speeches may be heard at the cross-roads hall during the forthcoming year.

Lieut.-Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr.

WARM WELCOME FOR TEDDY, JR.

Thousands Want to Hear Col. Roosevelt's Address Here.

Ex-President's Son to be in Los Angeles Saturday.

First Choice of Seats for All Returned Soldiers.

The coming of Lieut.-Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., to Los Angeles next Saturday has created such a demand from the public for admittance to the big mass meeting at Shrine Auditorium, where he will speak, that announcement was made yesterday that no persons, other than returned service men and patriotic women's organizations will be invited.

Though the coming of "Teddy, Jr." has aroused keen interest among the local admirers of his famous father, the reception committee of the Los Angeles Chapter of the American Legion, which is to conduct his welcome to this city, has ruled that the 30,030 returned soldiers and sailors in Los Angeles and Southern California will be given the preference of hearing Col Roosevelt speak. As Shrine Auditorium only seats about 7000, it is feared that many service men will be turned away.

Long Beach has asked Walter Brinkop, chairman of the local chapter of the American Legion, for 200 seats in the auditorium. The Society of Mothers of Sons in Service has already been granted 100 seats. Other women's organizations which were foremost in patriotic campaigns have been invited.

At present Col. Roosevelt, is speeding through the Middle West on a lightning speaking tour. He spoke yesterday in St. Paul. Before arriving in this city he will appear in the following cities: Lincoln and Omaha, Neb., September 4; Des Moines, Iowa, September 5; Atchison, Kan., September 6; Wichita, Kan., September 7; Topeka, Kan., September 8; Denver, Colo., September 9; Pueblo, Colo., September 10; Los Angeles, September 13.

Col. Roosevelt, is touring the West in the interest of the American Legion, of which he is a member of the Joint National Executive Committee. As a result of his tour it is expected that the membership of the American Legion will be increased to one million before the first national convention is held in Minneapolis on November 10, 11 and 12.

The son of the late President, according to his friends in this city, possesses a vigorous personality almost equal to his father's. He just recently closed a noteworthy military career. He went overseas as a captain in the First Division, was gassed on May 27, 1917 and wounded by a machine bun bullet on July 20, 1918. He was later promoted to lieutenant-colonel and commanded a regiment in Meuse-Argonne battle.

Arriving in this city he will be met by a delegation from the American Legion and a committee of prominent citizens. He will be escorted to the Los Angeles Athletic Club for luncheon. Following a trip to the beaches and the film studios he will be a guest of honor at a dinner at the California Club. In the evening he will address the mass meeting at Shrin Auditorium.

RAZOR AS ARGUMENT BARRED BY JUSTICE.

COURT HOLDS ENGAGEMENT NO CLAIM ON WOMAN; MAN TOLD TO KEEP AWAY.

Instead of putting him under bonds to keep the peace, Justice Forbes yesterday lectured William Goodwin, a shipyard worker, directed him to move to Long Beach and keep away from Mrs. Bessie Riggle of 1518 East Washington street. Mr. Goodwin said he was engaged to Mrs. Riggle. He promised to carry out the court's instructions, however.

The story as told in Justice Forbes's court yesterday showed that Mr. Goodwin threatened Mrs. Riggle. He was calling upon her, and when the telephone rang she answered, but would not tell him who had called. Mrs. Riggle said that Mr. Goodwin was angry and excited and drew a razor, saying he would put her "where Freda Lesser was." Thoroughly alarmed, she said, she ran out of the house and summoned help. Mrs. Mary Lamacher, and her daughter, Miss Kate Lamacher, responded and succeeded in quieting Mr. Goodwin.

Subsequently, while another man was calling on Mrs. Riggle, Mr. Goodwin came. When she denied him entrance, Mrs. Riggle said, he broke in a window. He was arrested for disturbing the peace.

To Mr. Goodwin's assertion that he was engaged to Mrs. Riggle, the court answered him he had no claim on her. It is a woman's privilege, said Justice Forbes, to change her mind if she wishes.

WALNUT GROWERS TO MEET WITH EXPERTS.

SPECIAL LOCAL PROBLEMS TO BE CONSIDERED AT VAN NUYS GATHERING.

The walnut growers of the San Fernando Valley are to meet at the Van Nuys High School Tuesday morning, the 16th inst., under the auspices of the Van Nuys Farm Bureau Center. Farm Advisor Hodgson announces a good programme is being prepared. It is expected that Prof. Ralph E. Smith of the college of agriculture at Berkeley, probably the best informed walnut expert in the State, and Dr. L. D. Batchelor of the citrus experiment station, in charge of the research activities for walnut culture, will be present. The Walnut Growers' Association will be represented by H. H. Warner and members of the field department.

Opportunity will be afforded for questions and answers regarding all phases of walnut culture.

In the afternoon there will be a tour of the walnut section around Van Nuys, to study conditions in the field. Soil moisture borings will be made and various other problems will be discussed.

The Van Nuys section is rapidly becoming a walnut district, several hundred acres having been planted this year. Many new problems are being met and the meeting is designed to put growers in touch with experts to help find solutions. Everybody is invited.

HIBERNIAN PICNIC.

Baby Show, Athletic Contests and Dancing in All-Day Programme.

Babies and athletic contests will be the headline features at the Admission Day celebration and reunion picnic next Tuesday at Selig Zoo Park by the Ancient Order of Hibernians. The baby show, divided into classes, will start at 11 o'clock, with prizes for the winners.

In the afternoon programme of sports both Gaelic and modern games will be played. There will be a Gaelic football game and a baseball game between the Loretto Club and the A.O.H. Club. A lov-cup will be awarded the winning team.

Teams from the Los Angeles shipyard and the A.O.H. will stage a tug-of-war contest. There will be foot races for both women and men, with prizes donated by Los Angeles merchants. Dancing will be begun at 2 o'clock and continue until late in the evening, with a Gaelic dancing contest and a prize waltz.

It is the intention of the committee to seek information from every available source in regard to the supply of food in this city and surrounding towns.

Notices will be sent to persons whom it is intended to interview, and if they fail to respond to the summons, they will be served with subpoenas out of the office of the United States District Attorney.

The result of the inquiry will be utilized, if necessary, for the prosecution of food profiteers under the proposed amendment of the pure food law now pending in Congress, giving a "kick" in the section against food hoarding and profiteering, making violators of the statute subject to a fine of not more than [illegible] and imprisonment in the penitentiary, or both, upon conviction.

Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday will be taken up with hearings of the representatives of the local packing houses, twelve in number, it being the plan to hear three witnesses each day. These firms have expressed willingness to comply in every way with the request of the Fair Price Committee, and furnish it with all information in their possession in regard to the amount of meat in cold storage, and the amount needed under ordinary circumstances to supply the demand for such food.

Then will come retail meat men, dealers in shoes, dry goods, commission men, managers and owners of tailoring establishments, and persons who control the fish market and fix prices. The inquiry will cover not only the city proper, but outlying districts, it being alleged that under some circumstances, it is necessary to have higher prices in the suburban shops than in the municipality. [illegible] men will be questioned concerning costs and selling prices.

It is the intention of the Fair Price Committee, at the close of the hearings to fix a schedule of prices to be asked for hundreds of articles in daily use in the family, and these figures will be the basis upon which possible future prosecutions will be made.

In addition to the Los Angeles committee it is intended to organize similar bodies in Fresno, San Diego, Bakersfield, Brawley, El Centro, and other points. There is already such a body in Santa Barbara, waiting for the action of Congress to complete the pending food bill before beginning active work.

The raisin and bean industry, will also be put under the dissecting knife. It is alleged that large quantities of both raisins and beans have been stored, and in behalf of the growers it is alleged that they are being held by private growers for the reason that the current prices, especially in the case of beans, has not been such as to warrant the sale of the harvest, for the returns would not be sufficient to pay the cost of production. Whether this is true, or whether the beans are being held by brokers to corner the market and force up the prices, the committee will endeavor to determine.

In Fresno county an effort will be made to ascertain whether the increase is due to natural conditions, or the work of those interested in maintaining high prices. The bean and raisin investigation will be comprehensive, and many witnesses will be summoned.

The sessions of the Fair Price Committee will b open, and shorthand reports of the testimony taken by stenographers. Open publicity will mark the deliberations of the body, to the end that the public generally may be informed in regard to the true food situation in Southern California, and especially Los Angeles and its immediate vicin-

Imminent Airplane Agriculture.

"Whoa gol dern yeh!"
PLOWING
SAVE THE HOUSE
WATERING and SUB SOILING BY AIR PLANE.

What May be Commonplace Soon.

HOOK AIRPLANE TO PLOW, IS TRACTOR MEN'S SHOW STUNT.

"Hiram, put an ad in The Times for another air hand; one just quit the farm because our plane would not cultivate fast enough."

It may be that the above message will be wafted from the door of the farmhouse in the near future. For Los Angeles will be the first city to try out airplane agriculture, and the progressive farmers of Southern California are always in the procession for improvement in farm methods.

At the fourth annual Southern California tractor demonstration, to be held opposite De Mille Field, Hollywood, September 16 to 21, inclusive, planes from the adjoining field will be seen engaged in farming stunts, according to present plans. How the machines will work hooked to plows, harrows and seeders is a matter for much conjecture; but the practicability of the planes in farm work is not a worry to the birdmen. They are reported eager to try for the first positions of air farm hands. Every year the Traction Engine and Implement Dealers' Association of Southern California dishes up at its tractor shows something new in farming, and this airplane-plowing thing will be it this year. There will be 200 tractors still on the job, however, to take up the work of cultivation if the plane lies down.

But it is not believed the plane's first experience in farming will be a "harrowing" tale. The aviators are known for precision in bombing. They can spot a tree hole every time with a half stick of dynamite and blast for planting.

Great idea—send up an airplane with a few sacks of seed a mile high, and dump the contents over the field; result, seed well broadcast over a half section in two jerks of a goat's tail.

Another one—when rain refuses to fall, send up the air hand with a few barrels of water; take out the plugs at 5000 feet and sprinkle the crops in one operation.

And for pulling stumps, heading grain and plowing an acre of ground in a minute or so, the plane may be given the palm. Why have horses tramp down the growing crops when the plane will cultivate the fields, riding far above the waving corn?

It may be expected, of course, that the farm aviator will open the hangar doors a few hours later in the morning than the farm teamster gets to the barn. But for bringing in the cows in a hurry, or taking the hired girl to town for a sack of flour in a breath of time, you may have to hand it to the farm plane.

FOOD PRICES UP A NOTCH.

Despite One-fourth Increase, City is Still Below National Average.

The total retail cost of a unit quantity of forty-one principal articles of food in Los Angeles is still below the average, according to computations made from the latest report of the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics. # CITY HOLDS PRIMACY FOR PLACING WORKERS

EIGHTY-FOUR HUNDRED GET JOBS LAST MONTH—CALL FOR SKILLED IS KEEN.

Los Angeles has added to its many other distinctions the honor of placing more returned service men and others in jobs than any other city west of the Mississippi River. Last month the public employment bureau in this city found good jobs for 8428 persons. Notwithstanding the many places filled, there yet remain a large number for which the State agency here can find no one quite qualified. This is a surprise to many who fancy that the great and constant influx of population should yield a great and varied supply of good workers in all lines. It is here that the State maintains the largest of its nine offices.

In the men's division at 206 Court street are orders for twenty carpenters, paying from $5 to $5.50 per day; five carpenters, out of town, $4 and room; two auto body builders, paying the scale; two cabinet makers at $6, and two plasterers, paying the scale; one engineer, must have city license, $100 per month; two washermen, out of town, $120 and room, and fifty marine pipe fitters at 80 cents per hour, out of town.

In the commercial and household divisions, 201 South Broadway, are places for twenty women at general housework, $50 per month; one at $60 and two at $65; also several first-class opportunities for women cooks with wages ranging from $50 to $65 per month; several women stenographers, typists, book-keepers, cashiers, check writers, with wages ranging from $60 to $90. In the way of male office help this office could place several stenographers, adding machine operators, comptometer operators, stock clerks, one Elliott-Fisher biller with salaries ranging from $70 to $100 per month; also one kitchen efficiency man with experience in buying, $100 to $200 per month. There are also many orders for grocery men, checkers, parcel post men, salesmen, delicatessen men, fruit and vegetable men, and many stock, candy and bakery clerks are wanted. This office has never been able to meet the demand for office boys, the jobs paying $40 to $60 per month. This office also has one order for a motorcycle collector at $20, gas and oil.

O'BRYAN CASE WEIRD TANGLE.

Fraud Charges Grow Out of Colonizing Scheme.

Slander Suit Features New Ponce de Leon Hunt.

Tropical Romance Versus the Law's Cold Water.

time there was filed in San Francisco a suit for $50,000 damages by Mrs. Ena M. Harper against Mrs. Stacia Penn, in which Mrs. Harper charges that Mrs. Penn said that Mrs. Harper was a "vampire," and Mrs. Harper further charges that Mrs. Penn is "designing by trick and device to secure control of all of the assets of the O'Bryan y Compania."

Mrs. Penn, who lives at 2111 West Thirtieth street, this city, said yesterday:

"I have not yet been served with the papers in Mrs. Harper's suit, but I shall certainly fight it to the limit, as the statements she makes against me are absolutely false. My connection with the Palmito del Verde Island colony promotion covered a period of several years when I interested many people in the project. I believed in it then. I believe in it now. The fact that the colonists have appointed me a member of their committee shows that they believe I am doing everything I can to protect their interests.

"I hope that Mrs. Harper prosecutes her slander suit, for it will bring her into court, and that is what the colonists desire. Her part in bringing about the present status of the Palmito del Verde Island colony will make interesting reading. But I do not believe that she will come into court, as I have not been served with papers. I think her suit and Mr. O'Bryan's suit were bluffs to frighten the colonists from fighting for their rights, and the return of their money. But the colonists are determined to go through to a finish and are not to be frightened."

FRAUD IS CHARGED.

Attorney Dunnigan, counsel for the protective committee, elected by the colonists, said:

"In our evidence laid before the District Attorney we showed that Mr. O'Bryan claimed to own land on the island, instead of which he had in fact only a selling arrangement with Mrs. Ponce de Leon and children. This is where the fraud came in, for the colonists paid in their money to Mr. O'Bryan in good faith, thinking he was the owner of the land. Mrs. De Leon is most kindly disposed toward the colonists who have paid in their money and we are arranging to secure titles direct from her when the sales are completed through the receiver. In the meantime, the District Attorney's officers are looking in San Francisco for Mr. O'Bryan, but so far have been unable to find him. When they do, the colonists look forward to the day in the criminal court when Mr. O'Bryan will be asked to explain what has become of the $50,000 he received in payment from the colonists.

"We also charge that Mr. O'Bryan has endangered the claims of the colonists by defaulting his payments to the Ponce de Leon family through the Nogales bank, and that further, he has transferred his rights under his selling agreement with the Ponce de Leon family to a steamboat captain. Further, we charge that Mr. O'Bryan did not use the money he received for the land to build roads, ice houses, a hotel and other improvements on the island, as he promised, the whole constituting fraud under which the warrant was issued."

ATTRACTED COLONISTS.

The project of Americans buying land on Palmito Del Verde Island appears first to have been heard of in Los Angeles in 1915 when Mr. O'Bryan announced that he had made arrangements with Mrs. Ponce de Leon of Los Angeles, owner, through ancient title to the island, for the sale of 30,000 acres of the island land.

The proposition looked good to the Los Angeles people who were approached. Ponce de Leon! The very name brought to mind the Spanish explorer of that name who searched for the "fountain of youth."

The island is five miles wide and twenty-five miles long, and lies off the coast of the Mexican state of Sinaloa, forty miles south of the city of Mazatlan. By boat the island is eighty hours' journey from Los Angeles Harbor.

In the prospectuses which were issued over the name of Mr. O'Bryan, whose offices were then in the Citizens' National Bank Building, it was set forth that on the island could be most profitably raised all tropical and subtropical fruits, grains and products, and the climate was described as balmy and healthful, with fine fishing and delightful bathing. The colonists who have visited the island declare that these statements are correct, and most of them are continuing their payments to Receiver Fred G. Smith. The Colonists' Committee has entered into negotiations with Mrs. Ponce de Leon to secure title through her to the land, original payments for which they say they made to Mr. O'Bryan.

Among the most prominent of the colonists are W. S. Wilsie of El Centro, W. W. Masten of San Diego, Daniel Stone of the Van Nuys Building, Hudson Fox Blackman of San Gabriel, A. A. Sturges, I. H. Johnstone, George Meyer and J. W. Long, all of whom were made defendants in Mr. O'Bryan's $100,000 damage suit. In this he claims that he is the real owner and holder of all of the shares of the O'Bryan y Compania, although he says but ten shares stand in his name; eighty-nine shares stand in the name of his wife, Lliore K. O'Bryan, and one share in the name of Thomas B. Barton. In his suit Mr. O'Bryan charges that the defendants were responsible for securing a complaint here asking for his arrest on a felony charge, and says that they "schemed and planned" to ruin him.

PASADENA CAPITALIST WINS JUDGMENT THROUGH LAW OF LIMITATIONS.

A judgment in favor of Mills W. Barse of Orange Grove avenue, Pasadena, given by Judge Myers yesterday in a suit by George W. Saul to enforce a New York judgment of $125,515 against Mr. Barse, revives a litigation of many years. Mr. Saul, a broker, is now said to be at Seattle. Mr. Barse is a retired capitalist, who is said to have recently inherited a part of the estate of his sister, the late Mrs. Frances B. le Fevre.

Nearly a quarter of a century ago, Mr. Saul and Mr. Barse were associated in dealing in railroad stocks. They entered into a syndicate to purchase control of a Southern railroad, which subsequently proved a losing venture.

Because Mr. Barse, as trustee, had not kept an accurate account of Mr. Saul's stock, an effort was made to hold him liable for its alleged value. The litigation got into the New York courts in 1909, where judgment was given and an appeal taken to the New York Court of Appeals which affirmed the judgment and the case was then taken to the Appeal Division of the Supreme Court of New York.

In 1910 Mr. Barse removed to California. When suit to enforce the judgment was filed here, he set up the statute of limitations. Judge Myers held yesterday that the right to sue here had lapsed and gave judgment against Mr. Saul and in favor of Mr. Barse. Mr. Saul contended that the decision of the Appeal Division of the New York Supreme Court was an independent judgment.

MATTERS OF MOMENT BEFORE SUPERVISORS.

WILL BE ASKED HURRY UP TO HARBOR BOULEVARD, HEAR ALAMITOS BAY KICK.

Three important matters will be considered by the Board of Supervisors tomorrow. The O. T. Johnson estate has asked the Supervisors to divert the Flood Control channel to a ditch along the highway instead of passing through the estate near Gardena. The Chamber of Commerce of San Pedro will take up with the board the speedy construction of the Harbor boulevard, and the citizens of the Alamitos Bay district will protest against the Alamitos Sugar factory dumping waste water from the plant into the ocean at that point.

The Harbor boulevard will cost about $450,000. It will be twenty-four feet wide, built on a granite base eight inches thick with an eight-inch concrete surface. The road is intended to stand the heaviest truck traffic. The San Pedro Chamber of Commerce wants the county to use as a contribution $213,000 put in this year's levy, the balance of the cost to be paid by assessment. If this is done, the road can be finished this year. Otherwise, it will not be constructed for several years.

The Alamitos Sugar factory has received permits from Orange county and the War Department and is now seeking a permit from this county to construct the pipe line. It declares the waste water will be purified before it is dumped into the ocean, and that there will be no nuisance.

It is said the outlet for the pipe was originally intended to be at Seal Beach, but for a strip of land 100 feet wide a price of $150,000 was demanded. The company refused to pay this price. It proposes to carry the pipe under the ocean a distance of 550 feet.

PLUMBERS' CERTIFICATES.

The plumbers' examining board of Los Angeles has received renewal certificates from the State Board of Health. Plumbers who hold certificates that have expired may apply to Charles H. Swinnerton, secretary of the County Board of Health, 109 South Broadway, and secure renewals on payment of a $2 fee. Applications for the next State examination, which will be held the first week in October, also can be obtained from Mr. Swinnerton.

SUMMER COOLER; AIR STAGNANT.

Weather Man Also Says Fog is Unusually Frequent.

Balloon Trips Reveal Oddly-Fixed Wind Movements.

Exact Direction of Gas-Bag Trips Easily Forecast.

The average temperature this summer, as compared with last, has been a little lower, states Dr. Ford A. Carpenter, chief of the Los Angeles Weather Bureau. The extremes of temperature, which have been so marked this summer, were not so noticeable last year and there has been more for this summer than for many seasons past.

Summer in Los Angeles begins during the first ten days of June, said Dr. Carpenter, and ends during the first ten days of October, giving a summer period of four months. Taking as a criterion an average temperature of 66 degrees, the warmest weather during this four-month period occurs during the first ten days of August, with a temperature of about 72 degrees. From that time until the end of summer, the temperature gradually decreases.

The present summer has been notable for the unusually large number of mornings with fog, which has kept down the average temperature. June 23 was the hottest day of the summer, with a temperature over 90 degrees, while the coolest day was July 6, with the thermometer showing 65 degrees.

Taking the summer as a whole, the temperature has been somewhat below average, particularly since the end of July. The cause of this departure from normal is the stagnant condition of the air, as far as Los Angeles is concerned. Los Angeles has been under the influence of the ocean the greater part of the summer, which accounts for the low temperature and fogs.

Since the first balloon flight on June 18, when Col. M. J. Mygatt, commander of the Balloon School at Arcadia, Lieut. Cathcart, Lieut. Lloyde and Dr. Carpenter made a study of air conditions, there has been no change in the structure of the air conditions observable, although Dr. Carpenter has made several observation flights since that time, remaining in the air thirteen hours. During June, July and August the air currents have remained so uniform that it has been possible to go to any place in Southern California by balloon, the direction of flight being determined by air currents at different levels. This condition, says Dr. Carpenter, gives Southern California pre-eminence over any other place in the United States for aircraft cruising.

A remarkable feat was accomplished by the use of these meterological data when a balloon commanded by Col. Mygatt drifted to San Fernando with a ground wind, rose to a height of 7000 feet, and drifted back exactly to the starting point. Dr. Carpenter believes this could be accomplished in no other place in the United tSates.

SHE WAS THROUGH.

Husband, Who Said Wife had Violent Temper, Gets Divorce.

In addition to being about ten years older than her husband, Lillian B. Fuller was said to have a violent temper and the combination, according to Francis C. Fuller, brought about differences, resulting in a divorce suit. Yesterday Judge Crail granted Mr. Fuller a decree. The evidence showed that the couple lived together about six months. Mr. Fuller said he failed to effect a reconciliation. His wife told him she was through and would not live with him any longer, he said.

LOCAL FIGHTER IN UNIQUE ROLE

Only Los Angeles Marine Hit at Chateau Thierry.

Returns Home Minus Leg, but Chirpy as a Cricket.

Fought in Five Big Battles; Was Wounded Twice.

Minus a leg, but as chirpy as a cricket, Joseph W. Roop, so far as known the only Los Angeles marine wounded at Chateau Thierry, has just returned to his home after eighteen months' service overseas and several months spent in hospitals in France and the United States. He was twice wounded, once at Belleau Wood, near Chateau Thierry, and the second time in the battle of the Argonne.

Roop, a private in the Fifth Regiment of Marines, the regiment that distinguished itself in action at Belleau Wood in June, 1918, has been in the service since July, 1917. In spite of the fact that he spent much time in the hospitals on account of his wounds, he participated in four out of the five major operations accredited to the Second Division.

HELPS ROLL BACK HUNS.

Private Roop was with the Second Division from the time it went into action near Verdun in April, 1918, until the last big engagement of the war, the battle of the Argonne. He went with the Second Division when it started its long trip from the Verdun sector to the Cantigny sector, to the north, at the time when the First Division was engaged in a bitter fight there. Before the Second Division reached Cantigny it was turned back and sent to stop the German advance through Chateau Thierry toward Paris. With his division, Roop went through the worst of the fighting at Chateau Thierry, taking part in the attacks of June 3 and June 4, when the Germans were driven out of Belleau Wood. On June 17 he received his first wound, when he was hit in the right foot by a bullet.

After a month in the hospital Roop rejoined his division, then billeted in a rest area. Soon after he returned the division again went into action in the St. Mihiel attack. After a brief rest the division was sent forward to help in the Meuse-Argonne offensive. On October 4, five days after the beginning of the battle, Roop was wounded a second time; in the heavy fighting at Mont Blanc he received a machine-gun bullet in the right leg, below the knee.

THREE OPERATIONS.

At the base hospital at Vichy a portion of his leg was amputated, and a few weeks later he was removed to the hospital at Savonay. There a second operation was performed, and another amputation took place. On March 20 he sailed for the United States, landing at Newport News. At the hospital at Portsmouth, where he was sent, a third amputation was considered necessary to save his life, and the leg was cut off just below the knee.

Private Roop has not yet been discharged from the marines. He expects to go to San Diego in a few days, where he will receive another physical examination, and get fitted with an artificial leg, and then he will receive his discharge. "And, oh boy, I'll be glad to get it," he exclaimed. After his discharge, he will return to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Roop, 4601 Sunset boulevard, where he will remain until his plans for the future are settled.

EXPLORE FOR OIL IN DEATH VALLEY EDGE.

PROSPECTOR FINDS INDICATIONS IN SHADOW MOUNTAIN REGION.

Exploitation of the Shadow Mountain region, on the edge of Death Valley in San Bernardino county, will be started within a few days when a train of trucks will transport supplies and equipment for the drilling of five oil wells. A party of six men, headed by Percy McCabe, a miner of Silver Lake, has prepared the supply train in automobiles to explore the virgin region. McCabe has prospected for gold and silver ore for ten years in the desert and returned to Los Angeles recently with the statement that strong indications of oil are found on the edge of Death Valley. The five oil wells are to be drilled on property owned by McCabe and operations, he said, will begin as soon as a camp is established.

No. 820—LAZY EYES

UNIVERSITY STAFF GETS NOTED TEACHER.

MISS NELSON ADDED TO THE U. OF S. C. FACULTY OF THREE HUNDRED.

Dr. George Finley Bovard, president of the University of Southern California, yesterday announced the appointment of Miss Candis Nelson to be assistant in the department of education and psychology at the university, where she will also act as assistant dean of women.

Miss Nelson is widely known as an educator, having been connected with the department of education in the University of Dakota. She had charge of the training department of the State Normal School at Madison, S. D., and was well known to W. Franklin Jones, who has recently come to the U.S.C. from the University of South Dakota. Dr. Jones is dean of the school of education and will be assisted by Miss Nelson.

Miss Nelson is well known as a public speaker and will become identified with women's clubs and parent-teacher associations.

Mrs. Margetta Mackey, who has served as the dean of women for the past three years in the university, has resigned that position to take up other educational work, and for the coming year Miss Myrtle Emily Biles, who has served as assistant dean, will be acting dean of women. Miss Biles has been assistant professor of languages, and will also be connected with the English department.

The announcement of the appointment of Miss Nelson to the faculty is in line with the general enlargement of the university, the faculty the coming year to include 300 professors.

CALLS HER RECREANT.

While Elmer L. Johnston was fighting in France, his wife, Edna Johnston, it is alleged in Mr. Johnston's suit for divorce filed yesterday, was associating with another man. Mr. Johnston enlisted in the army four days before the United States entered the war and he participated in the battles of St. Mihiel, Belleau Wood and the Argonne.

COAST GAS MEN WILL SWAP EXPERIENCES.

BIG CONVENTION HERE WILL HEAR PRACTICAL TALKS ABOUT THE INDUSTRY.

The twenty-sixth annual convention of the Pacific Coast Gas Association will be held in Los Angeles September 16 to 19 inclusive.

This association was organized July 11, 1893, and numbers among its members all the prominent men connected with the gas industry on the Pacific Coast. John D. Kuster, of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, San Jose, Cal., is president.

A convention is held once each year, and this year's event will be termed a "VICTORY" Convention, the meeting last year having been postponed on account of war conditions.

The fact that the association will convene in Los Angeles this year is due in large measure to the efforts and personal invitation extended by W. B. Cline, president Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, one of the most prominent gas men on this coast.

The Alexandria Hotel will be headquarters and many interesting and valuable papers concerning the gas industry will be presented. Delegates from all sections of the State and as far North as Oregon and Washington will be in attendance.

Autumn Urges a Warmer Intimacy Between People and Their Homes

WHEN a nation is covered with the clouds of war, eyes that have loved sunshine are forced to adapt themselves to the darker views of life.

And even when the storm has spent itself, the traces of cloud that are left slip in front of the sun sometimes and hide it for a little time.

So it has been with our country in the ten months just gone by.

Naturally the vision of a people cannot readjust its focus INSTANTLY to see and understand the meaning of the clearing sky.

But now the clouds are scattering fast and the whole sky will soon, we hope, be blue and radiant.

It is good to see the sun and to be confident that its rays of Optimism and Prosperity will put the fog and clouds effectively to rout.

—and this store of Barker Bros.' brims and bubbles now with delightful means to that end!

There is always much "changing around" and "fixing up" to be done in a home when summer flies out the window and autumn walks in the door.

Furnishings that were hardly noticed when you were "vacationing" most of the time and had only a sort of "nodding acquaintance" with your home may reveal themselves to be very dissatisfying when you enter into the "bosom friendship" with your dwelling that autumn and winter always bring.

And it is a stimulating experience (so hundreds tell us every day) to come to a store like this, where everything is so beautiful and so many things are modestly priced.

The enthusiasm and knowledge and sympathy and skill of Barker Bros.' entire force of Home-Decorators and "Assistant Buyers" yours, for your home's sake—this September!

Your Windows "Tell the World"

No matter how little you may care for what "the world" says about you, there is certainly a satisfaction in knowing that your windows are dressed in a way that will give pleasure to passersby, afford visitors a charming "first impression" and withal express truly your appreciation of the beautiful, your refinement and your good taste.

So we delight in inviting you to let us help you make the most of every window in your home. Never were there so many original ideas for effective drapery—never such a very wealth of wonderful materials—never so intelligent and well-informed a staff of counselors as there are here, this fall, at Barker Bros.'!

Just now our large center window is eloquent of the satisfying harmony that may be attained in the assembling of curtains, wall paper and floor-coverings.

Advance arrivals in new Cedar Chests for holiday giving are already on display in our popular Drapery Department.

Behold a Symphony in Perfect Curves!

One cannot be mild and temperate in describing or even mentioning this exquisite new dark walnut and cane Dining-room Suite.

It is so ineffably graceful, with its undulating, serpentine lines—and, for all its richness, so restfully restrained!

The triumph of this pattern is that it succeeds in expressing the French feeling (which, as you know, is the mark of the elite in this era of furniture design) and does so without committing any extravagance of decoration or in any way offending the modern taste for quiet dignity.

There is just enough carving to give zest to the design. The Linen Chest is low enough to oblige as serving table. The Silver Cabinet is worth an ode to tell its charms. All the pieces, indeed, are interesting and beautiful and yet the price of the suite, complete, is by no means high.

We've put this Dining-room Suite in a conspicuous window, in order that everybody might have the pleasure of seeing it while strolling Broadway today or shopping downtown tomorrow.

In its details are preserved all the important points distinguishing the original design. And the result is a degree of CHARACTER not often achieved in furniture that many families can afford to buy.

THE STORY OF A MIRACLE MAID.

How the Comedy Star Learns the Way to Tears.

Betty Compson Tells Why Jazz Peaches are Hit.

Reflections of New Sparkler on Films and Things.

BY GRACE KINGSLEY.

Lovely Betty Compson, the miracle maiden of "The Miracle Man!" The same Betty Compson who used to romp through Al Christie comedies ,for us, now becomes one of the sensations of the picture world because of her excellent acting in George Loane Tucker's senationally successful screen adaptation of George M. Cohan's play, which all the picture directors in filmland are crowding to the Kinema these days to see!

I wonder how the comedy makers like it—all their prettiest peaches parking their professional bathing suits and donning the "misery cloaks" of the serious drama! For where formerly flourished the toothwash smile now reigns the w.k. pearly tear!

I think the exodus began with Gloria Swanson, who used to cavort in Keystone comedies and who now emotes under the Lasky banner; then Clarine Seymour, who used to dazzle in Pathe fun features until she refused to use her face as a piecatcher, was discovered by D. W. Griffith, after which she rang the bell as Cutey Beautiful in "The Girl Who Stayed at Home."

Next somebody made up his mind that Mary Thurman, one of the loveliest misses who ever inhabited a bathing suit or tossed pies about, would equally adorn the serious drama, and so Miss Thurman is now with the Jesse D. Hampton Productions. Alice Lake used to be the come-on kid in Fatty Arbuckle's comedies until Maxwell Karger decided one day, out on the Metro lot, that Miss Lake was really a dramatic genius, since which she has had only one or two lapses into comedy, and is now apparently a permanent fixture in the tear-getters.

Billie Rhodes used to scamper through the Christies until she got her chance to star, when she wept her way through the "Blue Bonnet" and into our hearts, and next Bebe Daniels was snatched from the thrilling exigencies of Rolin comedies for the Cecil de Mille specials.

And now Betty Compson, whom we used to think of merely as a pretty doll, comes out and bursts upon us in all the perfection of a vividly expressive, subtle, finished and colorful emotional performance as Rose, in "The Miracle Man," and we gasp, "Can this be really she who used to cutey around through Christie Comedies?"

"How did it all happen?" I asked Miss Compson, the other day, out at the Brunton studio where she has another role in George Loane Tucker's new picture, as fascinating in a different way as Rose is. And by the way, Miss Compson is a lovely, unspoiled child as yet, simple, natural and unassuming, and one of the first beauties of the screen, with her violet eyes, and rose-leaf skin and hair of that bronze tint that all women dream of and none ever really achieve except those that nature wished it on, but whose most striking feature is her mouth, which, not only is beautiful, but is the most expressive on the screen with the exception of Lillian Gish's.

WHY THEY NEED 'EM.

"Well," said Miss Compson, "I want to say that I guess one reason picture makers are engaging comedy girls is because these girls have learned how to put over comedy points—and even in serious drama that's an important thing, for even serious dramas are lightened with bright comedy bits. Then a girl learns poise in comedy—and how to make the best of her good features.

"It was on the stage at Pantages that Al Christie saw me playing the violin. He sat down in front, and he sent his card around asking to talk to me. He came back and we chatted, and he said he needed a new leading woman and asked me if I was open to an engagement. I said we closed in Salt Lake the following week and thought I would like pictures. So inside a month I was playing comedy on the Christie lot."

"But before that?"

"Before that—oh, 'before that' goes away back to when I was 9 years old and began to study the violin in Salt Lake City, where I was born and where I always lived until I went into vaudeville. When I was 14 I was playing in the orchestra of a little combination vaudeville and picture house—one of those awful four-piece orchestras. One Monday morning at rehearsal an act failed to report and I got up courage to tell the manager I thought maybe I would be able to go on and take the place of the missing act. He said I might try.

"I ran home to look over my wardrobe. I hadn't a single gown that would do for the stage, and no money nor time to get one. So I had a bright idea—I'd do a street musician act in rags! I found plenty of those in the attic, and I went on that afternoon and got away with it! So I was booked up and my mother and I set out on a year's vaudeville tour. Then four years ago, Al Christie took me from the Pantages circuit and into Christie comedies.

"But I wanted to be an emotional actress, and when I had a chance to play in a serial I thought my opportunity had come. But I was awfully disappointed. All I had to be was an acrobat! After that I played a couple of rag-doll heroines—one with William Desmond and after that with Monroe Salisbury.

"THE MIRACLE MAN."

"And then came my chance in 'The Miracle Man!' I was engaged before I knew what I was going to play. When they told me it was 'The Miracle Man,' that first day out at the Brunton studio, I was so happy I didn't know what to do, but even then I had no idea the role would be such a great one, and when I found out, I gasped to myself—'However can I do it?'

"Mr. Tucker hadn't known me before and had never seen me in anything except the Christie comedies, so I don't know how he got it into his head I might be able to act, but one night he sent an invitation to come to dinner with him at the Athletic Club. I had been working all day, and was dead tired and dirty and dishevelled when I got home. Even my hat looked droopy and dispirited, I remember. So I telephoned to excuse myself, but he would take no excuse, and without waiting even to change my dress, I was bundled into a car and whirled down to the club.

At dinner Mr. Tucker brought up a dozen different subjects—I suppose now it was to find out my varying facial expressions, but at the time I thought he was insane to waste so much time on poor little me. I went home—he sent me home in his car—a bit low in my mind, thinking it was all useless, and wondering why on earth he had taken the trouble to call me at all. And when I reached home, mother told me Mr. Tucker had telephoned that he wanted to engage me for a big part in his new picture!

"INSPIRING DIRECTOR."

"Mr. Tucker is a wonderfully inspiring director. He doesn't act with you when directing. He merely creates an atmosphere. If we have to cry in a scene, he's on the set radiating a sad sort of mood, and when we have a comedy scene to do, he's kidding about like a boy until we're all laughing and up on our toes. He also inspires everybody to do his or her own thinking. Oh, I could shake those little young girls I know—(Betty is all of 20—Well, don't laugh. I feel awfully grown up since I'm in serious comedy) for saying they don't like to be bothered thinking—they don't think they need to think, in other words—just let the director do it all for them."

"You impress everybody as a little girl who has just stepped out of her own home!" I said.

"Well, really I care more about home than I do about any place else. Mother and I have a nice home—the first real one we've had since my childhood days in Salt Lake City—with vines growing over the porch just like a house in a D. W. Griffith picture. When I'm not working I'm usually at home practicing on the violin—it's such a rest, my violin—or reading. H. G. Wells is my reading hobby just now!"

"And—do you ever want to go on the stage?"

"No, I think not. I want to be a great screen actress. Elsie Ferguson and Florence Reed are my idols."

"How about marrying?"

"Sometime—maybe." Miss Compson blushed very hard. So maybe there is something in that rumor about the handsome lieutenant!

BRUNTON BUILDS HOME ON THE LOT.

OWNER PLANS LIVING RIGHT AT HIS STUDIO; WORK NOW UNDER WAY.

In this motion-picture industry anything can happen and almost everything does happen. But so far as novelty goes, Robert Brunton takes the palm. His latest trump card is the announcement that he will build a home on the grounds of the Robert Brunton studios. Mr. Brunton will now be literally, "sitting on the lid." If he gets an attack of insomnia he can cure it as did the kings of old, by going into the vaults and "counting out his money." Or better still, he can make a Cook's tour of the different countries by way of the various large "sets" which serve as background for the production made at these studios.

The outstanding fact of the whole project was the suddenness of his decision to build. A few days before, Mr. Brunton had been looking about for a building site in the residence districts and it was thought that he had arranged for one. While he was strolling around the "lot" one afternoon last week, he saw an extraordinarily good site adjacent to the gardens of the studio, and within an hour he was drawing up the plans. But what, with his interior decorating and various business details, the carpenters are wondering if the plans will be done before the house is finished, so rapidly is the construction progressing. However, the real plans have been years in the making, and Mr. Brunton knows them well. A scenic and decorative artist of international reputation, he has collected a mass of architectural data from his travels over all the countries of the world, and more particularly the European continent. So every nook and cranny of the dwelling already exists in the mind of the builder.

The house is to be a one-story structure built along the lines of Italian architecture. One different detail is the patio, which is to be 15x30 feet, with a rose trellis in the center. French doors open onto this court from all sides. In the living and dining-rooms the furniture is to be mahogany, with large fireplaces done in tile. Beside the guest room and the owner's chamber, there will be two maids' rooms, a large kitchen, and a breakfast-room. Other details are the screen porch, the long hallway, and Mr. Brunton's den, which will be done in oak.

PAULINE FREDERICK GETS CANNED MESSAGE

Pauline Frederick has just completed her latest Goldwyn picture, "Letty," adapted for the screen from the famous stage play by Sir Arthur Wing Pinero. When the final scenes were taken, Frank Lloyd, who directed "Letty," immediately went to the Pacific Northwest with the Rex Beach story, "The Silver Horde."

Many of the scenes in this story are being taken in one of the great salmon canneries at Bellingham, Wash. While there, Mr. Lloyd saw an opportunity of sending Pauline Frederick an unusual sort of message. He wrote a few words on a card, inserted it in an empty salmon can, and then asked the workman who operates the soldering machine to tightly seal the can.

The package was carried south by a returning member of the company, and when Miss Frederick first saw it she was afraid to open it. The card rattled in the can and made peculair noises.

"So many people drop bombs in one's rose bushes or send them through the mail. Do you think it is safe?" she questioned.

"No one would send you a bomb," retaliated William Parke, her present director. "I'll open it."

A can opener was routed from its lair in the prop room and the odd message unearthed. "Best luck with your next production," ran the lines on the card.

DUSTIN FARNUM SAYS COSTUME PLAYS SOON.

Dustin Farnum makes the unqualified assertion that costume plays are coming in again. He believes that the super-abundance of up-to-date drama of all kinds and designs is becoming monotonous and that variety is essential. "And why not costume plays?" remarks the United Picture star. "There seems to be a tradition in movieland that the costume play and the unusual ending are taboo. Someone stated one day that the people didn't like costume plays nor unhappy endings. Parrot-like, the assertion has passed along down the line. I differ with this accepted theory. A motion-picture drama with an unhappy ending got big money on Broadway recently. And I am of the opinion that costume plays and period plays are not only liked, but are longed for by the public. One of these days someone will go back to the good old classical plays, present one, cash in and then there will be a scramble on the part of everyone to go and do likewise."

PROBLEMS OF PICTURE MUSIC.

The Difficulties of the Director's Job are Told by Kay.

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT.

High ideals in music can have as beneficient an influence in the theater as in the concert hall.

The public has shown that it likes the classics quite as well as popular music, and maybe a great deal better, when they are looking at a film feature.

Making music for pictures has assumed an importance which is not appreciated at anything like its real value. The ideal production will be where it is fifty-fifty between the musical collaborator and the film producer; at present we have about 95 per cent. picture and 5 per cent. music.

It is thus that Arthur Kay, director of the Grauman's Theater orchestra, probably one of the most unique and successful organizations of its character in the country, enunciates the principles which guide him in the presentation of music with the pictures. Perhaps there are few men more qualified to speak on the subject than Mr. Kay, because of his large experience. Having begun his career in this country as 'cellist with the Boston Symphony Orchestra, having directed the popular concerts of the Victor Herbert Orchestra, and having also led comic opera productions, as well as playing in grand opera orchestras in Europe—he has the breadth of musical understanding which fits him with the necessary resources to undertake a new variety of musical expression, and to become something of an authority on the subject.

Kay has been at Grauman's over a year, and since that time has steadily improved the quality of the programmes he offers. Within a few weeks he plans to introduce popular orchestral programmes as a part of the entertainment at the theater. For the present these concerts will be given on an average of every four weeks; it is impossible to fea-

SMART SAYINGS BY THE STARS.

It's getting to be the fashion around the film studios these days to originate epigrams, and here are a few that were overheard the past week in various locations in filmland:

Madlaine Traverse: Clothes may not make the man, but the have something to do with making a woman.

Kathleen O'Connor: If pity were a synonym for love, all the chorus girls would marry the first three rows on the opening night.

Louise Glaum: People who live in glass houses should have windows through which to throw rocks. They'll need to.

Robert McKim: Villainy is a state of pocket rather than an attitude of mind.

Mary Pickford: Every ounce of success brings a pound of responsibility. Why overload yourself?

Peggy Hyland: How somber life would be if women could not laugh; how monotonous it would be if they could not weep!

William Russell. Nothing's any fun that's any good, and nothing's any good that's any fun.

Clarine Seymour: The formula for feminine success is a carefully powdered nose, openwork hosiery and a ready smile.

Eileen Percy: The girl who permits a man to slip an engagement ring on her finger is taking an awful chance of traveling procrastination's road to the old maids' home.

Colleen Moore: Why does the chicken cross the road? Because she is only an extra and thought she'd try the studio on the other side of the street.

A Word of Advice About Floor Coverings

The serious problem of securing deliveries from the mills on orders for rugs and other floor coverings, and the prospect of further price advances, prompts us to suggest to our patrons the advisability of anticipating and filling their requirements now.

With the advent of fall and winter, and the longer evenings spent indoors, the beautifying of the home becomes the order of the day. And inasmuch as the floor covering supplies the foundation for the scheme of furnishing, this is the logical time to make selections.

The "California" shows very extensive assortments of unusual patterns and colorings in the most desirable types of floor coverings. Rare Oriental rugs, including the large room sizes; wonderful Chinese rugs; the famous Templeton Chenille rugs in plain soft colors, with beautiful shaded band borders; and the finest domestic Wiltons in the various sizes, carefully selected for the individuality and beauty of the patterns.

We suggest that value comparisons may prove interesting. All our rugs, including the rarest Orientals, are priced on our usual close selling margin.

Some very attractive Wilton rugs are presented in our window this week.

THE PLACE OF MASSENET.

Influence of Hammerstein Brought His "Thais" Before America.

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT.

The recent death of Oscar Hammerstein brings to mind the fact that this genius of the impresario world was an apostle of Gallic art such as never has been before or since in this country. At no time did French opera seem to have a greater run of favoritism than during the time of the Manhattan Opera house. Particularly were the efforts of the manager of the theater concentrated on the developing of a taste for Massenet, and he was directly responsible for the success of "Thais" in this country. As H. T. Finck, the New York critic, says, in his book on the composer: "In the annals of music in America, the name of Oscar Hammerstein will be inseparably associated with Massenet."

The place of this celebrated French composer in the world of music affords a peculiar problem, especially if you have viewed his position from the European angle and contrasted it with the American lack of interest. In France, Jules Massenet towers high into the musical celestial canopy; in America he has hardly attained his full four cubits. As prolific as a Rossini, is he to fade from the musical horizon like a Mercadante, or will he remain to glorify the operatic stage for a future generation?

These are questions concerning Massenet, whose "Thais" is practically the only work by which he is universally known, that never arise before you in America, but really strike you forcibly in the native land of the composer. The question of his genius becomes assailing, because his works are predominant among those of the latter day.

"WERTHER'S" POPULARITY.

There is probably no more popular work by any French composer than "Werther," within the limits of France. Yet, it is a rather curious evidence of musical idiosyncrasy, that while you can hear this Massenet opera almost any day in the week in some French city, at Paris or Lyon, or Bordeaux, or Marseilles or Nantes, you hardly ever find it in America outside of a cafe. Strange to say, it has become part and parcel of the repertoire of many cafes which cater to the higher taste in their music.

The other day I asked the leader of one of these orchestras how it happened that "Werther" had ever gotten into the cafe repertoire, in view of the fact that only once in a period of azure lunacy would an impresario attempt to produce it on the operatic stage.

The reason has grown up since the war. French soldiers visiting this section of the country have asked for the selection, and as it is popular with musicians who are familiar with opera in France, it was adopted.

The Chicago Opera Company this season produced "Werther," with John O'Sullivan in the title role. Muratore was to have sung it, but was taken ill just prior to the performance. As usual, the Massenet opera was panned more or less hotly by the critics—from music to "Teutonic" libretto. There is no denying that the libretto is a maundering piece of sick sentimentalism—that the last or suicide act drags terribly, but the plot of the opera is as good as nine or ten others, while the music is undoubtedly the most magnificent contribution of the composer to the operatic art. It is of a divine simplicity. The main love theme is naught but a figure of three notes, which is varied with Wagnerian contrapuntal versatility to suit the occasion and the mood. There is no more superb solo number by Massenet than the Ossian song from the third act, wherein Werther uses the verses of mysterious origin to recall to Charlotte the forgotten days of their happiness.

THEIR LOVE DRAMA.

"Werther" at present seems to be to the French what "Tristan and Isolde" was to the Teuton; it is the big love-drama of the Gallic stage. The fact that the American can see in it nothing of this, is indicative of the peculiar attitude in this country toward the music of France. The obvious claim which would be made in answer to this is that French music is of a provincial quality. Where Wagner has a universal appeal, Massenet in the greater majority of his works reaches the feelings only of the French, who are essentially a home-staying nation. At the same time, the mental attitude in this country is narrow toward French music. For what is regarded as fine and beautiful in Paris cannot be altogether without merit in New York, as the cold reception tendered to the metropolitan productions of the various Gallic works would indicate it is. Along with the rest we have turned down virtually all Massenet works, even to the "Juggler of Notre Dame." Only "Thais" has been accepted. Many of Massenet's operas are theatrical affairs, anybody will admit; but take them all in all they are musically of intensely better fiber than certain Italian and German productions which have "come across" to this country.

There is in all of Massenet's music at least nobility of purpose. Although he never quite has the strength to attain his objective, and though there is always the peculiar sense of the striving for something beyond the effect obtained, there is never any doubt as to the height of his dominating ideal.

We know Massenet in this section of the country—one might say—only by his "Thais." Perhaps few remember that "Herodiade" and "La Navarraise" were produced on the occasion of a certain ill-fated French troupe's visit. In the East they have heard at one time or another about half of the Massenet works, the success of which was limited chiefly to who starred. Witness Mary Garden's triumph in "The Juggler of Notre Dame," which has since died out of the repertoire. Well, Debussy's "Pelleas and Melisande," the most original work since Wagner, died for lack of the same sustaining personality; "Louise," the epic of the Montmartre—for the identical reason.

AUDIENCE LIMITED.

Another thing that stands in the way of French opera is the small nucleus for the audience. The strength of Italian music's popularity grows out of the big centers of Italian population on which it may revolve; the same is true of German opera. But the French are not a migratory people. Consequently where the Italians or Germans could furnish a whole company to attend an evening of opera; the French can furnish only a corporal's guard.

Still another thing to block the progress of French opera is the fact that certain works like the Massenet operas, "Pelleas and Melisande" and "Louise," are produced to greater advantage in a small theater. The hugeness of the Metropolitan made the Masterlinckian characters and their tragedy in the Debussy opera seem an insignificant and puny affair. The success of the "Juggler" was hampered by the same considerations. A great many French operas, if produced locally, could be put on more effectively at the Mason than at the Auditorium. The characters in "Louise," for instance, are lost under the huge proscenium of the latter house, except in the third act.

There is so much in French music that should be known in this country, and so little that seems to be really understood that the managers have about surrendered their attempts to popularize any more works like "Cleopatre," "La Reima Fiamette" or "Gismonda." Some of these are admittedly made music. The French have a peculiar fancy for the intellectual willingness to accomplish, without cardiac inspiration. But this cannot be said of the greater part of Massenets' music. Often the inspiration is not from the heart; but the fineness of the spiritual ideal elevates his themes to a new plane. He lacks the fundamental vigor of world-sweeping personal force, but he remains a melodist whose sense of beautiful proportions is seldom if ever blurred, whose grip on the reins of the instrumental chariot enables him to literally fly around sharp and dangerous corners where others would lose their hold through failing in primal strength.

Some years ago then Henry F. Finck wrote a book on Massenet and his music, which is perhaps the best and easiest road to the understanding of the attainments of the composer. However, Mr. Finck's literary efforts seem to have borne little fruit for the furtherance of Massenet's popularity. Real recognition has always been lacking. It will probably never come until the feeling for the Gallic spirit broadens in this country. The war has widened the horizon in some respects, but has narrowed it in others. It is certainly that with the great majority there is little true understanding between America and France. This is a hard statement, but there has been bountiful evidence of its truth "over there." France stands also of a proud nation and a proud people, courteous to all, but reserved. Their ideals are their ideals; their music is their music; just as their country is first, last and always their country, purely French, with hardly a foreign strain discernible.

In the bigger world of music Massenet will never be the giant. Neither is it just and fair that he should remain a pygmy of one opera stature, on a par with those Italian meteors Leoncavallo and Mascagni. His "Thais" is his most popular work, but I do not believe it is his greatest. The music of "Wrether" is finer. The spectacle of "Herodiade" is more splendid. "La Navarraise" is a more firey and brilliant achievement. "Manon" has more of feeling. Certain others are also worthy.

"Thais," it must b admitted, has certain subtle sensuous characteristics which make its message direct, but it deserves no such exclusive place as it has attained.

In summing up a judgment on Massenet, it is safe to say that he is a composer of human stature. He did not see from the glorified heights, but neither did he walk close to the soil of mere matter. His art oftentimes lacks greatness, because it is feminized. The strong virile tone is missing, and at times originality. We feel as if the wings of genius had been clipped, or had never grown to a size proportionate with the aspirations of the composer's soul.

OF ART AND ARTISTS.

BY ANTONY ANDERSON.

Two Infinities.

A lonely way, and as I went my eyes
Could not unfasten from the Spring's sweet things,
Lush-sprouted grass, and all that climbs and clings
In loose, deep hedges, where the primrose lies
In her own fairness, buried blooms surprise
The plunderer bee and stop his murmurings,
And the glad flutter of a finch's wings
Outstartle small blue-speckled butterflies.
Blissfully did one speedwell plot beguile
My whole heart long; I loved each separate flower,
Kneeling. I looked up suddenly—Dear God!
There stretched the shining plain for many a mile,
The mountains rose with what invincible power!
And how the sky was fathomless and broad!

On Industrial Art.

The importance of industrial art in the commercial development of the United States has been recognized by the Bureau of Education at Washington through the recent publication of a thirty-two page pamphlet entitled "Industrial Art a National Asset." This contains a series of graphic charts and descriptive text by H. M. Kurtzworth, director of the Grand Rapids School of Art and Industry. The pamphlet may be secured by applying to the Bureau of Education at Washington, D. C.

How much this country is behind European nations in its industrial development and how important it is for us immediately to undertake a nation-wide campaign for industrial art education, is evident from the exhibition of French art applied to industry which was held in New York during the month of August. It was held under the auspices of the French government and the Franco-American Board of Commerce and Industry.

The great need for literature on the subject of industrial art education was brought directly to the attention of Dr. P. P. Claxton, Commission of Education, by a resolution passed at the annual convention of the American Confederation of Arts, held in Detroit in May, 1918.

"Industrial Art a National Asset" has a preface by Florence N. Levy, general manager of the Art Alliance of America with headquarters at 10 East Forty-seventh street, New York City. It calls attention to the fact that these charts were originally prepared to aid in securing for Grand Rapids an annual appropriation of about $5000 for the maintenance of a school of art and industry. Similar schools might, with advantage, be established in every city having 50,000 or more inhabitants.

The effect of environment upon character and the industrial arts upon environment indicates definitely now, as it has in previous chapters of the history of the race, that the fate of the nation lies in the hands of the workmen and designers even more than in those of the warriors and statesmen. In the choice of the furnishings of American homes, two-thirds of which must be chosen according to the dictates of income of less than $15 a week, the average citizen finds his chief opportunity to express his instinct for the beautiful. Imagine the effect for good or evil of over 102,000,000 "artists" thus creating an environment in over 18,000,000 dwellings for the increasing 22,000,000 families.

There is an urgent necessity for efficient art courses in grade and high schools. Ninety per cent. of our citizens are entirely dependent upon the art. Education they receive before leaving the eighth grade, 7 per cent. depend upon the taste that they acquire in high school, and only the remaining 3 per cent. are likely to continue their studies in colleges. It is evident, therefore, that both grade and high school courses in drawing, manual training and any form of the industrial arts should deal with the appreciation and understanding of the vital things of actual life to enable students to see accurately and to apprehend the wonders of nature; to express their ideas adequately, accurately and with some beauty, where words fail or where construction necessitates definite mechanical accuracy; to encourage pupils to continue through the technical schools of art and industry in order that they may become salesmen or makers of the useful and beautiful things which enhance the full realization of life's possibilities, and true enjoyment thereof. Special stress must be laid upon the need in the schools of collections of fine objects, just as they now have collections of books, and for lectures illustrated with actual materials.

Said President Wilson: "It is evident to every thinking man that our industries on the farms, in the shipyards, in the mines and in the factories must be more prolific and more efficient than ever." The commercial supremacy of the United States has largely been reared upon the bulk disposal of raw materials. American natural resources, while vast, are not unlimited. Either we must turn from our quantity method and, through industrial art training, put the nation's commerce on a quality basis, or we shall lose the opportunities and advantages which our raw materials have heretofore offered. The skilled designer and craftsman may take a few dollars' worth of material and, through his ability, create objects worth one hundred times the value of the raw material, an increase of 10,000 per cent. The United States will not be able to increase the worth of its products toward the highest market values until it has more schools to train its people in the refinements of design and workmanship. Industrial art schools will train the natural aptitude of our people into using the nation's raw materials more efficiently, and by inaugurating, through research, a more thorough use of by-products, we will become less dependent in the future upon foreign countries for the fine goods that we use.

We have heretofore looked upon art education as a luxury. We must now see education in industrial arts as a necessity. In the few States (Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and New Jersey,) where industrial art schools exist, they are the result of definite, direct demand on city and State authorities to make the best use of the resources of their region. It is the duty of every community of American citizens to analyze the resources and industries of their vicinity to discover the need for industrial art education, and to take the necessary steps to provide such training for the good of the citizens and the welfare of the nation. This will enable the United States to have the world for its market and will bring increasing prosperity as its reward.

There are but four well-equipped industrial art schools in the United States, while France has thirty-two, England thirty-seven centers affiliated with the Victoria and Albert Museum, in addition to the important county council craft schools in London, while Italy, Denmark, Switzerland and other important European countries are equally well supplied, including Germany, which, before the war, had fifty-nine schools of this type.

The success of courses in art and industry depends upon their application to real needs. While many of the art schools of the United States (there are about three hundrd) could advantageously revamp their ideals, courses and equipment for fine art work, and could possibly undertake the education of the industrial designer, the obvious and immediate need is for the industrial art schools which carry the instruction through the entire constructive process in a practical and efficient manner. The unprofitable academic method of teaching art is not a success because it overlooks the fact that designers, artists and artisans are essentially workmen no matter how fine are their creative faculties. The profitable old masters' method is based upon the apprenticeship procedure of the fifteenth century European Renaissance which begins under actual working conditions. The results are that the student gains technical knowledge and learns how to apply it; he does actual work and gains definite skill which will enable him to become an intelligent consumer, a proficient salesman, or an expert skilled workman or creative designer.

Foreign industrial art schools are, almost without exception, subsidized by the State. The United States needs municipal art institutions based upon the local industrial needs of every community. These inspirational centers of American good taste should include a museum of decorative arts with manufactured articles of metal, wood, ceramics, textiles, etc.; museum of fine arts to include architecture, sculpture, painting; schools of fine art and of industrial art with studios, workshops and salesrooms aiming to apply this inspiration directly to local industries; a working library, and opportunities for developing music, poetry and the drama.

Since cities are the first to profit by having better trained citizenship capable of producing goods which pay higher dividends through their skill, this is a matter which cities must put into operation as a business asset for the industrial progress of the nation. Every city can increase the quantity and improve the quality of its goods by joining in a national movement for educating the people in what they should expect as consumers, how they should create as designers, build as manufactures and suggest as salespeople. This is a public affair and not a private one.

The Firing Line.

I have just read Miss Dunlap's letter in your art column (writes Julia Bracken Wendt.) and while I have taken no part in the modern art controversy and know very little about what was going on in that connection, I do know something about what has been going on in the California Art Club for the last ten years, being one of the charter members.

I believe the club has done much to develop and keep up the standard of art in Los Angeles and has worked unselfishly for the good of all its members, that membership now totalling 175 artists, young, near-young, middle-aged and old, "modern," progressive and conservative.

Miss Dunlap's statement about "the same people serving on the juries each year" is somewhat misleading, since she does not mention the fact that they are elected by ballot and are not self-appointed. At the adoption of the new constitution it was decided that the same artists should not serve twice in succession.

There was no objection made by the California Art Club when Mr. Keller, Miss Dunlap and Miss Shore formed the Modern Art Club. Miss Shore and Miss Dunlap continued to exhibit with the California Art Club and their work was welcomed. It was understood that these artists thought the museum too far out and wanted to have their exhibitions downtown. Nobody objected.

This year they decided that they wanted to hold their exhibitions at the Exposition Park gallery. As an excuse for holding separate exhibitions they preferred charges of unfairness on the part of the California Art Club. Naturally, the club did object to this.

I believe the object of the petition circulated to have been misunderstood by the "moderns." I was asked recently to sign a petition the heading of which did not mention the moderns or any other club, but that the California Art Club should hold together and not disorganize. I thought it referred to the jury-free exhibition movement, etc. On inquiry I learned that this was the petition referred to in Miss Dunlap's letter. Furthermore I believe that the three members who attended the meeting referred to by Miss Dunlap were there to refute the charges made against the California Art Club, and not—as was charged—to oppose the granting of the gallery to the Modern Painters However, I know nothing of the proceedings at the time, nor do I presume to speak for these artists, hoping that they will do that for themselves—thus proving whether "this is the truth, and nothing but the truth" (or an imagined grievance.)

It is sad to think of artists attributing to their confreres deeds that they would not think of doing themselves. This—when a little faith and a sense of humor would remove mountains of trouble.

From Miss Dunlap.

"There was a misprint in last Sunday's article that I wish you to correct, as it is entirely untrue. The rule making it impossible for the same person to serve twice in succession on the jury was passed in the making of the new constitution. I simply thought this must account for the antagonism we met with from the officers of the California Art Club. Please correct this misprint, and before you print replies, if there are any, as I feel this is due me."

(The "misprint," however, was not of my making, as I quoted Miss Dunlap with great care lest such a "misprint" should occur.—[Ed. Art and Artists.]

L. E. Garden Macleod Retires.

L. E. Garden Macleod, founder and director of the Los Angeles School of Art and Design, announces her retirement and close of the school. She will devote her time to her own studio, which has been recently built on the grounds surrounding her residence on Occidental boulevard.

Mrs. Macleod will be at the school Wednesday and Thursday, next, from 3 to 5 p.m. to meet friends and students. Friday there will be an auction sale of pictures, frames, easels, etc. A souvenir catalogue, with history of the school and illustrations from students' work, etc., is in the hands of the bookbinders and printers.

Club Meeting.

The regular meeting of the California Art Club took place last night at the club rooms, 623 Park View street. The board of control met on the same date at 7 p.m.

Simple Marriage Method.

The courtship and marriage customs among the Greenlanders were in early times simple and unceremonious enough, since we are told that when a lovelorn youth made up his mind as to the girl he wanted to adorn and be useful in his hut of icy snow he went to her house, seized her by the hair or wherever he could obtain a good grip on her, and dragged her to his own domain, where she was expected to "stay put" without any further marriage ceremony. If an affluent bridegroom he would perhaps soothe her lacerated feelings by presenting her with a lamp or some article of household utility. — [Indianapolis News.

When My Baby Was Sick

I SHALL never forget that dreadful day when I wondered if anything would ever agree with my baby. Of course, I had tried to nurse him, as every mother should. And we had tried almost everything, it seemed—but he wouldn't gain weight or have the pink cheeks I prayed for.

And then our old doctor said "Let's try Nestlé's Milk Food. You know that it is made out of milk—it's the nearest thing in the world to mother's milk. They add cereal and sugar to it—just the right amount—and the tough milk curds are broken up and easier to digest."

As I write, a sturdy, two year old plods gravely up to me and the dreadful day seems far away—for my baby is well.

Nestlé's is very easy to prepare—you just add water and boil—it is a powder that comes in an air tight tin—and I hear that for fifty years it has been making babies strong.

The Nestlé Company likes to save babies and put them on the road to health. They gave me free a big Mother's Book on baby feeding by specialists, and enough Nestlé's for 12 feedings. They will be glad to do this for you, too, if you will send them your name on the coupon below.

Nestlé's is pure milk in powder form that is already modified and does not require the further addition of milk. Always pure and safe, always uniform and free from the dangers of home modification, Nestlé's has stood the test of three generations and has today the largest sale of any baby food in the world.

PLUMB'S BOLSHEVIK PLAN.

Railway Scheme Seen as Move to Revolutionize Country's Business and Produce Condition of Business Chaos.

BY FREDERICK BOYD STEVENSON.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—In the past week Brooklyn has been utilized by a labor organization to demonstrate to all the people of the United States what a strike can do. If it could be shown that all business, all traffic, all comfort in Brooklyn could be paralyzed, then the demonstration could be made general all over the country and all the business, all the traffic, all the comfort in all parts of the United States could be paralyzed at will by labor organizations.

Suppose the strike on the Brooklyn Rapid Transit system expanded into other strikes. Suppose these strikes took place on the street railways in other cities Suppose the strikes went beyond the street railways and reached into the big producing plants of the country. Suppose they went into the great flouring mills that grind out our flour. Suppose they went into the iron foundries and the steel plants that give us our machinery and our rails and our locomotives. Suppose they entered into every line of industry—great and little. Suppose they even went into the farms and tied the gathering of grain and other foodstuffs and stopped the supply of butter and milk and eggs. And then suppose strikes should tie up the steam railways and the ships and every means of interstate traffic.

What element of society would have the country at its mercy?

BROOKLYN STRIKE.

And yet what sober thinking man is there in the United States today who does not regard the strike in Brooklyn as the mere prelude to the offensive, the arbitrary, the arrogant, the tyrannical demands of the railroad brotherhoods upon the government of the United States to turn over the vast railway system of the country to the management and the profit of an irresponsible mass of [illegible] workers?

What sober thinking man in the United States today does not realize that it is the proem to a tragedy—that it means in its climax the entire control of the national government by an element of society which is no more fit to control the national government than it is fit to control the railways of the nation?

That is just exactly the situation that the United States of America is facing today.

We have reached the point where the responsible element in the United States must take an immediate and a firm hold of the situation or the irresponsible element will gain the ascendency. Once the irresponsible element gains the ascendency but one thing will happen to the United States of America—it will go Bolshevik. And going Bolshevik means just one thing—chaos and the end of the United States of America.

SHALL WE SURRENDER?

Are we ready to surrender the United States of America into the hands of the irresponsible mob?

If we are, let us do it without a struggle, without a protest. Let us turn every branch of the government over—bait, hook, line and sinker—over to the mob at once without further formality.

If we are not ready to do this let us take a stand and take it quickly. Let the government of the United States assert its power while it has the power and not wait by quibbling, by evasion, by secrecy, by hem-hawing, by trying to straddle both ends and the middle, by playing the coward and seeking conciliation, until the forces making the demands widen the wedge they have already opened in the national institutions and are strong enough to carry all before them by storm.

Is it an idle threat the labor organizations are putting out by means of their propaganda that the police of various cities are preparing to organize into a union of their own and are in sympathy with the aims of the labor unions? Is it more than a coincidence that just at this time word comes from London that the English newspapers are printing a statement made by the London Times to the effect that it is understood that the British authorities were convinced that the recent strikes in England were part of a conspiracy organized abroad to subvert England's system of government, and if the police strike had succeeded it would have been the signal for "direct action" on a vast scale?

"Organized abroad"—what does it mean? Bolshevism?

HAVE WE GERMANISM?

Have we Germanism still in this country?

Ask the numerous publications in New York and other American cities for your answer.

Look into the nationalities of your butchers and your bakers and your grocers who are boosting your [illegible]

[illegible] a race that did not hesitate at robbery, at murdering innocent men and raping and murdering innocent women and children, at poisoning wells, at falsifying records and boldly lying, and is threatening to have revenge, which is doing all it could to internationalize the whole world by turning the whole world over to Bolshevism?

These are questions to which the government of the United States must get the correct answers.

The government of the United States must get the correct answers or not at all.

The government of the United States must act now or not at all. The government of the United States—and by government I mean the executive and the legislative and the judicial branches of the government—must be one of two things: men or mice.

A practical demonstration of what a labor strike can do has been staged in Brooklyn, the first step of internationalizing all public utilities and all the industries of the country is under way of formation in Washington.

THE "PLUMB PLAN."

The whole scheme of the Railroad Brotherhoods is being formulated and backed by organized labor under what is known as the "Plumb Plan," originated by [illegible] Plumb of Chicago. The Plumb plan purposes to have the government purchase all the railroads in the United States including the watered stock. To make these purchases it purposes to have the government issue bonds which the public are supposed to buy at a 4 per cent. rate of interest.

Having purchased the roads the government is to turn them over to the control of a board of fifteen directors. Five of these directors will be named by the President and are supposed to represent the public. Five of the directors are to be elected by the operating officers, who are employees, and five are to be elected by the classified employees—that is engineers, conductors, trainmen, etc.

After paying operating expenses and fixed charges and the interest on the bonds the surplus of the earnings are to be equally divided between the government and the employees of the roads. The government must use its share in improving the roads and extending them, paying the fixed charges, and if anything is left in retiring the outstanding bonds. What the employees get, however, is their own, to use as they see fit.

A COMIC OPERA.

Under ordinary circumstances this plan of Plumb would be a first-class theme for a comic opera. Coming as it does at this time with the strike demonstration in Brooklyn and with the veiled threat of nation-wide strikes to force the internationalization of not only the railways of the country, but of all traffic schemes and industries it becomes the most serious menace ever faced by loyal citizens of the United States.

It is so ridiculous that Congress belittles itself in even considering it.

It is so serious that the government should immediatel ytake steps to stamp it out of existence.

But let us briefly analyze the Plumb plan.

In the first place, the plan, by a sheer act of highway robbery purposes to take away the property of individuals—individuals who have bought their holdings or inherited them—under the pretense of paying them whatever an arbitrary board or commission sees fit.

The owners of these railway shares are not all mere stock gamblers in Wall street. They are to be found among the 12,000,000 owners of the $6,000,000,000 now on deposit in the savings banks of the country. They are to be found among the 12,000,000 holders of the $25,000,000,000 in life insurance policies in this country. The Plumb plan, if carried out, would take away from these owners billions of dollars' worth of property without so much "as by your leave," thereby jeopardizing other billions of dollars in the banks and the insurance companies and other investment enterprises.

And how does the Plumb plan purpose to pay for this stock?

BIG BOND ISSUE.

By giving the owners 4 per cent. government bonds.

And who would buy such government bonds at 4 per cent.?

Suppose the banks and the insurance companies and private individuals should refuse to accept the bonds. The only alternative would be for the government to force an exchange which would be another case of taking property without due process of law.

Suppose a private individual wanted to buy the bonds, and tried to borrow money to do so, where would he get the money?

As a matter of fact there are at the most conservative figures between $18,000,000,000 and $20,000,000,000 of outstanding railway securities. Now, for the government to issue bonds for, say, $20,000,000,000 just for the purpose of paying for outstanding securities of the railroads—to say nothing of the issuance of more bonds for improving and extending the lines—means that this amount would have to be saddled on to the national war debt which already is more than $25,000,000,000 and will probably reach $35,000,000,000 before we get through with it. But, taking the present figures as a basis, the Plumb Plan would mean a national debt of $45,000,000,000.

Is an opium smoker's dream of pink elephants with blue polka dots more fantastic than this?

"WATERED STOCK."

Of course, the theoretical Mr. Plumb will tell you with glib tongue that the greater part of the $20,000,000,000 of outstanding securities is full of water. No doubt it is and that is a very bad feature of the railroad situation, but you cannot remedy one wrong action by committing another wrong action. The people who hold the railwsay securities today did not put the water in the stock. The people who bought the securities paid good money for them. They did not buy them with water. For the government to compel them to sell these securities at greatly reduced prices set by an arbitrary board or commission composed of professional politicians and professional labor agitators would be the rankest sort of robbery.

But Plumb will doubtless argue, the government raised billions for the war bonds at very low rates of interest. It did, but that was for national defense, and the people of the United States rallied to the aid of the State with the old spirit of "millions for defense, but not one penny for tribute."

Plumb is asking the people of the United States to pay tribute to the irresponsible mad mob that is trying to take from them the rights inherited by them from their fathers and to abandon all thought of national sanity, honor and decency.

Today the holdings of the owners of the railroads are managed by men who are trained experts in financial matters and trained experts in railroad management. Tomorrow the advocates of the Plumb Plan purpose to have a new set of managers.

Who will they be?

FIFTEEN DIRECTORS.

Fifteen directors, five of whom will be named by the President, five named by the operating officers who are employees of the company and five elected by the engineers, the conductors, the switchmen, the trackmen and day laborers.

In other words, the managers of the railroads will be politicians without railroad experience, clerks without managerial experience and day laborers with no experience at all outside of a locomotive, pulling a bell cord, shifting a switch or swinging pick and shovel.

The five directors selected by the President will be politicians, of course, and if Mr. Plumb's plan goes through they will be organized labor men, because the President of the United States will be an organized labor man, and the Congress will be composed of a majority of organized labor men.

The other ten directors, coming from the employees, will be labor men without question.

This will be the personnel of the new board of directors, who will appoint the new managers. Thus Mr. Plumb's so-called "government ownership and the future control of the railroads" simply means ownership and control by the labor organizations, an evidence of whose wisdom, whose regard for law, whose humanity has been startlingly presented to us in the Brooklyn street-railway strike.

Then there is the Plumb financial scheme.

TO GET GOOD WAGES.

Of course, the employees will receive good wages. The solid organized labor directory will see to it that the laborer is not only worthy of his here, but that he gets it in good measure. And after paying the high wages and running expenses of the road and the interest on the outstanding securities and the fixed charges if—yes, IF—there be a surplus, it is provided that it will be divided between the government and the employees. But the government must use its share to extend and improve the railway. The railway employees—the clerks and the engineers and the bell pullers and the switch shifters and the pick and shovel jugglers—can spend their shares for ice cream cones, movie theater tickets, automobile tires, or what they will, and if it doesn't "reach," the board of organized labor directors will again boost the wages of the down-trodden workingman.

To a man up a tree it sounds a good deal like the old minstrel story that Billy Emerson used to tell.

"I understand you are a Socialist, Billy," the interlocutor would say.

"Yessah, dat's right."

"What would you do with all the money in the world, Billy?"

"Put her in a big heap and divide her up."

"What would you do with your share?"

"Blow her in."

"And when your money was all gone what would you do then?"

"Put all de money in a big heap and divide her up again."

WOULD BE DEFICITS.

Under the Plumb plan, suppose there are no earnings—and it would be miraculous if there were—but, on the contrary, suppose there were deficits—who would stand the deficits? Would the employee profit-sharers be also deficit-sharers? Mr. Plumb is silent on that question.

But this is only the beginning of the Plumb plan. Plumb purposes to follow it by the nationalization of all public utilities and all private industry.

Here are madmen telling sane men to put into the hands of the madmen the machinery to wreck not only the United States of America, but the entire world.

Here is the entering wedge of Bolshevism.

Back of the Plumb plan is the most deep-rooted conspiracy the world has ever known.

Under the pretense of the rights of labor the downfall of governments as we know them today is planned.

And the first victory will be followed by the second and the third and countless other victories until it is too late to stop the universal nationalization and the universal internationalization of all public utilities and all private enterprises. And the nationalization and then the internationalization of all public and private enterprises is but the forerunner of the major scheme of Socialism, which is common wealth, common wives, common children and the abandonment of faith in the humanity of man and the graciousness of God.

SUPERSTITIONS OF BURGLARS.

Seldom will a burglar proceed to crack a crib without a mascot of some sort in his possession. Some burglars will not break into a house that bears a number they dislike—it is generally that of the policeman who effected their arrest on a previous occasion. Others will not undertake a midnight job if there is a new moon. This has been regarded as a bad omen, but a halo round a full moon gladdens the heart of Bill Sikes. Pickpockets, too, are highly superstitious. The light fingered fraternity seldom pick the pockets of a cross-eyed or club-footed person. To do so would mean courting disaster. Finding a twisted coin among the contents of a stolen purse will often induce a pickpocket to throw the purse away. The keeping of it is supposed to signify early arrest.—[Chicago Tribune.

HANDLING BOMBS.

What to Do When One is Received Through the Mails.

The following information is from instructions issued by Inspector Owen Eagan, bureau of combustibles, New York fire department:

If you should receive what you believe to be a bomb or infernal machine through the mails or by messenger

(1.) Leave it alone.

(2.) Do not plage it in water.

(3.) Call the fire department, or if it is not convenient, call the nearest police officer, who will at once notify the fire department, and have the expert come to inspect the suspicious package immediately.

It is a common, but fallacious rule among the general public that in order to be safe with a bomb or infernal machine, it should at once be placed in a pail of water. If the bomb or infernal machine has a fuse attached to it, and the fuse may be seen burning or sputtering, then drop the bomb in water, which method usually is efficacious in making it harmless, as the lighted fuse is at once extinguished, but the best advice is to leave the house.

However, when this lighted fuse is not plainly evident on the bomb or infernal machine, it should not be placed in water, as many of these hellish devices are chemically or electrically operated. Another possibility likely to occur, if the suspected bomb or package is placed in water, is that some of them are made up in part of certain chemicals which will explode as soon as the water reaches them. There is an added probability that if the package or bomb is immersed in water, the reaction between the water and the chemical may give rise to a violent and persistent combustion, the flames of which will set fire to the house. In some of these contrivances there is a second compartment containing a high explosive, which can be ignited by heat, and where such a condition as outlined may occur, it is at once apparent that the heat due to the combustion of the initial chemical may generate sufficient heat to detonate the explosive, with possibly fatal results.

Have you seen the new striped and checked velvets?

Can you imagine "Uncle Tom Without the Cabin?" Well, that's the name of that delightful picture at Grauman's this week. Both Uncle Tom and Little Eva will be played by the screen's handsomest man—Ben Turpin—the strange beauty with the frivolous eyes! The devilish Simon Legree will be interpreted by Charles Conklin. The act was written and directed by Mack Sennett. Can you believe it—Turpin and Conklin will both delight us by appearing in person each evening! The feature picture will be "Love Insurance" with Bryant Washburn and an all-star cast, including Theodore Roberts, Lois Wilson and Edwin Stevens. Arthur Kay will conduct the grand symphony orchestra, with an unusually strong programme introducing a novelty—four 'cellos playing "The Rosary" and "Dear Old Pal of Mine." Milton Charles at the organ plays "Hindu Rose." Besides there'll be ten ballroom dances, direct from New York.

richly so than that of Miss Mildred Cooper and Morris Kirpatrick, which was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Cooper, 402 McKinley drive, Tuesday evening. All appointments were in the dainty tones of the rainbow colors, carried out in the pinks, lavenders and blues of asters and dahlias with golden glow intermingling as if just a glint of the sunshine. Prior to the ceremony Percy Olds rendered DeKoven's "O Promise Me," followed by Miss Eugenia Canan, who sang sweetly "I Promise Thee," by the same author. These two were bridal selections used at the marriage of the bride's parents. Melody in F was beautifully rendered by Mrs. W. A. Fox during the entrance of the bridal party.

The young women attending the bride were college friends, and included Miss Jessie Randolph of Santa Monica as maid of honor; Mrs. Alexander McGregory of Whittier and Mrs. Percy W. Olds of Pomona, as matrons of honor; Miss Ruth Ellsworth of Los Angeles; Miss Elva Hitchcock of Montebello and Miss Margaret Robertson of Whittier as bridesmaids. Stevens of Long Beach, formerly pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, read the marriage lines.

The bride was beautifully gowned in white satin meteor and wore her mother's wedding veil. Her bouquet was of bride's roses and maidenhair ferns with a shower of white sweet peas. Her attendants were attired in rainbow-colored gowns and carried asters in corresponding shades. Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served, the bride's table presenting a pretty scene, with its two great bowls of rainbow-colored asters in which were caught the ends of a tulle rainbow that overreached the cover. The hand-painted name cards were the bride's own handiwork.

"VALUE RECEIVED"

is the essential factor around which all merchandising revolves ¶ It is what every woman seeks when she shops and what she expects to find in the shoes she buys

¶ Unless she obtains Correct Style she does not get value :: unless she obtains the Right Quality she does not get value :: unless Style and Quality are priced to her as closely as is consistent with both she does not receive value

¶ Our Service embodies each of these essentials in its merchandising standards — as is evidenced in the satisfaction of hundreds of patrons who depend on and look to us each new season for their shoe needs

Reich and Lièvre
RICH AND LEE-Â-VER

What will you wear?

OFFICIALLY, Autumn starts on the 23d of this month. Reich and Lievre have been very busy for weeks past, selecting materials and styles, reproducing and adapting importations. The new things are arriving on every express---everything is ready for your inspection, and what is more important---your judgment of Reich and Lievre better values.

COATS will never be as reasonable

HANDSOME Plush Coats are so rich in appearance, so soft, fur-like and glossy in texture—and so warm and durable—fur coat makers have modeled them into exclusive wraps, adorned with rarest furs.

Yukon Seal Plush, Behring Seal Plush, Esquimette Plush and Peco Plush, Niagara Sealettes luxuriously trimmed with Beaver, Australian Opossum, Natural Raccoon and Squirrel.

Prices will be higher on Coats which are being made today. It is not likely that Coats such as these will ever again be offered at such low prices.

Coatees of Beaver Plush $29.50. Short Plushes $29.50
Long Plush Coats $59.50. Niagara Seal Coatees $87.50
Voluminous Plush Coats with Big Fur Collars $165

A Hudson Seal Collar trims a Velour Coat which is box pleated in the back, flaring from a shoulder yoke. Belted front. Coat lined throughout with fancy Satin—$45
A Belted Silvertone with enormous Shawl Collar of Coney sells for $29.75.

A Chiffon Black Velvet Coat has Mole Collar and throw and huge Mole Cuffs. The Belt of Self Material ties into a sash to the left and ends in silk fringes. Bizarre Embroidery in Egyptian designs. Price $395.

Chameleon cord Coat with Bell Sleeves has a Nutria Scarf Collar, which, when thrown about the throat, dangles to the hips, both in front and back, $137.50.

A Faisan (Tan-Taupe) Velangora Coat has double bands of Seal on bottom of skirt to match the cuffs and equally wide band of seal on collar, $125.

Suits AND furs

That's what suits really are. The materials of the suits never have been more luxurious, the tailoring has never been so custom tailored in appearance, so it follows that suits AND furs are expensive.

BUT Reich and Lievre have separated the two for those who are looking for prices they can afford to pay.

Suits WITHOUT furs are not expensive at all.

Chevrona is a new herringbone cheviot. Peachbloom resembles duvetyn. Rayoner is much like silvertone but has a diagonal weave which makes it much softer. Suede cashmeres, chameleon cords, fortuna, Normandy cloths, velangora and tinsel tone.

The Frock Shop is bubbling over with ORIGINAL Things

FROCK-LAND is probably the most important spot in this Reich and Lievre Shop. There are more novelties to talk about in Frock-land in one minute than there is in any other part of the shop in a week. Any wonder, then, that we get enthusiastic?

A Black Satin Dress with white bead-trimmings which cover the entire dress and are clustered in magnificent designs half way between the hips and the bottom of the tunic. A girdle of black jet ends in a huge tassel. $125.

Better Values in Satin Dresses $25.00
Better Values in Serge Dresses $25.00
Beaded Georgette Hotel Dresses $39.75

A Navy Tricotine has been treated with black braid and black buttons. This dress has distended pockets that continue down below the knees, finally blousing themselves under the hem. Pockets as well as oval tablier panel are outlined with braid, as are wide cuffs and vest, under which show satin frills. $55.

MUSICAL.

DUNCAN DANCERS.

FAMOUS ARTIST'S COMPANY TO VISIT COAST.

One of the early events of the coming season will be the appearance of the Duncan Dancers in their unique dance entertainment. The transcontinental tour of these noted artists will bring them to California about November 20.

Musical attraction is furnished their programmes by the fact that George Copeland, noted as a Chopin interpreter, is their accompanist, and also presents solo numbers.

The idea of Miss Duncan's new, or rather new-old, art of dancing had its inception in California. It was here that she gave her first public performances, immediately creating a storm of discussion. Followers there were, but only among those who saw in this new creation of beauty a deep and far-reaching significance denied to the superficial.

After Miss Duncan had won success in New York, she conceived the idea of founding a school for giving the new art a permanent hold on the future. She carried her theories and her ideas abroad, and established her school on the continent. Here it was that she trained, as children they were then, the six beautiful girls who take part in her productions, as they are to be given through the country.

More Music for Philharmonic.

The famous Yvette Guilbert Symphony Orchestra library arrived in New York last week, and contains in addition to the standard classics any number of seldom-heard compositions, which Waletr Henry Rothwell, the new conductor of the Philharmonic Orchestra, will use in his programmes this season.

Among the numbers in the catalogue werefound "Napoli" (Charpentier,) "Messidor," entr-acte (Bruneau;) "Wallenstein Trilogy," "Le Camp," "Thelka and Max," "Le Mort" (d'Indy,) t he Tschaikowsky "Pathetique" symphony; "Valse Romantique" (Chabrier;) "Carnival of Paris" (Svendsen;) "Scenes Hongrole" (Mussenet;) "the "Ruby" overture (d'Albert;) "Benevenuto Cellini" overture (Berlioz;) "Danse Norwegienne" (Grieg;) overture to "Gwendoline" (Chabrier;) "La Jeunesse d'Hercules" (Saint-Saens;) "Ariane et Berbe Bleu" (Dukas,) and fifty of the standard classics of Brahms, Mendelssohn, Beethoven, Liszt, etc.

Rothwell wil return here about October 1, when daily rehearsals will be started in anticipation of the first programme October 24.

A. M. Perry, director of the college of music of the University of Southern California, announces that the students in the public school music department and the students of the music appreciation classes, will attend the Philharmonic Orchestra concerts.

Vincent Jones, a very able speaker, and a teacher of theory of music, has been engaged as lecturer on the Symphony programmes. These lectures will be given in advance of each public programme.

Plan Request Programmes.

In order to afford patrons of the Los Angeles Symphony concerts an opportunity to hear their favorite symphony or bit of classic music, the management of the association announces it will accept requests for such music. From all the requests made they will select the one or two compositions most frequently asked for and will have them played by the orchestra at one of the concerts of the season. Frequent verbal requests have been made for special music. As a result of these requests it was decided to invite all the music-loving public of Los Angeles to make suggestions and to incorporate the most greatly desired music in a programme.

Any one wishing to ask for a special composition for a Los Angeles Symphony concert is asked to send the request to the association.

Returns From Mountain School.

Norma Gould, dancer and instructor in Terpsichorean art, has just returned from her Mountain School, which was opened August 17. This unique course of training was conducted at Sturtevant's Camp at the head of the big Santa Anita Canyon, the students having a beautiful spot especially selected for them, and apart from the other campers. Every moment of the day and night was spent in the open, even the meals being served in the rustic open-air dining hall.

The morning lessons consisted of sets of technical exercises, a rousing Hungarian dance and lectures on dancing as a profession and art and its relation to other arts and to life. In the afternoons the class was conducted in a natural amphitheater, reached only by a hidden trail and to which no spectators were admitted. Here the students were instructed in two difficult ceremonies in the form of ancient nature worship of the Aztecs, "An Invocation to the Sun" and "A Prayer for Rain." These studies were preceded by brief talks on the Myths and Legends of Ancient Mexico and Peru.

Every evening a solo dancer appeared in costume for the entertainment of the other guests in camp and at the end of the course an exhibition was given before an audience of several hundred persons.

Miss Gould plans to reopen her studio here October 1.

Marion Warde Entertains.

Marion Warde is holding informal affairs every Friday evening at her studio in Blanchard Hall, where she meets with professional friends. At a recent affair Miss Annetta Cofy, coloratura soprano of Chicago, was the honor guest. During the evening she sang a group of solo numbers. Among those present were Louis Piccirillo, president of the Mask and Dagger Society of the University of California; Prof. Lucien Larkin, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Dahl, Misses Edith Yorke and Freda Byard of the Baker Stock Company of Seattle.

Miss Lillah Withrow of the Redpath Lyceum Circuit, assisted by six girls, entertained with classic dances. Frank Byard, who has just returned from overseas service, played violin solos. Messrs. Raymond Price and Joe Hogeman of the Community Theater of Pasadena presented the new act that they are preparing for vaudeville.

Zoellners in Chicago Series.

The Zoellner Quartette has been engaged by the Musical Extension Series of Concerts of Chicago, Frank Morgan, manager, for a series of ten concerts, all to take place in the city of Chicago. These Musical Extension Concerts are planned somewhat along the lines of the community idea, centers being established in different parts of the city for the concerts. The Zoellners open their series on the evening of February 16 at Orchestra Hall. A fine list of virtuosi and organizations have been engaged by Mr. Morgan for these events, including Oscar Seagle, Barbara Maurel, Frances Ingram, Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, Zoellner Quartette, Louis Kreidler, Apollo Club, Ernest Davis, Miss Peterson and others.

Benefit Recital.

Cecilia M. Bainton, one of the supervisors of music of the schools of Boston, and a talented singer, gave a recital last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Howell in Hollywood, in aid of the building fund of the Church of St. Thomas in West Hollywood. Miss Bainton gave a short lecture on the songs and works of Shakespeare, and she was assisted by Vernon Howell at the organ.

English Organist Coming Here.

Henry Spiller, English organist, will make his home at 239 West Adams, after concertizing throughout Europe and the United States, and he will have his studios for organ instruction at the above address. Mr. Spiller was notably successful at his well-remembered concerts at the Panama-Pacific Exposition.

Morning Musicales.

Mme. Lili Petchnikoff, violinist, and Mrs. Ryder Possart, pianist, will give a series of morning musicales in Hollywood, at Mme. Petchnikoff's new home at 2210 Highland avenue, beginning the first Monday in October, and continuing through November. The ensemble concerts will be inclusive of the best in classic and modern music, and the two musicians are widely know and well liked.

Opens Studio.

Genevieve Hubbard announces the opening of a studio of expression at 342 Blanchard Hall on Friday afternoon September 5.

Starts Teaching Course.

Herbert Douglas, formerly secretary of Leopold Godowsky, who recently opened a studio in Symphony Hall, Blanchard Building, is planning a series of concerts during the approaching season. Mr. Douglas has already started his teaching course with beginners and advanced pupils. Arriving here with Mr. Godowsky, Mr. Douglas decided to remain in California.

Recital Plans.

Mr. and Mrs. Amon Dorsey Cain are planning a group of recitals programmes this season as well as recitals by their pupils, at their studios in Blanchard Hall. Prior to coming to Los Angeles, Mr. Cain was a member of the Castle Square Opera Company, and later devoted his time to concert and oratorio work in connection with his teaching. Mr. and Mrs. Cain have been associated in their teaching of voice and piano for the past fifteen years.

PROBLEMS OF PICTURE MUSIC.

ture other large acts on the Grauman stage at the same time it is arranged to seat the orchestra. When the new theater to be built by the Grauman management is finished Mr. Kay has elaborate plans for Sunday-morning concerts with the combined orchestra forces of the new and the old theater, which will mean about 100 pieces.

Few persons understand the difficulties which attend making a musical score arrangement for the pictures. The principal obstacle is the limited amount of time. "While I am playing one score," said Mr. Kay, "I am preparing another, just as the stock actor has to learn and rehearse one part while he is appearing in another. Of course, it would be impossible to achieve any satisfactory results unless a system was adopted. Therefore, I have catalogued musical selections by the general mood which they portray. From these general headings a special selection has to be made to express the particular idea of the photoplay.

"It would be impossible to make an arrangement that should convey each and every change of feeling on such short notice. All that can be done is to approximate the general tenor of the scenes. For this purpose I generally choose certain guiding themes to express ideas and emotions. In the rendition of the music I frequently find it necessary to make decided changes from the original score. Sometimes an idea is left unfinished on the screen; the music has to close without a cadence—sometimes we reach an abrupt ending to a scene; the music has likewise to be abrupt. I take advantage of subtitles that open a new series of scenes, to allow a break or rest in the music, so that it may begin a free expression of the new mood.

"To accomplish these results, it has been necessary to bring about a revolution in the usual methods of orchestral directing, especially since it is only possible to have one rehearsal on the new score. Markings on the music become absolutely valueless, and the consideration of time makes it impossible to remark the scores, as would be done in a large symphony orchestra. My men are instructed to follow me absolutely as to all matter of tempo and expression, without reference to the shading of rhythm and tempo in the score."

It is really a significant and startling development of picture-theater music how many celebrated works by the great composers are being used. How frequently one hears the Andante from Tschaikowsky's Fifth Symphony. The "Pathetique"—five-fourths movement and the closing "lamentoso"—are also frequently used. The music of Bach even has been employed by Mr. Kay for certain effects. He frequently uses the Rimsky-Korsakoff "Scheherazade" overture.

Really there is no end to the selections from the works of the elite as the art world which find their way into the picture-theater accompaniments.

In this respect the picture theater is becoming a salient force in the upbuilding of the taste for better music. Certain owners of film houses were content a few years ago with a light smattering of popular numbers, with a few of the better known classics. Nowadays the best is not too good for them. While, as a rule it is the more familiar classics which are played, it remains a fact that some very unusual compositions oftentimes may be heard.

To improve the music for the films Kay has one important suggestion to make, and that is—"the producer and the musical director should get together. At present the film receives 95 per cent. of the attention and the music 5 per cent. It should be fifty-fifty.

"The musician must also learn to understand the pictures. He must feel their rhythm and their tempo, for it is an assured fact that the photoplay has both of these qualities which belong also to music.

"By securing this better understanding of the relation between music and the pictures, we will be able to make both achieve a complementary factor in the evolving a new art of beauty."

WOMEN'S WORK AND WOMEN'S CLUBS.

BY LADY JANE.

The programme for the Philanthropy and Civics Club for Tuesday will be in charge of Maj. A. R. Cogeshall of the Truelove Home, and her subject will be "Rescue and Maternity Work in the Community of Los Angeles." At the close of Maj. Cogeshall's address, Lillian Burkhart Goldsmith, the president of the club, will speak briefly on "A New Conception of Civics." Because of the President's arrival in Los Angeles, the club has been obliged to change its plans for the garden party.

On Thursday afternoon, September 18, there will be given a garden party at the residence of Mrs. Herman H. Brisacher, 3103 South Figueroa street, under the auspices of the club. There will be dainty dancing in the garden, auction bridge, whist and five hundred, and music. In the evening a chicken dinner will be served, followed by motion-pictures. Maxwell Kargar, the directing head of the Metro, has offered Alla Nazimova in one of her newest and best pictures, to be followed by a comedy. Patronesses for the day are Mmes. Tracy Q. Hall, Leo Youngworth, Matthew S. Robertson, C. Q. Stanton, Frank Yoakum, William C. Tyler, Marshall Stookey Anderson, Linda Scott, Joseph Coyne, Henry Lissner and E. W. Sargent.

Saturday Afternoon Club.

The women of the Saturday Afternoon Club of Downey are in the happy position of having realized over $100 for the club during the past week, and at the same time having shown their community spirit by doing their utmost for the success of the fourth annual fair of Downey. For two days the club women served luncheon for hundreds of visitors at the club's concession.

Women's City Club.

The Women's City Club will meet tomorrow at 1 p.m. in Walker's Auditorium, 730 South Grand avenue, when G. J. Kuhrts, general manager of the Los Angeles Railway, and Conductor Jean Brown will talk on the strike. The time for discussion will be continued until 3 p.m., because of the interest and timeliness of the subject. Mr. Kuhrts will present the views of the company, and Mr. Brown will speak for the strikers.

THE SUNDAY AUTOMOBILE RIDE.

BY JENNIE VAN ALLEN.

"We have reconstructed our Sunday outings and I could cry for joy.

"For a year our automobile has made me a slave on Sunday. It robbed me of the respect of my family. It was the cause of the first harsh commands my husband has ever given me in all my married life. It demoralized my children, who frankly and openly criticised every thing I did on Sunday. Even my littlest one lisps; 'Mama is so slow!' 'Mama putters so!' until it seems as if my heart would break.

"It sounds so luxurious to say, 'Oh, yes, we go riding every Sunday and spend the day in the mountains or at the beach and never get home until long after dark! We have a picnic breakfast, a picnic hot dinner and a picnic supper!'

"My friends envy me of the long Sabbath rest—no rushing to get the children ready for Sunday-school—no worry of entertaining them afterwards—no fuss with a big Sunday dinner—just a long, lovely day in the open and an easy way of entertaining those who expect to be invited because you have a seven passenger car and scads to eat. We have five children and while I'd love to sit beside my husband, we'd spill every child if I did not hold onto them with main strength.

"Sunday is always hard on the mother of a large family and a recognition of a woman's toil on the holy day first induced my husband to buy a car. He had watched me get five children into frilly dresses and fresh starched suits, listened to me rehearse their texts, hunt their Bibles, see they had clean handkerchiefs and get the procession headed for the sanctuary and then center my exhausted energies on an elaborate dinner.

"'You are a slave to traditions,' he stormed, 'and I won't let you keep up this back breaking Sunday work. I'll buy a car tomorrow and next Sunday you hustle a few victuals into a basket and we'll eat wherever hunger overtakes us.'

"But what is a basket of sandwiches and cake, for seven people whose appetites are sharpened by the mountains and sea? Our stomachs rebelled against cold foods and at 9 o'clock I got a hot supper for my famished family and the rest of the night we tottered around ministering to the sick of our household.

"So we bought a fireless cooker to fit the running board, thermos bottles for hot and cold drinks, a big hamper for sandwiches, a specially contrived box for pies and cakes, a supply of picnic sets and paper dishes and camping silver. We dined in style, but oh, the work of it! On me fell the entire burden of serving and clearing up the debris; I was the target of every complaint. 'Why, ma, is this all we've got?' 'Oh, dear me,' the same old kind of sandwiches! 'Why don't you fix up something different!' 'Oh, look at the bugs and ants crawling all over every thing!' 'Oh, ma, you didn't wash this cup clean!' 'Oh, ma, my fork has breakfast egg on one of the tines!' 'Oh, I wish I had a chair, I'm so tired of sitting on my heels!' 'No this is'nt half as nice as eating at home!' 'Why did'nt you cook more when you was about it?' 'Why didn't you have something else?' 'I'm tired of the same stuff Sunday after Sunday!' 'Oh, dear, I wish we were home and had something fit to eat!'

"It was hard to bear when I had worked all the week to contrive three fine meals for my family and guests. All day Saturday I steamed and stewed and baked and brewed. After midnight I filled the fireless cooker with delicious food and the bottles with hot coffee and cold drinks of every kind. The hamper was full to the brim with the best I could cook besides the pies and cakes and quantities of fruit to be carried out the last thing in the morning as well as a bag of vegetables in the ice box so I could make a crisp, appetizing salad for dinner. The cost of the Sunday provisions was increased many fold and the work beyond computing.

"Everyone was on tiptoe Saturday night and I could scarcely get the children to bed. But oh, the misery of the morning when I hauled five cross, sleepy little folks onto the floor, forcibly washed their faces, combed their frowsy heads and literally lammed them into their camping clothes. But by the time they were actually in the car they were wide awake and wild to get started.

"At that moment my troubles really began, for while I opened the beds, closed the windows, pulled down the shades, fed the chickens, changed my dress, locked the door and did a dozen other things that every housewife must do when she leaves her home from dawn to dark—all during those hurried, distracted moments there was a perfect fusillade of angry voices.

"'Hurry up, Ma!' 'Hurry up!' 'Oh, don't be so slow!' 'Oh, don't putter!' 'Do hurry!' 'Did you ever see anybody as fussy as Ma?' It was like the patter of small shot, and ever now and again came the harsh command of my husband that sounded like the explosion of a big gun: 'Come on! Come on! Don't putter around all day! We want to get started!'

"And, finally, with my dress half buttoned, my hair disheveled, my leggins unbuckled, my arms full of wraps for everyone in the car, I would stumble breathlessly into the machine, jerk the children into their seats, smile vapidly on the well-dressed women fresh from a night of untroubled sleep and sink into a stiff-backed chair that I nervously swung into place. And I tell you my thoughts were not Sunday thoughts and I could have damned the whole outfit in the most picturesque language that ever polluted the lips of a perfect lady as everyone oh'd and ah'd and exclaimed: 'Isn't it perfectly lovely that you don't have to get breakfast or dinner—such a day of rest for you, my dear!'

"If I kept tab on the children my husband growled: 'Why under the sun can't you let them alone? Give them a good time! That's the reason I bought the car — and, of course, I wanted you to have it easy on Sundays.' But if anything happened, if any blood was drawn, if a child wandered away and was lost for a few minutes or waded out beyond his depth, there were bitter recriminations: 'I don't see why you don't watch them. You've nothing else to do, no bother about getting them into stiff, starch clothes. No making of hot waffles for breakfast. No Sunday dinner to cook and no Welsh rarebit for supper. Everything in baskets all ready to eat.'

"I was almost at the end of a long rope. Every time anyone cracked a whip I jumped. Every nerve in my body was like an ulcer and my worried husband invited our old family doctor for a week-end to study my case. When we got back from our usual trip the doctor told my husband that if I didn't stop having it so easy on Sundays I would be a maniac.

"'Get your breakfast at home,' said he. 'Follow it with a fine dinner on the road and have a nice little family supper from your hamper on your way home. It won't cost a bit more and her nerves won't be tangled with preparing a lot of stuff that is all mussed up and is neither hot nor cold at the end of a long day's outing. To get up before daylight is outrageous. You are all cross when you start and before you've gone five miles you're all hungry. Three times for regular meals and many times for cookies and apples must she rummage through all those baskets and bottles for chow. And why don't those old girls who share her hospitality bring their share of the eats? Why don't they take one of the folding seats and let her curl up in a corner with a pillow at her aching back.

"'Put her back on her pedestal where she belongs before you conceived this fool notion of making Sunday easy. If this is your idea of an easy time I pray you give her something hard. Quit telling her to hurry. Knock a child flat who dares to tell her she is slow or fussy or puttering. Quit finding fault with her because she doesn't walk out of the house as you do, leaving windows and doors wide open. Praise her, man, praise her. Praise is wine to a woman and many a one goes to the pyschopathic ward for the want of it.'

"And so we have reconstructed our Sunday outings. We get up in good season, have a hot, nourishing breakfast, a good dinner at a camp or hotel and in the dusk we eat our sandwiches and cake and enjoy the contents of the thermos bottles—and then home to bed and no one taunts mother with having an easy time. Everyone helps and there are no sharp commands or bitter words. It is a real Sunday, for we worship God out of doors. We find Him in every green thing, in every creeping and flying creature. We find new miracles every Sunday in the rocks and in the different soils. It is a day of rest and study and every day we love each other more and more. And on Monday morning we could each hold up a corner of the world because our bodies are rested and our spirits are free and buoyant."

Miss Carol Coman,

Of Covina, who goes to India, September 15, as the directing nurse in the Frances Newton Hospital near Lahore.

FROM CALIFORNIA TO CALCUTTA

Miss Coman Hopes to Render Substantial Aid to Needy of India.

BY MYRA NYE.

When Carol Coman of Covina leaves Los Angeles, September 15, on her way to the Orient, education, a wonderful specific training, and youth are a few of the treasures she will take from California to Calcutta in India.

Countless are the treasures that have come into California from India. These are costly fabrics, silken and hemp, there are marvelous jewels of a different cut than those of our occidental lapidaries. The famous Koh-i-noor diamond that came from India, last worn there by a Rajah of the Punjab, the very district where Miss Coman is going, has been the cause of many a plot and conspiracy. About it cling the memories of many a romance and tale of adventure. All these tangible treasures you may touch, your eyes may sparkle at the sight of them, they may waken greed or envy or avarice, but such treasures as Carol Coman takes to India gain value in the giving.

A CALIFORNIA GIRL.

Carol Coman is a California girl with a distinctly California training. She is going to take this training, and ability to do, to the little widows of India, the friendless children and women in the Punjab district near Lahore, the Kipling country which Kim knew as his own hand, the Wonder House which is none other than the British Museum and the Magic House which is the Masonic Lodge of Lahore.

To this romantic, colorful country Carol Coman goes as a missionary; not to preach, or to talk, but to nurse, to do, to act. Her expenses, $100 a month, are paid by the Presbyterian churches of Pasadena and Covina.

Miss Coman graduated from the Pasadena High School—all her wide education is Californian. When only fourteen years of age she won in a debating and oratorical contest over other Southern California high school contestants. Now she lays no claim to ability to declaim or to preach. Her desire is to do. She says quite simply when asked why she is going, "I do not see how I could do anything else. We young people have all wanted to serve during the war. Service was in the air. I do not see why it should be different with me now. If I serve, it is only logical to serve where there is the greatest need. I believe one of the places of greatest need among women and children is India."

Upon her graduation from the public schools, she went to Mills College and then to Berkeley where she graduated from the State university, having specialized in biology, zoology, bacteriology — those sciences that would help her in her future work—and in physical training. For two years she taught as a special teacher of physical training in the public schools of Pasadena, then another two years, the same subject in the high school at Berkeley and then she began her nurse's training course in the Pasadena hospital. No added knowledge nor pains to acquire it seemed too great for her to make her gift of service complete.

STUDIED AS A NURSE.

During the time of the epidemic last winter she was in the County Hospital in Los Angeles adding to her skill and learning as a nurse. She went out with the doctors of the community where she lives that she might learn the latest methods of hydro-therapeutics, that she might have the highest skill her own State could teach her in order to minister to dark skinned little girls and famine-fevered women in a far country.

She has just returned from New York City where she studied in a summer school under such masters as Robert E. Speer and Raymond Fosdick. She also took an intensive course in the language, one of many in India, which is spoken in the Punjab. The wide-spread, modern group of young people, ninety of them, with whom she associated in New York, all leave the United States the middle of September for service in foreign countries, but Carol Coman is the only one who leaves Southern California.

Before she began this last preparation for her actual task, chosen by her as her life work, she knew by experience the meaning of sacrifice. Before the United States was in the war, her lover, an expert forester, was killed by an accident in the forests up north. The two had planned when they should be married to do educational missionary work in the lumber camps of Oregon. The vines and flowers planted with the special thought for her outdoor wedding on the wide veranda of her pretty ranch home had reached maturity, the day of her wedding was near when the sad news of her loss came to her. But her friends have seen no faltering in her purpose. Rather her plans have enlarged, her study and work increased.

HER ANCESTRY.

Perhaps it was in the blood. Her mother's father, a young missionary, fifty-seven years ago was killed in the passes of the Bulgarian Mountains when he was on his way from one of his posts to another. With him at the time were his young wife and their tiny baby, now the mother of Carol Coman. To be assured of their safety, the zealous young American forfeited his own life that others might be saved; but the young wife, overcome by the shock and exposure, died shortly after her experience. So during her girlhood and young womanhood Carol Coman has heard from her mother of missionary sacrifice.

It is a curious far-away country to which Miss Coman travels, but even in the remote district where the hospital is, fifty miles from Lahore, she will find another California woman stationed. At the Frances Newton Hospital, where Miss Coman will be in charge of all the nursing, she will meet Dr. Maud Allen, whose mother, Mrs. J. J. Allen now resides in Los Angeles. Dr. Allen has been in India for twenty-five years. During that time she has adopted twenty-four little Indian girls and has brought some of them to a beautiful maturity, saving them from horrors undreamed of in our own country. Miss Coman's voice takes on a yearning note when she tells of these helpless children. Her hope is to save others as Dr. Allen has. "I love babies best when they are tiniest, best of all when they are only five minutes old," she adds with a whimsical smile.

After leaving California she sails from Victoria, that English city more English than England. She exchanges the odors of hedge-laden scents of Victoria and orange blossom odors of her home for the mingled odors of perfumed tobacco, queer dried fruits, smoke from mady hookahs, assa foetida from Kabul, aromatics and spices of the east, ghee cooking of food out of doors in the bazaars, clarified butter and sandalwood—all in the air of every Indian city and bazaar.

STOPS IN JAPAN.

On her way she stops at Yokohama in Japan, then to Shanghai and Hongkong in China, touching India at Calcutta, then 1500 miles up country to Lahore, where in the place of the familiar facades of Broadway's buildings her eyes will become accustomed to jutting carved balconies, to bazaars, to edifices of marble inclosed within white chunan walls and embellished by brilliant-colored tile, unlike any other the world over. She will see domes of marble and fretwork rise above rows of banyan trees. Here in this strange country she will find her work awaiting her.

Business Poor in the Hamlets.

Turnips: I say, old chap, what sort of business did you do with your Shakespearean repertoire this season?

Carrots: Rotten! "Twelfth Night" didn't see the second night; "As You Like It" wasn't as they liked it; "A Winter's Tale" couldn't be continued, "The Midsummer Night" was frosty; the "Merchant" did no trade, and "The Tempest" swamped us.—[Cartoons Magazine.

STRANGE HAPPENINGS HERE AND ABROAD.

WOMAN STEALS CHILD BECAUSE OF ITS SMILE; SOLDIER SAYS WIFE BEATS HIM.

[From the Philadelphia Ledger.]

A New York woman, recently arrested for stealing a baby, said she had to do it because she saw him smile.

Every Catholic church in New York City was under a special police guard recently, because of a report that the Bolsheviki intended to bomb them.

A prisoner in a New York court said that he beat his wife because he loved her so much and was jealous of attentions she received.

One of the "hell fighters" of the returning Three Hundred and Sixty-ninth Infantry recently haled his wife into court for whipping him. He said she was a "holy terror."

The use of beer and light wines in the treatment of certain medical cases was declared essential at the recent convention of the Allied Medical Association of America.

The services of the War Labor Board at Washington were recently required to settle the question whether union buttons should be worn by employees of the Toledo trolley lines.

At a certain concert in Turin, Italy, the playing of a Beethoven Symphony was interrupted by an attack made by Conductor Toscanini on the second violinist for making a mistake.

An every-name movement was launched by the Episcopal church in New York to reach every person whose name is inscribed on the church roster, and awaken all to a sense of duty.

A widower with nine children applied to the manager of the Municipal Employment Bureau of Paterson, N. J., for a "kind, motherly woman" who would marry him.

The bestowal of knighthood on Walter de Frece, the London theatrical manager, makes his wife, the former male impersonator of the vaudeville stage, Vesta Tilley, the Lady de Frece.

Congressman Blanton of Texas recently charged that radical labor leaders were responsible for bomb outrages. He demanded to know whether organized labor had so cowed Congress that it feared to express its convictions.

The head of the organization opposing Wilson's League of Nations is Col. Henry Watterson, Democrat, while the head of the organization favoring the league is ex-President William H. Taft, Republican.

Congressman Kahn of California, recently returned from Europe, says it is "a hell-hole of political intrigue and plotting," and that the League of Nations is not going to alter the human emotions of people who for centuries have cherished hatreds, leading to bitter warfare.

It is estimated that it will cost the United States $1,000,000,000 to maintain the price of wheat at $2.26 a bushel this year. If a man had spent $1 every minute of every hour, day and year since January 1, A.D. 1, until today, he would have spent only a little more than $1,000,000,000.

The Duchess of Somerset denounces the "outrageous dresses now being worn in the British metropolis." The Marchioness of Townshend describes the prevailing fashion as "almost immoral in its inadequacy," and says that Paris reports skirts slit to the hips. Lady Hastings criticises the new styles as "day undress and evening no dress."

Let the people think!

SAVED HIS LIFE.

A rather seedy-looking man rushed into a coach as the train stopped at the station, exclaiming:

"Has any one any brandy? A lady in the next carriage has just fainted."

Half a dozen flasks were at once offered. Seizing one the man removed the stopper, and, putting the flask to his lips, took a long, lingering pull at the fluid.

"Ah," he exclaimed, with intense feeling. "I feel better now. Many thanks, sir. Seeing a woman faint always upsets me so."—[Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

By MARTIN CASEY.

Blame it on Adam. If only he had the forethought to properly train Eve in the Garden of Eden there would be no such thing as original sin and prohibition today. But he failed to exercise the good, sound judgment that he might have and so down through the ages it has been found as essential to train certain types of wives as it is to train a circus animal to make it perform well.

A lion tamer, in spite of his hazardous job, has an easy time of it compared with some of the husbands who find it necessary to train their wives to make them what they should be. Some women, under the right kind of teaching and training, in due course of time go through their paces with the alacrity of a performing circus dog that has been taught his tricks from puppyhood.

Others are like the old dog that cannot be taught new tricks. They cannot, or will not, respond to the training, and the husband saddled to that kind of wife, has as much chance of training her into becoming the spouse he would desire her to be as Wilhelm Hözenhollern has of being elected President of the United States.

This particular species can be likened to the conscientious objector who flatly refuses to obey the commands of his officers or do anything to help his country in time of war. But the ends are entirely different. After lolling around an army camp for months, doing nothing, but being clothed and fed at the expense of the country, the C. O. is finally honorably discharged and paid in full by the government which he refused to serve.

The conscientious objector in the household generally winds up in the divorce courts, loses home and husband and her happiness is shattered.

WAR SHOWED VALUE OF TRAINING.

The value of training was never more forcibly demonstrated than it was by the great world war. Men and youths from all walks of life who had never before handled a rifle were transformed into first-rate fighting men after a few months of training, and went across and proved to the Hun that they had no peers when it came right down to scrapping. And all because of the splendid training they received.

Without proper training success cannot be achieved in any endeavor, whether it be in the army or navy, in business, the professions, or in the various crafts that go to make up the industrial world. Children are trained in the home, and, then, why not wives? A great many of them require it just as much as the little ones do, and it is up to the husband, as head of the house, to train his better half when he realizes that she needs to be put over the hurdles.

If he doesn't, he shows the same laxity as the officer who fails to teach the raw recruit the position of the soldier and otherwise neglects to drill him properly. Then when the home goes to smash he must take a large part of the blame. If, on the other hand, he tries and fails, the responsibility isn't his.

There are many ways of training a wife, among them jealousy, fear, cajolery, tears, indifference and affection, any one of which can be used as a training method to fit a particular case. Different instruction is given in the infantry, the artillery, ordnance, aviation, etc. The physician prescribes different treatment in cases of pneumonia, measles, mumps and the pip. And so it is up to the husband to decide the method he should employ in training his wife. He has to diagnose the case himself and apply the training cure.

While one wife may be successfully trained by her breadwinner following a certain course, it would not prove effective in the case of another. Circumstances and the temperament of the woman are the two important things to be considered.

UPBRAIDS HERSELF FOR FOLLY.

Let's take jealousy as the first subject in the course for husbands on "How to Train Your Wife."

By employing that means of arousing her jealousy can a husband train his wife and make her all that she should be when she begins to slip away from him, neglect her home and seek the companionship of others?

Yes, for many a woman who starts on the matrimonial toboggan is brought to her senses only when she realizes that another has come into the life of her husband. Then it dawns upon her that she does care for him and upbraids herself for her folly. She is jealous of what is her own, unless her affection for him has dimmed and flickered out. But take it that she does care, but doesn't know how to be a regular wife, and he sees fit to make her jealous just to jack her up.

Jealousy is a noble or an ignoble passion, according to the object. And with it there is bred suspicion and distrust—and unhappiness. The jealous woman doubts neither the integrity nor sincerity of her opponent. She becomes suspicious and is fearful of the intentions of the other woman, who, she feels, is trying to rob her of what rightfully belongs to her.

Her jealousy is fanned into a flaming fire of bitterness and hate against her rival for the affections of her husband, and when she comes to this state of mind she is more than eager and willing to do his bidding and be the wife that he desires her to be.

Cruel torture to subject a woman to such heartache, anguish and mental distress? Well, what of the woman who knows that she has her husband in the hollow of her hand and, although she cares for him, elects to go her merry way, disregarding his home comforts and happiness? She deserves to be made jealous and ofttimes it serves as the only purpose in straightening out domestic difficulties.

When Larry discovers that the gulf between him and Rene is widening because of one or more reasons for which she is to blame, let him go home and rave about the beauty and winsomeness of the new stenographer in the office. Being a married man, it would be beyond the bounds of propriety for him to carry on a flirtation, although it wouldn't be a bad idea, at that, to have Rene believe that it wasn't beyond him; but there is nothing to prevent him from dwelling on the sweetness and grace and charm of Sue or Agnes or Bessie.

LARRY HAS HER ON THE GO.

He can refrain from whispering into Rene's ear all the sweet things he was wont to tell her in the days gone by and instead harp on the virtues of other girls he knows. Or perhaps he might dig out an old photograph of a former sweetheart and place it on his dresser. If Rene stamps her little foot as she tears the picture into pieces and shrieks that she won't have that "creature's photograph in the house," then Larry has her on the go.

Drastic treatment, to be sure, but mighty effective. And it's right easy, boys, to make 'em jealous. If they care at all they're bound to be, and once you impress upon them the idea that perhaps they are not the only ones in the world you'll have 'em lying awake nights plotting and planning how they're going to thwart the other woman and have you once again and for all for their own.

You don't actually have to break faith with the objects of your devotion or commit any indiscretion that might land you in the divorce court. But just give them a little food for thought, when they begin to slip, by arousing their jealousy, and you'll soon have them fawning over you and doing their darndest to win you back. Because they're human and just as long as there's a spark of affection left in their souls, you'll manage to get them where they belong and keep them there.

Yes, indeed, jealousy is one of the most important subjects in the curriculum of the College of Matrimony—if you don't go too far with it.

What's the Difference?

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 1.—[To the Editor of The Times:] As one of the readers of your paper, would like you to define the difference between the two organizations, I.W.W. and F. of L. of today, as I am unable to see any; only the first are arrested when found, and the other gathers property from every corner of the country and places it on the side tracks and leaves it and refuses to help save it themselves or allow anyone else to do so. Would like to know why the difference is made. If you can answer would be greatly pleased.

E. A. STARR.

About Rents.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 3.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The public is desperate.

Apartment-house and hotel landlords are demanding the most outrageous rents, simply because the people cannot live in the streets.

Why is not something done to prevent these landlords from bleeding the public as they are doing? Talk about profiteers! They should start in on the Apartment-house Association. It is setting up its own rules, regardless of the laws, and according to landlords, are enforcing them as the union is trying to do.

Do you not think that if the public would fight the high rents, the same as the leading business men have taken a stand against the closed shop, that this would have results?

I feel that your interests are for the people and that you will do all in your power regarding this matter, for which you will receive the reward such action merits.

A READER OF THE TIMES.

Opposes Inheritance.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 2.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The chief menace of the Plumb plan lies in its disposition to create an oligarchy controlling the railroad industry. This would be countered by workers in other industries striving to take over the control of those industries, until at last we should have every separate industry in the hands of its workers, and each group warring to better its condition at the expense of every other group.

However, the only way to head off the Plumb plan is to propose something better. The defects of the old system are so well known that no one can deny them. As the age of railroad building recedes, decade by decade, and the old desert-conquering pioneer capitalists pass away, the ownership, by fair transfers and foul, comes more and more to be vested in persons who did not build the lines, but constitute a class legally entitled to live without either labor, mentality, or enterprise. Without their aid, the public perpetually replaces the railroads. The owners may be children, profligates, or fools. Seeing such a ridiculous system in operation breeds Bolshevism. We cannot afford to say that because Jay Gould was enterprising in 1865, therefore, some person born today, and inheriting some railroad stock, should be entitled to live at the expense of his fellows, for whom he will produce nothing, and for whom Jay Gould produced nothing, since all he built has worn out, and been replaced by other men. Every article consumed by a person who does not work has been produced by someone else, who did not get it. When this is seen to happen, it is no wonder that a dangerous discontent is aroused.

Such a system as this has the same effect as if each member of the public had severally compacted in 1865, "I will borrow some money from Jay Gould, and my unborn grandson shall repay Jay Gould's unborn grandson." Would it be any wonder if the grandson repudiated the debt? Our laws wisely limit the privileges of inventors and authors to a few years only, and the same limitation should apply to industrial pioneering. The chief thing capitalism needs to commend it to public favor is some system of limiting the reward of enterprise to those whose enterprise is useful to society, and who manifest that enterprise themselves, not by proxy. There should be no passing along of a perpetual mortgage on human production, in favor of those who produce nothing. The borrowings of one generation should be repaid by the same generation.

Among capitalists who really are enterprising and useful there surely must be some who can prove the fact by replying to the Plumb plan with some just and practical proposal that will eliminate the bad features of the old plan without incurring the dangers of the new.

THINKER.

To Stop Strikes.

SANTA PAULA, Sept. 3.—[To the Editor of the Times:] At this time, when so many are flooding The Times with their views on the railway labor situation and so many solutions are being offered, perhaps it would not be amiss for a poor doddering old farmer to offer his mite to the flood.

It seems that we, the great public, have allowed things to drift along until now we have reached a climax and it us up to us to fight it out to a finish. Labor unions, with the assistance of vote-hungry politicians, seemingly have reached the conclusion that they are now our masters and by the strike have power over our lives, property and happiness. The situation is intolerable.

I have read a great deal of theorizing as to the proper solution of the difficulties in which we now find ourselves, some good and some silly. Now I offer a solution for your consideration; a solution that looks so simple, just and effective it almost seems that it can't be so, else I would have seen it advocated before.

The solution is to procure the passage of a simple, effective law, applying to all public service corporations, a law that recognizes that the interest of capital and labor in all public utilities is secondary to the interest of the public. Public utilities include transportation, electricity, gas, water, telephone and telegraph. A law that would require every person accepting employment with a public service corporation in any capacity to sign a contract acknowledging his obligation to the public not to strike or to induce others to strike for any purpose or to take any other action that might interfere with the service of the corporation to the public. When dissatisfied with wages or conditions he may quit the job after having given suitable notice as may be provided for in his contract.

Suitable penalities should be provided for any infringement of the contract and a further penalty that any person convicted of violating this law be forever after barred from further employment with any public service corporation.

Now that is a rough outline of the scheme. If it is sound and we could interest the long suffering public enough in it so that even a small part of the voters of the country, who object to longer standing in fear of labor union domination of our public utilities, would notify their Congressmen of their wishes and demand the passage of a law incorporating the above scheme. I think our Congressmen would receive so much mail they would realize that the union votes they have been catering to in the past are but a very small minority and that it would be the part of wisdom for them to pass this law that would protect the peace and prosperity of the whole country.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Q.: Why is Friday considered unlucky? S. C.

A.: It is supposed that Friday began to be considered unlucky from the fact that Christ was crucified on that day.

Q.: What are riparian rights? F. W. G.

A.: The term riparian rights is used in connection with the laws governing ownership and use of rivers and streams. For instance, where opposite banks of unnavigable streams belong to different persons, the stream and bed thereof are legally common to both. The riparian rights of a landholder whose property is bounded by water depend on riparian laws and also on the wording of his title.

Q.: Why is the public health service a part of the Treasury Department? R. V.

A.: The public health service was originally only a hospital service for the merchant marine, supported by a small tax levied on the wages of the men, and collected by the customs division of the treasury. Thus co-operation with the treasury was very close, and in 1900 when the work was enlarged it was made a part of the Treasury Department. It is only since 1912 that it has been known as the public health service.

Q.: How should exquisite be pronounced? Q. G. C.

A.: Standard dictionaries give the pronunciation eks kwi zit, with the accent on the first syllable.

Q.: Who was the Indian Queen Esther? J. F.

A.: Queen Esther Montour was an Indian chieftainess, reputed to have been the grand-daughter of the Count de Frontenac, and to have become the wife of a chief of the Senecas. In the Wyoming massacre, July, 1778, she is said to have tomahawked not less than twelve helpless persons in revenge for the death of her son who had been killed the day before.

Q.: How can dill pickles be made? J. J.

A.: The following recipe has been tested by government authorities:

"Wash the cucumbers, put a layer of salt in a pickle crock, then a layer of grape leaves, then a layer of cucumbers packed tightly. Sprinkle with salt and lay in two or three whole peppers and a sprinkling of dill seeds. Finish with a layer of cucumbers and on top of them a layer of dill, grape leaves and a few slices of rye bread. A few cherry leaves and grape vine tendrils will give variety to the flavor. Cover with cold water, weight down with a plate and tie a paper over the crock, and leave it for twelve days, when the pickles will be ready to be eaten.

Q.: Who said "A rose by any other name would smell as sweet?" D. N.

A.: The quotation is from Shakespeare's play, "Romeo and Juliet." The entire quotation is, "What's in a name? That which we call a rose by any other name would smell as sweet."

Q.: Does a smuggler, if caught, have to give up the goods illegally brought into the country.

A.: The penalty for smuggling is forfeiture of the articles smuggled, as well as criminal prosecution.

CANE OF SMOKELESS POWDER.

I have on my desk a full-sized cane made of smokeless cannon powder. It is about an inch in diameter and about three feet long and consists of a single stick of powder just as it came from the presses. It is brown, tough, flexible and nearly transparent and looks very much like a big stick of horehound candy. If I should light it with a match it would burn with a bright yellow flame, about as fast as celluloid does. I could easily light it and then blow it out again.

For use in large cannon the powder is cut into cylindrical grains about an inch in diameter and two inches long. I have seen a soldier light one of these grains with a match, light a cigarette from the powder flame, then blow out the flaming powder and put the remnant of the grain in his pocket. While it takes an appreciable length of time for a grain of powder to burn in the open air, it must be made to burn with extreme rapidity when it is used in a cannon, and in order to accomplish this the smokeless powder used in large guns is ignited by an auxiliary charge of "black powder," which always burns with practically instantaneous speed, whether it is confined or not.—[Lieut.-Col. The evening dress made by draping and draping, serpentinely around the form, yards of soft material, accentuated by glittering things—paillettes, sequins, iridescents of every sort—until the eye is fairly stunned with brilliance.

Thin, thinner, thinnest of evening gowns, with which are worn the most luxurious of fur wraps, extending to the ankles, and there—oh, well, there we find only lace of finest silken weaving!

An unabated rage for necklaces, chains, golf strands—everything in the way of colorful neck jewelry. Sometimes the Parisian women—who are even yet our fashion guides—wear many and various of these ornaments at once.

Everything for the winter homing. And it is being done at that big house of house furnishings, if one may judge by the throngs there selecting articles useful and ornamental, in that September sale. Prices are quite pre-war-like; and there are offerings novel as well as staple.

Autumn chill cries "Bye, bye!" to summer; and feminine prudence, aided by special prices, cries "Buy! Buy!" to furs.

Can't you see them? "Sea Garden Pearls." The name brings them realistically before the gaze and the price brings them around the neck, of even the modestly-pursed girl; and, furthermore, pearls must be had—whether you can or not. Of such are the pearls of "Sea Garden."

There are those who will declare that your choice in perfume reveals your character. And when I followed closely on the scent, during a recent shopping tour of a famous actress—no less a one, in fact, than Miss Blanch Sweet—I could scarcely wait to learn her choice in essences. Scene: The perfumery section, at that so-reliable store. Set: The French importations for which this place is noted. Choice of perfumers, Coty. Essence selected: Jasmin. Price paid, $56 for an eight-ounce bottle. Jasmin is said to be a sophisticated odor. Miss Sweet looked long upon and fondly handled an exquisite atomizer, shaped like a narghile, and one could see by her expression that she promised herself that indulgence, next time.

Last-forevers.

Although no one wants big sister's clothes to last forever, the entire family conspires to make little brother's last. That is why some clever manufacturer invented the leatherized suits for boys. Reinforced with leather, just where the most wear comes, these suits are what mothers have always wished for.

Men's Store de Luxe.

That enlarged and beautiful store for men is worth a visit from the entire family. Jacobean are the fittings throughout—the cases, the chairs and tables, the finish, the woodwork. There are, in fact, two stores, set opposite each other across a white marble hall, which makes for interest. The beauty of the shops extends into the hallways, by means of Jacobean seats, and the arrangement of the merchandise partakes of the good taste used in the furnishings and fittings. Of course, men do not care for "vanities," but quite conspicuous are the handsome mirrors which reflect, full length, the man who buys. Something novel in one window could not fail to attract even the feminine eye, however unpracticed in the arts pertaining to man's attire. Lounging robes in the latest shades—capucine, eminence, burnt mahogany—and in that richest of material, crushed and moire velours.

Already Laddered.

"There!" exclaimed Adeline, as we conned at the hosiery counter, "that solves one of my problems!" and she held up a pair of the newly-popular drop-stitch hose. "You see, these come already laddered. One does not have to wait to wear them even once to have them 'run,' from ankle arch to elastic top. I'll take six pairs." I had not thought thus of the new stocking fad, but there may be something in it. Adeline is a clothes philosopher.

Parisian Gaiety.

Nella writes me from Paris that never, never, has the French capital been so gay. "The French spirit, depressed by the war and its consequences, has rebounded and revelry is almost mad, in its continuous round; dress is more gorgeous than ever before, and the cafes are resplendent with joyous parties. Paris has always loved to dine away from home, and dress for the restaurant is as much a study of the French makers, as is dress for home, for society functions, or for the street.

The prices? Well, the French said, during the war, that American doughboys set a pace of expenditures which France had never known before, and she has gone them one better in making prices which need no augmentation. But—again—French inventiveness in matters of la mode, has quite outdone itself.

Revivified.

That "woman's shop in a man's store" has come up smiling with something new, and begins the season with a long stride and a full breath. English clothes for women! Made from a material called "tweed-twist"—or something; fashioned in the tailorish mode which has made fame for English clothes for men, the fabrics of these suits and coats is as qualified as jersey, in that it does not wrinkle—and when we have told it all, is not that the quality, pre-eminent, which has given jersey so firm a hold on woman's fancy? These new clothes are so wearable, so trig and smart, and—let us whisper the staggering fact—are truly reasonable in cost! The conservativeness in cut is such as to render them available for more than a single season, too, which is fact No. 2 on the tablets of economy.

CONFLICTING FAITHS.

Many Moslems Would Prefer Jews to Christians in Palestine.

Syria is the long strip of relatively habitable land lying between the Mediterranean Sea and the vast expanse of the Arabian Desert. The main line of communication between Asia and Africa, Syria has throughout history been a meeting place and battle ground of nations, and today, as formerly, its racially mixed population is divided into many antagonistic factions, the dividing lines being mostly those of religion.

The majority of the population is Arab speaking and Arab feeling, however mixed its blood, the bonds of Islam and Arabic culture having smoothed former differences away. But there are several minorities which hold themselves jealously apart. In the northwest, near the Mediterranean, rises the mountain mass of the Lebanon, inhabited largely by a Christian population, the Maronites, in spiritual communion with Rome and for centuries under the political protection of France. The Versailles Peace Conference has recognized France's right to obtain a sphere of influence in Syria. The disputed point is as to the size of the sphere France wants to include virtually the whole of Syria, stretching inland beyond the famous city of Damascus. But the Kingdom of Hedjaz claims the Syrian hinterland, and Britain favors this contention. The sympathies both of the Arab race and the Islamic world at length are with the Hedjaz in this dispute, and a French occupation of Damascus would be regarded with much Moslem ill-will. In fact, most Mohammedans do not like the idea of any French sphere in Syria.

In the southern portion of the Syrian region lies the small but storied land of Palestine. Here clash the interests of three great religions—Christianity, Islam and Judaism—to all of which Palestine is holy ground. In the eyes of the Moslems, Jerusalem is, after Mecca, the most sacred spot on earth. A majority of the inhabitants of Palestine are Moslem Arabic. Considerable Christian and Jewish minorities also exist, the Jews having greatly increased of late years owing to the Zionist colonization. The Zionist dream of making Palestine a Jewish state awakens mixed feelings in Islam. Fundamentally Mohammedans do not like the idea, and Arabs nationalists are opposed, holding as they do that Palestine is today an Arab land. But many Moslems believe that a Jewish Palestine would be a bulwark against Christian penetration.—[Lathrop Stoddard, in World's Work.

BIG PRIVATE EXCHANGES.

The size of the private telephone exchange grows with the erection of every hotel or office building of any considerable proportions. The largest ever constructed is that of a New York hotel which has been recently opened to the public. It occupies 3165 square feet of floor space, having an operating room 110 feet long by fifteen feet wide, a terminal room thirty feet long and twenty-five feet wide, a restroom twenty-three feet by fifteen feet and a locker and washroom thirty feet by fourteen feet. The operating force consists of one chief operator, one assistant chief operator, eight supervisors and 110 attendants. The switchboard consists of twenty-three positions. Thirteen positions are equipped with telautographs used for paging and announcing only. The switchboard has a capacity of 3340 extensions and 180 trunks. The hotel has telephone service in each of its 2200 rooms, and there are forty public telephone booths served by four switchboards connected with the main switchboard. The following gives some idea of a few of the items which make up part of the telephone system: 630 fuses, 1170 condensers, 2400 relays, 5350 lamps, 38,500 jacks, 750,000 soldered connections, 7,926,000 feet of wire.—[Indianapolis News.

Reason for an Advance.

Harve Parsons agrees that the price of funerals probably will rise since the undertakers have changed their organization name to "The National Selective Morticians." # SUPERSTITIONS OF THE SEA.

You May Not Believe in Them, but the Only Officer to Lose His Life on the United States Destroyer Jacob Jones was the Third to Light His Cigarette from the Same Match.

BY THE CHIEF YEOMAN.

Sailors are superstitious. So are naval officers. They are almost as superstitious as the ordinary seamen, and they admit it.

Sitting in an office one day last week were a lieutenant-commander of the United States Navy, a lieutenant and a business man. The business man offered cigarettes and each took one. Next a match—just one—and the lieutenant applied the flame to his cigarette, then, while talking in a nonchalant manner, handed the match to the business man, who in turn, after getting his "light," offered the match to the lieutenant-commander, asking, "Any superstition in being the third man on one match?"

"Yes," was the instant reply, "and I'll tell you why." The reply was from Lieutenant-Commander J. K. Richards, in charge of the naval recruiting station in Kansas City, who was on the ill-fated destroyer, Jacob Jones, when it was torpedoed and sunk by Germans in English waters, December 6, 1917.

"Superstition, formerly to this incident, was the least of my thoughts; all the stories of sailors went into one ear and out the other. However, I met with it in a full fledged form in a way that affected us all.

"The day the Jacob Jones was torpedoed and sunk I was on watch. Late in the afternoon Stanton F. Kalk, a junior lieutenant was to relieve me. Kalk, with N. N. Gates, another junior lieutenant, approached, and while we were talking the cigarettes and three men on a match drama was enacted, Kalk being the third man. There was no comment about it and Kalk took the watch.

AND THEN—"TORPEDO!"

"About sundown someone shouted, 'Torpedo!' No submarine was in sight, but the alarm was true. The torpedo was about 600 yards from us. We were cruising about thirteen knots and hour for the English Channel, after having left a convoy at Brest, and when the torpedo was seen the engine room was ordered full speed ahead. In thirty seconds the engines accelerated to twenty-three knots, a remarkable circumstance, but this was not enough to take us out of the path of the torpedo, which struck the after oil tanks. Out of a complement of ninety-eight men and six officers, sixty-four lost their lives and two were captured, Kalk being one of those who perished, and the only commissioned officer to go down.

"This instance alone makes me feel that there is something that follows, something disastrous, to the third man on a match."

It is the old match superstition applied to the sea. It is evenly applicable on land. In the army, business office, club or on the street, it is difficult to find a man willing to be the third man on a match. Yet in the navy the superstition is applicable more so because of the inclination of sailors to add it to the big list of superstitions.

WHAT "HOO-DOOED" CYCLOPS.

As the world moves to a more modern degree some of the superstitions are discarded until revived by some incident. They are almost extinct in the United States Navy. Doubtless the superstition of the ill-fated collier Cyclops is a nut for sailors to crack. It is probable they would like to know what fatal mistake some member of the crew made or what omen of disaster followed the vessel that left port and never was heard from since in an authentic way, except a note found in a bottle buried in the sand near Valesco, Tex., recently, and even this is discredited. However, sailors will believe some member of the crew committed an error that sent the collier to the "port of missing ships."

There are superstitions sailors "take to" as regularly as land people believe in the ill omen of a "crowing hen." The rainbow is one the sailors watch as an omen of fortune or misfortune, with the verses:

Rainbow at night, the sailor's delight,
Rainbow at morning, the sailor's warning.

"When rats leave a ship the sailors will quit, was one of the oldest traits among sailors," said W. Henderson, who has been with the naval recruiting station in Kansas City twelve years, and who was on the sea thirty-five years on sailing ships and men-o'-war. "It sounded the doom of the vessel. Take the Arthur Burton at Boston, for instance. When the rats deserted the Arthur Burton the captain could not get a crew. Finally, in desperation, he sailed and has never been heard from since. However, this superstition is dying out among crews of men-o'-war.

"Whistling is another old ill omen among sailors, because it drives away the wind, and therefore, no sailor is allowed to whistle.

"In early days of sailing when a ship raised its homeward-bound pennant, the crew members threw their caps overboard to insure a successful voyage home."

However, to throw overboard any castoff apparel was an ill omen. An Irish youth was walking deck one day on a transport during the war. Going to the rails he threw overboard and old greasy pair of overalls. Almost immediately a junior officer reprimanded him severely and said:

"Don't you know that's bad luck; something's sure to happen?"

The Irishman put little faith in the omen, but in less than twenty-four hours a storm was encountered that threatened to destroy the vessel.

When a mascot was taken on board there was a rule that it must stay until dead. To desert it in some port or throw it overboard was another ill omen and surely would bring disaster. In one instance, it is related, a ship put back to port to pick up a mascot that was left behind and which refused to fraternize with any other vessel.

Time was when sailors would not think of sailing without a charm or pocket piece of some kind to ward off bad luck. Wind beads were a favorite and in nearly every port were maidens to sell them.

Tattoos were considered essential for bon voyage, especially the butterfly on the shoulder predominated for good luck. A pig tattooed on the foot was assurance the man never would drown, and sailors say not a man is known to have drowned if he possessed this significance of charm against fate.

And so the old sailor by the hour could spin yarns and point to strange fate—inexplicable disaster always laid at the door of superstition. Of course, Lieutenant-Commander Richards doesn't "take stock" in all superstitions. He says he has no aversion to walking under a ladder because sailors must walk under ladders every day in work at sea, or breaking a mirror—if necessary. But he does know that the only officer to be lost on the Jacob Jones was the officer who was the third to light a cigarette off one match.

Before President Wilson comes, learn the great memorial song of world ideals, "For Love of the World We Gave Them."—[Advertisement.

—Yes, indeed,—something infinitely more commendable in the eyes of those who labor for the love of creative excellence.

—Oh, this is not so rare a quality as you might think. A great deal of Sentiment and Romance will often be found in the unseen forces of commerce.

—There are certain examples of manufacture whose interests are not solely the "Dollar Interest."

—And John S. Brown's Linens are one luminous example that peaks its Distinction far into the clouds of Supremacy.

—Linen is Linen to be sure—just as Diamonds are Diamonds. But there is in each a degree of excellence to which Scrupulous Sincerity aims —And this degree of excellence is eminently manifest in John S. Brown's Linens—for only the very finest of home-grown flax is allowed to participate in its structure, and only the most exact and able craftsmanship is employed in the process of its making.

—Any less exactitudes could not possibly produce a Tabling as fine as gossamer—yet so sturdy and strong that its Service is measured by generations.

—For years John S. Brown's Linens have taken the World's Awards—and for years Linen Connoisseurs have pronounced it in a class supreme.

—You may readily observe its character and superiority by a glance; you may accentuate by comparison—and if you love exquisite Napery, you will come to Bullock's Linen Store at your convenience to test the merit of John S. Brown's famous grass bleached Linens. —Second Floor.

BITS OF VERSE.

The Hostage.

We hid our fears when fighting.
Are we afraid of Peace?
So wan a look she has, poor dear,
We know not what she is.

We thought of her in longing.
Dearest and loveliest;
Most musical, with shining hair
And sun-encinctured breast.

Can this be she, then, hiding
The dust marks on her dress,
Who comes, like some sad hostage,
To ask for happiness?
—[Ernest Rhys in Westminster Gazette.

At Sunset.

Love came across the meadows
At the dawning of the day;
Before him fled the shadows,
Past the mountains, far away;
Love come, a dear, unbidden guest;
The mated bird sang by its nest;
While morning caroled in my breast,
And oh, the joy of living!

Love came across the meadows
At the dawning of the day
But left me in the shadows
When the night fell cold and gray;
He fled, the false and fickle guest
The bird drooped by the empty nest;
The evening chilled my lonely breast,
And, oh the woe of living!
—[James B. Kenyon in the Harvest Home.

Inside Dope.

(A physician recommends the removal of the large intestine as a means of prolonging life.)

Fare thee well! and, if forever,
Large intestine, fare thee well!
A physician says that I can,
Do without thee just as well.
Furthermore, he says, without thee
I shall live a longer life.
Hurry with the anaesthetic!
Hasten with the carving knife!
Soon, oh useless large intestine,
When the germ of age doth grow,
You may meet the appendix,
That I lost some time ago!
In the wonderous realm of science
Such astounding things befall,
Soon it may become the fashion
To have no inside at all!
—[Cartoons Magazine.

The Very Thing!

Said Wiseman Brown the other day,
"You tell me food's extremely high,
And often you're obliged to pay
A doubled price for what you buy.

There is no lack of things to eat,
But they are nearly all controlled
By specualtors on the street,
Who stocks for higher prices hold.

From farmer down to retail man,
Indeed, it seems to be agreed
To carry on a gouging plan,
And in their schemes they well succeed.

The way to stop all this appears
Quite plain, the remedy won't fail:
Round up at once these profiteers
And put the guilty ones in jail."
—[Christian Science Monitor.

Unsolved.

In the dark depths of a dog's eyes;
In the far call of a speeding train;
In the dim shapes of seaward faring ships;
In mastheads fingering the crowded skies;
In lighted windows seen across the plain,
And in the smiles that tremble to your lips,
There is a mystery God made to live
Unsolved, but beautiful and fugitive.
—[Amory Hare in Contemporary Verse.

WHAT CONSULS SAY.

The Ad Club of Victoria, Australia, is preparing a circular for distribution in the United States, making suggestions for American advertisers in regard to the seasons, restrictions on space and type, trade terms, and other subjects, which may increase the efficiency of American advertising matter in that country.

A number of cotton mills are at present under construction in Tientsin, which is apparently destined to be a textile center of China. The Heng Yuen Cotton Weaving Company is putting up a mill, with 300 looms and 10,000 spindles, at a cost of $900,000, to manufacture sheetings, drills and heavy canvas.

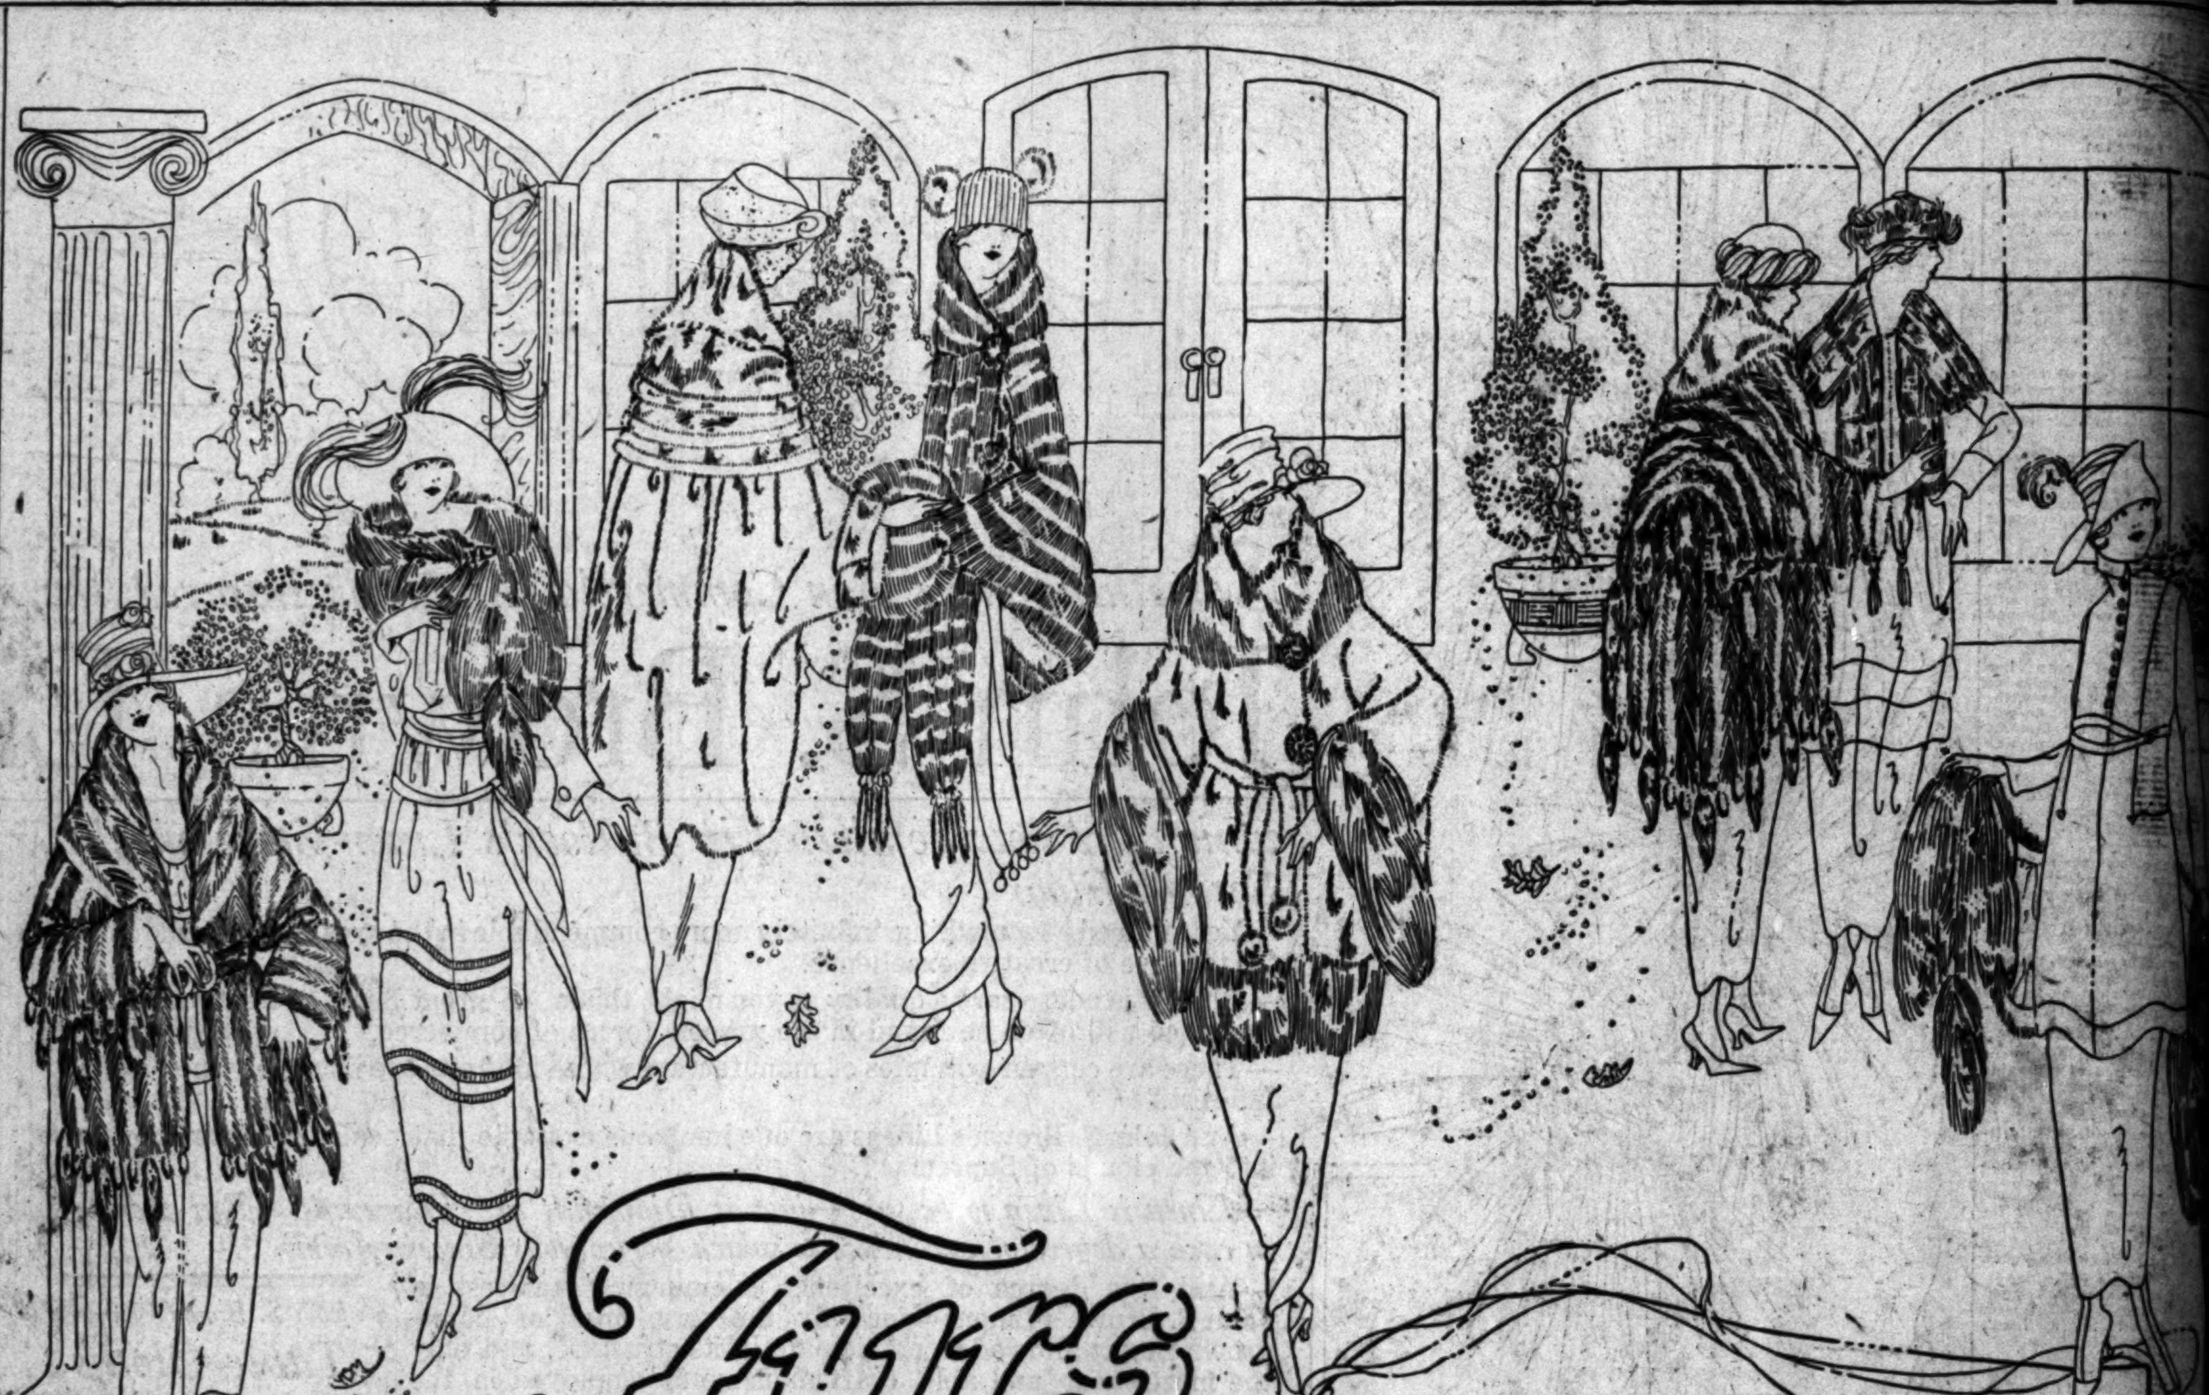
The Commonwealth of Australia has prohibited the importation of "posters, photographs, sketches, programmes, slides and other advertising matter intended to be used in connection with the exhibition within the commonwealth of any imported cinematograph films, except with the consent in writing of the Minister of Trade and Customs, and subject to such conditions as may be prescribed."

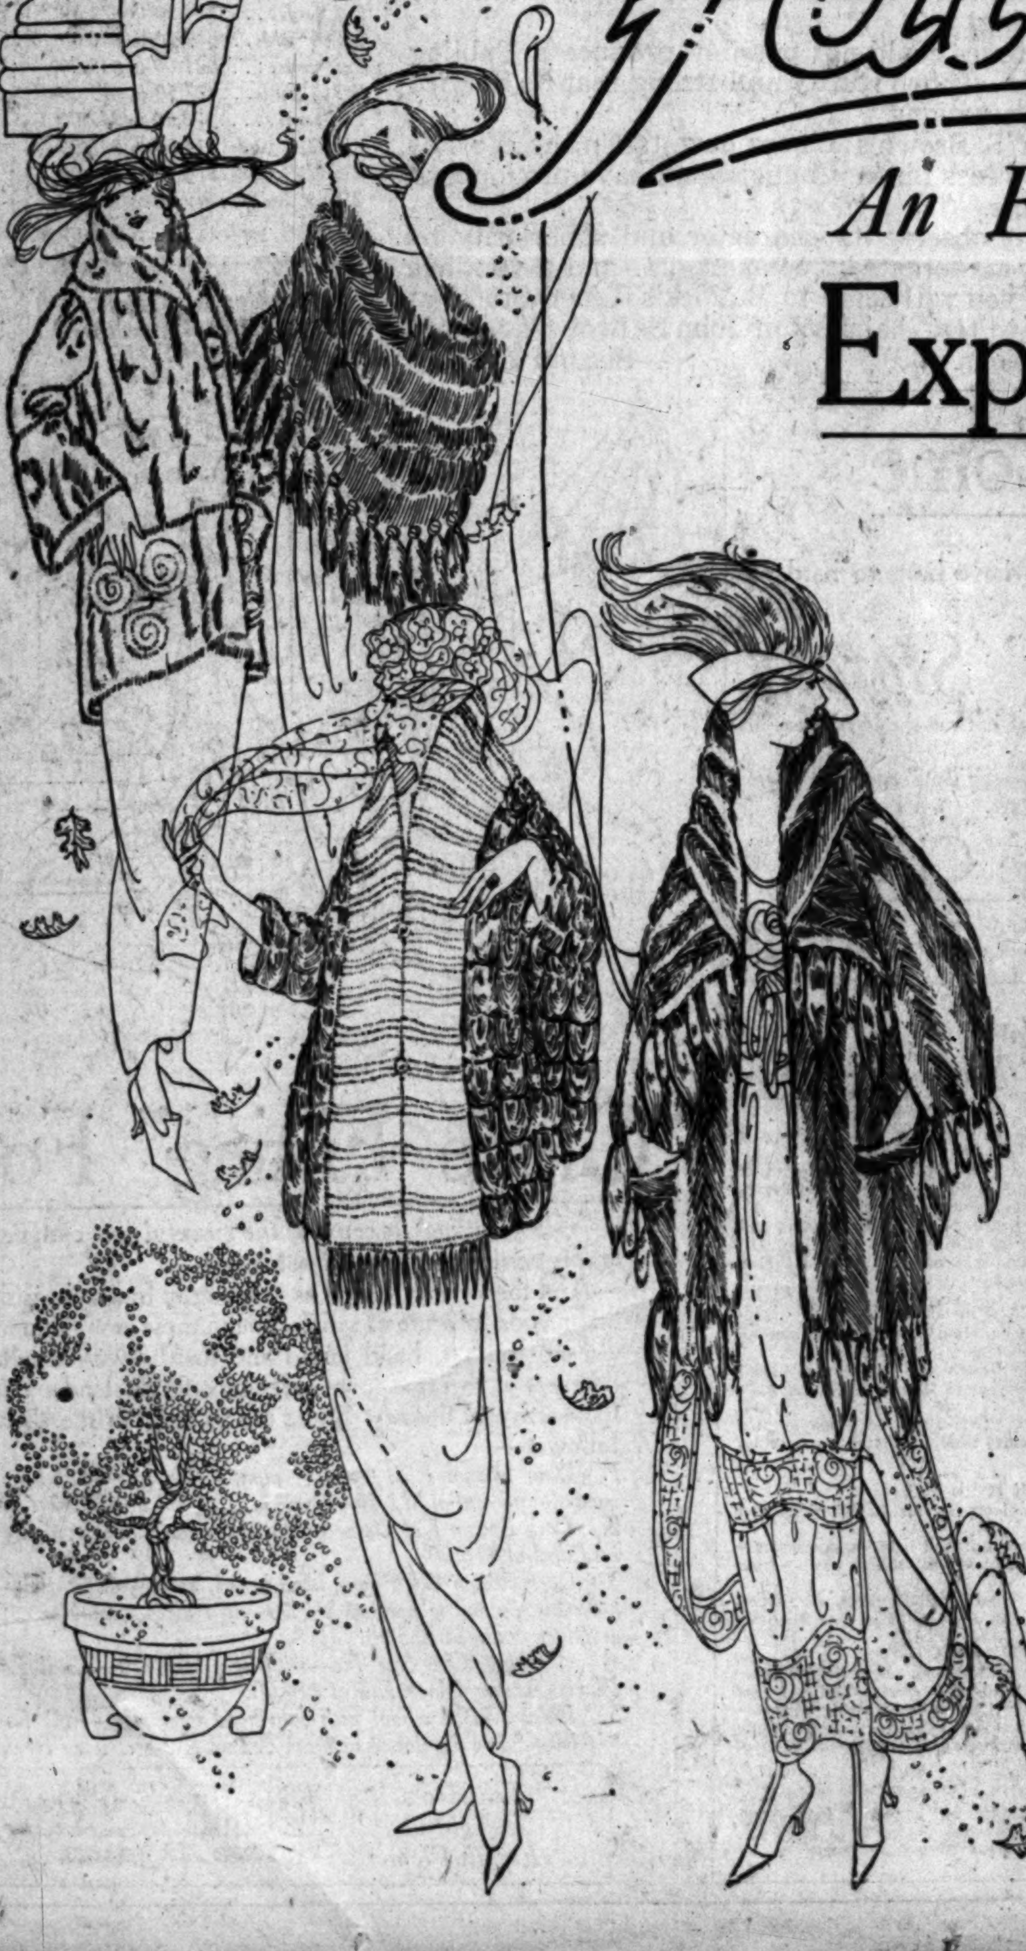
The consumption of fertilizers in Japan has greatly increased, because the farmers are prosperous and can afford the expense. Nitrates, however, dissolve so quickly that much is wasted in the overflow water, so the rice farmers prefer the bean cake from the oil mills, which takes several weeks to dissolve.

The future market for American cotton seems unlimited, in view of the exhausted stocks in Europe. A recent report from an American commercial attache estimates that Germany alone, with 10,000,000 spindles, or one-fifteenth of all those in the world, will require 1,000,000 bales of cotton during the next year, and exports to Allied and neutral countries in Europe have greatly increased since the armistice was declared.

The merchants of Indo-China are anxious to trade directly with the United States, instead of through other countries as intermediaries, in order to save the added expense of this method and to establish closer and more cordial relations. One of the great obstacles to direct trade has been the fact that goods had to be shipped via a French port, in order to benefit by the minimum tariff; but, without doubt, America will in future enjoy favored-nation treatment.

The area planted to wheat in the northern district of Lower California for the present year is approximately 10,000 acres. This is about the same acreage as was planted during 1918. Some 90 per cent. of this crop was planted and cultivated by the Guadalupe Russian colony. The yield does not promise to be so good as that of last year, it being calculated that five bushels will be the average yield per acre. The development of the grain is said to be good and the greater part of the crop will be available for the manufacture of flour of the first grade.





Furs

An Exposition That Is an Expression of Purpose

—This first announcement of size from the new Fur Section at Bullock's concerns more fundamentally a statement of inspiration and intention than it does the representative grouping of Furs that has been assembled—

—And yet, the Furs themselves—the Coats, the Capes, the Coatees, the sets and other pieces, so carefully chosen as to style and workmanship as well as to pelt—illustrate graphically the character that distinguishes the source, and that designates the direction of this new specialization at Bullock's—

—So that it might well have been the Seal, and the Sable, the Mink, Mole, Kolinsky and other Furs included in the collection, of which this word should have been definitely informative—

—It might even have been the part of judgment to dwell upon the prices at which these Furs are marked—after the manner of "a sale in introduction," and such a citation would not have lacked in interest—

—And yet the thought that Bullock's would leave with you today—is that of the sincerity with which Bullock's holds integrity as prior to price in the selling of Furs as in the selling of other merchandise—

—To which end, the notable collection that is already assembled—couriers en avant and eloquent in exploitation of the truth that the purchase of Furs should be given a consideration paramount to that which should be given to the purchase of precious stones—

—That you may know Bullock's for Furs with confidence, and with certainty—is to be the endeavor of this new establishment——And it is ready that you may begin to know it now—

—The Furs illustrated are among those you may see on Monday at Bullock's— 3rd floor—

Fairbanks in "His Majesty, the American."

Travesty on "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is Novelty.

Dorothy Gish in New Comedy; "Miracle Man" Stays.

With comedy to forefront in new features, the photoplay bills of the week are teeming with varied interest. The most notable attraction will be Douglas Fairbanks's first sunburst of thrills and laughter, under the Big Four banner—"His Majesty, the American." This is the first release of the United Artists Corporation in this city.

Mack Sennett is headlined on the electrics for his jazz sensation, "Uncle Tom Without a Cabin," a travesty on the celebrated stage play. Dorothy Gish will be another one of the humorous scintillators.

Of the serious film attractions, "The Miracle Man," which is proving one of the greatest successes ever seen, will hold the screen for another week and perhaps longer.

A study of conjugal relations is "Choosing a Wife." It is said to furnish a new angle on the conditions which go to make happiness in married life.

High-caliber excitement will be supplied by Tom Mix in "The Coming of the Law." Thrills and unusual dramatic situations are indicated in "The Trap," starring Olive Thomas.

A reshowing of the tragedy of Armenia will be given in the presentation of "Auction of Souls," which recently proved startling in its realism.

California.

Douglas Fairbanks will shine tomorrow at the California Theater, in the western premier of his first Big Four production, "His Majesty, the American." The "Big Four," or United Artists Corporation, is composed of Fairbanks, Charles Chaplin, Mary Pickford and D. W. Griffith.

"His Majesty, the American" tells a story that demands a Fairbanks for its interpretation. It is the tale of a missing heir to the throne of a mythical little kingdom in Europe. Doug is the heir, of course, but no one would ever suspect it—least of all does Doug himself.

At the beginning of the story, he is an excitement-loving, thrill-craving, adventure-seeking, young New Yorker. He has a way of getting out of trouble that is the envy of everyone. He lets old trouble draw its unbreakable ring around him—and then leaps over it. And always with a laugh.

The musical programme, it is promised, will be a feature.

Grauman's.

Mack Sennett's comedy sensation, "Uncle Tom Without a Cabin," featuring Ben Turpin, comes to Grauman's tomorrow. Turpin doubles as Uncle Tom and little Eva, while Charles Conklin plays Simon Legree and Marie Prevost does Eliza.

The dramatic feature of the bill will be "Love Insurance," starring Bryant Washburn. He will be supported by Theodore Roberts, Lois Wilson and Edwin Stevens.

A spectacular prologue will precede the Sennett production.

Ten ballroom dancers in a series of the latest novelties of Palm Beach, Newport, etc., will also appear.

Musical Director Kay will introduce a distinct musical novelty in a 'cello quartette, himself playing a Stradivarius of the seventeenth century. He will render "The Rosary" and "Dear Old Pal of Mine."

Milton Charles will play Neil Moret's latest song hit, "Hindu Rose," as his organ solo.

Clune's Broadway.

She wasn't exactly superstitious. Of course, she always knocked wood when she thought of things that might happen or boasted; she had her fortune told every-day; she gazed into a mysterious glowing crystal; she watched her horoscope; she cut the cards for decisions, and she always carried a rabbit's foot.

That's Dorothy Gish in her latest character role in "Nobody Home," at Clune's Auditorium. When she finally is to be married and a black cat runs over her wedding gown lying on the table, she absolutely refuses to go any further with the marriage proceedings.

The picture, directed by Elmer Clifton, is a typical Dorothy Gish offering. She is said to have splendid opportunities for her mirth-provoking talents.

Miss Gish's cast includes a trio of handsome actors, Ralph Graves, Raymond Cannon and Rodolph Valentino, the latter being the young Italian dancer who created a wave of interest in society circles. Also in her support are George Fawcett, Kate V. Toncray, Emily Chichester, Vivian Montrose, Vera McGinnis and Norma McNeil.

The theater programme will also include a special musical number by Miss Bessie Irene Chapin, violiniste, whose playing has won her distinction here and in Europe.

Alhambra.

Tox Mix is the star at the Alhambra Theater, starting today. His picture, "The Coming of the Law," is from Charles Alden Seltzer's novel of the same title. Critics say it is one of Mix's finest chievements.

The story is a full-blown western tale of the days before the law had reached its hand into the far corners of the Sunset land. Dry Bottom, N. M., is a town typical of the wild and woolly days. Big Bill Dunlavey, leader of the rustling gang, is ruler until Kent Hollis (Tom Mix) arrives from Denver.

Hollis is not in any sense a two-gun man, but he is a lively two-fisted chap and he does more in a couple of months with his strong right arm than all the guns could accomplish.

"The Coming of the Law" is built to satisfy lovers of thrills, action, excitement and the daredevil stunts.

IN THE CALCIUM'S RAYS

Corinne Griffith in "The Bramble Bush," Palace.

Dorothy Gish in "Nobody Home," Clune's Broadway.

Halle Nester in "A Stubborn Cinderella," Pelton's Burbank.

Aurora Mardiganian in "Auction of Souls," Garrick.

"Uncle Tom Without the Cabin," Grauman's.

"Choosing a Wife," Tally's

Florence Oakley in "The Heart of Wetona," Majestic.

"Leave It To Susan," Symphony.

Tom Mix in "The Coming of the Law," Alhambra.

Olive Tell in "The Trap," Superba

Marion Davies in "The Dark Star," Garden

Lillian Gish in "Broken Blossoms," Clune's Auditorium

Mix's supporting cast is headed by Brownie Vernon as leading woman.

Tally's.

Do men choose their wives, or do girls and women only permit them to think they do? What qualities does a man want in a wife? He talks bravely about the "swell lookers," who can't fool him with their rouge and lip sticks. He is going to find a real sensible girl who will save his money and handle the gas stove like an artist. But does he?

"Choosing a Wife" the First National attraction at Tally's next week, purports to answer these questions. An adaptation of a society novel by Metcalfe Wood, it is said to be a powerful and unique drama.

The picture tells the story of a great fight made in the heart of a man who discovers he has been making love to one woman when he had meant it for another.

Added attractions are "Fiddlers and Acrobats," the Chester Outing picture, News Views and musical programme.

Garrick.

"Auction of Souls," the eight-reel drama, featuring Aurora Mardiganian, is the attraction at the Garrick. This photo feature is founded on historical events in Armenia during the great war.

For two years Aurora Mardiganian, an Armenian girl, was a prisoner in a Turkish harem. Finally, she made her escape and the story she told was the first authentic one of the life of slavery of 500,000 girls under Turkish rule.

The picture was made from her story. She has the leading role. More than 5000 persons take part, including eighty-three principals

Victory.

Admirers of Lewis Stone in Los Angeles will have an opportunity of seeing how successful this matinee idol is as a photoplaywright during the coming week at the Victory Theater. "A Man's Desire," with Stone himself in the leading role, will be presented beginning with today's matinee.

The story was written by Stone. The leading character is Tom Denton, a "straight-shooter" literally and figuratively. He is one of the most rugged man types of the big western mountains. Jane Novak has the role of Mary Larkin the girl heroine.

Denton had normal, healthy and manly craving to make a good woman happy. He had other desires, too, which were more or less praiseworthy. One was to "get" the scoundrel who had killed his brother and had terrorized into a compulsory marriage the girl Tom wished to make happy.

"A Man's Desire" is said to be a high-pressure drama, with Mr. Stone in a role that gives him plenty to do in his own impressive manner.

With this cinema feature will be shown the further adventure of Craig Kennedy, so effectively portrayed by Herbert Rawlinson.

Kinema.

Not in several years has a picture production set the public talking like George Loane Tucker's epic of life, "The Miracle Man," which opens its second tremendous week at the Kinema today.

All last week packed houses acclaimed the feature. At the close of every performance a round of applause usually lasting close to two or three minutes showed the appreciation of the audience.

The romance of the five crooks who came to a little village there to work their great swindle and how the Patriarch reformed their lives has a big appeal for everybody. The picture is preceded by a prologue of rare charm and beauty, impressive in its quiet grandeur. The Kinema concert orchestra and Leonard H. Clark at the organ present a musical score which has a fine impression.

Garden.

Marion Davies is the star of the film version of Robert Chambers's novel, "The Dark Star," opening today at the Garden Theater. She portrays the role of a girl who is presumably under the influence of an evil planet, whose life is one series of thrilling adventure. She is hounded by evil designers who plot her death, but who themselves are punished by fate. The love story is developed in Mr. Chambers' happiest vein. There are numerous dramatic scenes which hold keen interest.

Symphony.

Madge Kennedy's new picture, "Leave it to Susan," which begins its run at the Symphony today, has a story of novelty. The piquant comedienne gets left in the American desert, when her train pulls out while she is taking her dog for an airing. After finding refuge in a lonely shack she discovers that it is occupied by train robbers. They hold her for ransom, and she has many thrilling and humorous experiences before being finally rescued. The cast which supports Miss Kennedy includes Wallace MacDonald, and other favorites.

The photography is unusual; the desert scenes were made on the Mojave. Among the other features on the programme are a special showing Maj. Jack Allen trapping lions in the heart of the jungle and the latest Christie comedy, "His Master's Voice."

Palace.

Women who have an understanding and discerning knowledge of gowns, which means practically all women, will find scenes to delight their gaze in Corrine Griffith's latest picture, "The Bramble Bush," which will have its first presentation at the Palace today. One of the

NEW PLAY TOPS THE PROGRAMME

Premiere of "The Victims" Tomorrow Night.

"Stubborn Cinderella" Music Comedy Attraction.

Submarine Act at Pantages; Star Singer, Orpheum.

The fall season for the stage is introduced with the production of an entirely new play, with the cast assembled and rehearsed in this city. The author has been directing preparations, and himself is to take part.

At the stock theaters, the productions of the past week are continued, except that there will be a new musical comedy on the boards, "A Stubborn Cinderella." "Civilian Clothes" enters its final—the eleventh—week, today. "The Heart of Wetona" will run a second week.

The vaudeville programmes present an intermingling of music, thrills and comedy. The Orpheum headliner is an operatic artist; Pantages offer a big submarine thriller as its main attraction, while the Hip photoplay, "The Girl Alaska," is scenically unusual.

Mason.

The premiere of "The Victims" which has been rehearsing in this city, will take place tomorrow night at the Mason. Those who have attended rehearsals declare the play to be a clever and powerful drama. It was written by and features David B. Gally and Marie Lambert.

The plot offers a startling expose of the hollowness of the social fabric of the present day. While the underworld and so-called society have been "exposed" in countless plays and film stories, it is said "The Victims" deals in an entirely new way with two stratas of the world's people.

Although Gally has been on the stage seventeen years he has never before appeared on the Coast. He is a brilliant young actor of unusual ability. Miss Lambert is well known as a stock actress in many of the larger cities of the East. The supporting cast includes players from the film studios.

Orpheum.

Prominent on the Orpheum bill opening tomorrow is Mme. Marguerita Sylva, now making her first vaudeville tour, using a repertoire of her exclusive songs. Formerly she was with the Opera Comique and Grand Opera Company, Paris, the Chicago Grand Opera Association and the Society of American Singers.

Among other new acts are Marion Harris and La Bernicia. Miss Harris is billed as "syncopation's scintillating star," and La Bernicia, with the assistance of Yvonne Verlaine and company of classic dancers, will interpret the beauties of rhapsodic Terpsichorean movements.

Elfrieda Wynne, with songs of the day, assisted by Prof. Raoul Paniagua, Guatemalan pianist, and Lamberti, xylophonist, are others on the programme. Jack Gray and Marie Norman have a surprise number in which will be introduced their four dancing kewpies.

Two turns hold over—William L. Gibson and Regina Connelli, who are presenting "The Honeymoon," a sketch, and Oscar Lorraine, "nut" violinist.

Pantages.

Something new in vaudeville is announced as the feature of the new show at Pantages, beginning tomorrow matinee. The audiences will be shown the interior workings of a giant submarine, with all the intricate machinery in operation as it darts through the ocean in quest of the enemy vessel. While the elaborate machinery and stage settings are an important part of this headline act, there is a story intertwined throughout the adventures of the officers of the submarine F-7.

On the same bill will be featured Juliette Dika, Franco-American comedienne in a repertoire of clever characterizations and songs in French and English; Green and Pugh, "two boys from Dixie;" Ned Argo and the Virginia sisters in a musical act, with Argo at the harp and the two girls in costume songs; the five novelty minstrels as comic Hebrews; the juggling Cromwells, a new Harold Lloyd comedy and the latest Pathe News.

Pelton's Burbank.

Commencing this afternoon the bill for the Burbank will be Mort H. Singer's popular musical comedy, "A Stubborn Cinderella." The story is told in three acts, the first laid at Columbia College, the second reveals a train wreck on the Arizona desert, and the scene of the third is at Coronado Beach. A new member of the company, Miss Halle Nestor, will be seen in the leading role, that of Lady Leslie, daughter of the Earl of Glenkirk. Miss Nestor comes highly recommended by both press and public of eastern cities as an exceedingly clever actress and is said to possess a voice of excellent range and quality.

Morosco.

The eleventh and last week of "Civilian Clothes" is announced, starting with today's matinee at the Morosco.

During the first ten weeks in Los Angeles more than 110,000 persons saw the play. Despite the summer season and the street car strike the phenomenal attendance has not been interrupted.

"Civilian Clothes" is being received with enthusiasm through the East, where Oliver Morosco has opened his winter season with this vehicle.

In its final week "Civilian Clothes" will have surpassed the records established by "Peg O' My Heart," "The Bird of Paradise," "So Long, Letty" and other successes.

Miss Eleanor Woodruff in the role of the aristocratic wife of an exceedingly democratic husband is declared to have made the greatest impression of her career in this play. Clyde Fillmore, the demo-

WILL ROGERS WAS 'FRAID OF CUPID.

Will Rogers, the Goldwyn star, of previous cowboy lariat and Ziegfeld fame, says he had to ride around his sweetheart's house nine times before he had the courage to go in and propose. Rogers has been a benedict now for some fourteen years, but his wife says that he never would have been brought to the point of proposing if the horse had not stumbled on the front steps at the ninth round and unceremoniously landed Will Rogers in a porch rocking chair.

And in all his years before the vaudeville public, he has never overcome his bashfulness with women. Out at the Goldwyn lot, they say he dreads the usual picture clinch and pleads with the director to "fade out" just before any possible love scenes.

On one occasion a scenario writer had to actually insert a cloud of steamboat smoke and have it float across Will Rogers's romantic path, for the star stoutly opposed a clinch finish. Now, he has half way relented to a public desperately fond of its love interest, and he says he will be part and party to embraces if the lady mate will make all the advances.

LOOKING OVER "THE VICTIMS."

Brand New Play's to Have its Premiere this Week at Mason.

BY JAMES M. WARNACK.

"Author, author! Speech, speech!"

Thus, with prolonged applause, was David Gally greeted as he topped off a tense scene in "The Victims" at the Little Theater yesterday morning. To be sure it was only rehearsal, for the play is to have its premiere before the public at the Mason tomorrow night. However, the chosen few who had been invited to see the last dress rehearsal seemed genuine in their appreciation of the efforts of Mr. Gally, and our hero, placing one foot on a footlight and the other in the center of the stage, brushed back his raven tresses and responded:

"Ladies and gentlemen, I thank you, one and all! However, I will not go off the stage and come back again, for I am the author of this play, that is, Mary Lambert and I wrote it together, and all of you know it dinged well! I'm only hoping that Monday night the Mason will be filled with high-brows as appreciative as yourselves. I'm a modest man and make no claim to having written a great drama, but I leave it to you to decide if this play hasn't got 'Within the Law' and 'Paid in Full' wiped off the map. Most men are slaves to their own creations and I am no exception. I am the victim of 'The Victims,' for I've worked myself dizzy trying to memorize my own lines and to get the whole blooming thing in shape. The question is, have I succeeded?"

"We'll say you have!" chorused the above-mentioned select audience and, with a new-moon smile, Mr. Gally backed off the boards as Walter Emerson, assistant stage manager, called the next scene.

Theatrical Los Angeles is in a state of constant expectancy and the news that we are to have a brand new play will doubtless be welcomed, especially since it is not a war play. The drama deals with the inconsistencies of society, for which, of course, no individual member of society is to blame, making the public exploitation of society's weaknesses a source of pleasure to each and all of us! It would be unfair to divulge the plot, since the principal charm of any story vanishes the moment it is told, and the authors should at least have the privilege of trying to give the public a surprise.

Manager W. T. Wyatt of the Mason, who discovered "The Victims" and corralled the authors for the leading roles, said yesterday that theatrical managers have long been in search of such a play as this and he predicts its unqualified success. In the classic words of Scott McKee, well known in the motion picture world for his ability to play the crook with a straight make-up, and who is cast for a similar role in Mr. Gally's drama: 'The Victims' has got 'The Woman God Gavest Thou' beat a city block."

The production, which consists of three acts, with an epilogue and a prologue, is supervised by the author, and directed by Sedley Brown. It is to be produced entirely by local talent—which, in village vernacular, means high school students, but in Los Angeles usually implies artists of splendid ability since Southern California is the world's recruiting ground for famous Thespians.

The cast includes twenty-three characters besides six Denishawn dancers, directed by Ted Shawn.

The leads will be taken by Mr. and Mrs. Gally, while the other principals are well known in local theatrical circles. Among the players is Walter Emerson, who, it will be remembered, was wounded in France on the Fourth of July when his captain, Archie Roosevelt, was also injured by a bomb from an enemy plane. Dwight Crittenton, a "scintillator" in the cinema field, also has a fine part, while Miss Vernol Park, the vampire, promises to eat the scenery alive.

One of the "heavies" will be essayed by J. Jackson Duan, recently a member of the Abbey Players of Dublin, and well known in England and Ireland. Another bad man will be Fred Pierce who does a New York Bowery tough, and the afore-mentioned Scott McKee, formerly with William Farnum in "legit," will likewise do some tall sneering and smirking.

Of course, everybody in the play is not vicious, for we will have with us Monday night, the pretty ingenue, Gertrude Short, Mr. Frank Whitsen, another moving-picture player, Edgar Mason, formerly with Molly McIntyre and Company, Elsa Lorimer, known for her work with the Morosco stock company, as well as many others who promise to save the play from resembling a comedy written by Dante, Poe and Holbrook Blinn, working in collaboration.

Following the run of "The Victims" in Los Angeles, it is planned to take it to New York and bookings are now being arranged for several principal cities between here and the Eastern metropolis. Mr. Gally, who is far better known in the East than in the West, is the author of many more or less successful novels. He was formerly president of a motion picture company in Canada and a few years ago played "Hamlet" on Broadway, New York, in which city even today he is spoken of as "the kid actor," as he is still on the sunny side of thirty.

REUNITE INTERESTS.

Gasnier to Produce Farnum Play for Berst.

The news that Louis J. Gasnier will superintend the production of the next feature drama to be released by United Picture Theaters, Inc., carries more than ordinary interest to the film industry. The reason is that J. A. Berst, president of United and Mr. Gasnier have long been identified together with some of the world's most pretentious film dramas.

Messrs. Berst and Gasnier were for years with Pathe. Mr. Berst was vice-president and general manager of Pathe for eighteen years, resigning to become vice-president and general manager of the Selig Company. Mr. Gasnier then became the guiding head of Pathe.

Berst, later guided the destinies of the General Film Company and then returned to Pathe as vice-president and general manager, while Mr. Gasnier headed the serial production department.

Now Mr. Berst is president of United Picture Theaters, Inc., while Mr. Gasnier has branched out from serials into feature productions starring Lew Cody and others. Mr. Gasnier has signed a contract to produce the next Dustin Farnum feature picture, and so again become affiliated with Mr. Berst.

NEW PLAYS TOP PROGRAMME.

eratic Capt. Sam McGinnis, has gained enviable popularity.

Hippodrome.

The photoplay at the Hip for the first three days of the week will be "The Girl Alaska," a thrilling tale of the frozen north. This is said to be the first and only story ever filmed on Alaskan soil. Lotta Kruze plays the title role. Wonderful scenic effects, real Alaskan dance halls, gigantic snowslides, thrilling fights and a spectacular gold rush are the outstanding features of the production.

Hip vaudeville will include Skelly and Hoet in "Oh, Hello," a potpourri of song and dance, and Paul Lovan and Miller, acrobatic comedians, in "Turns, Twists and Falls." Douglas Flint and Company will present their comedy sketch, "Easy Money;" Eddie and Lillian are Italian impersonators; Barnes and Lorraine appear in "Romance a la Hand Cart," a mixture of nonsense in song and dance, and Laurella does comedy gymnastics.

settings of this picture, in which much of the action takes place, is a fashionable clothing establishment of Washington. The modiste and her assistants and the society women who patronize the place give interesting demonstrations of fine apparel.

Several ballroom scenes are also woven into this story of a southern girl's romantic experiences at the nation's capital.

Miss Griffith finds rich opportunity in this production for the display of her talent and beauty.

A comedy, "Yaps and Yokels," with Jimmy Aubrey as chief funmaker, and a number of other timely films are also on the bill.

Clune's Auditorium.

Los Angeles is to get its first view of the famous Griffith film tragedy, "Broken Blossoms," the 15th inst., at Clune's Auditorium. Expectations are raised to a high pitch regarding this photoplay because of the sensation it has created in the East, and the opening night of the showing here promises to be a gala event.

Special arrangements are being made for the prologue and musical accompaniment for the feature.

The story of the play is founded on Thomas Burke's "The Chink and the Child," from "Limehouse Nights."

De Luxe.

Marguerite Clark in "Come Out of the Kitchen" is today's feature at the De Luxe Theater. This picture adds a new and more captivating chapter to the story of this film favorite's artistic achievements. It is a picturization of the stage play that was a tremendous success on Broadway for two seasons. The story is filled with sweet romance.

Other attractive features, including special music by the De Luxe Orchestra and organ will be included in the bill.

BRENTWOOD ANNUAL.

Optimistic Report to Stockholders of Film Concern.

At the first annual meeting of stockholders of the Brentwood corporation held during the past week, in the report presented by L. C. Haynes, it was shown that during its first year this company had released through Robertson-Cole Company and the Exhibitors' Mutual of New York, three photoplays, each of which has attained a very high degree of public favor and consequent promise of profit, and that it is now completing its fourth production under Director King W. Vidor.

The company having started with rented studio space, offices and laboratory facilities, Mr. Haynes reported the outright purchase of the studio and plans for considerable enlargement and improvement of stages and of buildings and equipment immediately necessary for the accommodation of the second producing unit under a second director who has been engaged to commence work within a few days.

For the ensuing year the board of directors elected include L. C. Haynes, R. G. Beebe, H. M. Brandel, W. H. Rimmer and O. C. Kingsley. At the meeting of directors which followed that of the stockholders the following officers were appointed: L. C. Haynes, president; R. G. Beebe, vice-president; Willard Barrows, treasurer; S. P. Trood, secretary; H. M. Brandel, assistant treasurer; H. L. Haynes, assistant secretary.

BUILD TOWN FOR BARRISCALE FILM.

The mushroom towns of the oil belt haven't a thing on Fracas, Ariz., the motion-picture town, called into being overnight by the Aladdin's Lamp of Director Howard Hickman.

The director had a story called "Kitty Kelley, M.D.," that was to star Bessie Barriscale, and the big scenes in the story centered around a little Arizona railroad station and especially about the depot of the little town.

It is customary to shoot scenes of this kind at some little place on the railroad, but in this case a railroad strike had tied up all the trains in California, and the whole town had to be built on the studio grounds.

From the time Director Hickman gave his plans to the architect to the time they were carried out was just seventy-two hours—the record in building motion-picture sets of this kind.

Fracas consisted of a main street two blocks long with a life-size hotel at one end and a depot, freight warehouse and siding at the other. Main track and siding were laid on real ties and a 60,000-pound capacity box car was built, complete, with brakes, wheels, drawheads and everything.

CLOSING PERFORMANCES.

"The End of the Road," starring Richard Bennett and Claire Adams, closes today at the Mason Opera-house. Two performances will be given, afternoon and evening. This picture has been a sensational success during the last two weeks, and it is generally conceded that, outside of its entertaining features it is a picture that is of educational benefit. The film deals with the effect of sex indiscretions, and is especially valuable to young women and mothers.

OPERATIC :: PRIMA :: DONNA.

Who Feels the Lure of Photoplay.

Jacqueline d'Elsmere.

FEELS SPELL OF THE FILMS.

Opera Prima Donna Finds in Them the Lure of Adventure.

BY JEANNE REDMAN.

As the most recent method of dramatic expression, and the one most capable of producing an unexpected emotion upon the part of the performer, as well as the spectator, the motion pictures are calling to their camp the expositors of the drama and the opera. In an interview yesterday with Jacqueline d' Elsmere, grand opera prima donna, who lately arrived in this city and is visiting friends in Pasadena, it became again evident that the old-fashioned situations, wholly inappropriate to our life today, the hackneyed arias and the antedated costumes of grand opera are not satisfying to the modern young woman, even though that young woman happens to possess a coloratura soprano voice. Miss d'Elsmere announces her intention "to go into the films."

"You know, of course," I said, "what they will want you to do; you have a Junoesque figure, a quantity of hair which you wear very red and coiled like Cleopatra's, large expressive hazel eyes, and a languorous manner. Indeed there is only one thing about you which belies the self-evident part you will take, and that is the dimple in your chin."

"But I most certainly don't want to be a vampire."

"Absolutely not, but what does the ingenue dimple weigh as against all the other qualities?"

"But aren't there any parts in your pictures besides vampires and ingenues?"

"None that you would be asked to do. Of course there is the aristocratic aunt and chaperon with her inevitable lorgnette—" then I had an inspiration. A spy is what Miss d' Elsmere ought to be. She has the great advantage of looking like a cosmopolitan. She might be of any nation. As a matter of fact she is half French and half Scotch. Her home is in Scotland, but she received her musical education in Paris, where she studied with the two infallibles of the voice, Marchesi and Jean de Reszke. She has sung in opera, all the coloratura roles, in all the principal cities of Europe, and was brought to this country by Oscar Hammerstein.

When the war broke out Miss d' Elsmere went at once into training in a hospital at London, where she remainded for nearly two years, assisting in receiving the wounded and caring for them. After this term of activity she went into the St. John's Ambulance Corps, and drove for the remainder of the war period. Miss d' Elsmere's services were recognized by Queen Alexandra, but the singer is somewhat disturbed by the story which has gone abroad as to the patronage of the Queen.

"It is nonsense to say that I was a protege of the Dowager Queen," she said. "While I know her personally, and she has been kind in her attitude, I am in no way a protege."

"Did you come to California in order to go into pictures," I asked.

"Oh, no, pictures were an afterthought. I came to California to rest, and to enjoy the climate, but I like it so much—the old story—that I want to remain, and pictures seem to be the logical conclusion."

"But what are you going to do with your voice?"

"Oh, I shall probably sing again, but I want a change."

"Having had many lively experiences, I want some more. I want new activities and new adventures."

Miss d' Elsmere is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Storrow at Pasadena, with whom she will soon motor to Lake Tahoe for a brief visit, and upon her return will "look about" and see what she may do.

THE ETERNAL FEMININE.

"Germany can argue and fuss, but she'll get practically nothing off the peace treaty."

The speaker was Representative Steenerson.

"Yes," he went on. "Germany's declamations are as futile as the interruptions of the widow.

"This widow, her black-edged handkerchief to her eyes, sat listening to her late husband's funeral sermon.

"'And the dear departed,' said the preacher, 'was singularly blessed in his helpmate, now left a disconsolate widow of 61 years.'

"'Fifty-nine, if you please doctor—only 59,' said the widow sharply, and then she resumed her weeping."—[Exchange.

WASHBURN MAKES SPECIALTY OF DRESS.

STAR IS ALSO PRACTICAL JOKE EXPERT, BUT CRISP PUTS ONE OVER.

Bryant Washburn, star in the Paramount picture "Love Insurance," which comes to Grauman's, Monday is conceded to be one of the best dressed men in motion pictures. In every detail his clothes are in faultless taste, and his costume always fits the occasion.

For one thing Mr. Washburn is frankly fond of good clothes; for another, he recognizes the educational effect of suggestion in motion pictures and the duty this effect imposes upon him to lead aright the millions of young men who are influenced by what they see upon the screen.

Mr. Washburn is not in the least floppish. On the contrary, he is a man's man, a good mixer, always companionable and good natured. His leisure is devoted to his wife and child. In fact, the family life of the Washburns is idyllic.

Still Washburn has his fault; he is addicted to practical jokes—indeed, this very trait in his make-up suggested the theme of "Putting It Over," his recent Paramount picture in which he appears as the village cut-up. Washburn and his director, Donald Crisp, are great chums, in spite of the fact that they are always playing pranks on each other. The score ran about horse and horse until one night recently Washburn chanced to be kept up late. This made him drowsy next day. While waiting at the studio to be called for a scene he sat down in an easy chair in an unused set and fell asleep.

Finding him so Crisp called a still photographer, had a photograph of the sleeping star made and a print therefrom rushed through in record time. This print was propped up in front of Washburn as circumstantial evidence of his dereliction. Then Crisp had all the clocks in sight turned ahead four hours, and then Washburn was awakened. Crisp was ostentatiously reserved and austere. Such unusual demeanor in connection with evidence of the photograph alarmed Washburn. He was pentitent and apologetic, but Crisp was so coldly repellent that Washburn, noting that according to the clocks it was long past lunch time, did not venture to go for his noonday repast, although he nearly perished from hunger. It certainly did seem like a long time beween meals to him. But this was not all.

Crisp announced that his plain duty would compel him to report to the director-general the reason for the loss of a day during which a lot of high priced people drew pay for doing nothing.

Apparently he did not flinch from this painful duty, for next morning he showed Washburn, without comment, a long note from Director-General de Mille expressing profound displeasure, over the star's reprehensible conduct in sleeping a whole day, and saying that so profound a breach of discipline would have to be reported to the home office in New York. Sure enough the next day Crisp exhibited a long night letter from President Zukor, reprimanding him for failing to enforce discipline and ordering him to post notices in the studio forbidding stars to sleep during business hours and to hire a nifty pugilist to enforce the ordinance.

This convinced Washburn the only way for him to expiate so heinous an offense was to efface himself altogether. Before deciding between corrosive sublimate and shooting he took one last look at the formidable evidence in the case. The remarkable similarity in literary style of documents signed with so many different names led him to bribe the janitor to analyze the contents of Crisp's waste basket. This established the fact that all the pretended official communications were written by one hand; and that hand was the director's.

Then by buying a glass of something which presumably is not procurable in this dry season for the photographer, Washburn obtained a confession that in spite of the testimony of the photograph and the clocks he had actually slept less than forty-five minutes, and that he had not been needed in that time because the set for the next scene had not been completed.

If Donald Crisp thinks the affair is ended he is mightily mistaken, that's all.

FENCING NOW STUDIO SPORT.

Lasky Players Also Clash with Broadswords in Tourney.

Broadsword swinging and fencing are becoming all the rage at the Famous Players-Lasky studio. Never a day passes but what a group of the silver screen actors—and actresses—don the picturesque regalia and engage in spirited tilts.

The production four years ago of "Joan the Woman" by Cecil B. de Mille was responsible. At that time, many of the Famous Players-Lasky favorites were taught the mysteries of the broadsword art by a European instructor and became highly adept.

The training was forgotten until a few weeks ago, when Clarence Geldart purchased some equipment and started on a recruiting campaign. He has been the directing genius and tutor of the large group taking up the sport. His chief aide has been Capt. T. E. Duncan, who enjoys the unusual distinction of having placed in the field the only company of United States soldiers entirely recruited from the motion-picture industry.

Among those who engage in the sport regularly are Lucien Littlefield, Ross Tompkins, De Witt Hagar, Henry Woodward, Bert Noomis, Sam Searle and Fred Kley, studio manager of the Lasky studio. Of the feminine fencers, Wanda Hawley is showing unusual aptitude.

LOU TELLEGEN IN GOOD OLD HOLLAND.

Lou Tellegen showed to Reginald Barker a photograph of himself the other day that the public would exclaim at. It represented the actor as a little fellow of perhaps 5, with a pair of skates slung over his shoulder and an astrachan cap perched on his head.

"A perfect Hans Brinker," exclaimed Barker, who is directing Lou Tellegan and Geraldine Farrar at the Goldwyn studios, for, of course, the picture was taken in Holland, where the diva's husband was born. Few people know that he is partly Greek and Dutch.

When he is in a lyric mood he declares it is his Athenian ancestry calling; when he is literal and ill-humored he announces that he is a "Dutchman."

CULLEN LANDIS GETS NARY A MASH NOTE.

Cullen Landis, who has been Mabel Normand's youthful leading man in two Goldwyn pictures, "Upstairs" and "The Empty Paradise," is only 24 years old. He is married, however, and has a baby and naively admits that he has not yet received one letter requesting a photograph. He is another of Rex Beach's discoveries, having been personally chosen by the novelist to appear in "The Girl from Outside." It was on the strength of young Landis's capital acting in that picture that he was given a contract with Goldwyn.

Newman, who are leaving Santa Paula to make their home in Tustin. The ballroom of the clubhouse was decorated with an abundance of zinnias, dahlias and greenery, and the foliage of the cat-tails was used effectively for a background. Although the price of perfect diamonds has advanced steadily for the past several years, the high level of the diamond market has by no means been reached. As a matter of fact perfect stones are becoming so rare and so difficult to obtain that prices are bound to continue upward, and those who buy perfect diamonds at today's market may count their investment a profitable one.

Feagans & Co. are especially fortunate in being able to offer very extensive selections in perfect stones, both loose and mounted, at prices prevailing some months ago—the result of foresight and extensive purchases.

MISS KINGSTON IN LEAD.

Will be Seen Opposite Farnum in New Feature.

Winnifred Kingston, who created such a favorable impression in the leading feminine role in "The Light of Western Stars," will again be seen in the leading support of Dustin Farnum in the latest feature film to be produced by United Picture Theaters, Inc.

The title of the production is "The Honor of His Family" and the picture will be made under the personal supervision of L. J. Gasnier at the Gasnier studios, Glendale.

Miss Kingston is well and favorably known to the devotees of both stageland and movieland. She was popular in England before coming to this country several years ago.

MISS SWANSON'S OFFER.

New York Producer Wants Her for Stage Production.

Gloria Swanson has received an attractive offer from the legitimate stage! A real, honest-to-goodness one from an eastern playwright who wants Cecil B. de Mille's beautiful leading woman to assume the chief role in his forthcoming production.

The offer was forwarded in a letter received yesterday by Miss Swanson. The writer suggested that she secure a leave of absence from the De Mille company to play on Broadway.

But unfortunately for Broadway, Miss Swanson has a busy season ahead in the silent drama. She starts work next week on "Why Change Your Wife," and Mr. De Mille has several other stories in mind in which she is cast for important roles.

MONTE BLUE THINKS FILM HYPNOTIZING.

Monte Blue, who plays "Love" in "Everywoman," declares that the effect of psychology on the minds of the actors was never better demonstrated than during the recent filming of the big New York scene in the picture, depicting the city in the grip of winter. The snow lay thick on the ground; it scurried through the air—but it was a warm early-autumn night, with the thermometer at about 70 deg. Such was the effect of the scene, however, that the players, extras and principals, not only looked cold, but felt cold. "They muffled up and shivered—I did myself," declares Monte Blue. "It certainly showed the influence of mind over matter. I've been warmer up at Truckee with the mercury below zero."

ANN MAY'S TROUBLES AFTER ACCIDENT.

"Now I know how it feels to be drunk," exclaimed Ann May, the plucky and lucky little girl of the Metro, who guided a runaway polo pony into a barbed-wire fence, only to drop from the saddle in a faint.

"For two days after the accident I was unconscious, they say," continued Miss May. "I guess I was delirious, too. The doctor says I tried to go swimming and they had to strap me in bed. And then when I endeavored to work the other day, and Mr. Conway told me to walk up the circular iron stairway in the theater scene, I walked around it. When Mr. Conway said, 'Go ahead, Ann,' I answered, 'I did.' I thought I had.

"Now I'm, oh, just fine."

ALONG CAME BILL AND BUILT SERIALS.

When Bill Duncan casts his mental eye over the crop of serials now flourishing in both the eastern and western film colonies he can justly experience the sensation of being the god-father of the serial industry. For serials had become almost a thing of the past when along came Bill with his breezy personality, plus his knowledge of the recipe for the making of western thrillers—and the entire complexion of the serial world underwent a change.

Bill seemed to know just what the jaded appetite of the serial-public wanted, and he gave it to them. His western Vitagraph serials sold so well that the serial-pulse of the fan world quickened, and Bill began to realize that he had set a fashion. Now there is scarcely a film company but what has its own pet brand to offer.

Terry was Amazed.

Two Irishmen, who had tried in vain to learn French, arrived at their first billet on French soil and began exploring the little town.

Their attention was attracted to a child who was jabbering as fast as her tongue would allow.

The two Irishmen gazed with admiration, their mouths wide open; then Terry said: "Pat, will ye listen to the fluint way that foreigner kid talks the damned languige?"—[Everybody's Magazine.

"FAIR-WARMER" GIRLS WEAR NO STOCKINGS.

PUT TABOO ON HALF HOSE AND TWO SEVENTY-FIVE PER CENT. SOCKS.

While "Mother" Dressler's chickens—the chorus wrens of New York—are striking, because of the high cost of silk stockings, a quintette of dancing maids who appear in "Fair and Warmer," May Allison's calorific comedy nearing completion by Screen Classics, Inc., found a substitute for the costly limb coverings.

Their substitute was neither half-hose nor 2.75 per cent. hose—simply no hose at all.

It is hardly necessary to say that great interest was shown in the dance by "atmosphere," electricians, stage hands, carpenters and everyone else.

The five girls are from the Denishawn school and their dance is a graceful number put on as a part of a cabaret scene for the Avery Hopwood farce.

"My goodness," laughed May Allison, "I'll say that's a good way to get around old man H. C. of L! If stocking prices continue to be shocking prices some more of us will follow their example. And perhaps if the chorus girls who cannot afford to buy their own shoes and stockings at prevailing prices would troop on the stage with bare legs, their managers would see their way to an understanding. Probably they'd even have to dust off the S.R.O. sign too— as soon as the audiences learned of the 'understanding.'"

The cabaret scene in "Fair and Warmer" is a "flash-back" episode written into the picturization of the farce by June Mathis and A. P. Younger. Henry Otto directed the big scene, in which several hundred actors participated.

WILL FILM LEGENDS.

Bullseye Plans Unique Scenics of California.

The Sunset Magazine will collaborate in filming the new Bullseye super-scenic "The Legends of the Wilderness." The scenics, which are described as "Journeys Into the Land of Once-upon-a-Time," are now being photographed in the wilds of the Pacific country by Leland J. Burrud. The "legends" will be released in one reel, beginning about September 15, according to Milton L. Cohen, president of the Bullseye Film Corporation, under the general title of "Sunset-Burrud Legends of the Wilderness."

Besides printing a two-page illustrated story in every issue of the Sunset Magazine for the next year, describing the travel, hardships and amusing experiences of the Burrud expedition, the publication will place at Mr. Burrud's disposal its entire historical and research department for material for the "legends," which will portray the scenic glories of the Sunset Eden, interwoven with legendary stories of the localities photographed.

Readers of the Sunset Mazagine will also be requested to augment the services of that magazine by submitting legends or stories they have heard relating to the many odd nooks and crannies in the practically unexplored portions of the Rocky Mountains Mr. Burrud is invading with his camera.

LOREN TAYLOR'S "REST."

Vacation May be All Right, but not for Him.

Vacations are all right, admits Loren E. Taylor, head of title department of the Famous Players-Lasky studio, Hollywood, but in his case, the temporary cessation of his arduous duties resulted in a run of bad luck.

Mr. Taylor started motoring to Grant National Park and camped for the night somewhere along the route. In lighting his small gasoline camp stove an explosion resulted in setting fire to his auto and severely burning its owner.

He succeeded in putting out the flames, but his own injuries were so severe that he was obliged to give up his trip and return home. As soon as he was able to do so he went back to work— out one vacation, plus a week or so of suffering.

"Better luck next time," he asserts, smilingly. "But next time I'll build a fire on the ground or else depend on my trusty thermos bottle and eat cold sandwiches."

ANNOUNCES UNITED'S PLANS.

Before leaving for the East recently, Lee A. Ochs, vice-president United Picture Theaters, Inc., made the following statement: United has signed contracts with two very well known stars whose names will be announced at the proper time. Scenarios are being prepared for them. These scenarios are taken from two famous novels. The stars will work here in Los Angeles where we hope to have a studio erected within a short time. Dustin Farnum continues in United Picture Theaters productions and we plan to send Miss Florence Reed to Los Angeles within thirty days. J. A. Berst, president of United, will come to Los Angeles within the next ten days, according to present plans.

WILL READ ONE-ACT PLAYS.

CASTING STONES AT JAPAN.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

Anybody can become an authority on Japan on a month's visit. Some people manage it without going there at all. But Publisher V. S. McClatchy of the Sacramento Bee and I both had our month there. His was in March, and mine in April and May of this very last spring. But he got ahead of me with eight profound and conclusive articles on Japan's naughty machinations which he has reprinted for the instruction of the nation, in pamphlet form. I am quite jealous of all the horrid scandal about the Japanese that he managed to absorb in that time.

He seems to have met all the resident foreigners who did not like the Japanese and I met all the ones that did. He saw their obvious virtues with his own eyes, but valiantly, in the cause of justice, prefers to believe what he was told and not what he actually experienced. How like a woman. And, like all the good village spinster shock-absorbers, he knows where his duty lies. He has come back to warn us that Japan is no friend of ours.

One of his first indictments of Japan is her rapidly-increasing population, strictly via the birth-rate. Of course the late-lamented Mr. Roosevelt rather hoped American ladies would adopt this method, too, but they probably knew that Mr. McClatchy considered that method scarcely quite nice. For Japan's critic explains that as Japanese ladies become more enlightened this particular menace will be considerably modified. It is evident that one of the first essentials to Japanese international confidence is the practice of birth-control.

Then comes the horrid fact that Japan once admired Germany and copied her military system therefrom. That is damning. Of course Germany was never, never admired in these enlightened United States—and-er-if she was, Japan at least should have been smarter.

The next dreadful charge is that Japan took advantage of the war to further her interests in the Orient and particularly in China. Unthinkable. But what really worries me is that the Allies used to say something very like that about the U.S.A. before April, 1917. We were the wicked trade-snatching profiteers in those days. But then of course Japan at least should have been above such suspicion.

Ah, yes, and it appears that Japan has been trying to put over something very like a Monroe Doctrine in China. You see a Monroe Doctrine is one of those things that if it succeeds it's noble and if it doesn't it's very sinful indeed.

Mr. McClatchy tells how Japan is forever intimidating honest little China. Japan, the nasty big bully with fifty millions of population, nagging weakling China with a mere four hundred million. And the way she does it is through bribery and corruption of those very honest Chinese officials whom he names elaborately as notoriously in Japanese pay. So it would seem that China is very like America in that it finds considerable difficulty in electing unbribable politicians, and that Japan has learned a little of her politics from America, too, where graft just naturally will creep in every now and then.

Another awful thing Japan has done is to try to win the friendly feeling of the U.S.A. by propaganda. Of course that is disgustingly immoral. She ought to like us to be suspicious of her. America would never do a thing like that, except of course when she dropped pamphlets over the Russian and German lines to explain that she was their friend. But that was different. Japan, it appears, has also broken out in irritated dislike of Americans every now and then. Of course we have our Senator Phelans and our McClatchys, but we never, never say unpleasant things about Japan. Tut, tut. And if we did, well they would deserve it. The United States could never be deserving of adverse criticism.

It is very, very wicked of Japan to covet trade with China. Mr. McClatchy tells us that time was when China loved America and all the trade of that vast country was ours for the asking. "Consider this sentiment as a commercial asset and see what it means," he says. Oh, hush, McClatchy! That is a Japanese sin. But no, he dazzles us with the possibilities. It is the peaceful penetration by the U.S.A., not Japan, that will be so very good for China. So when Japan turns a cold ear to China's affectionate regard for the U.S.A. and essays to pooh-pooh it in the cause of her own peaceful penetration, which she so evilly covets—oh, well, McClatchy knows what to think of Japan.

Therefore—oh, dear, how one sin does lead to another—our duty is to start a little counter-propaganda in China. Why, no, surely he can't mean that. Propaganda, propaganda—why that is the sin of all others that he despises in the Japanese. One can't pursue this painful subject.

But oh, there is a sinister phrase at the end of Article 3: "She (the United States) cannot AFFORD TO THROW AWAY THE OPPORTUNITY TO SECURE THE TRADE WITH CHINA—."

Some objectionable Japanese writer might have penned those words anent his own country.

Let us get along to the news indictment. Stern evidence of Japan's machinations against the U.S.A., according to McClatchy, is the paucity of news from our beloved country that appeared in the Japanese press until very recently. Our great doings were almost ignored. Oh, well. What sort of news did we read about England in the American papers before the war? Chiefly scandals about the aristocracy. What sort of news did the English papers print from America? Chiefly monkey dinner parties, millionaire murders and lynchings.

Of course the whole trouble is that Japan is so smart, so superior to the rest of the nations that the McClatchys feel she should be way above the petty sins of lesser countries. But here is a trifling admission anent that news question—it comes in article 4: "And again, the Associated Press has, until recently, regarded its proper sphere as within the United States." So perhaps the Japanese press were not wholly to blame.

As to Japan's financing of China, Article V talks of "Japanese clutches." American financial interests are recommended to supplant Japan in this field. But that would be very different. There could be no such thing as "American clutches"—except perhaps in the mind of an evilly disposed Japanese journalist.

One of the nastiest indictments against Japan is an instance or two of "contemptuous treatment of Americans." At Mukden in April 1915, for instance, McClatchy tells how he heard that some Japanese troops marched through the Walled City and maneuvered in front of the American Consulate-General. Shameful! Even Mexican bandits would not dare do that and live. At least, thank goodness, they don't happen to have tried that particular affront. Oh, there is no doubt about it, the Japanese are insolent dangerous devils if they could do a thing like that.

And the way they treat the Koreans like dogs. McClatchy himself says he saw a Japanese railroad official treat a Korean civilian like that with his own eyes. I have been treated like that myself by an American street-car conductor, so I know just how that Korean felt. That's the trouble with these wicked conspiring Japanese—they commit such original sins. Simply couldn't happen in any other country.

There is no doubt about it. Mr. McClatchy has given perfectly ghastly and unmatchable evidence to a waiting country on the machinations of the Japanese. Of course there is not the slightest excuse for their being contemptuous of Americans. We are absolutely incapable of any of the crimes he accuses them of. And we are not afraid of them. Never have been afraid of them. Would not dream of being afraid of them. Menace, indeed! Yellow peril! Who said so?

Oh, well the little brown man across the Pacific thought he heard some Americans saying something of the kind. It rather swelled him up. But of course he was mistaken. Ask Senator Phelan.

MISS GLAUM DOES SOME DIRECTING.

Louise Glaum, famous star of the J. Parker Read, Jr., productions, doesn't think it is above her to play extra parts or to help with them whenever she can. Recently, while they were filming some fire scenes in her latest picture, "The Lone Wolf's Daughter," it was required that a great deal of excitement be shown while Miss Glaum was being rescued from a burning building.

As is customary in the making of pictures, the scene showing the rescue of Miss Glaum was made at close range, while the extra people were not visible, but when the time came to take them they had somewhat lost their pep and enthusiasm after Miss Glaum had really been rescued.

In order to get the desired effect several assistants would have been necessary. Miss Glaum seeing the situation quickly jumped in among the crowd and began shouting and yelling at the top of her voice, thereby attracting the attention of the crowd and again stirring up their enthusiasm and excitement.

During the excitement which at this time had reached its height, the scene was taken, and it is believed one of the most thrilling scenes ever filmed was secured.

In this instance Miss Glaum has furnished a novel idea, namely, playing as an extra in the production wherein she stars.

PAYS TRIBUTE TO PICTURES.

On the occasion of the visit of the Pacific Fleet, a member of the Ince forces, who was privileged to lunch with Admiral Rodman, was surprised to find that the world-renowned sailor was an enthusiastic film fan and had many preferences and prejudices stored away in his sea chest. He spoke appreciatively of the movies as a means of keeping the ships' crews in good spirits during the long and weary watches when the fleet was on guard in the North Sea. The Admiral was diffident in expressing an opinion on the varied charms of the feminine beauties of the screen, being a trained diplomat; but he did, when taken off guard, state that he personally was greatly attracted by Dorothy Dalton, especially in such plays as "Flare Up Sal" and "The Flame of the Yukon." Miss Dalton, who is in New York, has been communicated with and intends sending the admiral one of her very best photographs, with a few pretty sentiments inscribed thereon to decorate his cabin on the New Mexico.

HOUSE HUNTING IS ITS OWN REWARD.

May Allison, she of the dancing eyes, wearied of hotel life some time ago and decided to find a cozy cottage where she could indulge her love of mussing flower beds with a spade and hoe, and that would be a nice "homey" place for her mother and herself to live in.

For several weeks the bright-haired Metro star and her sister, Mrs. Maud Latham, went house hunting over Hollywood in every spare hour. House hunting, it may be added, is just as fatiguing, fascinating and exasperating for a picture queen as it is for anyone else.

At last she found a house she liked and now May Allison is nicely settled there with her mother and brother. It is a ten-room house, set back on a spacious lawn bordered with pepper trees. The interior of the house is beautifully finished in oak, and the furniture is of oak to match.

The house is on Cahuenga avenue, only two miles from the Metro studios, and yet on a slight elevation near the Hollywood foothills.

MAN HELD AS PLOTTER IS ELECTED PRESIDENT

BOSNIA-HERZEGOVINA HONORS SHOLA, ACCUSED AS SARAJEVO ASSASSIN.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

SARAJEVO, July 15.—One of the men who were arrested by Austrian authorities after the assassination of Archduke Ferdinand in 1914 is now President of the provincial government of Bosnia-Herzegovina and is recognized as one of the leaders in the new kingdom of Jugo-Slavia. He is Atanasije Shola. He was kept in prison at hard labor during the war.

Today, in his office in what was formerly part of an Austrian palace, Mr. Shola described his years in prison and subsequent rise to power. He is a Herzegovinian, 42 years old, and considered to be a man of exceptional ability.

"One hundred and fifty-six of us were placed under arrest in July, 1914," he said. "There was no proof that I was in sympathy with the Jugo-Slav propaganda, but the authorities suspected what was in my heart. Sixteen of the men arrested at that time were condemned to death. The death penalties were not executed because of the remonstrance by the King of Spain, but the prison sentences were all made effective.

"I went to prison on July 26, 1914. My cell was a small one—a mere cage, and I was kept at hard labor. In October of 1918 the people of Bosnia-Herzegovina, as in other Jugo-Slav provinces of the Austrian empire, anticipated the debacle of the empire and organized a national council for the conduct of affairs. As soon as the Austrian army fled this council came into full executive power and the men wrongly imprisoned were liberated. I was released from prison on November 1, 1918, and almost immediately chosen by the national council as President of the government of Bosnia-Herzegovina.

He said that the people generally were in sympathy with the central Jugo-Slav government at Belgrade.

Peculiar Accident.

Several days ago the United States dredgeboat Kentucky was dredging Kentucky River between Mercer and Woodford counties when the crew encountered a large tree in the water that they could not dislodge. Every other means failing to raise it the crew decided to place dynamite under the trunk, but in placing the explosive it was, unnoticed, put under one end of a big saw log. The boat then drew off about 300 feet to be out of the zone of danger when the explosion occurred. The dynamite blew the saw log several hundred feet into the air and it came down like a huge bomb, end first, on top of the cabin of the boat and bored a hole through it. Fortunately no one was hurt.—[Harodsburg (Ky.) Herald.

Togs—A Tale That Is Told In Type and Tablature—

but, for the most part, in tablature. Words, even when carefully chosen with a care for truth are more or less unsatisfying. Picturization is far better; and, until the eyes may see, the fingers touch and speech question concerning the new fall togs, on pictures may one well rely.

Exquisite Black Hats of Panne Velvet, Feather Fringed

—that frame faces and locks with undulating softness of contour, are, perhaps, surest of favor just now.

—Some are high of crown and narrow of brim; some are low of crown and wide of brim; one would have been claimed by the "Little Corporal" in so far as its shape is concerned—its wee fringe of ostrich he would doubtless have consigned to Josephine!

—And speaking of this delicate ostrich fringe "en tabloid," one must say that it is charming, with its half-inch of width, its shadowy tendrils that curl like a child's ringlets.

A Dashing Tam of Melon-Shade Duvetyn

—has appliqued arabesques of brown leather; and, worn by M'a'mselle of the chestnut eyes and hair, leaves nothing to be desired!

The Simple Lines of a Robe of the Church Might Have Been Copied in This Coat

—but the richness of its fabric and its fur would awaken the interest of a Queen of Sheba!

—Captured has been the shade of the fleeing autumn leaf in its soft brown velours de laine, and winter's sheen flits from place to place in the silken depths of its nutria collar and cuffs. Its lining is an ivory-and-dark-blue figured silk of the light weight, shining sort—a friendly coat in the ways of warmth and enveloping comfort; a sumptuous coat "in the eyes of the world." Price $125.00. Third Floor.

Blouses are Variants of the Russian

—They come well below the belt and have graceful, easy lines, with loose sashes that sway with the rhythm of one's walk.

—One of the blouses pictured is of ivory white crepe Georgette, has the voguish three-quarters length sleeves, and the deep Greek key design banding is embroidered with ivory silk. This is a slip-on blouse—just as simple, and therefore lovely as it well can be. Its cord girdle is crocheted of ivory wool yarn.

—Another is of midnight blue crepe Georgette—a marvelously graceful slip-on blouse, its medallions wrought of white and light blue beads, its lower edge defined with deep black silk fringe.

—One may judge of the diversity of blouses on the third floor, when one knows that their prices start at $5.95 and go on up to $39.50.

Except for Its Narrow Sash-Belt the Coat of the Suit Pictured Has An Ecclesiastical Look

—It is as long as the "Prince Albert" of correct cut; but semblance stops there, because 'tis fashioned of dark blue gabardine, has the narrow sash-belt, and many a yard of silken braid travels o'er its surface in the exquisite way made law by artist designer.

—Its choker collar is tall, indeed, and gives to the throat the look of slenderness about which poets have sung and—continue to sing!

—The skirt, of course, is of the required slenderness for severe street wear.

A Glinting Frock of Brocaded Brown Tricolette

—has rows of brown and gold embroidery to grace its long Russian blouse. Tricolette-covered buttons parade in rows on sleeves and blouse and finish the ends of the long, slim sash.

—Another wantable frock is wrought of dark blue tricolette, and it, too, has the never-so-popular-as-now blouse that a trudging peasant of Muscovite Land well might claim. A new-old detail is the deep Mandarin band that binds the skirt's lower edge.

Not From the Little French Town on the River Oise

—came the black lace of the evening frock with its Chantilly patterning; instead it is a wispy, silken lace of American manufacture that is draped au pannier over black satin. A pretty detail of its deep girdle is the hide-and-seek appearing of blue faille ribbon.

Mother-of-Pearl Buttons Scale the Tan Heights of New Boots

—and borrow high lights from their patent leather vamps.

—Heels, arch and tip-to-top shapeliness spell the patrician in boots!

SHADE FANCIES FROM PAINT AND PAPER

YES, they are lovely, those mellow-toned parchment shades. Also they are just a little beyond the lampshade allowance of the common everyday purse. But the encouraging old story of the will and the way still holds good. And when the will is linked with a bit of ingenuity, then nothing is impossible; at least a most charming, economical, and easy-to-make parchment shade substitute isn't.

Provide yourself first of all with sufficient cold-pressed water-color paper to cut out, either four times the smaller model for a candle screen, or twice the larger pattern for the lamp, or both. And don't forget to allow for a turn-in, which is suggested by the dotted lines of the smaller shade at top and sides to make it fit the brass candle frame.

Now the next step is to trace the design. Make the tracing with tissue paper directly from the page. Then with carbon, transfer the design lightly to your water-color paper. After that begin to paint.

We will treat the wee shade first, since that is obviously the easier of the two. Begin by inking in, with as good a quality of India ink as you can obtain, all the black spaces. To get a true black, several coats will be necessary. Then treat the sky space to a deep blue, which last may be dispensed with if you choose a blue water color paper in the first place. Finally color the moon, and maybe the windows of the little house, too, a deep orange. Be quite sure, tho, that you use an orange and a quite deep tone, for yellow is most unsuccessful for this purpose, since the candle light absorbs its strength. The finishing of both shades we will treat after the color scheme of the lamp shade has been decided.

In orange and browns, this butterfly fancy is calculated to be an amazingly effective addition to any room. Or, you might prefer the contrast of the orange and blue scheme. A further choice is granted you when it comes to the balancing of the colors. Since most of the shade will be in the usual mellow tone of parchment, there is no artistic objection to making the delightful little insects mostly blue, the orange occurring in their spots and stripes and appendages, and the blue appearing again in the border. Again, if you are a willing victim to the ever safe and ever lovely yellow scheme, yet still desire that telling bit of contrast, then make your butterflies orange ones by all means, and "trim" them with vivid dabs of blue.

To further experiment picture the gay little winged things in a nice rich brown touched up with a lively orange against the lovely creamy tone of the background. Vice versa, imagine them mostly orange with the brown decorating their sportive little bodies.

However, it is time to be thinking about finishing. When all the painting is completed, and before the patterns are cut out, give them a coating of liquid paraffin, which is purchasable at any drug or paint store, and which is partly responsible for the surprising likeness to parchment that it gives the water color paper. Let the paraffin dry for several days, then treat the shades to two or three coats of white shellac. That last gives them a remarkable transparency.

Thereafter you will do the cutting out and close the edges. There are two methods of bringing the edges together. One is to simply paste the flaps over, the other, to use a bit of gummed tape, which is covered lastly with the lining of rice paper.

PARTY TIME IS NEAR

Which means that you will soon be doing some rather excited planning about novel entertainment and unusual refreshments and very "different" decorations. Naturally, you are going to be interested in dainty, makeable bonbonniers to put upon the festal board. You are calculated to get really enthusiastic about the ones coming on this page next Sunday.

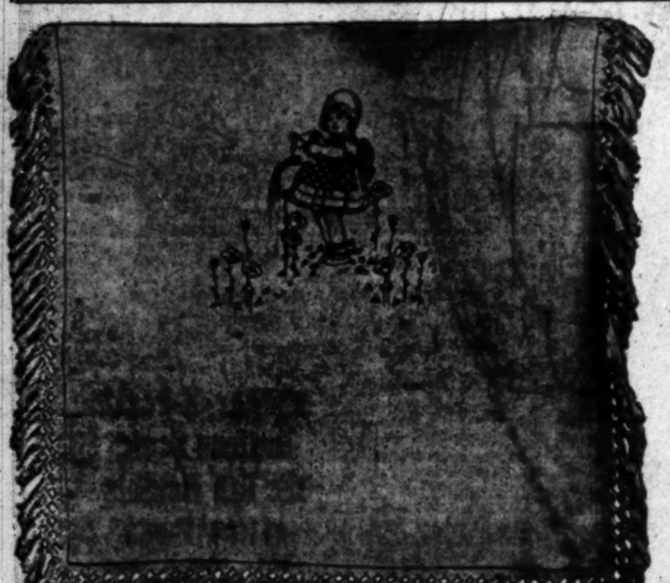
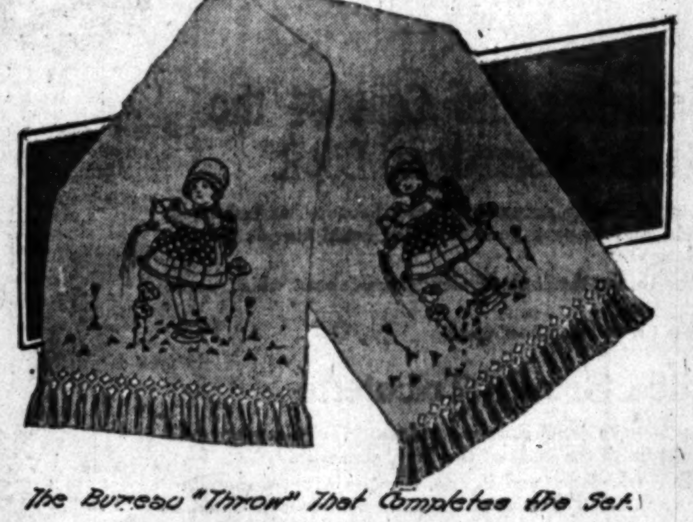
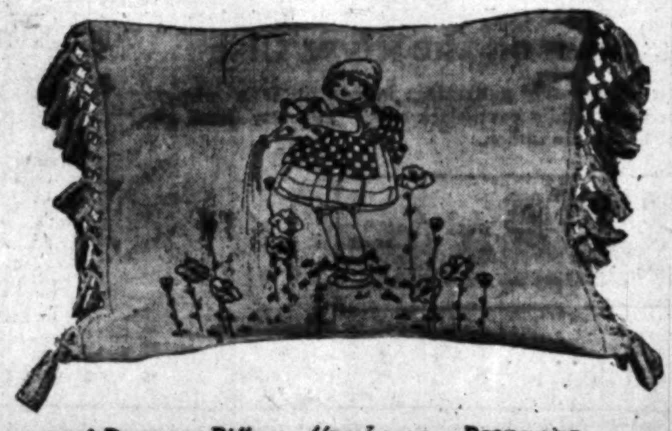
Dainty Etceteras for a Tiny Tot's Bedroom



Instantly Different is the Plan of the Bedspread.



The Bureau "Throw" That Completes the Set.



A Poppy Pillow Harbors Dreams

MOTHER is always fussing over things for the house. Sister has her hope chest, now the tiny one is to be given a chance! Just think of a whole set of pretties for her bedroom! And yet why not? Half the drudgery of napping would be dispelled if one were sure of an attractive room.

A lovely soft madras was chosen for the set pictured. On it a chubby little girl is sprinkling poppies; that is, she means to, but is anxiously awaiting your approval, hence the poppies suffer! It is all done in the simplest of stitches, the outline stitch. Of course, the poppies are red and the grass green. The little girl is radiant in blues and pinks and black.

The pillow is of the long, narrow bolster type. The little lady with her sprinkling can takes up the greater part of it. Heavy linen fringe is the finishing feature. It is a purely practical pillow, and tho it makes so attractive an appearance, does not defy the laundry problem.

Of course, a spread to match is the inevitable delightful sequel. Here the chubby person again disports herself, in the center of the spread. The heavy fringe is found on every edge.

Most people would have stopped there and have called the set complete, but not in this case. An adorable little scarf is added to be used on baby's dresser or bureau. It, too, is gay with fringe, and on each end more poppies, and sprinkling cans and chubby little girls are found.

Non-Lace Ways to Trim Your Lingerie

ONCE in a while to every girl and woman comes the moment to turn to lingerie trimmed not with lace! Either from causes of taste, monotony or durability this once-in-a-while is bound to come.

Hand-embroidered scallops in various guises are as good now as ever, and are equally effective worked in a self or colored silk.

A very popular and unique way to trim one's lingerie is to use a hemstitched casing thru which the ribbons are drawn. This may be done either by hand or by machine and either in self or in contrasting color. You might carry it around the neck and around what is more than a wide armhole, and then use it to mark a rather high waist line. Pale blue ribbons could be drawn thru pale blue casings and the protruding ends could tie in perky little bows with a great deal of success on most any sort of material.

Then charming effects may be achieved by the use of ribbon bindings. The edge of the ribbon might be caught down with a row of narrow hemstitching if you prefer a bit more of an elaborate finish than just the plain binding.

Or you may use self-colored bands which are outlined in blanket stitch in a contrasting color. For "nighties" especially this trimming-way is very successful. Blue stitching on a pink nightie, orchid on pale yellow, lavender on pale pink, or a combination of pastels on white are some of the more colorful schemes you might follow. You see, undies are really getting more colorful all the time, tho, of course, there are those who still hold to the white.

Very simple tho effective is the form of trimming which makes use of a group of narrow folds laid flat on a square-cut neck, each fold joined by hand veining. A similar trimming would be used for the sleeves also.

Small birds and butterflies may be embroidered in solid work, may be outlined, or cut out and appliqued. Can't you fancy how charming a white crepe de chine nightie might be with a group of black and white swallows wending their way across the front?

The Shortest Way to Do Hemstitching

WHEN it comes to handwork, the longest way round is decidedly not the shortest way to the end. When organdie collars and cuffs, as well as those of other sheer materials, are used so much, one likes to have her own distinctive because of their daintiness. Therefore she fashions them herself and leaves upon them that refined little air which marks them as "done by hand."

The mode of trimming these collars and cuffs which offers the greatest possibilities is that of hemstitching. Many a girl would prefer hand hemstitching, but the drawing of the threads seems such a task.

You need not pull the threads if you take the short cut to hemstitching. Simply baste in the hem, then take a "punch-work" needle—a round one, as the three-sided ones sometimes cut the threads—and work from left to right just the same as in regular hemstitching. However, you must go round the group of threads twice before catching the hem.

Doing it this way, you can go around any number of curves, or make any number of little designs, as, for example, small conventional roses, small scroll or diamond designs. This would be a very good way to trim your lingerie. Of course this sort of vagrant hemstitching is impossible when you do it the "thread-pulling" way.

Have Fragrant Bed Linens

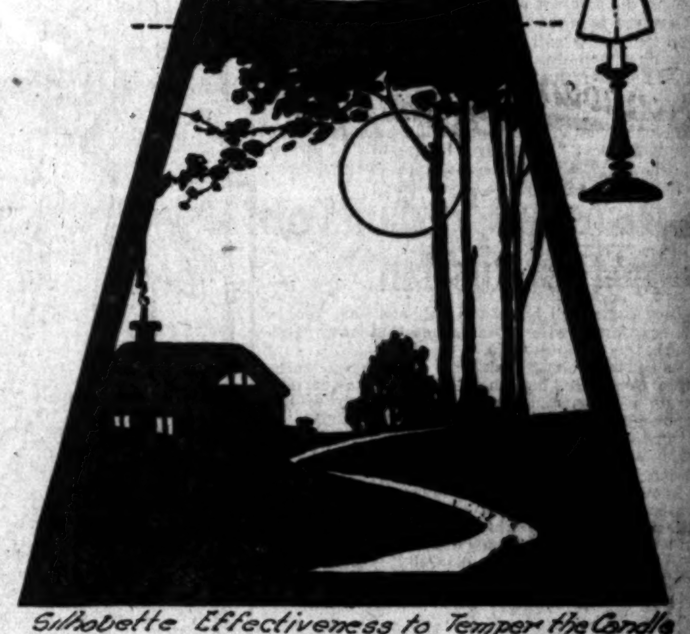
HAVE you ever visited a friend whose guest room bed brought pleasant thoughts before sleep and blissful dreams after? You were conscious of a certain suggestion of the woodlands which delightfully lulled you to sleep. Perhaps you meant to go your way and do likewise for the stranger within your gates, but you never did—for no reason at all.

Why not do it now? Lavender has a fragrance which is best adapted to bed linen. You want only a delicate odor. Therefore, you must have a container for it.

Take a fine linen handkerchief and out of a fourth of it fashion an envelope-like bag. If you wish to remember some housekeeping friend with a useful, dainty and yet inexpensive gift, why not give her two of these bags for her linen drawer?

If you are going to give them as gifts, fold over the two opposite corners to make the three-cornered bag suggested above. Instead of merely hemming it, give it a narrow crocheted edge of palest lavender on all sides. Using the same color, embroider one tiny flower in the corner of the top side. These lavender-filled bags are really indispensable once your esthetic nature has delighted in them!



Silhouette Effectiveness to Temper the Candle Glow

Bits for the Bazaar

THIS is bazaar time. It seems with the coming of autumn, the feminine mind is obsessed with the noble idea of bazaar, so she soon discovers a worthy cause to make it noble. Of course, there is a fancy table to which you are asked to subscribe generously and you think, "What can I give them?" Then, too, you want to give them, well, something a little different; every one does. Here are a few suggestions that might help.

Take a band of cretonne or ribbon and fasten with a button as for a belt. To this, either buttoned or sewed, is fastened several tapes about a half yard long. On your tapes hang pot holders of various sizes and shapes. These are a joy to the housewife since after using them she has only to let them drop, and they are there when she wants them again.

People are continually pleading the cause of the mat for hot dishes. One sees them in straw and asbestos, and of late they've been wearing linen frocks perhaps edged with crochet. Now people are making them all of crocheted work. An attractive round mat is made with a combination of star and rose pattern. The star of six points forms the center and from each point a conventional rose pattern is worked. A mile-a-minute edge completes it. It may be used as a doily and when needed is sewed to a white asbestos mat for hot dishes.

Have you any cracker boxes made of tin? Perhaps you have a marshmallow box or even a coffee tin. There are possibilities in them. Buy some black enamel and carefully coat them. When this has thoroly dried, apply the second. If you can decorate the can with a stencil, or with oil colors paint some little conventional design. If you cannot wield the brush, you can do as well with bright-colored or boldly-outlined pictures cut from magazines. When you have pasted these pictures on to the can, cover the whole with a coating of shellac to protect it.

To Make for a Tiny Person

IT SEEMS as if youngsters, particularly the smallest members of the group, are always having birthdays, or at least some excuse for having things given to them. Perhaps it's because fond relatives are always seeing them in every attractive bib or apron displayed in a shop window. The very sight of a cunning smock is bound to bring forth an exclamation of this sort. "How adorable, and wouldn't our Joan look sweet in it!"

Here are two little garments you might make for Joan or Peter and feel sure you have chosen well. First is a "creeper." Altho you are always wishing Baby would stop creeping, he will creep. Especially does he love to do so when you have dressed him in his best "embroidered" and are awaiting the arrival of your oldest spinster aunt. Make him a creeper of chambray. Cut out a romper pattern in two pieces, making it sleeveless. Bind the neck, shoulder straps and seams with white bias binding. A little bunny or chicken can be outlined on the front of it. Put on over the baby's petticoat it keeps him clean until the last minute when in a twinkling it can be taken off and his best dress put on.

Another help to mother is the long-sleeved bib. It can be made of chambray or, for morning, blue denim is not to be despised. Make it come apronwise down over the dress front and tie at the waist in back. It, too, can be attractively bound and a little animal of some sort embroidered on it.

The Wool You Unravel as You Knit

OFTEN one makes a serious mistake in the course of knitting and has to rip a number of rows. Repeated rippings and reknittings show up very disagreeably. Of course, when you have a whole piece that is unraveled, the best thing to do is to place it in a colander or wire strainer, place it over a vessel filled with boiling water and then cover and steam until the wool has lost its kinks and is once more straight. Then you would place it in the air to dry. However, when only a portion of the ball requires straightening out, this process is not the one to use.

The best way in the case of the unraveled portion of a ball is to wrap it loosely round a wad of old muslin which has been made wet. Then another piece of muslin should be wrapped about it and the whole left to dry. It will require several days perhaps, but it is worth the trouble, for when it is again knitted there are no traces of its ever having been in that state before.

MAY NEVER TRY THE EX-KAISER.

London Sentiment Divided as to His Ultimate Fate.

Fear Effect on Public Mind of Such a Spectacle.

And Then Again He's Cousin of King George V.

BY A. G. G.,

In London "Daily News."

It was characteristic of the present House of Commons that the only passage in Mr. Lloyd George's speech on the peace treaty which moved it to enthusiasm was that relating to the trial of the ex-Kaiser. And it was characteristic of the Prime Minister that the only revelation he had to make was that the trial would take place in London. He had kept that as a "bonne bouche" for the occasion, and as usual he showed a perfect appreciation of the taste and intelligence of his audience. It was a great secret to come into the House with, and it exploded with as brilliant an effect as the sky rockets that are nightly launched from the Nelson Column to the starry heavens on behalf of the Victory Loan. It appealed to the dramatic sense and the love of sensation. It was a "curtain" to the tragedy and the fact that the drop scene was to fall on the stage in London satisfied the House of Commons that justice reigned, and that virtue was about to be rewarded.

But it is possible that on reflection there will be less confidence as to the wisdom of choosing London as the place of trial. So great and unprecedented an event in the history of the world should be invested with as dispassionate and judicial an atmosphere as possible, and every temptation to present it as a spectacle should be resisted and resented. No one will pretend that the atmosphere of this country in regard to the ex-Kaiser is dispassionate and judical. It would be a miracle if it were. The mind of this country has been made up about the Kaiser for five years, and the tongues neither of men nor of angels would change it. No court, however judicial, can be uninfluenced by a universal popular feeling of this sort. There were doubtless difficulties in the way of setting up an ex-parte court in neutral territory; but if they could not be overcome, the next best thing would have been to have chosen the capital of one of the lesser belligerents, Lisbon for example, for the scene of the trial.

Apart from this merely judical aspect of the matter, it does not need much imagination to foresee the mischief which this trial, hanging over London for months, perhaps for a year, will do to the public mind of this country. The greatest need of the nation at this time is that it should get back to reasonable activities and to a normal habit of thought, but here is a scheme for keeping the wounds of the war open and the mind of the country excited and inflamed.

But there is another objection to London, which should have been final. The decision throws into violent relief certain considerations on which no one desires at this time to lay emphasis. The conflict between blood relationships and national relationships has been one of the cruellest experiences of the war. It is a conflict which has been peculiarly poignant in certain quarters, which have a commanding claim on our sympathy and protection. The prisoner who is about to be brought to London for trial is the grandson of Queen Victoria, the son of a British princess royal, and the cousin of the reigning monarch. These are not obscure facts. They are the elementary facts of the situation, and it seems an act of extraordinary thoughtlessness that has raised the delicate and even painful complications, which are involved in the trial of William Hohenzollen within musket-shot of Buckingham Palace. I think that when the public have had time to reflect they will wonder why so gauche an idea has been entertained.

For these, among other reasons, it is to be hoped that when the second reading of the peace treaty bill takes place there will be a determined opposition to the proposal. It is offensive alike on judicial grounds, on the grounds of decency, and because of its effect on the national mind and temper. It is a proposal that should never have emanated from the representatives of this country, and if made by the representatives of other countries should have been turned down, as neither in the spirit of justice nor in the interests of this nation. Since it has been put forward, Parliament should refuse its sanction, and in any case every element of decency and good feeling in the country should repudiate before the world a course of action that sacrifices the self-respect of the nation to a vulgar imitation of the Roman triumph.

There was never an occasion which needed to be more carefully divorced from any suspicion of "triumph" or sensationalism. From whatever aspect we regard this matter, it is one of momentous importance to the world. In thoughful circles there have been two sharply divided views as to the wisdom of putting the ex-Kaiser upon his trial. It is argued on the one side that the severest punishment that could be inflicted on the wretched man is to leave him alone, an outcast from his own country and from humanity; that to try him and put him to death would be to make a hero of him, and that the effect on Germany would be disastrous. With the Kaiser humiliated and forgotten, the temper of Germany would run freely into liberal channels; with the Kaiser executed and converted into a "martyr," the reactionary forces of Germany would have a symbol around which to revive.

There is much force in this view. In one sense Cromwell did a great service to the world when, in old Auchinleck's phrase, he "gar'd kings ken they'd a lith i' th' neck." But in another sense, he made the reaction certain. He gave the royalist cause a sentimental motive which made the military coup of Monk a simple affair, and which is not exhausted even today. There are still people who put flowers on the "martyr's" statue, and I have heard of a dear old lady who never sees a Vandyke portrait of Charles without shedding belated tears of pity for him who

> Nothing common did, or mean
> Upon that memorable scene.

It is not outside the range of possibility that William Hohenzollern, too, would rebuild the fortunes of his house, if only temporarily, upon the scaffold.

On the other side, it is held that the punishment of the principal author of the war is the chief duty of the society he has outraged; that the risk of converting him into a martyr is small in comparison with the necessity of asserting the authority of justice; that the trial can alone dispose of the Prussian doctrine that the State is above the law, and that the world can only be thoroughly cleansed of the poison of despotism and divine right by a demonstration of the subjection of the despot to the ordinary criminal processes of society.

In the early days of the war I shared this view without qualification. I remember quoting the remarkable forecast of the Kaiser's future written by the Portuguese poet, Eca De Queiroz, so long ago as 1891, in which he said:

"In the course of years this youth, ardent, pleasing, fertile in imagination, of sincere, perhaps heroic soul, may be sitting in his Berlin Schloss presiding over the destinies of Europe—or he may be in the Hotel Metropole in London sadly unpacking from his exile's handbag the battered double crown of Prussia and Germany."

And I added that had De Queiroz penetrated to the dark region of the Kaiser's character revealed by the war "he would not have limited his possible destiny to a universal throne or a lodging at the Hotel Metropole. He would have included in it the dock and the scaffold."

But I am much less sure today than I was then of the wisdom of the dock and the scaffold so far as the large and enduring interests of the world are concerned. And I am the less sure because of the technical difficulties in the way. I do not mean that I am disturbed by the fact that there is no precedent for what is to be done. If there is no precedent for a necessary deed it is our business to make one. If there is no body of international law to meet the needs of the world it is our business to invent it. And no one who desires to see the idea of despotism formally and deliberately arraigned, or who wishes to see the legal assertion of international sovereignty over the claim of any State to be above morals and law, would object to the trial of the ex-Kaiser on political grounds.

The difficulties and objections are of another sort. Even the greatest and most indubitable of criminals are entitled to a fair trial by an impartial court. There may be no shadow of doubt that Jones stole Smith's goose, and there may be no shadow of doubt about Smith's judicial integrity, but these facts do not qualify Smith to sentence Jones to six months' imprisonment. But that, roughtly stated, is the procedure which is to be employed in the case of the ex-Kaiser. The Allies, who are the aggrieved parties in the action, propose to appoint a court of their own judges for the trial of the prisoner.

In addition, there is no code of law to which to appeal and no procedure that is established. Both have to be improvised and applied retrospectively—that is, to events which took place before the law existed or the procedure was authorized. It would not be easy to imagine a more complete reversal of the traditions of justice, and to say in these circumstances that the ex-Kaiser is assured of a fair trial is to say what the mind of any reasonable person incontinently rejects. It is to say something with the tongue in the cheek. If the ex-Kaiser is to be tried he ought to be tried by a competent court, chosen from neutral states. If that is impossible, he cannot be said to be tried at all in any accepted legal meaning of the word. He can only be said to be condemned.

But perhaps, after all, these speculations are idle and ignore the true inwardness of the whole affair. Perhaps, after all, the public is only being fobbed off with the promise of a sensation which there is no expectation of fulfilling. No one who during the war has watched the ingenuities of a certain type of politician in manipulating the public will be surprised if the months pass by without the trial seeming to come any nearer. This natural suspicion is supported by the statement which I read in the Daily Mail:

"Our correspondent in Holland gives the Dutch opinion that the ex-Kaiser will live and die in Holland, as it is argued that the right of political asylum does not permit of his surrender. All these facts, we presume, have been taken into account. By its performance in this matter the British government will be tested and judged."

If this is the true reading of the matter, and if the Allies have indeed gone through this elaborate flummery under the conviction that Holland will stand by its right of political asylum, and that therefore there will be no trial, one can only say that it is a perilous game to play unless the mind of Holland has been carefully ascertained beforehand, and that even so it is not pleasant to think that public opinion can be treated with so much solemn mockery. No doubt it is a sound calculation that in the tumult of things before us the nonfulfillment of this promise or that will soon tend to be forgotten. It was so in the case of Joseph Chamberlain's promised thirty millions contribution from the mine owners. Probably he never expected to get it. The promise enabled him to turn an awkward corner and he knew that the House and the country could soon tire of asking for what it never got and was never intended to get. Whatever Mr. Lloyd George fails on it will not be his failure to bring the Kaiser to trial.

In the turbulent world of today the mood of the public changes rapidly and its sense of the proportion of things changes witn it. We are up against problems of human adjustment, of life and death, of international reconstruction, in the presence of which the question of whether the ex-Kaiser shall be put to death or left to a green old age felling trees in a Dutch woodland will seem a matter of incredibly little momentm. For most sensible minds it is enough that the deposits have gone and have made for that reconciliation of peoples on the basis of equal rights, equal liberties and mutual aid which is the dream of today and which it is the task of the future to make an enduring reality.

A BLIZZARD IN FILMLAND.

"There was a blizzard and snowstorm last night," said a resident of Hollywood, who occasionally works in motion pictures, to a friend in Los Angeles.

"A blizzard and a snowstorm—in August?" was the surprised rejoinder.

And so would everyone probably rejoin, and in their hearts would most likely call the informer a prevaricator, if not an outright liar. But a blizzard and snowstorm there was, and if not real, it was said to be most realistic.

It happened out at the Lasky studio in Hollywood, and was staged in the Argyle lot. It was a scene from "Everywoman" that was being filmed. A New York street scene had been constructed. It was supposedly New Year's Eve in New York, when rich and poor alike throng the streets in the spirit of festivity and revelry. All the show windows were gaily lighted, and electric signs glittered over every other entrance.

Something like a thousand extra people, dressed to represent all types from the dress-suit swell down to the thinly-clad, half-frozen newsboy and the cheeky, blatant Salvation Army girl, surged and swayed along the crowded street, shouting, blowing horns and rattling countless noisemakers of all kinds, while the blinding snow, hurled by the fury of the wind, sprinkled them with a coat of white. The street and sidewalks were covered with this same white, and it was heaped up in drifts on the window ledges and in corners and crevices.

Now and then a taxi, full of revelers, would pass among the throng. Many were clad in overcoats, furs and heavy wrappings. In the foreground a group of altar boys stood in the lighted church entrance, shutting their eyes in the face of the blinding snow.

The scene, which was directed by George Melford, with Violet Heming as star, relates how Everywoman is suuposed to have lost Youth, Beauty and Modesty, her three precious attributes, and is now wandering in the streets of New York on New Year's Eve, friendless, penniless and exhausted. She sees her old admirer Wealth, who now spurns her because she has lost Youth and Beauty. Then she encounters Truth, whom she had turned away from in her better days. Truth says, "Will you now follow Truth?" And Everywoman answers: "I repent. I will now follow Truth."

It then comes to pass that Love, whom Everywoman has been seeking, is the son of Truth, and after finding Love Everywoman also finds Beauty and Modesty, who are recovering in Truth's care.

The scene was declared to be one of the most realistic of its kind ever screened. One bystander was so impressed with the realism of the sight that he was seen to unconsciously turn up his coat collar while watching the blizzard from the sidelines. When the scene was over he realized it was an unusually warm night, and was surprised to discover that in the wandering of his fancy he had forgotten the true state of the weather.

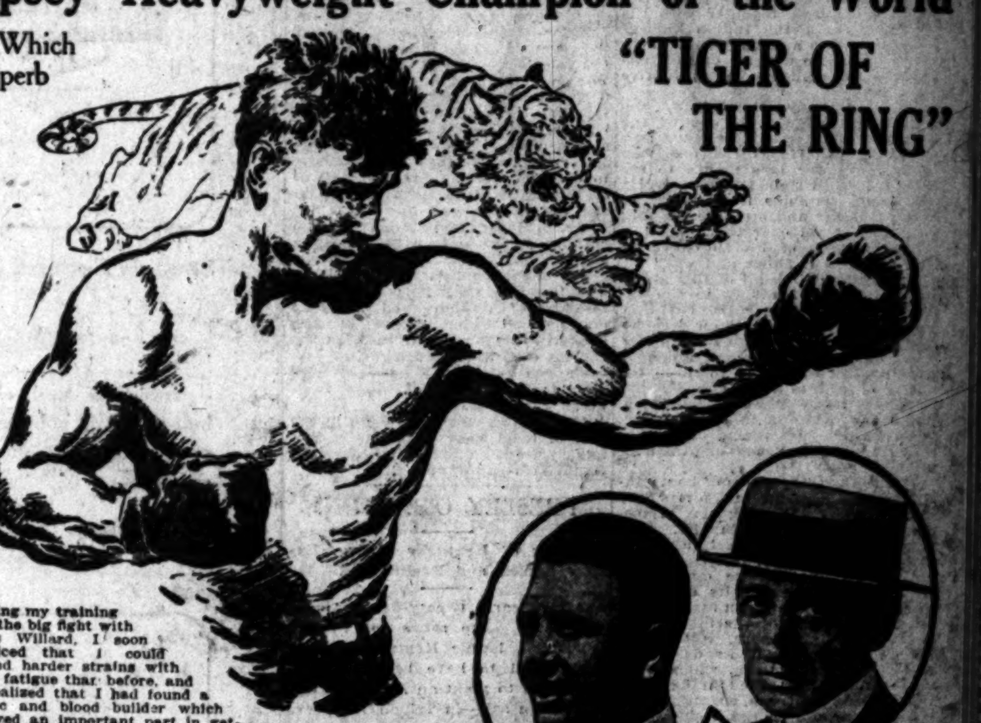
"Nuxated Iron Put Added Power Behind My Punch"

Says Jack Dempsey Heavyweight Champion of the World

Tells a Secret of the Training Which Helped Get Him Into Such Superb Condition That He Was Able to Whip the Mighty Jess Willard and Prove Himself



"TIGER OF THE RING"

THE SUPERMAN OF THE AGE

Jack Kearns, Manager for Dempsey, Jimmy DeForest, Chief Trainer, and Others Give Opinions — How Nuxated Iron Helps Strengthen The Nerves, Restore Wasted Tissue and Build RED BLOOD, STRENGTH and ENDURANCE.

Since his overwhelming victory at Toledo when he wrested the World's Championship title from the Goliath-like Jess Willard, Jack Dempsey, the modern David and Miracle Man of the Fistic World—Jack Kearns, his manager, and Jimmy De Forest, his chief trainer, have been besieged with inquiries as to the methods employed in pounding him into such superb condition. That Jack Dempsey used Nuxated Iron as a part of the training which produced such marvelous physical development as to make him a veritable human dynamo, should prove conclusivelyl the paramount value he attached to this master strength and blood builder and he explains below why he now recommends it to others.

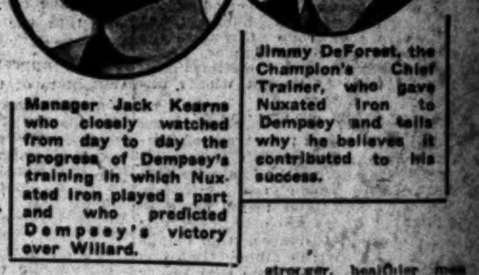
Just as when a man's life is at stake, physicians seek only the tried and proven treatment, so when the World's Championship hung in the balance, Deempsey's trainers did not stop to experiment with metallic iron preparations—Nux and Iron—or other products of questionable value, but they insisted upon having only genuine Nuxated Iron, which they felt could be absolutely relied upon to help build red blood, power and stamina.

In connection with this feature of his training regarding which Dempsey himself makes a statement below, Jimmy De Forest, the Champion's Chief Trainer is quoted as saying: "I rate Jack Dempsey as the greatest heavyweight of all times. Unlike Willard, he heeded advice and counsel during his training from those whom he trusted." De Forest further states: "For seven weeks previous to July 4th I was in sole charge of the training and preparing of Jack Dempsey for his fight with Jess Willard. During the training period Dempsey was regularly given by me Nuxated Iron and I believe it contributed to his success."

The importance that the Champion himself places upon the part Nuxated Iron played in winning for him the highest laurels known in the athletic world is clearly shown in the following statement made by Jack Dempsey at his training quarters in Toledo, the scene of the big battle, when he said: "After commencing the use of Nuxated Iron during my training for the big fight with Jess Willard, I soon noticed that I could stand harder strains with less fatigue than before, and I realized that I had found a tonic and blood builder which played an important part in getting me into fine condition. Formerly I had relied solely upon strength-building foods and outdoor exercise to keep my blood rich in red corpuscles, but with the World's Championship at stake, I felt that I should leave nothing undone that might help me to win. I was advised of the great value of Nuxated Iron for building up the blood, strengthening the nerves and aiding in keeping the body fit, and I am firmly convinced that its use has helped to wonderfully increase my stamina and endurance. Nuxated Iron put added power behind my punch and helped me to accomplish what I did at Toledo. From the results in my own case where the possession of super endurance is necessary, I feel that I am in a position to strongly recommend Nuxated Iron to every man and woman who wants to build greater strength, energy and power."

In connection with the foregoing statement made by Jack Dempsey, Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York and Westchester County Hospital, said: "The methods of training adopted by Willard and Dempsey may have had a great deal to do with the outcome of this fight. According to reports Dempsey had placed himself unreservedly in the hands of expert trainers and competent physicians and heeded their advice. In my opinion whoever made the suggestion that Nuxated Iron should play a part in getting Dempsey into condition is to be commended for his foresight. No man without plenty of rich, red blood filled with health-giving and strength-building iron could withstand the terrific onslaughts of a giant like Willard. It should occur to every thinking person that if a man as physically fit as Dempsey should consider it advisable to take Nuxated Iron, how much more important it is for the average man or woman to see that there is no lack of iron in the blood. There is today a surprising number of persons who suffer from iron deficiency. Lack of iron in the blood not only makes a man a physical and mental weakling, nervous, irritable, easily fatigued, but it utterly robs him of that virile force, that stamina and strength of will which are so necessary to success and power in every walk of life. It may also transform a beautiful, sweet-tempered woman into one who is cross, nervous and irritable. To help make strong, keen, red-blooded Americans there is nothing in my experience which I have found so valuable as organic Iron—Nuxated Iron."

Dr. John Van Horne, formerly Medical Inspector and Clinical Physician on the Board of Health of the City of New York, says: "Strong, healthy men and women with plenty of iron in their blood are the ones who go through life with a smile, self-reliant and fearless and their dynamic power and energy make them virtually masters of their own destinies. It is surprising how many people who do not get along in life are in reality suffering from iron deficiency and do not know it. To supply this lack of iron and help build stronger, healthier men and women, better able physically to meet the problems of everyday life. I believe that physicians should, at every opportunity, prescribe organic iron—Nuxated Iron—for in my experience it is one of the best tonic and red blood builders known to medical science."



Manager Jack Kearns who closely watched from day to day the progress of Dempsey's training in which Nuxated Iron played a part and who predicted Dempsey's victory over Willard.

Jimmy DeForest, the Champion's Chief Trainer, who gave Nuxated Iron to Dempsey and tells why he believes it contributed to his success.

SANTA FE TURNS HIGHBROW.

Lo the Poor Indian Gets More Attention from His Paleface Brothers Than He Ever Did Before in His Life.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA FE (N. M.) Aug. 2.—Poor Lo, the Pueblo Indian, who frequently comes to this town from Nambe, Tesuque, and other nearby villages, doesn't know quite what to make of the change that is coming over the place. He does perceive, however, that he is the object of more attention than ever before in the annals of his tribe, since about 1690, when he engaged in a ferocious little war with the Spaniards and quite a few scalps changed owners.

Very different is the kind of attention he gets now. Artists portray him—at a dollar an hour. He is painted etched, pastelled, crayoned, charcoaled. He is rendered both realistically and impressionistically. Real geniuses do pictures of him that cause him to grunt in amazed approval, and wealthy amateurs make him look like nothing at all.

Professors of linguistics peer into his mouth to see how he talks. Professors or archaeology dig for the bones of his ancestors, and offer him a job doing the same. Professors of history quiz him about his earliest recollections, and try to make him repeat the tales his grandfather told him.

INDIAN IS PATIENT.

He finds it amusing; he finds it surprising; but above all he finds it remunerative. So, on the whole, he is remarkably patient. Besides, he believes that most of these artists and professors are crazy, and like all other primitive men he regards the insane with superstitious awe. Hence the artists and Indians are on very good terms.

This vogue of the Pueblo Indian has been growing for several years. The real seat of its growth is on Fifth avenue and elsewhere in New York. Indian pictures are in demand and so are Indian goods and antiquities. From one thousand to ten thousand dollars each is being paid for pictures painted in Santa Fe, Taos and elsewhere in New Mexico. The vivid colors of the Southwest and the unspoiled picturesqueness of its people have captured the imagination of the picture-buying public. They have also captured the imagination of the artists. The painter and his public seem to be closer together on this Indian stuff than they generally are.

Naturally, more painters come every year to share in the inspiration of New Mexico and in the golden harvest which waits at the other end of the line. There are really important men here, Robert Henri and George Bellows, the famous impressionists, Julius Rolshoven, Sheldon Parsons, Gustave Bauman, and numerous other men of reputation are spending all or part of their time in Santa Fe, while numerous younger and less well known men and women have joined the local art colony.

VOGUE OF PAINTING.

The vogue for painting the Indian is accompanied by one for studying him. Santa Fe is drawing just as much talent in the fields of archaeology and linguistics as it is in the field of art. It has a great collection of Spanish and Indian specimens housed in a new museum building patterned after an Indian pueblo. It has also one of the best libraries on linguistics in the world. These collections, together with the fact that the living Indian himself is found within a few miles of them, make Santa Fe a place of rare advantage for students of primitive

John Peabody Harrington, the well-known linguist, is one of the most important men of science now in Santa Fe. He is the one who peers into Poor Lo's mouth to see how his teeth and tongue work. Sometimes he finds it necessary to insert a finger and measure the oral cavity in actual operation. He also makes records of Indian conversation on smoked paper and wax.

You might think all of this would be something of a bore to the Indians, and perhaps it is, but they tolerate it. Mr. Harrington recently had a number of Indians working for him on an excavation. Some he would select every day to sit in the shade of a tree with him so that he might study their articulation, while the rest dug in the hot sun. This arrangement stirred up a keen interest in linguistics among the aborigines.

Naturally, this ingress of heavy intellect and brilliant talent is subtly but radically changing the atmosphere of ancient Santa Fe. This town, which is the oldest capital in the United States, has changed remarkably little in size during the last two centuries of its existence, and not so very much in appearance. It still has some of the first houses that were built there. But it has been many things in its day. First it was a Spanish town, where Dons of the old school lived in barbaric, baronial magnificence, surrounded by their slaves and peones, owning vast lands. Then came the period of the trappers, when the buck-skinned mountain men rode through the town, broke up its dances, drank up its whisky, and sometimes kidnaped a few of its not wholly unwilling daughters.

WAGON TRAIN DAYS.

Still wilder was the career of Santa Fe when the wagon trains began coming across the Santa Fe trail loaded with goods and gringoes. When those wagon trains came to Santa Fe! There are old-timers who remember—the dances, the drinking, the fights, the money that was thrown away, the havoc that pretty Spanish eyes played with gringo affections and with the general peace.

But this, too, passed with the coming of the railroad. And with the railroad came all of the necessary, unlovely things that make up civilization. Santa Fe became clean, it became moral, eventually it even became dry. The relics of its past were herded into a few curio stores and a museum. The city seemed to be settling down to a thoroughly commonplace, utterly uninteresting, absolutely American existence. And then the highbrow began to find it, and this eternal town seems now to be entering upon a new phase of its existence, just as strange and individual in its way as any of the others.

They say Boston is a lowbrow town with a highbrow reputation. Santa Fe is somewhat the opposite. In the minds of most who have never seen it, its name is associated irrevocably with all that the West means to of picturesque crudity. Santa Fe, magazine readers—cowboys, bad men, Indians, a general atmosphere as a matter of fact, never was a cowboy town, and it has had for many years an atmosphere of somnolent dignity which is the very opposite of the traditional western crudeness. But its recent rise into the realms of art and thought is something it will take a long time for anyone outside of Santa Fe fully to realize. Santa Fe will have as hard a time living down its reputation for westernness as Boston has in living down its reputation for intellectuality.

RENTS A CHURCH.

The strangest part of it is that arts which have nothing to do with Indians or the West have strayed to Santa Fe in the wake of those which have. Albin Polasek, the sculptor who has been commissioned to make the Thomas memorial for Chicago, has come to Santa Fe to do the work. He says it will cost Chicago about a thousand dollars more that way, but that the delightful climate of Santa Fe will enable him to do a better job. As Santa Fe lacked a studio big enough for the work, he has rented a negro Methodist church for the purpose, giving it a new coat of whitewash, and converting it into a modern studio.

A well-known teacher of the piano is also in Santa Fe this summer with seven of his pupils, and it is said that he contemplates founding a summer school of music here. Several poets have settled in Santa Fe for the summer, and Mary Austin, the well-known novelist, is here now finishing a novel.

In addition to all of these Santa Fe produces home talent. Mrs. William Barker, who writes under the name of Ruth Laughlin, and who has done distinguished work as an archaelogoist in the Southwest and in Central America, was born in Santa Fe, and lives here, her picturesque home being one of the centers about which local artistic and literary society revolves. She is a vigorous protagonist of the movement now on foot in Santa Fe to build all homes and public buildings in the pueblo and mission styles of architecture, thus rescuing the town from the brick and frame monotony of ugliness which characterizes the rest of America. A good many structures built of cement in these antique styles have already made their appearance. Some of them are really pretty and the worst of them are at least surprising.

THE CURIOSITY SHOP.

Although he is not intimately connected with the highbrow movement, it would be a mistake to draw a picture of modern Santa Fe without putting in Mr. J. S. Candelario, proprietor of that remarkable store known as the Curiosity Shop. Mr. Candelario and his store form a link between modern Santa Fe and its past. He has an old document to prove that his ancestors traded some deer and fox hides for the land upon which his store now stands, in the year 1603. The Candelario family has been conducting some sort of a store or trading post on that bit of land ever since. In 1680, when the Indians drove all the Spaniards out of the country, except those they killed, the Candelarios stayed unmolested because they were Indians themselves. Mr. Candelario says he is three-quarters Pueblo Indian. He does not look it, having the manners and physiognomy of a Spanish gentleman, with a rather light complexion and a partly bald head. Both of these latter characteristics he attributes to the fact that he has spent all of his life in his store, instead of working out in the sun like other Indians. He might be described, according to his own theory, as a slightly shop-worn Indian.

His shop contains tons and bales and towering shelf-loads and great festoons of Indian and Mexican goods of all kinds. Some of the goods in this store have been on the shelves over two hundred years. As their value tends to increase with age, there is no advantage in a quick turn-over.

If an artist wants anything in the way of local color which he cannot find in the surrounding country, Mr. Candelario can supply it.

PRESLEY O'BANNON.

Remains of Kentucky Hero Exhumed and Re-Interred.

After nearly twenty-five years of searching, the ashes of Presley O'Bannon, heroic Kentuckian, who is believed to have been the first American to plant an American flag in foreign soil—in Tripoli 114 years ago—have been exhumed and reinterred in the State Cemetery at Frankfort.

With appropriate exercises the Daughters of the American Revolution recently took up the O'Bannon remains and they were buried again, suitably marked, at Frankfort.

Mrs. Martha Cochran, representing the Frankfort chapter of the D. A. R., had charge of the ceremonies which took place in the little burial ground at Pleasureville, near New Castle.

O'Bannon was buried in the Pleasureville cemetery in 1850, according to the inscription, almost obliterated by time and the elements, found upon the small, plain slab marking his resting place.

From the fact there are O'Bannons in Henry county who claim kinship with Presley O'Bannon he is believed to have been a native of Kentucky. He was in his seventy-fifth year when he died.

It was at the ancient city of Derna, Tripoli, on the shores of the Mediterranean Sea, in 1805, near the close of the 6-year war with Tripoli, that Capt. William Eaton of Alexandria, Egypt, commanding a detachment of five hundred men, among whom was O'Bannon, took the fortress.

There Capt. Eaton called for volunteers to plant the American and British flags, and O'Bannon was quickest of all those who responded, and got the commission, executing it, as history relates, successfully.—[Louisville Courier-Journal.

JAPANESE PICTURE BRIDES.

Nippon Doing Rushing Mail Order Business With United States.

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Japan is doing a rushing mail order business in brides for unmarried Japanese in the United States. These girls, who are betrothed and married by picture, arrive at Pacific ports in ever increasing numbers.

This epidemic of picture brides promises to bring up again the old and irritating question of Japanese immigration. That question was supposed to be settled by the "gentlemen's agreement" in which Japan promised not to send any laborers to the United States. Now Californians claim in a rising chorus of objection, that the picture bride business, on its present large and growing scale, is a violation of the agreement in two ways. In the first place, they claim that many of these women are laborers and go to work in the fields as soon as they reach this country. In the second place, they point out that nearly all of the picture brides have children soon after their arrival, and that in this way Japan, in spite of the gentlemen's agreement, is filling the Pacific States with Japanese who are native-born American citizens and can own land.

It is stated by some of the objectors to this invasion of Japanese women that the Japanese government is back of the whole movement, that it examines women sent to this country, and will not send any who are not fit to bear children.

ABOARD THE KOREA.

The liner Korea brought 150 of these brides recently, and scores arrive on almost every Japanese steamship. The regulations which restrict Japanese immigration permit Japanese in this country to send for their wives. Therefore the picture bride system.

These picture brides have so far been admitted to the United States without question, but now California insists that something be done to protect her.

The picture bride idea could have originated nowhere but in Japan. Japanese custom decrees that the parents of an eligible young man shall select for him a bride, and make all arrangements with her family for the wedding. Sometimes the bride and groom meet beforehand, as often not.

Few adaptations were necessary to make this efficient and unromantic system of courtship and marriage fit couples who were separated by an ocean and American immigration laws. The Japanese marriage candidate in this country decks himself out in his Sunday best, or hires a dress suit and goes to a photographer for a de luxe likeness. He sends the picture to his relatives in Japan, or to a Japanese association, and they pursue his suit for him.

The girl selected is shown the picture, and if she approves of it she sends hers to the suitor in return. The relatives get together for a banquet, and the knot is considered tied.

The Japanese government recognizes such weddings and issues the necessary passports to the girls, stating the date of marriage. Up to a few years ago when they came to this country, the couples were required to be married again by a minister or justice of the peace, which, in the absence of a Supreme Court decision, might be taken to mean that the United States does not recognize the other ceremonies as a legal wedding. Now, however, this formality has been dropped and port officials regularly admit the girls as "wives of Japanese already in this country."

GIRLS ARE EXAMINED.

At the port the girls are examined and their passports vised, and then the brides meet their husbands. Up to this stage, the little Japanese maidens are all blushes and smiles and excitement, but, according to Senator Phelan of California, the encounters are startlingly disillusioning.

"I was told by inspectors of immigration," said Senator Phelan, "that when girls coming over from Japan go down and peek through the doors to see the prizes they have won in the lottery of love and life, they come back with horror on their faces and say, for instance, 'How old he is. Must I wed him?' "

Dr. Gulick, well-known student of Japanese affairs, states that only 1 per cent. of these wedding result in divorce. Very different is the opinion of the Commissioner of Immigration, who says "many of the 'proxy' brides conclude shortly after arrival that they have made a bad bargain and desert their husbands."

Senator Phelan says that when the marriages do not turn out well, the husbands usually permit the girls to return to Japan if they wish. Most of them, however, stay in this country to work in the fields and to raise families of American citizens, born on United States soil.

Their children can own land in California and other States where native Japanese are barred from ownership by alien land laws. While a child is a tiny baby swinging from the mother's back as she works, the father buys land in its name and holds the land in trust. In this way, Japanese families are said to own about 50,000 acres in California.

"This," says Senator Phelan, "may seem but a small fragment of a great State, but remember that this land is in the most desirable and fruitful area of the State. Add to this the 400,000 acres held in lease by Japanese, and it will be seen that they control some of the very best land in California."

"California law permits the Japanese to lease land for three years. But the Japs are not content to improve land on such terms. They obtain a longer hold on it by forming corporations or by getting other persons to sign for them. Three Japanese came into a lawyer's office the other day, and one said, 'Give me a lease for three years, and give my cousin here a lease upon expiration of that time for three years, and upon expiration of that give my uncle a lease for three years.' So the leasing privilege granted by California is tantamount almost to ownership."

The California Legislature considers at every session bills to prohibit leasing of land to Japanese, and to keep out the picture brides, but the Japanese have their supporters in California, who are interested in retaining Japanese labor, and the bills have so far died after a hot struggle.

Senator Phelan has requested the Secretary of State to take up with the Japanese government the matter of the picture brides. Senator Phelan has also asked California to call an extra session of the Legislature to consider the woman suffrage amendment, and at the same time to take action on the picture bride epidemic. The picture brides, he states, are the key to Japanese strength on our western coast, and under the gentlemen's agreement should be barred.

The gentlemen's agreement, so often referred to in Japanese-American affairs, was the supposed solution of the Japanese immigration problem. Up to 1907 Japanese immigration was unrestricted. That year over 30,000 Japanese arrived in the United States, a heavy increase over the preceding years.

SAN FRANCISCO PROBLEM.

The year before San Francisco had been struggling between the demands of white citizens for separate public schools for orientals and the orientals' strong objections to such segregation. Japan feared that the crisis would end in exclusion of all Japanese from America and hastened to form a pact with the United States. By this agreement she promised not to send to the United States any more laborers and to issue passports only to such persons as government officials, scientists, students, scholars, merchants, travelers and their wives and children and the immediate families of Japanese in the United States.

For five years thereafter Japanese immigration figures dropped to from 3000 to 5000 a year, but since then around 13,000 have been admitted annually, 2000 or 3000 of whom are the mail-order brides. Besides these other uncounted Japanese not eligible for passports get over the Mexican border. Senator Phelan states that when he was in California eighty Japanese were caught in one day trying to cross the border, and for eighty caught he believes double that number evaded capture.

In the last ten years the Japanese birth rate, according to Senator Phelan, in California has risen from 138 to 4111 a year. Last year one-third of the births in Los Angeles county, outside of town, were Japanese.

Besides advocating State legislation to tighten alien land laws, Senator Phelan is in favor of closer supervision of the Mexican border and a definite understanding with Japan that picture brides are not eligible for admission to the United States under the gentlemen's agreement.

SEEKS NEW POWER.

Threatened Dearth of Coal and Oil Inspire Search for a Substitute.

All our civilization depends on energy, and the great source of energy is the sun, which pours it down daily upon the earth. Thousands of years ago some of that energy was stored away in the form of vegetable substances which were presently turned into coal. It is being stored away today in the form of trees and other plants which we can put on our fires. And over great spaces of the earth's surface it is running splendidly to waste, as the fierce rays blaze and beat upon the unprofitable deserts, or as they cause water to rise in the form of vapor to the clouds, whence it descends again to the sea in millions of unharnessed streams.

We are threatened with a disastrous rise in the price of coal. That in itself should remind us that the world's supply of coal is not infinite, and must some day come to an end. Indeed, although the end may be far off, we are feeling the beginning of it now, since a part, at least, of the present increase is due to using up easily accessible coal, and the need to get that which is more difficult for the miner to handle.

Faced with the gradual disappearance of coal, people sometimes exlaim, "Ah, but oil remains, and this is the Oil Age. Have we not invented the internal combustion engine?" But their jubilation takes no account of the fact that it is estimated that, at the present rate of use, the American oil supply will not last more than twenty-five years longer.

But when they are told that the oil, like the coal, must presently be finished, they turn to a new idea. "Electricity is the thing," they declare. "Harness the tides! There is an inexhaustible source of light, heat and power."

As to that, one can say that it has not yet been shown how we can do this profitably. Within the last two years a competent electrical engineer has declared that "the only problem involved in harnessing the tides is how to make even a half of 1 per cent. on the capital required for the undertaking."

Years ago there was a scheme for an apparatus of gigatnic mirrors to be set up in the Sahara, there to collect, in some complex fashion, the energy direct from the sun. Another method of going direct to the sun is that of Prof. F. W. Burstall of Birmingham, who points out that alcohol is an ideal fuel, and can easily be produced from starch, which in turn can be made from plants which are sufficiently luxuriant in growth, such as the cactus.

One thing is certain—we must find some new way of getting the energy we require. Coal is too valuable to be used wastefully; oil is very limited, and we have yet to learn how to produce electricity cheaply. What will our next method be?—[Harold Lake in London Mail.

SOLDIERS ARE BANDITS.

Soldiers by day, wearing hat band and bandolier, turn bandit by night in Mexico, or sell their cartridge belts for 25 cents and their rifles for $2.50 to any wandering gang of either revolutionists or plundering thieves.

Of actual revolutionary bands under recognized leaders, who have issued manifestos, there are not less than seventy working Mexico today. Of bandit bands, who will rally around any leader in a plundering raid, there are as many as there are hills to conceal them, and this applies to every section but Lower California.

How many revolutionary troops are there? How many bandits? How many official soldiers? There is not a soul in Mexico who can answer you that question, for the number shifts every day. A general may draw his budget for 10,000 men today and have less than 1500 tomorrow.—[Agnes C. Laut, in the World Outlook.

JOHN GALSWORTHY'S ADDRESSES

British Author Maintains that Community of Language is only Link That Binds the United States to Great Britain.

John Galsworthy's "Addresses in America" (Scribner's) is doubtless the most important argument for common and continued action to enforce peace through a world confederation yet presented to the United States by Great Britain. It is worthy of our profound consideration.

With the greatest clarity, the most convincing logic, the highest seriousness and the most profound humanitarianism he gives his reasons for believing that the one hope of civilization lies in the preservation of a good understanding in the present crisis between all who speak the English language. Not that we are better than other peoples but because the English-speaking nations have for many years been practicing more or less thoroughly the art of making the liberty of the ordinary citizen into a prop rather than a dissolvent of society.

Only in a working union of the communities and nations that have mastered the application of democratic principles lies the hope of the world for sane and settled existence. Our common experience in this line buttressed by our common language and our similarity of temperament makes the English speaking nations the natural guides of the reorganized and the newly-created nations of Europe.

"No one alive," says Galsworthy, "will ever realize to the full how critical a point in the world's history is the present hour. The civilization slowly built up since the fall of Rome has now either to disintegrate by numberless revolutions and wars or to move forward on one great plane, animated by a single idea, that of genuine democracy.

"If we English-speaking races quarrel and become disunited, civilization will split up again and go its way to ruin. The individual conscience is the heart of democracy. Democracy is the new order; of the new order the English-speaking nations are the ballast."

Galsworthy advocates no formal alliance other than the League of Nations, because he does not believe "in grouping nations to exclude and keep down other nations. Friendships between countries should have the only true reality of common sentiment, and be animated by desire for the general welfare of mankind. We need no formal bonds, but we have a sacred charge in common, to let no petty matters, differences of manner, divergencies of material interest, destroy our spiritual agreement. Our pasts, our geographical positions, our temperaments make us, beyond all other races, the hope and trustees of mankind's advance along the only line now open—democratic internationalism."

In the light of Galsworthy's clear thought, how does the bickering, jealous, self-seeking, higgling policy of our Senate in seeking to delay the League of Nations reveal itself to our indignant and humiliated vision.

In a discourse on libraries Mark Twain once remarked that the omission of the works of Jane Austen at once marked any sizable collection of books as a really good library. In a like spirit it may be said that Galsworthy's tacit refusal to insist, like most of his tribe, upon the real affection or sincere admiration for our citizens and our government long pent in the burly British breast, especially appeals. Nor does he assume, as did the wildly imaginative Ian Hay Beith that we are tintillatingly eager to know why Englishmen do not like us.

To Galsworthy the influence of a common language is paramount. "I do not think," he says, in his address at the Lowell Centenary, "that you Americans and we English are any longer strikingly alike in physical type or general characteristics, no more than I think there is much resemblance between yourselves and the Australians. Our link is now but community of language—and the infinity which this connotes.

"Perfected language is so much more than a medium through which to exchange material commodities; it is cement of the spirit, mortar linking the bricks of our thoughts into a single structure of ideals and laws, painted and carved with the rarities of our fancy, the manifold forms of Beauty and Truth. We who speak American and you who speak English are conscious of a community which no differences can take from us.

"Perhaps the very greatest result of the grim years we have just been passing through is the promotion of our common tongue to the position of the universal language. The importance of the English-speaking peoples is now such that educated man in every country will perforce, as it were, acquire a knowledge of our speech."

Seven addresses in all make up this little volume, each affording much food for thought. No review can hope to do justice to the charm of the author's style or the lucidity of his exposition. This book is as epochal in its way as is the Education of Henry Adams, which it must be admitted is saying a good deal.

"America's Tomorrow."

"America's Tomorrow" (Britton) is, according to Hudson Maxim, who writes the introduction, "essentially an historic, prophetic and anthroponomic treatise." That ought to satisfy most anyone. But there's more. The slip cover conveys the information that Maj.-Gen. Leonard Wood says of this book: "It covers a field practically as wide as the world, and shows an immense amount of hard thinking." I should think it would be hard to think of some of the things Mr. Smith sets forth in this pretentious book. If there is any topic, economic, social, political, industrial, moral or religious, that has escaped this all-knowing author, it certainly has escaped the reviewer.

The chapter entitled "Our National Strength" undertakes to prove that this strength lies wholly in the transfusion of the blood of all nations into our national veins and that it is only a question of time until the peoples of all the nations of the earth will come under complete subjection (note the word subjection) to the ideals and civilization of the United States.

We are assured by Mr. Smith that the certainty of the acceptance of our ideals and civilization is "contained in a law of history and nature which has for its ultimate goal the unity of the race under popular government."

Mr. Smith has, however, failed to indicate clearly just where the "law" is to be found, but we are assured that it exists and the result is a book of some 300 odd pages.

The author also discusses the future of both the Atlantic and Pacific oceans and in the fourteen chapters practically every other subject under the sun. If the book is notable in any one respect it is in that it is probably the greatest collection extant of well-known and perfectly obvious facts.

Elimination of War.

"International War, Its Causes and Its Cure," by Oscar T. Crosby, LL.D., F.R.G.S. (Macmillan,) is a calm, dispassionate and scholarly presentation of a subject that is at this moment uppermost in the minds of all mankind, for the question of the elimination of war is not one that engages only the attention of the intellectuals, but is of vital import to all sorts and conditions of men.

The argument which runs through the book and which is sustained with striking continuity and vigor is predicated on the proposition that war is not inevitable.

The various and often petty causes which have been the basis on which nations have gone to war in most instances are enumerated and among the leading causes named are:

The desire on the part of nations to obtain or retain trade or industrial advantages equal or greater than those enjoyed by others.

The securing or holding certain rights of immigration and citizenship in another country.

The aiding or fomenting of rebellion in another state.

The filling of an engagement of alliance with a sister nation.

The bringing on of a war by the powers that be to divert attention from internal troubles.

To gratify the love of power, found usually in the upper classes, and an inculcated national pride that may extend to the whole population.

To avenge some real or supposed attack on national honor.

The theory that rapid increase in population of the various states, held by many as one of the causes that must inevitably lead to war, is dismissed by the author on the ground that a study of the birth statistics the world over shows gradual diminution instead of increase. He devotes a very interesting chapter to this phase of the situation, citing the report of the commission appointed to study the subject in Germany just before the war which found that the birth rate there was falling off in a startling manner while a like study of conditions in Great Britain showed a loss of one-third.

There is also a concise presentation of the various plans proposed for the securing of world peace, among which are those of the League to Enforce Peace and the so-called Fabian Plan. What the writer calls "Cooling-off Treaties" is also taken up and dwelt on somewhat extensively.

The subject of peace and war, the possibilities of securing agencies to enforce or to insure peace, and the general senselessness of war, is handled not only with remarkable facility, but is made intensely interesting. The book is timely and will greatly aid all who peruse it even casually in forming sane conclusions as to the present situation when the League of Nations plan hangs in the balance.

ON POETRY.

Lord Dunsany has just issued a brochure under the title "Nowadays" (The Four Seas Company,) in which he pays his respects to all things material as opposed to those things of the spirit, which he believes find their rightful expression only through the medium of poetry.

In making a general division between what he assumes to be the true and the sham he says:

"I judge them," meaning man, "by their works. In one class are all the snobs, all the pretenders, the writers of advertisements, the keepers of shops (except such as are honest,) the makers of antique furniture and the buyers of it. In the other class are men with spades, men near the fields and natural like the harvests, soldiers and sailors, patriots, not politicians and common laborers, not labor leaders, in fact, all who do any work well for the sake of the work and not to sell it at an unjust price to the first ignorant customer."

"Sonnets."

"The Sonnets of Herbert Scholfield" (Alfred A. Knopf) adds in its degree to the popular reputation of the sonnet form of verse as being a key by which poets and verse-writers unlock their hearts for the contemplation of their readers.

While this sequence of sonnets possesses no transcendent merits of workmanship, all of them are neatly, lucidly, and in some instances gracefully written. They are not the "native wood-notes wild" of an unschooled rural singer, but show the influence of Shakespeare, Spenser and Milton, to each of which the author has, consciously or unconsciously, "played the sedulous ape."

The sonnets have the merit of perfect naturalness and sincerity and escape breaking the new commandment of the Muse, "Thou must not preach," by revealing that his criticisms of life are made to and for himself, the individual reader reacting entirely according to his lights to the incessant questioning of his own spirit. If Milton was entitled to "justify the ways of God to man" in blank verse, we cannot refuse to allow Scholfield the right to reconcile, as far as possible, the demands of his nature for mated love and parenthood with the denial of these things to himself by himself because of his lack of physical soundness.

The author of these sonnets, we are told in the foreword, lives in the mountains, where for many years he has been fighting against ill health, prevented by his disability from having the home ties which make for content and normality.

Having worked out his life's problems to the best of his ability, the need of self-expression drove him to reveal his conclusions. Art, "in which man nowise speaks to man, but only to mankind," has been the way of escape from otherwise unbearable isolation to many a human soul, from the era of nature writing and tom-tom playing even unto the present unsophisticated day. In addition to the personal relief such revelations of the spirit's travail and arrival afford, they have the merit of helping other struggling mortals to survey more clearly and solve more fitly their special riddles of life.

"Mare Nostrum"

—The new novel by V. Blasco Ibanez, author of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," which has been eagerly awaited, has just come to That Different Book Store of Bullock's—

—This is a story of the blue Mediterranean, which the Latin races speak of as "Mare Nostrum" (Our Sea)—

—The following, regarding this book, is quoted from the New York Sun:

"A story! A thriller! A narrative of German submarine warfare in the great inland sea, of a famous and honorable sea captain whose mad infatuation for a woman involved him in an expedition to supply with oil the German submarines, slipping in gray and shadowy submersion past the great Gibraltar rock. A tale of how his eyes were tragically opened to the enormity of what he had done, of how he paid a terrible penalty and how he wrought a final atonement. A tale of a woman—a spy, an abnormal creature if you will; but fundamentally a woman—perfumed, cold, passionate, dangerous, beautiful!"

—"Mare Nostrum" promises, without question, to be the big novel of the year—and That Different Book Store of Bullock's is amply prepared to satisfy demands—

John Kendrick Bangs "G.O.S."

HUMORIST TURNS SERIOUS.

John Kendrick Bangs, author, editor, lecturer and humorist, was in our midst last week. Mr. Bangs is touring the country, accompanied by his wife, lecturing in the interest of the American Committee for Devastated France. His mission is an entirely serious one and he is urging the people of this country to support the noble women who have assumed the task of aiding the people of France to get another start in their homes, which have been swept by war's fiery storm.

Mr. Bangs, the author of more than a score of volumes, is probably most widely known for his whimsical humor, although he has gained eminence as an editor and lecturer; he has at least once dipped into politics, and may once again. He has no taste for the fame that humor may give and will devote the rest of his years to strictly serious achievement.

Bangs is a joyous soul to meet. While he is heart and soul in the movement to which he is at present devoting his time and energies, he nevertheless gladly shed his serious coat for a few moments and in his own inimitable way told a few stories that were part of his experience as a worker in the great war.

He was sitting in a cafe in Paris one evening just about the time the Germans were making their nightly air raids. The place was dimly lighted and but few diners were present. Finally a big husky doughboy wandered in and Mr. Bangs called to him to come and sit at his table and have dinner with him. He consented and his host at once endeavored to get his views on Paris.

"Aw, this town is the bunk. I comes back from the front expectin' to find something doin' in gay Par-ee, but there's nothin' doin'."

Mr. Bangs endeavored to arouse the boy's interest in Paris because of its wealth of historic treasures, but after telling him of the many famous buildings, monuments, squares and arches and their significance from a historic standpoint he stopped to let the boy have his say. His reply was:

"Hell, Paris is all right, but it's not Ft. Wayne."

Asked if he thought literature would benefit by the war Mr. Bangs said: "Yes. Literally thousands of men, had it not been for their soul-searing experiences at the front, would never have discovered that they were possessed of the gift of expression. I look for a great wave of literary expression, much of which will live and some of which will become classic.

"I base this opinion largely on an experience which we had in France. We called for a sort of competitive essay, confined strictly to the enlisted men, on the general subject, 'After the War What?' About 500 of the boys entered that competition and the result as a whole was simply astounding. The essays were of a high order of excellence, some thirty five of the manuscripts being so meritorious that I asked the committee's permission to bring them to America and they will be published this fall by George H. Doran.

Mr. Bangs is boasting of a brand new degree of which he says he is prouder than of any of his other achievements. It was conferred upon him by five hundred doughboys in a Y.M.C.A. hut in France and is expressed by the letters, G.O.S.—Good Old Scout.

Born in Yonkers, N. Y., in 1862, he entered Columbia and, after receiving his degree, Ph.B., he studied law. He was editor of the Drawer, associate editor of Life and Literary Notes, Harper's, Literature, Harper's Weekly and Puck. One of his first books, "Katherine," a travesty on "The Taming of the Shrew," appeared in 1887. Since then he has produced more than a score of volumes, all of a more or less whimsically humorous character, among which may be mentioned "New Waggings of Old Tales," "Three Weeks in Politics," "The House Boat on the Styx," "The Enchanted Typewriter," "The Idiot at Home," "Mollie and the Unwise Man," "The Autobiography of Methuselah," "Lady Teazel," a musical comedy version of "The School for Scandal," and "Half Hours with an Idiot."

Mr. Bangs is no stranger in Los Angeles, and without being asked as to his opinion of this city he volunteered the information that whenever he arrives here—this is his sixth visit—he immediately feels like chirping. While in the city Mr. Bangs was the guest of Judge W. R. Hervey at his home, 601 Shatto place.

BEN AMES WILLIAMS.

Ben Ames Williams is a young author who is coming to the front fast, his stories appearing in the Saturday Evening Post and other leading magazines. He was born in Ohio much less than 30 years ago and went to Dartmouth College. After graduation he went to Boston where he engaged in newspaper work on an evening paper, but in his spare time he tried out his skill as a short-story writer. Bob Davis of the Munsey publications encouraged him to keep everlastingly at it and success would be his, and it has come to him in a remarkably short time.

Williams married a Maine girl, a Wellesley college graduate, and in the space of three years Williams has reached the point where he can spend his winters at his city home at Newton, Mass., and has summers at Belfast, Me., where the young author works a few hours each day and plays golf the rest of the time.

Williams's rise is an example of what hard work will do, and he declares that the early rejections of his magazine stuff were entirely justified, and that as soon as he began to produce printable stuff the magazine editors wrote him to tell him he was coming along, and finally when he had "delivered the goods" they bought. In the magazine world Williams is coming to occupy the place of the late Jacque Futrelle who lost his life on the Titanic—not that Williams writes the same type of story which Futrelle turned out, but they are alike in that both always delivered solid, readable stories worth the telling—not froth. His new book is called "All the Brothers Were Valiant."

CORRESPONDENT'S LUXURY.

Who wouldn't want to be a correspondent! E. Alexander Powell has forwarded from Rome to the Scribners the last two chapters of his new book, "The Army Behind the Army," with this word: "We are starting on our trip to the Trentino, Istria, Dalmatia, Albania and the Balkans. The Comando Supremo has placed a motor car and the Admiralty a destroyer at our disposal to take us everywhere we may wish to go in the territories held by the Italians." Pretty soft, eh?

ON-PAINTING.

W. A. Sinclair in his small volume, "Painting" (The Four Seas Company,) takes up the cudgels in advocacy of new departures in the field of art. He says: "The post-impressionists and the futurists are to be welcomed, if not for their performance at least for what they affirm, that it is the right of the individual to assert his own expression in his own age and out of his own environment, a right which has long been denied by the aristocrats of art who still persist in viewing the present with the eyes of the past."

BOOK NOTES.

Israel Zangwill.

"Jinny the Carrier" is a new novel by Israel Zangwill, published by the Macmillan Company. This marks the return of the author to fiction after many years. The new novel is a leisurely tale of English rural life exceeding 600 pages in length. The scene is laid in the now almost archaic early Victorian period.

"Inside History."

"German Social Democracy During the War," by Edwyn Bevan, which E. P. Dutton & Co. have just published, gives a straightforward account of the condition of the German Social Democratic party at the outbreak of the war, of its attitude toward the state and of its principles and its history. Then the author carries the story on through the war, telling what the party did as one crisis after another arose, how its attitude toward the state changed and how its leaders modified their convictions to suit the successive conditions. The account is carried through the war to the signing of the armistice. The author, who is an Englishman, has derived his material from German publications of various sorts.

George D. Herron Again.

"The Greater War" is George D. Herron's most recent contribution to the literature of reconstruction. Its theme is the struggle between democracy and the forces allied against it. It is published by Kennerley.

"The Homestead."

Zephine Humphrey, whose stories of New England have shown that she is mistress of an eloquent and compelling pen and that she knows the soul of New England, has written a story scened in Vermont, "The Homestead," which has just been published by E. P. Dutton & Co.

"How Animals Talk."

William J. Long, the well-known naturalist and animal lover, has just completed an out-of-the-way book called, "How Animals Talk," to be published by the Harpers.

Zane Gray as a Fisherman.

Zane Gray is appearing to the public in a new role—that of a deep-sea fisherman. He has long been known to his readers as the lover of deserts and the wild country of the West, but few have thought of him as connected with piscatorial adventures. He has had so much enjoyment from these experiences that he has written a book about them, the title of which is, "Tales of Fishes." The Harpers will publish the book immediately. Mr. Grey is not only president of the Tuna Club of Avalon, but also vice-president of the Long Key Fishing Club, and has written of the sport in its most exciting moments. Some of the deep-sea monsters that have fallen a prey to his line are tarpon, barracuda, bone-fish, dolphin, shark, spear-fish and wahoo, species off the lonely Isla de la Muerte on the Alacranes Reef. But the most nerve-wracking adventures related are those connected with the sword-fish off Avalon and in near-by waters. In the course of his waiting, with true fisherman's patience, he has also caught giant specimens of sail-fish. "Tales of Fishes" differs very widely from Mr. Grey's last book, "The Desert of Wheat," which told of wheat farming and romance in the Columbia Bend country.

"Ruperthughesing."

Probably the only case on record of an author's name becoming a verb is that of Rupert Hughes, whose "The Cup of Fury" is a recent best-seller published by the Harpers. Even the most slangy of writers and reviewers would hardly speak of going "Conrading" or "Hergesheimering," but "Ruperthughesing" is already in good repute. The honor of coining this new verb appears to be divided between Henry Sell of the Chicago Daily News and the critic of the Newark Evening News, for they burst upon the world with it at about the same time. The ad-copy man has taken it up and asks, intriguingly, "Have you Ruperthughesed this season?" and it is getting itself repeated in those "little groups of serious thinkers" which are indigenous to every community, and pride themselves on having the latest literary slang and gossip at their tongues' end. The serious student of our American language had better take note. Will this tendency spread? And at literary gatherings will one turn to one's neighbor and ask, "Have you Keatsed lately?" or, "No, I don't Swinburne, but I Browning." But, at any rate, "Ruperthughesing" present, past and future, etc., appears to be with us as a permanent addition to the language.

"The Taming of Nan."

E. P. Dutton & Co. will publish this fall another novel by the English mill girl, whose first novel, "Helen of Four Gates," was brought out in this country two years ago. The new story is called "The Taming of Nan," and the author's name is revealed as Ethel Holdsworth.

MR: DOOLEY ON WILLS.

"Mr. Dooley on Making a Will and Other Necessary Evils" (Scribner) is a collection of articles that appeared some years ago in various periodicals, now first brought together in book form. While the opinions herein expressed are still an effective antidote to an attack of the dolors, it must be admitted that Dooley, like his contemporary, Kipling, has seen better days.

Humor is compounded of wit and love of humanity, but age has taken from Peter Finley Dunne some of the first ingredient and replaced it with a little spite which could be well spared. Nevertheless, much that is wise and racy remains. For instance: "I niver could undherstand a man like Dochney makin' money," said Mr. Hennessy.

"He made it," said Mr. Dooley, "because he honestly loved it with an innocint affiction. He was thrue to it. Th' reason ye have no money is because ye don't love it f'r itself alone. Money won't iver surrinder to such a flirt."

Of golf, Mr. Dooley sagely remarks:

"With the exciption maybe iv th' theery iv infant damnation, Scotland has given nawthin' more cheerful to th' wurrld thin th' game iv goluf. Whin 'twas first smuggled into this counthry, I couldn't make out what 'twas like. I thought whin I first read about it that it was intinded f'r people with a hackin' cough, an' that no wan who was robust enough to play 'Twinty Questions' in a wheeled chair wud engage in it without a blush. . . . How's it played, says ye? I don't exactly know. I niver studied law. But ye can get th' rules iv th' game in th' public library, in sivin volumes edited be th' Lord Chief Justice iv Scotland. If ye have a dispute over th' rules, th' quickest way to get a decision is to hire a lawyer, make a test case, an' carry it to the Supreme Coort."

GRAPE GROWING.

Under the title, "Manual of American Grape Growing," U. P. Hedrick, horticulturist of the New York State Experiment Station, has prepared a complete popular treatise on grape growing in North America. He discusses the practical questions of climatic limitations, choice of site, land in its preparation, fertilizing, tillage, planting, pruning, training and marketing. There is also a concise treatment of the diseases and the insects injurious to the grape. Special attention is paid to descriptions of the leading commercial and amateur varieties, also to the vinifera grape as grown in California. Prof. Hedrick has had long experience in the study of the grape in all of its aspects and his book will be found to be a useful up-to-date manual of propagation, manipulation and the handling of the crop. The text is well illustrated.

A LUCKY YOUNG MAN.

W. Somerset Maugham, who attracted much attention a few years ago by his remarkable novel, "Of Human Bondage," is the author of a new novel, "The Moon and Sixpence" (Doran,) which Hugh Walpole regards as "the book of tomorrow." He has often been called "a lucky young man" (he is not much over 40 now,) but he had to work hard for his success and suffer many disappointments. Then when fortune came, it came with both hands full. He had at one time three plays running simultaneously in London, and the sums he has made since his first success with "Lady Frederick"

HORSE IS STILL GOOD IN WAR.

Will not be Driven Out by Motor Cars and Tractors.

But Bronchos Were not Born to be War Horses.

Cavalry not Without Use in the Recent Great War.

[From Stars and Stripes.]

Those members of the American Expeditionary Forces who enlisted in or were assigned to units to which horses were also attached for rations and quarters will be tickled to death to learn that the tractor, the Ford and small cars of similar make are not going to drive the horse out of war. Indeed, the steeds they cursed so sweetly, drove so gently, groomed so lovingly and fed so carefully, are going to play as big a part in the next war—if there is one—as they have in the late unlamented affair. Light artillerymen, wagoners, horseshoers, saddlers—and cavalrymen—might just as well hang on to that little red book entitled "Stable Regulations."

The war, in fact, has boosted the stock of the animal who disputes with the dog the title of man's best friend. For the United States government, adopting the suggestion of the A.E.F., has, in certain degrees, changed its big remount stations in the States to breeding depots. With the concurrence and assistance of the Bureau of Animal Industry of the Department of Agriculture, fine stallions are being kept at these depots at the service of those horse lovers and others who are interested in bettering the American stock.

NO DEARTH IN STATES.

There has never been in the States a dearth of draft animals, Allied buyers to the contrary notwithstanding. The reason the A.E.F. had to purchase so many horses from the French was because the call from this side of the water last spring was for hommes and not chevaux; consequently 215,000 horses languished in remount depots back home eating their heads off and wondering, with a couple of million other Yanks, just when the time was coming when they could get into the darned war anyway, so as to get it over with and get back to the plow or the city streets as soon as possible.

The great trouble was lack of riding horses, though it wasn't great trouble, either, in consequence of the development of war to the extent that cavalry divisions as a major branch of fighting could not be used. In the case of the riding horse, the small automobile—and the big one—had driven it out of fashion. There wasn't a great demand for it; so that riding horses weren't being raised with the free-handed manner of the olden times. Besides, the Allied buyers, as shrewd judges of horseflesh as old David Harum himself, had curried the States pretty thoroughly before America hopped in.

Bronchos? Wonderful for writers of popular magazine stories, with their "inexhaustible speed and stamina," and their "wiriness," but hopeless for riding purposes. It's too bad to put such an awful dent into the prospective broncho fiction market, but modern warfare, for some mysterious reason or other, has a peculiarity, an insistent, all-penetrating and irresistible peculiarity, for getting down to hardpan. The bronchos, experiments showed, just fell down. They couldn't help it, for they were born that way; but the fact remains.

That is the reason the breeding stations, the result of experiences in Europe, were established. The draft horse breed is a very good one, despite the fact that governmental assistance had not been given to the breeder, as had been the case for many years in Europe. But the riding horse proposition was different; and so an attempt is being made to develop a riding horse along the lines discovered by the A.E.F. horsemen so that the United States, instead of having so many of the small, worthless horses to be found on the ranches of the West, can have some really good ones. It costs no more to feed and breed the better kind.

195,000 ANIMALS WITH A.E.F.

In the A.E.F. at the time of the armistice there were about 195,000 animals—horses and mules. A few had come over with the first organizations, but their number grew less and less as the need for men grew greater. In the summer of 1918 it was found necessary to continue the shipments simply because the Allied markets, principally French and British, were becoming depleted. Since that time many of these animals have been sold in France, and some in Germany, until at present about 120,000 remain on hand. They are now being disposed of as rapidly as possible; and this includes the festive mule, despite the European's natural distrust of the long-eared brute.

Since the armistice every effort has been made to create an interest in horses. The Yank is a peculiar animal. Along last fall, when he was chasing the wind out of the Germans, he didn't often take into consideration that his horse couldn't stand the gaff as well as he could. This, and the fact that speed had to be the order of the day, due to the many kilometers over which the Boche retreated, broke down the animals' endurance.

While cavalry has not been used much in this war, several instances occurred which have demonstrated the value of and necessity for this branch, particularly when cases arose requiring the quick movement of troops along the front. On one occasion, when a cavalry command and an infantry command were ordered to a certain point 100 kilometers distant, the horsemen reached there first—and naturally enough. For when the order came the cavalry clambered aboard their steeds and beat it. The infantry had to wait a bit until trucks came up, and then the trucks had to follow the main roads, all of which were choked with traffic. The horsemen went cross-country and through woods.

Under ordinary conditions the doughboys would have reached their destination first—but ordinary conditions are knocked into a cocked hat in wartime.

The demand for animals for war purposes will gradually grow less and less, due to the use of motor cars, tractors and other mechanical conveyances, but the time is far distant when those will supplant the horse and mule.

SUPERFLUOUS HAIRS—
WARTS AND MOLES.
Pulling a few stiff hairs from the face may start a serious growth. Let me demonstrate free of charge how pulling, cutting, using wax depilatories and the so-called hair removers promote growth of hair on the face. My electric machine is the only known method of killing superfluous hair, fuzz, warts and moles, without destroying the surrounding tissue. This machine destroys 300 hairs an hour. I have had 19 years' experience and devote all my time to the work. A binding guarantee that any hairs or moles I treat will never return. Many L. A. satisfied customers will testify to my skill as an expert. Open all day Saturday.

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR—

There is only one method known today of permanently removing superfluous hair, and that is Electrolysis (electric needle.) This process in the hands of a reliable and expert operator insures absolute satisfaction. I stand back of my work and guarantee any hair treated by me will be permanently destroyed, leaving no scars.

LEARN THE ART OF SINGING—
VOICE CULTURE. SAVE THIS ADV.
By learning to use your breath correctly, you will be greatly gratified at the interest your audience will take in your singing. Your voice will be heard farther, the tones will be sweeter, and you will not fatigue, but will enjoy the singing as much as your friends.
It is our object to master all of the elements that are necessary for a singing artist to know, including diction, phrasing and interpretation and leadership. Only the best music is used. Not a song is learned that could not be used at a dignified concert.
I am giving a special rate in voice culture and singing. Voice tried free of charge, and will tell you frankly if it is worth your time and money to study.
I am especially interested in young people's voices and give a special rate to high school students or public school teachers.
We have monthly recitals for the benefit of the students, also a sight singing class, to which students are admitted free. Daily lessons may be secured at reasonable tuition where home practice is inconvenient. Come and talk it over. You will not regret it, and it may mean much to you.

Professions and Languages.

HAVE YOU EVER THOUGHT OF THE MANY possibilities and advantages you might have over your competitors if you could only speak Spanish. Just think of the many big concerns in America soliciting Spanish correspondents! Think of the United States positions in postoffices, courts and diplomatic missions, and think that forty lessons and a very small amount of money will open wide the gates to Mexico, Centro and South America, Cuba, Porto Rico and Philippines, the new and coming countries.
Don't you think you ought to consult with me on a matter that might change the course of your life as it has done for thousands of my pupils during the nineteen years I have taught Spanish in Southern California? 22 of my pupils are teaching Spanish in public schools. ## MISCELLANEOUS— For Sale.

FOR SALE—DOES THE HIGH COST OF LIVING bother you? If it does I can help you some by saving quite a bit on you clothing bills. You know and I know that clothing is too high and everything else we use, such as food, shoes, hats, etc., are much too high for the average wage earner. To live and let live seems to be out of date nowadays. To grab and let the other fellow go to the devil seems to be the rule with a good many today. But this system of grab is not the way of Cohen, and when I have to adopt the grab system I will quit business—but I don't intend to quit for a long time yet; and when business is run on a sane basis Cohen will be one of the business men of Los Angeles who will feel that he has treated his customers as he would want them to treat him in these unsettled times. I have good, slightly used suits from $5 to $15; a few higher priced; pants at a saving of $1 or better, shoes and hats very reasonable in price.

At my ladies' store I have a large stock of tailored suits, hundreds of long coats, skirts, shoes, sweaters, at money-making savings on each garment.

I have a very large stock of furs, the very latest styles—if you can tell they were used you will have to be an expert—at 1-3 to 1-4 of the price of new furs.

I remodel furs at my ladies' store into the very latest style at ½ what the high priced furriers charge. Give us a trial.

At my men's stores we have new suits that I bought at a bankrupt auction sale. I guarantee to save you from $10 to $15 on every suit.

Fat men—I have a large selection of tailor-made suits your size. If not satisfied with anything you buy here, money back is my way.

FOR SALE—
CHANDLER SIX TOURINGS
and CHUMMY ROADSTERS.

You do not dare to purchase a CHANDLER until you have investigated the REBUILT, REFINISHED, FULLY GUARANTEED ones that we are offering at a range of prices from $800 to $1550 on TERMS. You cannot respect yourself as a wise purchaser unless you at least learn about these values and what CHANDLER SERVICE and CHANDLER GUARANTEE will mean to you for the next year to come. Our business has been the marketing of CHANDLERS practically since they were first placed on the market. We know most of the Chandler owners and we know quite a bit about the manner in which they have taken care of their cars. We will not accept a used CHANDLER in exchange on a new one if it has been abused. We do not have to. We cannot secure all the new CHANDLERS that there is a demand for, so you may rest assured that we are particular about the used cars we accept in exchange. If you do not believe this, try us out with some car that is not up to standard and see how quickly we refuse it. We are not independent, but we are careful of our reputation, and we do not want to be forced to offer a poor used car for sale. Terms.

WAR HAS NOT CRUSHED EUROPE

She Has a Larger Production Plant Than She Had in 1914, an Efficient Labor Supply and Resources in Raw Materials.

BY PAUL HANNA.

If Europe were wrecked and ruined by the great war, it was though that Oscar T. Crosby would know it. As president of the Inter-allied Council on War Purchases and Finance, a resident of Europe from 1917 to 1919, and Assistant Secretary of the United State Treasury during the war period, he was in a position to judge. So I wrote to him at View Tree, Warrenton, Va., and he wrote back:

"I expect to be here all this week, engaged in war against weeds and insects. But if you come an armistice will be declared while we discuss the difficulties that beset our European cousins . . ." The armistice and discussion followed in due order, bringing to light Mr. Crosby's mature conviction that peace finds the world with:

A larger production plant (including agriculture) than it had in 1914, and probably having a value greater than the losses mentioned below.

A supply of labor possibly more efficient than and almost as numerous as it had in 1914.

Resources in raw materials sufficient for the present needs of the race.

No considerable losses, excepting merchant ships destroyed, the wear and tear on railroads and the devastation wrought in battle areas.

If this summary seems to imply a heartless ignoring of the human anguish involved—the dead, the mutilated, the starved and scattered refugees—we are warned that Mr. Crosby is an engineer by profession and disposed, for the sake of accuracy, to isolate facts from emotions when he undertakes an economic survey.

HEARTACHES REAL.

"My heartaches, like your own, are very real, but they are entirely my own," he remarks. "They do not take from nor add to the material resources of mankind. For human suffering there can be no restitution. After confessing that truth we can proceed with an inventory of Europe after the war which does not include the killed and permanently wounded, except as their absence from industry may mean a net reduction in the number of productive workers left."

Mr. Crosby lives on a mountain, but his head is not in the clouds. Twenty miles of matchless valley, with its lap full of farms, sprawls with enticing languor before the broad veranda of his stately colonial home. Stonewall Jackson slipped up the valley behind View Tree with a whole army corps half a century ago, poured through Thoroughfare Gap, there at the left, hurried along the Warrenton Pike and cut Pope's communications at Manassas. (This and other strokes of Jacksonian genius were discussed with enthusiasm by Gen. Byng when Mr. Crosby visited his headquarters during the Battle of Cambrai in 1917.) But the master of View Tree does not judge the universe from the glimpses obtained between the glistening pillars of his mountain aerie; nor yet chiefly from personal experiences gathered during fifty years spent in various parts of the globe. As we sat on the porch our backs were to the library.

"What are the span and experience of one man's life compared with the 8000 years of human history recorded in those books?" Mr. Crosby asked. "The fundamentals of individual and social existence are contained there, and the conclusions to which they alone will bring any competent mind have merely been confirmed by this war and my personal experiences in Europe and the isolated parts of Asia, Africa and this hemisphere."

So the interview began.

EUROPE'S OUTLOOK.

"Europe has not been crushed by the war, and her outlook is not a desolate one," Mr. Crosby insisted. "When a continent or a country is ruined you do not have to call witnesses to prove it. The facts are then too clear to admit dispute. The great war has been paid for in full. What is left is ours to do with as we please. In war or in peace, the world taken as a whole pays its bills in full every night it goes to bed, and it must continue to do so until it establishes communication with the Man in the Moon and imports green cheese on credit.

"Mountains of metal and other materials have been shot away in the war, it is true; but they were dug up and prepared for that very purpose. Shooting them away has impaired what may be called our 'undeveloped plant account'—chipped something off the far end of our stick of candy—but that is a loss we shan't feel till we get to that far end, if ever.

"To prove that the world must, and does, pay its way as it goes we have the fact that production leaped forward as soon as the war began, and not only kept pace but was far ahead when the armistice was signed. During the four years of fighting the United States took care of itself as usual, equipped and supplied its own vast armies, and contributed to others $12,000,000,000 worth of materials, most of which would not have been prepared at all, during that time, had the war not required it. All this without straining or depleting us in any way. On the contrary, it roused latent human forces which had been neglected and presented us, at the conclusion of war, with an industrial and agricultural equipment far superior to the one we possessed before."

Indisputable and fine for America, as any one can see, but . . . But the president of the Inter-Allied Council on War Purchases and Finances has resumed:

"In Europe the war's effect upon real wealth and production has not been different in character. Each of the principal belligerent nations has vastly increased its mechanical capacity for production. England's biggest loss is that of merchant ships, while her power to replace those ships is so much increased that the loss will soon be more than made good. Her railroads, like those of every other country, have suffered a lot of wear and tear, but the larger part of a railroad's value, is its roadbed; and all roadbeds are substantially intact. England's soil and mineral deposits have not been seriously depleted by the war, while her skill in exploiting them has been increased. She is embarrassed by unusual labor demands, but wide publicity of discussion is slowly revealing the necessary limits of change in former conditions.

CASE OF FRANCE.

"The case of France is much the same. There is an ugly streak of severe devastation running from Flanders to Verdun. Mines have been flooded, factories wrecked and homes ruined. Thousands have lost their private fortunes, and their plight awakens deep sympathy. But their desolation is not the ruin of France; nor will it even bear heavily upon the task of French reconstruction during the critical years, because full restitution will be made by German money and German labor. This may be regarded as certain, because it is not only stipulated in the peace treaty but is indorsed as a just provision even by the Socialist factions of both France and Germany, who may succeed the cabinets now in office. Beyond this narrow area of devastation, France exhibits the same attributes of increased producing efficiency that are shown in Great Britain and the United States. She is not ruined nor in danger of ruin."

One cannot consider France without thinking of Germany.

"Germany is well off, except in the case of her merchant marine, which has not been lost to the world, but transferred to others," said Mr. Crosby. "Her industrial plants are intact, and the Peace Conference has conferred upon her a unique advantage in power to man them by abolishing the military establishment in that country. The war destroyed about 1,500,000 German workmen. But the Peace Conference makes good 800,000 of that number immediately by abolishing the military conscription which kept that many young Germans out of industry every year. Several hundred thousand Germans also were formerly employed in arsenals, munition factories and navy yards. These must now seek employment in callings that will contribute to the national wealth, instead of to its expense account. Then there are the millions of women who, in Germany, as elsewhere, have been trained in the methods of wealth production and must now be classed as recruits in the industrial armies. In the face of these facts, who will say that Germany is materially bankrupt?"

I raised the question of food and the world's depleted larders.

"What the world produces in food it consumes every year, no matter whether there is peace or war. The nations did not prepare for war by storing up food for the worms to devour. Food is perishable. Mankind lived during the war on what it raised during the war. It will do the same this year and next. There is a hard pinch in some places at present, as there has been many times before; but the crops being harvested will take us over the peak of privation."

Mr. Crosby let the vision of his clear gray eyes pause on a crest of the hills where sunlight flooded through a hole in the drifting rain clouds.

IN BORNEO.

"In Borneo I once talked with some natives who had never seen a white man before," he continued. "The only civilized commodity they possessed was a Chinese gong which they used to summon the villagers from the forest. But they taught me what money is. Sometimes they would kill a wild pig in the woods.

"'How much is a pig worth?' I asked.

"'A gong,' they answered.

"'How much is a gong worth?' I insisted.

"'A pig,' they replied.

"So we must not be confused by money and the state of national finance. So long as people have pigs to trade for gongs or pig iron for smoked herring they are secure. Europe not only has such things to barter, but has learned how to produce them in greater quantities than ever."

Some excited observers have pictured all Eastern Europe as a hopeless mixture of gaunt famine and spreading Bolshevism.

"Fearfully exaggerated tale, I fancy," said Mr. Crosby. "There is reason to suspect unintentional magnification on the part of overzealous patriots who cry famine today and organize armies tomorrow.

"Perhaps it is largely due to the world's quick charity that the new governments have been so belligerent, in spite of having their fundamental needs cared for by the big four in Paris. A wise answer to their appeals for help might have been: 'Not a basket of food until you stop fighting.' If they were universally hungry they would have stopped; if they had not stopped it would have proved the contrary. It may be shown later that many armies have been supported and many battles fought in defiance of the Pece Conference by the grace of liberal donations to certain of the new governments of Europe."

BEAT OF CHIMES.

Indoors the soft beat of chimes arose, then ceased at a tantalizing stroke. It was time for dinner. At View Tree one dines with American friends in Paris. "French," one murmurs inwardly at the faintly caressing accent of Mrs. Crosby's greeting. A little later the half error is revealed—it is old New Orleans. Two daughters appear. Is this Virginia hilltop bewitched? Surely you have noticed these young women in the Cafe des Ambassadeurs, or was it a villa above Florence? . . . The long twilight on the veranda is filled with memories of travel and plans of engineers to modernize the Holy Land. At 10 there is a retreat to indoors, where Mr. Crosby resumes the discussion of post-war Europe at the point where American aid and interests are directly concerned.

Paper debts and currency tangles are quite distinct from real resources and resourcefulness, according to this specialist in the wealth of nations. That distinction must always be kept in mind.

"America's financial assistance to Europe should be kept at an absolute minimum," he declares with emphasis. "We must not uphold or perpetuate any sawdust babies abroad. Weak governments must not lean on the United States Treasury for support. They must learn to stand on their own feet. I am sure that the best minds in those countries appreciate the danger inherent in government loans to governments, and will strive toward financial as well as political independence. The two are close kin.

MUST LEND MONEY.

"Of course we shall lend money to Europe. But such loans should be restricted to private hands entirely, if that be possible. And the risk of individual loss must prevail in full force if we are to avoid very serious dangers, including that of future war. In the matter of lending public money to help Europe, Congress has made abundant provision by empowering the War Finance Corporation to advance sums within $1,000,000,000 and on suitable security to banks, corporations and individuals to pay American producers for materials sent abroad on long credits. Beyond that very generous limit public money should not be used to assist foreign countries, and the less we advance of that $1,000,000,000 the better it will be for every one concerned.

"I realize that the statesmen of Europe face a very trying problem in financial manipulation brought about by the enormous interest due on public debts and the excessive amount of currency put in circulation during the war. But Europe's real task—and salvation—lies in exploiting her great stores of latent wealth, which have not been disturbed by the war.

"One concession we may have to make, but I must phrase even that one conditionally. Europe has very little gold and not much goods for export. If it finally be shown that Europe does not have either the gold or the goods with which to pay interest on the billions we have loaned her, then we may find it wise and convenient to let up in our demand for the interest."

AN ILLUSTRATION.

Mr. Crosby has a personal illustration for many of his points. He employed one here:

"The need of money and the hardship of trying to raise it are not novelties to me. I've gone to Wall street with my projects and sat on the hard marble benches while bankers picked my plans to pieces, and I've come away from New York with an aching heart and no money. And it was good for me to go under the microscope; it is good for every one, governments included.

"What is a government? It is a group of men wearing trousers. Such a group of men in any country might very easily keep themselves in office if aided with foreign money to silence their rivals and critics and with food to support their armies.

"There will be political changes in Europe too plentiful for any one to prevent. Russia and Hungary have gone in for communism. Very well, let them try it. I believe it will fail and that it will be harmful if it succeeds in maintaining its existence; but the experiment does not shock me with surprise. It should not shock any one. We've had the works of Karl Marx before us for sixty years, and every one should have known there were men in all parts of the world who believe in his doctrine and were anxious to apply it.

"You will observe, however, that the Russian communists have already drawn in their horns and modified their extreme programme. Hungary will do the same, I expect, and in both countries we shall see a continual drift to the 'Right,' as our European friends put it. Communism may come in the world at some distant day as the hair turns gray on a man's head when he attains maturity or old age. My disposition is strongly to deplore such tendencies, as a sign that the human race had left its youth behind and gone into decline.

"Meanwhile, as Russia and Hungary modify their communism and drift to the 'Right,' Western Europe, I anticipate, will move to the 'Left.' Railroads, mines and other monopolized industries are being and will be nationalized in Great Britain, France, Italy and elsewhere. I am one of those who believe this will tend to reduce efficiency, but it will not spell ruin for Europe any more than for the United States, where similar experiments will be working themselves out at the same time.

"What we need concerning Russia is the truth only. Sending two or a dozen men to investigate Russia is a grotesque proceeding. Thousands should go—that is, all who want to go . . . Russia will work out her own destiny, and we should permit private business to be resumed. Others will trade with Russia, and we will have to or lose our fair share. The same applies to communist Hungary. Eventually I expect to see a new confederation of the Danube races, with the Balkan states included, perhaps. They all need each other economically, and are suffering right now from separation and artificial barriers. Vienna will not go into permanent decline. She means something real to that part of Europe.

SOCIALISTS' VIEW.

"Labor and Socialist leaders are likely to inherit power in the countries recently associated with us in war. But those leaders are not destructive firebrands. I have talked with many of them and found them not unlike a great many American public men who wear more conservative labels. Their assumption of control will not seriously alter anything I have said about Europe's outlook. For example, French Socialists of what may be termed the Longuet type are bitterly hostile to the peace treaty as a whole. But they are agreed with the German Socialists that Germany should and must make full reparation for the havoc wrought in Northern France."

It is what Mr. Crosby calls "the curse of a quantitative mind" that makes him view the tax and currency dilemma of Europe as superficial and temporary. Just as the huge issues of wartime francs, pounds sterling and lire did not increase the genuine wealth of nations, neither will their withdrawal diminish it, he contends. But as a "sound" currency must bear some acceptable relation to real security, it follows that a great amount of paper money now circulating must be withdrawn. And as money (even paper money) becomes scarcer, taxes are more difficult, and there will be no decline in the quantity of money needed to pay taxes until governments have disposed of the huge interest charges which now confront them.

Germany, Russia and what was Austria-Hungary will enjoy an initial advantage in recuperation by reason of their vanished military establishments, Mr. Crosby sees. And as financial perplexities and this advantage to rivals become apparent in Western Europe, the military establishments left intact by the peace treaty are likely to be reduced, he believes. Several years before the great war came Mr. Crosby began to advocate the creation of a League of Nations that would abolish all national armaments in favor of a strictly international police force. The war and the Peace Conference have not altered his devotion to that idea.

PREDICTS WARS.

"That wars will occur as long as separate nations maintain armies and navies to support their separate ambitions is a fact not weakened by the length of the white beards who tell you different. Crosby and Hanna stopped their feuds and duelling when a Sheriff was created to guard over and between them until a court could adjudge their dispute. It is not different in the case of governments."

The hour had come to go, yet I was curious about the date of the next war.

"The world will need five years to rest and recuperate and ten more before another great conflict can be staged," my host concluded. "In all governments the power is inherent for a few men to say or do things that provoke war. With this fact to reckon with, enduring peace will remain a phantom until the instruments for making war are taken away from separate governments and intrusted entirely to a society of nations."

SOUTH ANXIOUS TO HAVE NEGROES BACK.

PLANTERS WILLING TO PAY EXPENSES OF RETURN FROM NORTHERN EXILE.

[BY A. P. CORRESPONDENCE.]

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) Aug. 19.—Plenty of farm and mill work, better wages then ever before paid and improved living conditions await southern negroes who have gone to the North and who now are said to be clamoring to return to the South, according to employers here.

Southern farmers and plantation owners want the southern negroes back. If there were some method of getting in touch with them it is declared the expense of their return to Dixie would be willingly borne. This will hold especially true for the next few weeks, because there is need of negroes who know how to take care of the cotton crop.

But these employers say they do not want northern-born and reared negroes. They would prefer to bring in foreign labor, they assert.

"We would not hesitate to pay the expenses of 100 or more negroes from Chicago or other northern cities to our place if we can get southern negroes, particularly negroes who have gone from Mississippi, Arkansas and Tennessee," said A. C. Lange, vice-president and general manager of the Chicago Mill and Lumber Company, which owns more than 70,000 acres of timber and agricultural lands in Northeastern Arkansas. "I think it is safe to say that every southern negro in the North would be brought back without expense to him if southern farmers and plantation owners knew where and how to get in touch with the southern-born. We don't want and will not have northern negroes."

The question of how to get in touch with negroes who have gone north was discussed at the Memphis meeting of the Southern Alluvial Land Association several days ago and the subject will be a special order of business at the next meeting. The association is an organization of bankers, land owners, chambers of commerce, planters and lumbermen of the lower Mississippi Valley, formed to serve in a measure the same purpose for the delta country as the Chamber of Commerce serves the town or city. At the last meeting it was said that there is great need for more labor in the lower Mississippi Valley and especially for negro labor acquainted with southern agricultural methods and with cotton growing and handling.

FRESH BLOOD AS A TONIC.

On the first day's hunt a Hozanda, Northern Korea wilderness, a deer was shot. The bullet, passing through both lungs, filled the thorax with clotted blood, and as soon as the animal was opened, Paik, my Korean gun bearer, plunged his face into the half liquid mass, drinking and eating until the last drop was gone; then removing the streaming red liver he cut it into slices, swallowing them as fast as possible.

I was tremendously surprised, but learned afterward that the Koreans believe the blood of a deer or any wild animal, if drunk when warm, to be a splendid tonic. Tigers' claws, whiskers, bones and teeth are especially valuable, and preparations made from these materials were often given to soldiers before a battle or any especially hazardous enterprise, since they were believed to inculcate great bravery.—[Roy C. Andrews, in the National Geographic Magazine.

HUN FOREIGN AFFAIRS TO BE ORGANIZED.

GERMAN SYSTEM TO BE ALTERED SO ONE INDIVIDUAL CONTROLS ALL BRANCHES.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

BERLIN, July 22.—Reorganization of the Foreign Office will begin soon, but it cannot be expected to move very swiftly, since the newcomers must take some time to become acquainted with their new work, says the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung.

Already one new Minister, an Undersecretary, a political director and a personal reporter have undertaken their new duties at the Foreign office.

The system will be altered so that one individual will control all relations with one given country, whereas, now political, commercial and new relations were handled separately.

There are about fifty diplomatic posts to be filled, besides countless legation and consular positions.

The rank which diplomats abroad will take is still uncertain and it is considered probable that many countries will appoint charges d'affaires, an example which Germany must follow.

The Allgemeine says that the general commissary at Versailles, Director Simons, after leaving the state service, will become business director of the Imperial Association of German Industry.

ENGLISH RAIL LEADER OPPOSED TO STRIKES.

SAYS WALK-OUT IS "TWO-EDGED SWORD" ONLY TO BE USED AS LAST RESORT.

LONDON, Aug. 12.—The strike was characterized as "a two-edged weapon" which should be used only as a last resort in enforcing workers' demands by James Henry Thomas, a member of Parliament for Derby and general secretary of the National Railwaymen Union in his first public address after returning from a visit to the United States where he studied the labor situation.

America had strengthened her economic situation during the war and controlled or produced everything that the rest of the world required, Mr. Thomas declared. Unless England at once repaired the losses of the past four years, he said, disaster would stare the country in the face.

The speaker said he believed that the government itself did much to popularize the strike by refusing at the conciliation table today what they would concede tomorrow merely on the threat of a strike.

"The first essential is that confidence immediately be restored to the working classes," Mr. Thomas stated. "Employers must realize that the men and women who were responsible for saving the country expected fair and square dealing while workers, on their part, must not be carried away by the mistaken notion that wealth consisted in mere paper money—but must remember that the nation had to regain not only self-confidence, but the confidence of the world."

SIBERIAN TRADING BRINGS BIG PROFITS.

[BY A. P. CORRESPONDENCE.]

NOME (Alaska) July 25.—(By mail.) Little sailing vessels plying from Nome across the Bering Sea to Siberia this year will do an export business that probably will run in value close to six figures, according to estimates made here.

Most of the merchandise moved from Nome was brought in here on the first steamers this summer from Seattle. The goods are sold to Siberian natives and white trappers and miners operating along the coasts across from here.

BORDER DRY ZONE TO MAKE JUAREZ DREARY.

EL PASO'S GAY ANNEX IS NOW MECCA OF AMERICA'S THIRSTY ONES.

[BY A. P. CORRESPONDENCE.]

JUAREZ (Mex.) Aug. 14.—Mexico City newspapers are discussing the probability of establishing a "dry zone" along the Mexican side of the Mexican-American border to prevent the Mexican towns opposite the American towns and cities from becoming drinking places for the Americans. If this "dry zone" is established it will reduce the number of visitors to Juarez daily and will also reduce the income of the many saloons which line Calle Comercio, the principal business street.

Although Sunday is the favorite day for visitors, every day is a busy day in these drinking places. Night and day American men and women may be seen standing at the bar or sitting at the serving tables near by. The Jockey Club, to which a key must be obtained to gain admittance, has a second-floor cafe for women where they may be served with their escorts.

The gambling house, which runs openly with the official sanction of the Juarez authorities, is also crowded night and day. Many American women may be seen playing the various Mexican gambling games and even gather around the more American game of craps, which is operated by a Mexican.

RYE BREAD GOOD AS WHEAT AND CHEAPER.

[BY A. P. CORRESPONDENCE.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—To a considerable extent feeding the eyes instead of the stomach is responsible for the high cost of living, according to authorities here in the milling and grain trade. They cite the fact that rye flour is $2.55 a barrel cheaper than white flour although, except for looks, the rye flour is equally good or better as food.

Unusual cheapness of rye flour at this time is ascribed to two causes—the stoppage of whisky distilling and the substitution of white bread for rye bread by thousands of workingmen, who, until the era of high wages, used rye bread as a rule.

It is said also by the milling experts that so far as known here the United States government is purchasing only white flour for shipment to Europe nothwithstanding that the bulk of the population across the Atlantic is far more accustomed to rye bread than white.

"PAID IN FULL."

The United States Does Not Owe a Cent for War Expenses.

The war has not only been won, but paid for so far as we are concerned. When the accountants in the Treasury Department closed their books the afternoon of Saturday, May 31, 1919, the United States had actually spent since the declaration of war on April 6, 1917, $31,618,000,000. The treasury estimated that another billion dollars would see us through June. The actual war expenditure had run us to $29,570,535,015.56. Serbia got that odd 56 cents.

We have paid in full. We do not owe anybody a cent. It is an amazing performance; an almost incredible feat. We are not staggering under a war burden. We do not have to take up where we left off when we entered the war. We only have to keep on going. We are hitting on all six. Not only have we paid cash in full as we went along for all our war expenses, but we have lent our associates $9,070,535,015.56, and they are authorized to draw on us for another $500,000,000 if they need the money.

For nineteen months of the war we spent money twice as fast as Great Britain, three times as fast as France and seven times as fast as Italy. In a general way of speaking we spent [illegible] where the world, including the enemy nations, spent nine. By spending or lending something short of $30,000,000,000 in nineteen months we saved six months' further warfare, and possibly a year.

The magnitude of this outlay in cash to pay for our share in this world war stupefies the mind. Thirty billion dollars is an incredible sum of money. Yet that sum we have paid over the counter, as part of our share toward helping lick the Germans, and it has not broken us. On the contrary, I find competent economists who suspect that our national wealth may have actually increased during the war period. Certainly, they say, it has not appreciably diminished.

If we exclude from the war expenditures our loans to our associates, for presumably we shall get that back, or most of it, we paid [illegible] per cent. of the cost of the war out of our current income; nearly half of the whole bill. Nearly 20,000,000 of us here at home loaned the government $21,478,356,250. All of us are now repaying the some of us who loaned this money to carry on the war. It is a curious position. The men and women who lent the money are being taxed to pay themselves back. If you are being paid interest on Liberty Bonds and are being taxed, one transaction washes out the other. It is a credit relationship.—[Edward G. Lowry, in

HEAD OF CALIFORNIA GULF IS UNKNOWN SEA.

ARIZONA AUTHORITY MAKES STATEMENT WITH REGARD TO RAILROAD PLAN.

[BY A. P. CORRESPONDENCE.]

TUCSON, Aug. 14.—The [illegible] the Gulf of California is a[illegible] most as much of an unknown [illegible] it was in the eighteenth [illegible] when the Spanish [illegible] Garces and Cuzar, made [illegible] crude map of it. [illegible]

This was the statement [illegible] Prof. Godfrey Sykes of the [illegible] laboratory, University [illegible] recognized authority on [illegible] connection with plans [illegible] way to build a railway from [illegible] Ariz., to Bay St. George, at the head of the great inlet of the Pacific.

"In 1540-1542 the head of the Gulf of California was explored and roughly mapped by the Alarcon expedition," Said Prof. Sykes. "In the eighteenth century Kino and his priestly co-explorers added to the information; in 1829 Lieut. Hardy of the British navy surveyed it; in 1857 Lieut. G. H. Derby of the United States topographical survey carried out a reconnaissance survey there, and in the '70's Capt. (later, Admiral,) Dewey reported on hydrography, meteorology and general conditions.

"Tides at the head of the gulf are very heavy," continued Prof. Sykes. "Some I measured there showed a vertical range well over forty feet. This record is exceeded only on the coasts of either of the Americas by the tides of the Bay of Fundy.

"At the head of the gulf lies Rocky Point Bay, which I am inclined to believe could be developed into a shipping port for Southern Arizona points.

"In 1862 Maj. Ferguson, under orders from Edward M. Stanton, Secretary of War, led an expedition from Tucson to the gulf via San Xavier, Sahuarita, Arivaca, Sasabe, Altar and the Angostino Pass to Libertad, and reported that a railroad could be built over the same route should future conditions warrant it."

MUCH SMUGGLING OF WHISKY FROM MEXICO.

[BY A. P. CORRESPONDENCE.]

EL PASO, Aug. 28.—Although many arrests have been made by customs officials, liquor smuggling has become so general on this part of the border that United States government officials have announced an investigation will be made to ascertain whether any American officers have been implicated in the bringing of intoxicants from Mexico.

Recently two Mexicans were shot and killed while bringing to the heart of the residential district two barrels of whisky. Americans and Mexicans who formerly smuggled ammunition and opium are reported to have turned their attentions to the contraband liquor traffic. Quantities of whisky, exported to Mexico when prohibition became effective, are being brought back into El Paso, it is said, and sold as high as $15 a quart.

ARCTIC CIRCLE BIRDS VISIT NEW MEXICO.

[BY A. P. CORRESPONDENCE.]

ALBUQUERQUE (N. M.) Aug. 29.—In the "Arctic Circle" of New Mexico, arctic birds today are summering at an altitude of from 11,000 to 13,500 feet, according to J. S. Ligon, of the Biological survey.

Rare species that are found only in the frozen north are visiting New Mexico under conditions similar to their arctic home. Mr. Ligon, who has just returned from the Pecos peaks, has brought home a number of specimens, including the American pipit and the white-crowned sparrow.

Other arctic finds made in the Pecos region by Mr. Ligon were the marmot, or ground hog, and the coney, a small rat-sized creature.

GAY NIGHT FROLICS DESCRIBED IN COURT.

PHYSICIAN WINS DIVORCE FROM TALENTED WIFE AT ONTARIO.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ONTARIO, Sept. 6.—How Florence Rhea Henke, well-known dramatic soprano singer of Ontario, entertained gentlemen friends at gay and noisy parties which lasted well into the small hours of the morning and disturbed the neighbors while her husband lay ill in bed in another part of the house, won a decree of divorce in record time for Dr. G. Ben Henke, prominent Ontario physician and surgeon and noted pigeon fancier, this morning in Judge Rex B. Goodcell's court.

At the end of about twenty minutes, when only two of a half-dozen witnesses had given testimony, Judge Goodcell stopped proceedings by ordering a decree issued. Testimony was also produced to the effect that Mrs. Henke neglected the doctor's house and his two sons, with the result that the younger, Edgar, aged ten, ran away from home. Mrs. Henke and her daughter Jane, by a former marriage, have been in Los Angeles for the last two weeks. She did not appear at today's hearing.

WALK REDUCES FINE.

Justice Takes Twenty Mile Hike Into Consideration.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 6.—William Goodfarmer found Ray Phillips and Dan Lane, of Los Angeles, on his San Fernando Valley ranch shooting quail. He marched the two hunters with their game bags bulging, ten miles to Newhall, where they were arraigned before the township court and pleaded guilty.

"I'll fine you each $10," said the justice. "I'd make it $50," but I am bound through a sense of justice to take into consideration that you've both walked ten miles and have got to walk back ten miles to get your shotguns. I'll make the fines $10 each and a twenty mile hike."

SEEKS OPINIONS ON HARBOR DEVELOPING.

ARMY ENGINEER ASKS DATA ON EVERY PHASE OF THE WORK AT SEAPORT.

Upon the strength and character of the representation to be made at the public hearing on the improvement of the harbor of Los Angeles to be held here on September 18 will very likely depend the extent to which the Federal government will deepen and otherwise develop the city's harbor at San Pedro. This hearing has been called by Col. Frederick B. Downing, District Engineer, United States Army, at the office of the Harbor Commission, Room 33, City Hall, Los Angeles at 10 a.m., and everyone in any way interested will be welcome to present his views orally or in writing for transmisison to Washington.

The government wants to know something about the kind of development desired, the kind and volume of interstate commerce that would be benefitted, would the advantages gained fully offset the expense, as to the local or general character of the accruing benefits, and as to the extent nearby public and private interests have co-operated with the government in developing commerce, not only at Los Angeles Harbor but also at Long Beach, which may also be benefitted under the Rivers and Harbor Act of this year.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—The evil raven that has wrapped Broadway in his black wings for a fortnight or so, perches elsewhere now, and there is life, light and laughter in the street that yesterday reminded you of the knell, the shroud, the mattock, and the grave.

The stage hands are once more shifting their sceneries, and from the orchestra pits come the pleasing noises of the xylophone and the clarinet. Incidentally the actors are resuming their didoes, performing again the opera of our master dramatists, and a wounded art, recuperant from hurts administered by its frenzied friends, sits up and tries to forget its abrasions.

It is like the battle of Blenheim, a famous victory. Louis Mann, an ardent nonunion advocate, will tell you that genius and talent are victorious, while Mr. Shay of the stage hands, will let you know that labor put horny hands upon the white throat of the drama and choked it into submission. One thing is sure and that is this, the managers bent their knees in servile supplication, giving the players more than they ever dared to demand. There will be hereaftr no needy actors, beseeching your pity in the Knickerbocker or the College Inn and the dolorous Shubert coryphee hitherto driving a mere Saxon, will get what her hips deserve, Maxwell or a Willys-Overland. William Collier, eminent as a first aid to authors, engaged me today in conversation.

COLLIER FOR "LABOR."

Mr. Collier is for organized labor. He thinks that the overworked conductor and brakemen on the twentieth century limited, for instance, are underpaid for their arduous responsibilities and he feels that the man who tells you that Syracuse is the next stop is more valuable to civilization than George Sodom, who plays the piano in a Shubert show, or William Gomorrah, who sings to his accompaniment.

Mr. Collier's apprehension, as he intimated to me, is that some night in a humorous play he will spring an inadvertent nonunion wheeze and organized labor will ring down the curtain upon him.

"You can take this from one who doesn't care much one way or another, that Gompers today is a bigger man in the theater than Ibsen, and that Nockels of Chicago, cuts more ice in the drama than Pinero or Henry Arthur Jones. Shakespeare and Al Jolson are jokes compared to Shea and Weber and the drama league of Evanston, Ill., will stand no chance in its belief that all endings should be unhappy.

ERMINE IS LAID AWAY.

The terms of the armistice include the re-employment of striking actors. This season and so far as contracts go, the actors will resume their roles and all will be merry and gay. But you can put a bet down on this proposition that next year Mr. Cohan will be cold to the possibility of Mr. Grant Mitchell, for example, and that the Shuberts will try to find a way not to hire Ed Wynn. The audience, which hasn't been much considered in the fracas, has this triumph, Francis Wilson will never again revive Ermine.

At any rate the strike of the toys is over. They have proved one thing to Chicago if not New York, that they are ladies and gentlemen of unnecessary occupation and that it is as easy to exist without them as it is without a waiter in an automat.

SETTLEMENT TERMS.

Here are the settlements as outlined in a joint statement tonight by Arthur Hopkins for the managers and Frank Gilmore for the actors:

An open-shop agreement is made for five years to terminate at the end of the theatrical season in June.

The Actors' Equity Association is recognized as official spokesman of the actors.

There is to be no black list.

The actors, stage hands and musicians agree not to strike or go out on sympathetic strikes during the life of the contract.

A board of arbitration of three, one representative of the actors, one of the managers, and the third to be chosen jointly to judge all disputes.

Existing contracts will be lived up to by both parties.

All members displaced from casts through the strike will be taken back but in cases where their places have been taken by other actors the striking actor is to be placed in another production or a cash settlement shall be made to be agreed upon by both parties, or the matter may be referred to arbitration.

All law suits shall be discontinued. All members of the chorus shall receive $30 a week as minimum in New York and $35 out of town.

Full salaries shall be paid to actors after four weeks of rehearsal in legitimate dramas and after five weeks' rehearsals in musical plays.

Eight performances shall comprise a week's work. All extra performances shall be paid for at the rate of one-eighth of the actor's salary.

TWO ORGANIZATIONS.

Statements by all concerned in the strike indicated they were glad the hostilities were over, but it was felt that the victories in each case were somewhat tempered by the conditions. The equity members realized they were not alone in the field and would have to contend with a rival organization in the Fidelity.

The latter organization, fathered by George M. Cohan, began making plans to extend its work and to gain membership indicating that the stage will, in the immediate future, become the scene of a scramble for membership by the two organizations. The managers were satisfied with the guarantee of five years without a strike, but the cost was the recognition of the equity, which some of them had sworn never to do.

STREET SHOW NETS GOOD SUM

Thousands Enjoy Helping Big Sister League.

Money will go to Support Training Home.

Five Hundred Cakes Make Raffle Profitable.

Several thousand dollars were raised by the Big Sister League last night, at the street carnival on Olive street, between Sixth and Seventh. Fully a hundred thousand persons attended, danced, saw the vaudeville, bought paddles at the Youkon and cake wheels, had their fortune told by Mme. X, or had their palm read, or both, and visited the country store, and the old '49 bar, where near beer and similar concoctions, guaranteed to contain less than ½ of 1 per cent., were sold.

All of the booths and attractions usually found at such affairs were there last night. A real carnival spirit was apparent, with the exception that the omnipresent confetti was conspicuously absent.

The carnival was given by the league with the hope of raising at least $2500 for maintenance expenses for the coming year of the Woman's Training Home, at 2118 Trinity street, where many young women have been aided during the last two years.

Mrs. Judson Mitchell thought of the street carnival and through her efforts, and those of a hundred or more of the "Big Sisters," the carnival was a social and financial success. Several hundred workers were on hand last night to help collect the nickels and dimes from all who passed through the block.

One of the most attractive parts of the carnival, with the possible exception of the dancing, was the "Yukon wheel" where, for 10 cents, one had a chance to win almost everything. There were twenty-four paddles, and each time a pound of coffee, a sack of flour or some sugar went to the winner.

Five hundred cakes, baked by the "Big Sisters" and their friends, were also raffled. Each cake brought several dollars, but they only cost the winner 10 cents. About $1500 was realized from the cakes, it is reported.

In addition to the "Big Sisters" several of the city officials had been interested in the carnival and helped to make it a success. Mrs. R. W. Richardson induced Bert Farmer, former president of the City Council, and Councilman Criswell, together with Mayor Snyder and Chief of Police Home, to help, with the result that the lighting effects, roping of the streets, city permits, and other like matters were attended to by the city fathers. Mr. Criswell also secured the vacant lot on Olive street, where the vaudeville and a prize fight were held.

Mrs. Marjorie Lindsay, who was in charge of the dancing, obtained the services of half a dozen musicians who furnished music until midnight. Mrs. Robert Brain was in charge of the vaudeville section, and proved a good director. Several attractions were furnished by local theatrical houses.

Other women interested in making the affair a success were: Mrs. Sloane-Orcutt, Mrs. R. W. Reynolds, Mrs. G. Miner, Mrs. William Frederickson, Mrs. L. H. Hamilton, Miss Myra Millar, Mrs. Julia Hurley, Mrs. John L. Butler, Mme. Boscasina, Mrs. Rose Bryant, Mrs. Lewis R. Works, Mrs. Berthold Baruch, Mrs. Mary Holman and Mrs. Harriet Barry.

SAILORS MAKE MERRY IN RAINS OF LONDON.

DANCE IN STREETS THROUGHOUT THE NIGHT CELEBRATING VICTORY DAY.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONDON, July 20.—Londoners were swept off their feet by the enthusiastic joyousness of some hundreds of sailors from the fleet anchored at the mouth of the Thames and joined so heartily in the Victory Day demonstration last night that there was dancing and singing in the wet, slippery streets of the West End within an hour of daylight today.

So many thousands had gathered for a night of merrymaking in the hotels and restaurants of the West End that when closing time came transportation systems were unable to take them home. As all tube trains stopped soon after midnight, there was nothing left for thousands but to spend the night in the streets. Great crowds gathered in the vicinity of Piccadilly, Leicester Square and Covent Garden stations, and as it was raining gently the prospect was dismal.

"Are we downhearted," shouted a leather-lunged sailor, and instantly came a thunderous response from scores of his comrades in the crowd, which was increased by answering shouts from soldiers and civilians.

There were many women in the streets, some of them in the patriotic costumes they had worn in the dancing earlier in the day. Introductions were not necessary in that atmosphere and at that time of night. Neither was music as long as the crowd could sing. So the dance was soon in full swing. Sailors produced mouth organs, thereafter there was music aplenty.

The dancing was in the roadways, all the way from Piccadilly to Leicester Square, for the sidewalks were thronged with other belated persons who watched the dance and cheered the dancers. Sailors everywhere were the leaders, although many demobilized soldiers joined in the festivities. Some Americans were in the crowd. And all the time it rained.

Toward morning the people began to tire. Some of them sought resting places in the doorways of shops and office buildings, while others simply sat on the sidewalks, leaned up against the buildings, to get such protection as the eaves afforded, and went to sleep. At some of the more important business houses along Regent street, to which many of the merrymakers drifted, even 7 o'clock saw large numbers fast asleep.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC BUILDING RAPIDLY.

WILL DAY EIGHTEEN MILES OF BRANCH LINE AND MOVE TRAINS IN MONTH.

[BY A. P. CORRESPONDENCE.]

KNIGHT'S LANDING, Aug. 19.—Thirty days from the grade-stakes to moving trains, is the programme of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company with reference to the eighteen-mile branch line to be constructed through Reclamation District No. 1500 of Sutter Basin, Sutter county. Work commenced on Monday, August 12, and will be pushed forward to the energy of more than 500 men and 300 animals.

The haste is due to the fact that vast crops of rice, beans and other farm products await the coming of the trains in order to find their way to market. It is estimated that these crops aggregate 20,000 tons and have a cash value of $5,000,000.

The proposed line is in Sutter county, and crosses an area almost level as the floor of the room. Construction is comparatively easy and the track layers are following close behind the graders. The right-of-way has been donated and the cost to the company will be about $225,000.

The present intensified efforts are all to the end of making it possible to run freight trains at the earliest moment. Later nine stations will be established and all of the equipment of a standard branch-line railroad installed.

CAROLINA KEEN FOR PACT.

Big Majority Favors League, States Gov. Bickett, Visiting in Los Angeles.

Eighty-five per cent. of the people of North Carolina are supporting the League of Nations, according to a statement of Gov. Bickett of that State, who with Mrs. Bickett was a guest in the city during the week. Last Wednesday evening the Governor and his wife were dinner guests of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Evans Cowels, 1101 West Adams street, and th next day they left for the East.

Gov. and Mrs. Bickett came here unheralded for a few days' stay after the convention of Governors at Salt Lake City, and their presence in the city was not generally known.

"The sentiment of the League of Nations," the Governor told friends here, "is notably strong in North Carolina. If the matter were put to a popular vote, I believe 85 per cent. of the ballots would be for the covenant.

"The opposition to the league, it seems to me, is a mere puff of wind compared with the storm George Washington encountered when he fought for the confirmation of the Constitution of the United States. But the comparison is instructive. Washington was vilified and called a traitor by some contemporaries, but history has placed the seal of true value on that for which he struggled."

FAVOR EXCLUSION OF JAPS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 6.—A resolution asking California members of Congress to "take steps to secure as soon as possible the cancellation of the gentlemen's agreement" and to bring about "the absolute exclusion in the future of Japanese and other unassimilable or undesirable Asiatics" was adopted today at the first annual convention of the California State Draymen's Association here. The resolution was introduced by C. R. Collins of Sacramento, secretary of the association.

The resolution said that "under the gentlemen's agreement with Japan the Japanese population in the United States had increased sixfold since 1900."

HOOD RIVER (Or.) Sept. 6.—Orchardists representative of the different Hood River Valley fruit sections last night organized an association "to prevent further purchasing or leasing of lands by Japanese." Land owners declared they feared delays attending efforts to secure State or general legislation and the immediate exclusion of Japanese ranchers will be aimed at by the new organization, whose members pledged themselves not to lease or sell property to Japanese.

Real estate dealers of Hood River will be asked to co-operate in the movement and to refuse their services as agents in any transaction that will lead to further Japanese ownership.

BLIND MEMBER DENOUNCES PERSHING

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Representative Schall of Minnesota, blind member of the House, who voted against the bill authorizing the elevation of Gen. Pershing to the permanent rank of general, criticised the general today in a speech in the House.

"I have talked with men who had intimate chance to observe Pershing in the Philippines," said Mr. Schall. "I have talked with officers and men who accompanied him on the ill-conducted fiasco, the trail of a lone bandit in Mexico. I talked with hundreds of soldiers in the recent war, and their opinion, officers and men, was unanimous that he has not the elements mixed in him to stand before them a man and a soldier in whose elevation they would feel honored.

"A soldier who cannot stand the acid test of brave comrades must lack judgment, justice, courage.

"The only men I have heard applaud him are his puppets, who owe their present positions not to efficiency of bravery in action, but to service in his behalf, and who would personally profit by his elevation.

"Any soldier who ranked him or showed ability, individuality or a dangerous tendency to think for himself was eliminated by his imperial order, that no one might divert a beam of light from the great man.

"Misinformation, hypocrisy and pretense are his guns. He used the country's blood and agony to promote his own political ends."

NO COMPROMISE, WILSON'S STAND.

Tells Reporters He is Well Satisfied with Trip.

Believes People will Back the League Pact.

President Glad to Get a Rest and a Bath.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY,

Special Correspondent of "The Times" on Board the President's Tain.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

DES MOINES, Sept. 6.—President Wilson ended his first week of campaigning for the League of Nations in an address before 7000 persons at the Des Moines coliseum. The receptions given him here and in other cities led him to tell newspaper men he was well satified with the trip and that he was sure the people would back the league as soon as they learned from him the whole truth about it. He has not given any inkling that he is willing to compromise. He told his audience tonight that the safest thing to do is not to qualify it but to accept it as it is. He assured them that he had studied the English language and there is not a single ambiguous sentence in the document.

Applause followed this point and came on every other occasion when he predicted the league would be ratified. The trip has shown plainly that the people want peace and want it quickly and they are for some kind of a league to make that peace permanent. The President has sensed the burning interest in other subjects besides the League of Nations. The people want to hear about labor problems and about the high cost of living. He intends from now on to dwell more on these things. He said tonight that the whole world was waiting for peace and that until peace came he could not dispose of many problems. All sorts of adjustments were waiting, he said, placing the burden of the delay on the opposition to the treaty. He said the "fundamental thing of our life at present is the conditions of labor."

The President's train reached Des Moines at 8 o'clock after a long, hot run through the corn fields of Missouri and Iowa from Kansas City. All along the way the farmers and towns-people were out to wave at the train and look for a glimpse of the executive. At Des Moines tonight he found streets near the station blocked with people, kept back by a line of soldiers as straight as an arrow. His parade was through the center of the city.

Every street was filled with cheering spectators. There was an enthusiastic demonstration when he entered the hall. The chairman of the evening was J. B. Weaver, president of the Chamber of Commerce. Bishop Longley delivered an invocation, praying the Senate would be given light to do the right, just thing.

The President was driven to the hotel Des Moines, where he will spend the night and Sunday. He was glad of the rest. He said today that it was a "long time between baths." This is his first night off the train.

MILLIONS OF GERMANS EXPECT TO EMIGRATE.

ARGENTINE WILL RECEIVE MANY BUT WILL EXPECT THEM TO BECOME CITIZENS.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

BERLIN, July 20.—It is expected that several million Germans will attempt, as soon as passes are available, to leave Germany and secure more lucrative employment abroad.

The newly-organized Imperial Migration Bureau denies that a German commission in the Argentine is attempting to arrange for the acceptance of 5,000,000 Germans, which is vastly more than the South American country could suddenly assimilate, but says that delegates of the new bureau will shortly go to the Argentine to protect such Germans as do arrive there from being robbed and deceived.

The bureau says the Argentine is friendly to Germans and offers good chances for skilled labor, such as carpenters, watchmakers, mechanics and printers.

The Argentine Consulate-General says that a commission has been sent to the Argentine which will buy land for the emigrants and institute farms and schools. He declares that the Argentine government is willing to welcome large colonies of Germans but demands they should accept Argentine citizenship so that there will be no danger of creating a State within a State. Precautions are to be taken against Bolsheviki. Emigrants are especially welcome to the territories of Chaco Misiones. Chubut and on government lands. Twenty to 200 hectares will be given free, on condition that they are not to be sold, and cattle and machinery will be advanced on credit.

TIPS FROM TEXAS.

The old-fashioned woman who wanted to lead a sheltered life now has a daughter whose clothes afford her hardly any protection from the weather.

Personally we try always to be reasonable and dispassionate, but it makes us as mad as the dickens for a down-trodden farmer to run over us with his automobile.

Another reason why a young matron hates to be called a society woman is because the elephant's snout looks like a dimple.

Probably the main reason why it is hazardous for a woman to marry a man is because he isn't as good-humored at home as he is at a cabaret.—[Dallas News.

SURVEY OF THE BROAD F

VOL. XXXVIII.

FACT AND COMMENTA

Watch the harbor grow! It with the keenest satisfaction th those who have thrown th energies into creating for Los A geles a harbor second to none on t Pacific Coast note the progress building development in that d trict along with the port's comme cial advancement. One of t brightest spots in the city's prese building movement—the influen of which is wonderfully stimulati other lines of activity—is the w the harbor district is responding its manifest need for new home business structures and the like. is not less than inspiring to visit th district—which many aver suppli the key to Los Angeles' future com mercial wealth and supremacy and witness the changes that hav taken place since the war prove the vital importance of harbo facilities to a city that hoped t hold its own in the march of grea commercial events.

Those attractive homes, hotel and business structures whic recently have risen along Pacific avenue and adjacent streets, fro the entrance of San Pedro to Poin Fermin, are but new evidence o the investor's foresight and hi firm faith in the promise of such property holdings.

Noteworthy Street.

Pacific avenue, the main artery through the harbor district, as both business and residence thorough- fare, is entitled to high standing among streets anywhere. The fact that it has been made a conspicu- ously wide boulevard, excellently paved and graded, should particu- larly commend it to those who have come to think of certain of Los Angeles' chief business streets are little better, at the height of the daily rush hours, than overcrowded [illegible]

This avenue, of course, has been constructed with an eye to the fu- ture. It is fortunate for the har- bor district that the city has learned from bitter experience the valuable lesson of wide streets. Whatever development that Pacific avenue undergoes—and it is generally con- ceded that it will go forward exactly as the harbor itself does—may be ascribed to its width as much per- haps as to its position with relation to the city's development needs.

Not long ago banking interests in the San Pedro district, foreseeing the future of Pacific avenue, bought a number of valuable properties in the business section, and now in the creation of a new com- mercial district there. These in- vestors saw the district rapidly out- growing its older business locality, and in their plans of erecting new structures are merely anticipating a development that is in the air. This section of the harbor district combines ad- vantages and attractions not to be found along the whole stretch of Southern California ocean front. The homes to be found there are but a handful as com- pared with the number that sugge in the future picture.
